LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

On October 1, 1969, the Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Roy Baker. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, president, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

"History of the Liberty Bell" was the lesson given by Mrs. Wayne Storer. The lesson was most interesting and included many facts not generally known about the Liberty Bell.

Mrs. Walter Reinhart was in charge of entertainment and conducted two entertaining and thought-provoking games.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Florence Jones and Miss Mary Jane Baker.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker, critic, gave her commendation to Mrs. Storer on the presentation of the lesson.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

We've had a few comments during the last week about our wine-making at home. People got a kick out of the article. But I'll bet it's nothing like the kick we get out of the wine!

Emmett Steininger stopped in Saturday afternoon for a brief visit. He operated the News Office back in 1946-48 just before we took over. He is now working at Fort Wayne Printing Company while Peg, the Mrs., is in the office of the Auburn Star.

If you women think house cleaning is a chore—it took me a full day last week end to sweep the shop—in the corners, along the woodwork, behind the cabinets, etc. But it sure looks better.

After the results of the Homecoming Queen contest last week end, it appears that pretty girls —as well as pretty flowers— come from "Buds".

CC Fish Fry

The Spencerville Community Club will hold a fish fry and carnival Saturday, October 18, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The club's usual—and famous —menu will include fish, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, pies, cakes, and beverage.

Also included during the evening will be bingo and other games as entertainment for both young and not so young.

Proceeds from the fry will be used for equipment for the Spencer Township Fire Department.

Donuts and coffee will be served starting at 7:30 in the morning, in connection with the bazaar which will be held along with the fish fry. Donuts will be also available by the dozen.

PTO Tuesday

The Riverdale P.T.O. will meet next Tuesday evening, October 21, 1969, at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium. The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Roy Bisell, membership committee chairman, has announced that membership dues are now payable for the 1969-70 school year. Dues are $1.00 per family or 50 cents per person.

Anyone wishing to join may do so by paying their dues at Tuesday's meeting or sending money, name and address to the Riverdale School. The membership card will be returned by mail.

Parents, patrons and friends are urged to support their local P.T.O.

Bank Grand Opening

The Hicksville Bank will have a grand opening of its new banking facility in Hicksville Saturday and Sunday of this week end, October 18 and 19. Hours will be 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The new ultra-modern facilities will include a spacious lobby, parking to accommodate approximately 20 automobiles and a community room to accommodate 60 to 70 people. A kitchenette has also been provided in the community room.

Of special note will be the new drive-up and walk-up window. The latest in bank protective equipment has been installed, including cameras, vault protection devices and other features.

Prizes will be awarded during the grand opening and refreshments will be served. Space balloons will be given to children attending the grand opening.

New Bridge Opens Monday

DeKalb County Commissioners Herman Collins, Robert Forrest and Frank Laub have announced that the official opening of the new bridge across the Saint Joe River south of Saint Joe will be held next Monday morning, October 20, 1969, at 10:00 a.m. The public is invited to attend.

The new bridge replaces the old Dills Covered Bridge which had deteriorated in recent years and was unsafe for today's traffic loads.

The cost of the new structure was $147,000, half of which came from the county bridge fund and half from federal funds.

The official opening ceremony will be attended by dignitaries including the county commissioners; State Senator Dean Kruse who is chairman of the Senate Committee On Roads and Transportation; Frank Carpenter, county highway superintendent; Lee Rush, Fort Wayne District superintendent of the State Highway Department; Richard Ditmers, state highway project engineer; and a representative of the Heavy Construction Company which did the work and completed it on schedule.

DeKalb Memorial Hospital To Open Intensive Care Unit November 3

Ralph Pearson, president of the board of DeKalb Memorial Hospital, has announced another "dream come true" for the hospital.

On Monday, November 3, the doors will officially open at the hospital's new Intensive Care Unit. The second floor suite includes two rooms, each having two beds. One room will be used for critical surgery and accident patients and the other will be used exclusively for heart patients.

Both rooms have a respirator which supplies oxygen and can actually breathe for a patient, and an aspirator used for clearing body passageways. Blood pressure equipment is built into the wall. There will be a registered nurse in the rooms around the clock daily.

The equipment in the cardiac care room will permit continuous watching and recording of the patient's heartbeat pattern. This will be done on the spot by the "blip" of an oscilliscope. The pattern the oscilliscope is seeing can be recorded at any time on an electrocardiogram. This equipment even includes a memory unit which stores 12 seconds of information so that if there is a crisis in the patient's condition, the doctor can see what led up to it.

Another dial that can be set will signal the nurse on duty of possible danger many times even before the patient is aware of any change in his condition. Lifesaving treatment is immediate.

Additional equipment to be available in the room will be a defibrillator to electrically restore a patient's heartbeat and a pacemaker to regulate the timing of the heartbeat.

Nurse Sharon Marcotte estimates the average length of stay in the heart beds will be five days. Patients are then gradually returned to regular rooms and after rehabilitation are released.

She says the room might be occupied by persons other than those suffering heart attacks. It might be used by a patient having any kind of circulatory system surgery, a child with rheumatic fever, or it might be used in diagnosing an unknown condition by ruling out heart disease.

According to Bob King, administrator of DeKalb Memorial Hospital, the scope of the hospital will be broadened considerably as the unit will eventually allow more delicate surgery to be performed. He says the unit, which he estimates at a cost of $14,000, will also reduce the number of critical patients having to face the danger of being transported to bigger city hospitals.

In making the announcement, Mr. Pearson said, "Many hours of work by many people have gone into this project—first for feasibility studies, purchasing, and construction. Then several local doctors taught the weekly training sessions that 15 of our nurses attended to learn how to use the special equipment. The Fort Wayne Heart Association gave hours of helpful consultation. This unit will be a lifesaver and we're very pleased to be able to make this service available in the county."

Overseas Mailing

Mailing dates for Christmas parcels to U.S. servicemen and civilian employees overseas in Europe and Asia have been announced. They are as follows:

October 13 to November 8 for parcels shipped by surface transportation.

October 20 to November 22 for parcels shipped by space available parcel airlift.

October 27 to November 29 for parcels shipped by regular parcel air lift.

December 1 to December 13 for parcels shipped by regular airmail.

All packages should be made of strong fibreboard or sturdier material such as wood or metal. All packages should be securely wrapped and tied with heavy string.

There should be sufficient packing and padding inside the box to keep articles inside from rattling and shifting, and all addresses should be complete and typewritten or written with a pen.

A parcel weighing less than 30 pounds and with combined length and girth dimensions of less than 60 inches can be sent by parcel air lift for a fee of $1 plus the regular surface mail rate.

For lighter parcels, priority mail rates are often lower than the special parcel air lift rate.

Centennial Services At Hopewell

Special Centennial Services at the Hopewell United Brethren Church will be held October 19, 1969.

The Rev. Ray Seilhamer, former pastor, will bring the Sunday morning message. During the day various groups will provide inspirational music. Reminiscing of the past will be featured by former pastors and friends.

The program for the day is as follows:

Sunday School 9:45 a.m.; morning worship 10:45; basket dinner noon; musical prelude 1:30 p.m.; centennial service 2:00; evening service 7:00.

Hopewell United Brethren Church is located southeast of Auburn on County Road 35.

The Rev. Howard Sherry is pastor and extends a cordial invitation to all to attend these special services.

1969 EHS Homecoming Queen

Tom Wasson of Butler returned home October 4, 1969, after three years' duty with Uncle Sam's Army. He was stationed in Germany for 14 months before being assigned to duty in Vietnam for six months. He served in administration.

1st Lt. John Piatek of Waterloo has been moved to a hospital at Camp Drake, Japan, from a hospital in Vietnam after being critically wounded September 20. An enemy mortar shell scored almost a direct hit on the vehicle in which he was a passenger. He was on duty as a forward artillery observer.

John was active in the Democratic party in DeKalb County before entering military service, seeking the office of state representative a few years ago. He served two years with the Peace Corps.

Army Specialist Four Richard Dove, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dove of R2 Auburn, was assigned September 10 to the 225th Aviation Company in Vietnam.

AA Jack Stockley, USN, of Butler has completed basic training at Great Lakes Naval Center and has reported for training at Lakehurst, New Jersey, for 18 weeks' training on handling aircraft on carriers.

He is the son of Glenys Podrasky of Butler and Ernest Stockley of Auburn.

On Winning Unit

Charles Trumbull of Saint Joe and Bob Moore of Spencerville, members of the Allen County Sheriff's Mounted Posse, participated in 1969-70 competition for such units last week at Knox, Indiana. Their unit won first place.

The Allen County unit, which placed fourth last year, is one of only three known mounted posse units which have completely matched tack and uniforms. Points are awarded for such uniform appearance, as well as for trailer maintenance, drill precision, mobility and audience response.

The drill sergeant for the winning unit was awarded a pair of $50 boots, with $50 given to the treasury of the unit, a 50-lb. bag of feed for each member's mount and a trophy.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

This year we are starting our meetings by having one of our members give a three-minute talk on something about Lionism. Ralph Keeler discussed the emblem that every Lion wears on his lapel. He stated that it is the most widely worn emblem in the world, that there are 22,000 clubs scattered throughout the world and that there are 845,000 men wearing the Lion emblem.

Secretary Cliff Billow reported that "this October 13 meeting has turned out to be another 100% attendance meeting in spite of the rain."

President Harold Curie announced that our institutional representative to the Spencerville Boy Scout Troop, Mr. Harold Kagey, would attend a dinner meeting November 13 at the Chamber of Commerce building in Fort Wayne for Scout representatives of this district.

President Curie also reported that we sold 4,875 hamburgers and 1,585 hot dogs at the fair. Total income was $4,463.66 and total expenses were $2,326.44, leaving a net profit of $2,157.22.

He pronounced it a job well done. We discussed improvements on the tent and the services for next year.

The next meeting will be Ladies Night and will be held at the Heritage House in Fort Wayne. A motion was made that the members' wives be the guests of the club, that is the club would pick up the tab for the ladies. The motion was passed over the objection of Robert Wilder who protested, "I object, I am being discriminated against, I don't have any wife."

The various committees presented estimates to the budget committee, Frank Laub, Franklin Seehler and Walter Morr, of the amounts of money they would need for the coming year.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid
OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

County Home Open House Sunday

—by Jane Kempf, Auburn "Star" news editor.

Residents of DeKalb County are cordially invited to an open house at the DeKalb County Home on County Road 40 northwest of Auburn on Sunday, October 19, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The invitation was issued this week by DeKalb County Commissioners Herman Collins, Robbert Forrest and Frank Laub and County Home administrators Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker.

The open house is being held as a dedication service for the new chapel. The chapel is built in a room which once housed cells for patients "too ill; too old or too unmanageable" to rate a regular room at the home.

In the cell-block, men and women were kept behind bars. Sanitation facilities consisted of a trough down the middle of the room that was hosed down every day.

Now the room is a chapel, a place for residents to come to worship.

Mr. Parker said this week that many people have helped with furnishing the room. "The commissioners have been wonderful," he commented. "They work with us constantly to improve conditions for the patients here at the home."

The first thing that strikes the visitor to the new chapel is a distinctive antique pulpit in the center front of the room. Two antique chairs for those conducting services and the pulpit were donated to the home by the Jerusalem Church north of Butler, and were delivered by Mr. and Mrs. Wian Bowers of Butler.

A portrait was donated by the Franklin Township Home Economics Club.

An evergreen cactus, measuring three feet across, was donated by Mrs. Dorothy Howard, daughter of a patient, Mrs. Zora Boncoutter.

There are 44 padded and comfortable folding chairs for patients worshipping in the chapel. Mr. Parker said that another dozen plain folding chairs are available if needed.

Those visiting the chapel will walk on green tweed carpet shot with orange. The windows are covered with tailor-made green and orange patterned drapes.

The only trace in the lovely room of the old use is a single padlock on a door to a small room at the rear of the chapel. This is the County Home's single "security" room. Mr. Parker said that plans are under way to install plumbing facilities in the little room—and, without a thought of "security," said, "It will make a fine powder room for visitors."

Mr. and Mrs. Parker will have a display of the County Home's old records (back to the 1870's) for those visiting Sunday. Also on display will be several antique items.

Those visiting the open house will have an opportunity to stop and talk with the people who live at the County Home. All of the residents are planning for the visit. Mr. Parker said that each resident will meet and talk with visitors in his own room.

One woman has a doll collection that she loves to show. Many are hungry for attention and friendship—all are eager to meet the people who will come and show an interest.

The men at the home have helped with the chapel. They have painted the outside of the building white to cover red brick that had been repaired. Mr. Parker said, "They are very proud of the chapel and the work that they have done."

The commissioners and the Parkers will take visitors on a tour of the County Home at the open house.

Mrs. Parker is busy planning refreshments for those who visit. She will have plenty of help from volunteers and some of the women who can hardly wait for the visitors.

Eastside's Junior High scored early in the game to take a 6-0 lead over Village Woods last week. But they then faltered and lost the football game 24-6.

Village Woods scored on a safety, a touchdown and a 2 point conversion to hold a 10-6 halftime lead.

After the opening drive, the Blazers were never able to get moving on offense again. Village Woods netted only 68 yards rushing and 33 passing for the game, as the Blazers' defense turned in a respectable game.

Doug Shockley gained 44 yards in 6 carries and made 15 tackles to lead the Blazers in these two departments.

Saturday morning Angola's junior higr comes to Eastside for a 9:30 a.m. game.

Interesting History Related To Old School Building

—By The Editor

An interesting bit of local school history was given this week by Leon Kees, in connection with the above photo which shows the first schoolhouse built on the present school site. The above building stood on the same location as the present old building which now temporarily houses the Riverdale seventh and eighth grades.

Mr. Kees pointed out that the first schoolhouse in Saint Joe was located on the residential property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kline. At that time, the town of Saint Joe had its own school system separate from the Concord Township school system. And Concord Township in those days was a "full" township, that is, what is now Spencer Township was one half of the total Concord Township administrative unit. Saint Joe's "own" school system existed at the turn of the century.

In the days of the township school systems, school buildings were built every two miles throughout the countryside, planned that way so that no student would have over one mile to walk to school. The school at "Cheesetown," so named because there was a cheese factory there, still stands across from Alton Cemetery on State Road 101 east of Saint Joe. Saylor's school, north of Saint Joe on County Road 59, is now the modern home of the John Kocherta. Another school was located two miles west of Saint Joe on County Road 60 at the Concord Road. Another schoolhouse was at Spencerville and another still stands, also now remodeled into a home, two miles west of Spencerville.

The above brick building was built on a date unknown to Mr. Kees. But he does remember that the building was damaged by a storm in 1911 and classes removed from the building and held in various store buildings in Saint Joe. The March 1, 1911, issue of the Saint Joe News carried a news story stating that classes were ended the Friday before due to the condition of the building. However, storm damage was not mentioned; rather the walls were reported cracking due to the weight of fire escapes.

Those who may think that school disputes are somewhat "new" and came only with reorganization in the 1960's might be surprised at the heated dispute which arose in 1911 concerning the replacement of the condemned schoolhouse.

When it appeared that Saint Joe could not replace the building due to the cost involved, the town's school system was united with the township system. John Fetters was trustee at that time and township trustees "ran" the schools.

Trouble arose when Mr. Fetters arbitrarily determined that eight grades of schooling were adequate for young people of his day. Therefore, he planned for a school building for just eight grades; there would be no high school. But he made one mistake, a legal one. He did not consult with his advisory board.

In opposition, strong feeling was expressed in the community in support of a full 12-grade school system. Not the least of the pro-high school group was the editor of the Saint Joe News who published several forceful editorials. The late Mr. Fred B. Leighty gave his editorial support to the improvement of the educational program and sought to retain for the community a 12-grade school. The "crusade" carried on by Mr. Leighty is similar in some respects to the recent efforts of this paper concerning today's educational processes in the community. However, there is one difference; Mr. Leighty's campaign was successful.

With letters to the editor in support of a 12-grade school and with the filing of an injunction against the trustee by a local citizen (due to the trustee's failure to consult his advisory board), plus a petition which Mr. Kees reports had 93% of the voters of the township and town on its pages, Mr. Fetters resigned and Sam Mumaw was named trustee. He immediately made temporary repairs to the building and a 12-grade school was preserved for the community, though the high school was not accredited.

It is interesting to note that bids received on the proposed three-room building sought by Mr. Fetters totaled $9,433.08. But only $7,000.00 had been appropriated for such construction. Imagine—a three-room schoolhouse, complete with heating system—for under $10,000!

If Eastside district patrons have felt the recent school site dispute and other matters have been "hot" on occasion, they would be aghast at the goings-on in 1911. The late Mr. Leighty wielded a forceful—and often blunt!—pen in promoting his causes. At that time, when he was not editorializing on the school issue, he was blasting "demon rum" and some time later crusaded against "the weed"—cigarettes.

Mr. Kees relates that his graduating class, when the dispute between the trustee and the opposition was hot and heavy, had only eight members. For that year 1911 they selected as their class motto, "Impossible Is Un-American." They were not conscious of the coincidence of their selection at first, but it soon became evident.

Mr. Fetters, the trustee, had waged his campaign for only eight grades with the frequent admonition that it was "impossible" to provide such a system as 12 grades, it was "impossible" to raise enough money, and so on.

When he entered the old opera house, which stood where Yeiser's Standard Service is now located, after it had been decorated by the graduating class for its graduation ceremony, he saw the class motto on a banner across the room. He apparently felt it had been purposely selected to embarrass him, so he promptly tore the banner down.

When the businessmen of Saint Joe heard of this, several of them immediately got after the trustee and made him put the banner back up in its proper place. One of the group evidently was a butcher who grabbed one of his knives to take along to emphasize his convictions in the matter.

Then the trustee said he would not sign the graduation certificates. Mr. Kees relates that his father and the father of a young lady in the class got the trustee aside and told him that if he didn't sign their offsprings' certificates, they would throw him over the railing of the stairway—on the spot.

Mr. Kees says that his certificate and that of the young lady were the only ones signed. This is verified by an article in the newspaper after the ceremony, although the names are not mentioned nor the details of the circumstances.

It is interesting to speculate that the late Mrs. Leighty, who assisted her husband for over 40 years while they operated the Saint Joe News, may have had some fond memories renewed in the past three or four years prior to her death a few months ago. A resident of Auburn, she was an "honorary" recipient of this paper. As she read the editorials about today's school situation in this area, it is quite probable that her thoughts went back some 50 years when her husband also provided a "voice" for this community in promoting the cause of improved education for all the students in the area.

History is a matter of repitition.

2nd Grades Inspect Fire Dept.

Pictured above are the second grade classes of Mrs. Gladys Impton and Mrs. Elva Williams as they enjoyed a tour of inspection of the Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department last week in connection with Fire Prevention Week. Joe Robinson is shown above as he gave pertinent information and answered questions for the group.

Mr. Robinson reports that a recent fire drill at the Riverdale Elementary School emptied the building in just 45 seconds, indicating the efficiency and cooperation of students and faculty.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Gerig Funeral Home in Auburn for Jesse L. Loftus, 96, a former resident of Saint Joe who died Monday afternoon at the Sheehy Nursing Home in Butler. He had been residing with a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Johnson of Auburn, before confinement at the nursing home.

Mr. Loftus was a retired Auburn Automobile Company employee and during his residency in Saint Joe was a general handyman for the Saint Joe community.

Other survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Robert Wapper of Marion; four grandchildren; six great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

Rev. Harold Walker conducted the funeral service. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

Despite his years, Jesse remained mentally "sharp" and physically active until within the past year when he was no longer able to get around as he had in the past.

At the age of 75, Jesse was doing manual labor for the town of Saint Joe. Those who resided here may recall that his labors were with the assistance not of a tractor but of his old horse, Bob. And many were the snowy mornings in winter when Jesse and old Bob were out before dawn, clearing local sidewalks of new-fallen snow for townspeople.

Something more than a life has left us.

UF Report

The first report of United Fund contributions in the Riverdale area shows a total of $857.95 received thus far in pledges and cash. A breakdown of the solicitors' receipts is as follows:

Norman Rinard $79.95; Dorothy Smith 106.50; Ted Haberkorn 201.00; Zoe Smith 38.00; Betty Bevington 22.00; Forrest Bevington (Riverdale faculty) 244.00; Eleanore Benninghoff 45.00; Gertrude Reinhart 57.00; Marcia Sible 40.00; Hazel Schrader 24.50.

The amounts shown do not necessarily reflect the comparative efforts of the solicitors, since there are many individuals living in this area who work elsewhere and give to United Fund where they work. Therefore, many contacts made locally are with retirees on limited incomes and their contributions are also limited.

There are additional solicitors' reports yet to be made. When these are in, it appears that the Riverdale area will be near its last year total of around $1,200.00.

Contributions can still be made by sending them to the News Office in Saint Joe.

Scout Camporee

—Mrs. Richard Drake, reporter

15 boys participated in the fall camporee of Boy Scout Troop 172. The camporee was held October 17, 18 and 19.

Those participating included:

Senior staff—Jerry Markle, Scout Patrol Leader, Keith Meichi, Ray Drake and Eric Jacobsen.

Eagle Patrol—Tim Hollabaugh, Patrol Leader, Ed Shilling, Lawrence Fisher, Leo Carper, Jack Allen and Dick Kagey who served as bugler.

Wolf Patrol—George Carper, Patrol Leader, Dennis Meichi, Don Shilling, Tom Hollabaugh and Tom Dwyer.

Adult leaders were Richard Drake, Scoutmaster, and Wayne Koch, Assistant.

The theme was "Service To Others," with a project carried out at Chief Little Turtle Scout Camp. The boys of the Pokagon District were to clean a dry creek bed of logs and underbrush and did a fine job although they worked in the rain most of the time. The senior boys' project was to construct a permanent bridge in the Lost Deer Campsite.

Most of the troops arrived Friday night and set up camp in the rain. Conditions were crowded, causing a few minor accidents along the unloading area. At 4 a.m. Saturday, a strong wind with heavy rain tried to discourage the boys and leaders from accepting the challenge of outdoor life. Although tents from every troop were blown down, the determined boys set them up again in the rain.

All troops were run by the Senior Patrol with the Senior Patrol Leader in charge. Adult leaders camped in separate areas and were not allowed to interfere with troop activities.

Sunday's activities included church services at the reservation, a scavenger hunt followed by a trail which three boys turned into a wild goose chase by changing a few markings.

Last but not least was the award ceremony. Troop 172 received two third-place ribbons in patrol and one second place. In addition, they received first place in the scavenger hunt. An honorable mention was given for their gateway which was an elevated bridge made of logs the boys lashed together with rope.

Troop 173 had the honor and privilege of receiving the President's Award again this year. This award is the highest at camporee and is presented to the troop which is most cooperative and helpful at camp. They last received it in 1967 at the Woodsman's Camporee at Albion with Bob Jacobson as Scoutmaster.

We wish to thank those who helped with transportation; Robert Camp, Max Markle and Jim Dwyer, with special thanks to Dick Koch who helped with the troop and at camp.

Jr. High Football

—by Phil Miller

Last Saturday Eastside's Junior High football team overran Angola by a score of 28-14.

The Blazers scored on their fifth play as Doug Shockley hit the line for 8 yards and a touchdown.

Angola was forced to punt soon after receiving the kickoff and Shockley returned the partially-blocked punt 30 yards for Eastside's second touchdown.

In the second quarter, Steve Bellamy broke through the line for a 52-yard touchdown and Scott Parshall ran the 2-point conversion to give the locals a 20-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Angola scored 8 points, but early in the 4th Eastside took a 28-8 lead on Shockley's 4-yard run. He then passed to Parshall for the 2-point conversion.

Angola scored shortly before the end of the game for the final 28-14 score.

The defensive team did a fine job with the number one unit holding Angola to 92 yards total offense.

Improved line blocking was a big factor in the victory.

Series To Describe Functions Of Campus Plan At New School

(This is the first in a series of articles through which Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole will attempt to describe the relationship of each of the five new buildings which buildings are to become the new campus complex for the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School.)

The picture immediately above reflects six buildings—the now existing Butler Elementary School in the extreme upper left hand corner, and to the right of the existing building one sees the five units of the new complex. What appears to be the largest building represented almost by an absolute square and which further appears to be the centered building in the complex is Unit No. 1 which for lack of a better name is called the "Academic Building."

Unit No. 5, the "Administration Building," is the smallest building in the picture, the one closest to the bus loading area, and is the building nearest to the lower right hand corner of Unit No. 1.

The photograph of the artist's conception reflects what an actual picture might be if a photographer were suspended high in the air in the vicinity of Laub Brothers Oil Company, Incorporated, and if he had snapped a picture of the complex with his camera pointed northwest. Green Street runs the full length of the complex east and west and obviously Green Street is the south boundary of the new campus.

Just in the way of binding the picture, it is important to note that there are two planned parking areas, each separate from the other. One parking area is north of both Units 1 and 2 and is the parking lot uppermost in the picture. The other parking lot is in the lower right hand corner of the picture to the right of Unit 3 and this lot almost adjoins Green Street. The two parking lots are planned to accommodate up to 729 vehicles.

Superintendent Cole points out that in the neighborhood of 850 students in grades 7-12 will occupy the building the first year of occupancy, which incidentally should be September of 1971, and Cole further points out that the five building campus complex would, just as it is being constructed, accommodate as many as 1150 students in grades 7-12 before the new complex even approached being as crowded as present school facilities are crowded.

Those who attended ground breaking ceremonies at 2:00 p. m. on Sunday, October 26, 1969, might make note that the spot on the ground into which Dr. Darrell Miller and Mr. Delbert Washler plunged the shovel for the traditional first shovel full was in fact a spot almost exactly in the center of Unit 1, the Academic Building. No new school construction program only builds buildings, and this building program is no exception as will be described in the following.

A safe school bus "unloading zone" is designed to be located off Green Street and almost exactly in front of the Academic Building. Those parents who might be wondering about the safety of their smaller children with a high school complex immediately adjacent to an elementary school should have their minds put at ease by the explanation that an eight foot chain link fence will absolutely separate the new high school complex and grounds from the Butler Elementary School. This same chain link fence will separate the total new high school grounds from the railroad to the west. No high school student will be physically capable of walking or running from school property directly to railroad property.

As for facilities other than buildings, the new school grounds have built into their plans a lighted football field, and a separately lighted baseball field, tennis courts which will be property encompassed in protective fencing, a practice football field, a full 4440-yard track complete with a 220-yard straightaway, large grassed areas to accommodate outdoor physical education classes, and the lighted football and baseball fields will be jointly served by a common concession stand which stand will be of permanent construction.

Generally speaking, all five buildings in the new complex would in the jargon of the trade be considered "total electric." This in itself will provide comfort and flexibility that by comparison with the old facility will be so tremendous that teachers and students alike may have a little difficulty becoming acclimated.

For instance, in any room in any one of the five new buildings, the heat and the rate of interchange of inside to outside air can be set individually and totally independent of any other adjacent room.

All interior rooms and many others in the five buildings will be air conditioned, and proper man-made light will be totally controllable as will be natural light, for the buildings are being built to state minimum code as far as window area in each room is concerned.

As Dr. Miller pointed out in his remarks at the ground breaking ceremony, this new campus style junior-senior high school has been designed to be a practical and functionally sound school facility with no tapestries or gargoyles or frills of any other kind to be found any place on the premises. This should be a school facility that will gain the taxpayers the greatest return on their investment, and this particular facility should be one that will attract many curious sightseers, both educators and lay people.

NOTE: Next week Superintendent Cole will attempt to describe what is contained in Unit 1, the Academic Building.

Carlyle Holman, Larry Hook Win 'American Farmer Degree'

—by Mike Gaff

At the National Future Farmers Convention held October 11 through 18 at Kansas City, Missouri, the Eastside Chapter was honored by having two members, Carlyle Holman and Larry Hook, receive the American Farmer Degree. This is the highest degree that can be received in the FFA.

11 Indiana FFA members received the degree as part of the 480 selected from the entire nation. There are 500,000 FFA members.

In 35 years of teaching, Mr. Russell Guinther, chapter advisor, has had six of his students receive the American Farmer Degree, including this year's winners. Other previous winners include Allen Holman, a brother of Carlyle, and Larry Friend.

The qualifications on which the candidates are judged are: 1. An excellent program; 2. Outside activities; and 3. Leadership. These qualifications play an important part in the selection of the men who are to receive the degree. By fulfilling these qualifications and many others, Mr. Holman and Mr. Hook were rewarded with the degree.

Also attending the National Convention from our chapter were Tom Haupert, Bill Boylan, Nolan Johnson, Lowell Prentice, Mr. Hubert Stackhouse, sponsor, and Mr. Guinther. Mr. Aaron Holman and Mr. Scott Hook also attended the convention to witness their sons being honored with the American Farmer Degree. They also attended many of the business sessions and participated in some of the tours offering exciting highlights of the city and area such as the Truman Library and Agricultural Hall of Fame.

Rick Fuller, president of the Eastside FFA chapter, was one of four Indiana FFA members who played in the National Band. This year's band was one of the best ever assembled to play at the National Convention.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

At the regular meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors October 27, it was announced that the Executive Board, following a meeting with Von Pinkerton of the publishing company at Marion, voted to continue working with DeKalb County Farm Bureau Coops in editing "The DeKalb County Farm News."

A letter from Hollis Moon, State Farm Bureau Executive Department, urged representatives from DeKalb County to attend a meeting of a State Study Commission at Concordia Senior College in Fort Wayne November 5 at 7:30 p.m. They are trying to learn the feeling of the people in the nine counties of this economic area concerning some radical changes in local government.

DeKalb County's quota at the State Farm Bureau Convention in Indianapolis November 9-12 is 26. The voting delegates plan to attend the entire convention, but additional transportation will be furnished for those who wish to attend the main program November 10.

The County Farm Bureau will again furnish 6:30 dinners for the county's Junior Leaders selected to attend the District Junior Leader's Training School at Garrett School, November 13, starting at 4:00 p.m. In turn, the Junior Leaders are asked to make reports at their Farm Bureau unit meetings.

The County Planning Meeting will be incorporated with the regular board meeting November 24, at 7:30 p.m.

President Floyd Pfierman reported on the County Annual Meeting October 23.

Lee Tustison Adds School History

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

It is not my purpose to become a regular correspondent for the home paper. However, the picture of the old school building in your issue of October 23rd stirs memory and causes me to write recollections which may interest historically minded students of this generation.

In the autumn of 1897 as a student just out of the "Cheesetown" school, I climbed the creaking stairs of the old building to the room designated for the high school. It was lighted by the three windows shown in the picture. On that day in September three others that were to graduate with me at the beginning of the twentieth century found seats in that room. They were Mary Wiers, now deceased; Dessa (Reasoner) Potter, now residing in 1525 27th Street, Zion, Illinois; and John Dilley, at home in 260 West Lockhart Street, Waterloo.

In 1896 a three-year high school course had been adopted for the St. Joe school with a teacher from Fort Wayne as principal. The first class included Eva Hollabaugh, Mae Hamilton, Walter Uim and Ray Shefler. Only two of these graduated in this first class in 1899, Walter and Ray. The two girls withdrew, Eva soon to become Mrs. Edward Plummer, Mae to graduate from Indiana University, teach seven years and finally become my wife on the evening of June 2, 1909.

The professor when I first began to count the steps to the high school room was Frank Kimes; the young lady sitting immediately in front of me was Mae Leighty, now the widow of Samuel Openlander, one time telegraph and shipping agent of the Baltimore and Ohio at St. Joe. I seem to remember that the primary teacher was a Miss Widney. I do not recall who presided over the intermediate room, but upstairs in the grammar room was Clarence Woodcox as teacher. During the term of 1898-99 H. G. Provines was superintendent of the High School and I believe Clarence Woodcox still taught the grammar room pupils.

During the term 1899-1900, the high school was under the supervision of J. K. Stahl of Avilla. He had a habit of going downstairs and soft-shoeing back to find some unwary student in some unwise action. At the beginning of the term he told the story of the man who had a machine in his boat that would grind salt. One day he could not stop the machine which filled the boat until it sank. Often when a student would get out of line, Mr. Stahl would shout, "Salt, Salt," recalling the miscreant to get grinding.

The 1900 commencement was held in the Lutheran church before it was remodeled. Each of the four graduates gave an oration. Mr. Stahl was unable to be present, having suddenly taken ill in his room at the Leighty Hotel. I think he was superintendent the following year. He was a good instructor, especially efficient and interesting in English literature. I believe Lora Hull Leighty and my future sister-in-law, Delphia Hamilton, were members of the class of 1901.

After I had taught five years, my first at Coburn Corners, four following at Newville upper room seventh and eighth grades, I returned to St. Joe as teacher in the grammar room. Clarence Woodcox was holding forth in the intermediate, and Nettie (Palmer) Baker was over the primary. Joe Colburn was superintendent of the high school, term of 1905-06.

One day in the beginning of the 1905 fall term, Mr. Colburn was out in the school yard kicking a football with the boys, when he broke his ankle. The school board consisted of Mahlon Baker, Wid Patterson and Harry Kees, father of Leon. They asked me to take over the high school during Colburn's absence and hired Joy Shutt to preside over the grammar room.

This entailed some review of my high school work, since I had been teaching the common branches for the past five years. An incident at the beginning of my high school teaching career as temporary superintendent has always remained in mind. The young ladies were improving their beauty by application of rouge on their faces. This evidently annoyed the boys of the sophomore class. One day they assembled in the back room of Harry Milliman's drug store, and tinted their cheeks with wetted mosquito bar. This gave them a bright reddish facial tint. When school took up after the noon recess, they were in their seats ready for the Latin class. As the Indian-like faces seemed to disrupt the rest of the school, I asked the group to go down to the pump on the porch and wash their faces. At first no one moved and I wondered what course I would take if they refused to go. After a short delay, Elsa Kinsey shuffled his feet and proceeded toward the stairway; the others followed.

It is not difficult to note the difficulty of washing stain off faces with cold water as they stood on the porch in a chilly wind. But they did the best possible and returned to their seats. They probably appeared worse than before but the important thing to me was that they obeyed the request of a substitute teacher. I have often wondered what I would have done had they refused to obey my order.

The next year the school board asked me to superitend the high school. This was a surprise to me. I said I would do this provided the board would inform Mr. Colburn that I had not applied for the position. I am sure Mr. Colburn was unhappy about the change.

For me my last teaching during the 1906-07 year was a most enjoyable one with a student body of ability and well behaved. I have always had a warm spot for this group. I have outlived many of them, and have lost alte of others who survive. The freshman class was made up in large part by the pupils I had taught in the grammar room the year previous. Some new ones came from the country schools. As I can recall the freshman class included Helen Patterson, Lena Coburn, Goldie Johnson, Neva Andrews, Hazel Perry, Hazel Krabill, Chloe Rodenbaugh, Carrie Blecks, Mark Williams, Herbert Sherer, Roy Maxwell and Stanley Hollabaugh.

The sophomore class included Grace Kain, Laura Woodcox, Flossie Copp, Mary Scholes, Ethel Leighty, Elsa Kinsey, Harry Driver and Calvin Kain. If any of the last two groups are yet living, it would give me a thrill to hear from them if they chance to read this article.

The senior class of 1907 included four members, as did my class of 1900. They were Blanche Woodcox, Vera Copp, Ray Herrick, Ralph Patterson. Of this four all are dead. Of the 1900 class three remain: Dessa Reasoner, John Dilley and myself. Sixty-eight years after graduation!

Referring to the controversy which the Leon Kees article recalls. The six mile square political division known as Concord Township, was split in half after I left St. Joe high school. While the student bodies of Spencerville and St. Joe were somewhat jealous of each other, the split was not of their doing, but the result of differences of their elders over distribution of funds.

While Mr. Provines was superintendent at St. Joe, a contest between the two schools was held in the Lutheran Church at Spencerville. The program consisted of debates, choruses and other educational items. I recall that the solo judge was County Superintendent Coe and he decided the contest in favor of the Spencerville school.

I am pleased to note that the difference of early days has subsided and the two communities are joined in their opposition to the location of the junior-senior high school, now being built in Butler.

What Price Treason?

—by Judge Richard S. Kaplan, Gary City Court, Past 1st District Commander, Dept. of Indiana, American Legion, winner of 1967 Freedom Foundation of Valley Forge George Washington Medal of Honor award.

(Reprinted from Gary Memorial Post No. 17, Monthly News, and submitted by Leon Kees of Saint Joe, WW I Veteran, Rainbow Division)

TREASON is defined as "an offense of attempting by overt acts to overthrow the government of the state to which an offender owes allegiance; or of betraying the state into the hands of a foreign power." (Webster).

The U.S. Constitution, Art. 3, par. 3, cl. 1, defines treason as "levying war against the United States OR in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

What is the status of the United States with reference to its activities in Viet Nam? No matter what you may call the situation, the fact remains that we are at war with the communists ....with the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam. Our men are being killed and wounded in battle. In return we are bombing the enemy's oil dumps and supply routes and killing the enemy's forces.

You may call it a police action, as we did in the Korean conflict, or an action to prevent a take-over by the North Vietnamese, but actually we are fighting a desperate war testing whether we shall drive the communists out of Viet Nam or be conquered instead.

Under the circumstances it becomes the absolute duty of every U.S. citizen to support and defend this country's effort in every way. We may not agree with the manner in which this war is being fought; we may disagree with the principles under which this war is being carried on; we may believe that our government should do more, should not be afraid to bomb Hanoi out of existence and use all our power to destroy the war effort of North Viet Nam regardless of what China may do. BUT ...we must and should support this nation and do nothing to aid the North Viet Nam government.

However, what is the situation with certain individuals in this country? Groups of college students are being taught how to avoid the draft. Certain college students are urging that we give blood to the Viet Cong; and just a few months ago, Stokely Carmichael, young leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, better known as "Snick," who created the term "BLACK POWER," publicly stated that "When you talk of Black Power, you talk of bringing this country to its knees. When you talk of Black Power, you talk of building a movement that will smash everything Western civilization has created."

In the face of the Universal Military Training Act, which provides that any person who "aids, abets or counsels" others to refuse to comply with the draft law may be punished by a fine of up to $10,000 and-or five years in prison, the same Mr. Carmichael gave this advice to Negroes: "When Johnson calls, say 'Hell, no, I'm not going.' Any black man who fights in this country's Army is a black mercenary."

Here are Americans who are giving aid and comfort to the enemy, giving the enemy encouragement while our men are fighting and dying overseas. If this isn't treason, what in Heaven's name is it? The draft card burners, the flag burners, the demonstrators, who lie down in front of troop trains to prevent troops from traveling to their training camps, the looters, burners, destroyers are tearing the unity of this nation apart.

Some will say, "The Negroes are fighting for a better life. They ARE entitled to a good education, to live where they want and choose to live." My reply is simple. The Negroes ARE entitled to every right and privilege granted to all citizens.... the right to employment and housing without discrimination. They are entitled to a good education, or to live where they want to live, with dignity and respect. They have a right to parade and demonstrate as any other citizen might do. BUT.... they have no right to tear this nation apart by violence, created under the guise of fighting for their civil rights . . . to burn down, to break into stores and businesses, to loot and plunder at a cost of many millions to innocent business owners . . . to fight and shoot at innocent citizens and police.

And under the guise of fighting for their civil rights, they have no right to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

The NAACP, largest and oldest Negro organization, and the Urban League, have utterly condemned those activities, but their protests and voices have gone unheeded by the violent and revolutionary young leaders who only recently have sprung into prominence.

The United States of America can no longer afford to permit such activities to continue. We cannot and must not allow Mr. Carmichael, the Muslims, the leaders of the Progressive Labor Party, a vicious anti-American organization whose members were kicked out of the Communist Party because of their violent theories, to continue their activities. We must not allow license to subvert to be carried on under the guise of free speech.

We must demand of this country that the TRAITORS and violators of the Universal Military Training and Service Act be charged according to law and punished as the law demands they should be. We have no room for traitors and those who follow their lead. We cannot afford to allow them their freedom while our boys are fighting, being wounded, dying and being captured in Viet Nam.

Let us not play around with semantics. WE ARE AT WAR. We need UNITY in this nation and not deviative tactics in the guise of freedom of speech or civil rights. The granting of rights to any citizen also demands responsibility on the part of the citizen who receives those rights; and any citizen who surrenders his responsibilities as a citizen has no right to claim constitutional immunity for his wrongs.

Let us hope our Attorney General will start the ball rolling to put local enemies where they belong—IN PRISON.

2 More Wins In Jr. High Football

—by Phil Miller

Last week the Eastside Junior High football team notched its second victory, downing the New Haven Bulldogs 24-8.

The Blazers received the opening kickoff and moved 56 yards in 8 plays to score The touchdown came as Steve Bellamy took Tim Hollabaugh's short pass and sprinted 27 yards to pay dirt. Shockley ran the 2-point conversion.

New Haven wasn't able to move and in the second quarter Shockley passed to Bellamy for a 25-yard touchdown play. This time Bellamy ran the 2-point conversion and the Blazers held a 16-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Eastside scored first on Shockley's 34-yard run through the line. Bellamy again ran the conversion, and the Blazers had the game sewed up 24-0. Late in the game New Haven scored but never was in contention for the win.

Jeff Dielman, Jeff Ridge, Tim Hollabaugh, Ervin Fetters and Steve Bellamy all intercepted passes to cut off Bulldog drives and Mike Hulbert recovered a fumble to stop another drive. Scott Parshall made 8 tackles to lead the Blazers' defense. Shockley was the leading ground-gainer, getting 78 yards in 11 carries.

Monday evening, the Junior High gridders ran over Ashley 42-24 to oclose out their season at 3 wins, 2 ties and 2 losses. The victory was the third in a row for the young Blazers as they outscored their opponents 94-44 in the last three games.

Scott Parshall started the scoring on the second play of the game as he rounded left and for a 59-yard touchdown run. The run for the conversion was short and the Blazers led 6-0.

Parshall scored again in the first quarter on a reverse that was good for 40 yards. The Blazers didn't get the extra point and led 12-0. Late in the first quarter Eastside scored again, this time on Shockley's 10-yard pass to Steve Bellamy. Tim Hollabaugh passed to Bellamy for the 2-point conversion and the Blazers led 20-0. During the first quarter the Blazers' defense allowed only a total of 4 yards gain to Ashley's offense.

In the second quarter, Doug Shockley circled right end for a 55-yard touchdown and Bellamy ran the 2-point conversion. Ashley scored twice and the half ended 28-12.

In the second half Eastside scored on a 60-yard pass play from Shockley to Parshall, with Shockley getting the 2-point conversion. The Blazers' final touchdown came on a 5-yard run by Bellamy.

Whitcomb said bids will be received on the remaining 14.4 miles of the "missing link" as soon as "federal funds are provided." Also speaking at the ceremony was Neil C. Russell, executive vice president of the Chicago Motor Club-AAA, which long has been urging completion of the gap in I-94. He called opening of the new section of the highway "the beginning of the end of the missing link."

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Mrs. Dan Johnson of Auburn called last week to say thanks for the comments here about her late father, Jesse Loftus. She said his belongings include a lot of poetry publications, and that Jesse was a great lover of verse. He committed a lot of it to memory. How?—by saying it over and over to himself as he worked behind his horse, Bob.

I had never heard of his literary likes before, and it shows that we often don't really know about people until they are gone.

I still have a key chain with Ford keys (the double-sided variety) and a house key on it, found over a month ago. And Harold Yeiser gave me another key, found a couple of weeks ago. It's a General Motors car key in a Delagrange Ford Sales key holder.

Lois Fisher told me this week of the plans the Spencerville United Methodist ladies of the W.S.C.S. are making to serve lunch at the Graham sale. They have been told to plan for 1,000 people, so you know there will be plenty of good food.

I have been putting a late-in-the-season coat of masonry paint on the News Office during the past week. Saturday afternoon as I labored in the drizzle, Mark Mansfield and Freddie Rayle stopped by for conversation. They told me about their cleaning off some of the windows around town after the Hallowe'en activities; Lauri and Marty Loy were doing the same thing.

Finally Mark asked, "Do you ever put anything about kids in the paper?" I told him sure, when I knew about them. I sorta got a message, I thought, so I asked, "Why, do you think you ought to be in the paper for cleaning the windows?"

"Uh huh," was the answer—and so they are!

Maybe their inquisitive approach about what's in the paper goes along with the chewing out Loretta Loy gave me Monday morning. (She'll love me for this.) I really got told off, that there was nothing in the paper anymore, it isn't the paper it used to be, and so on.

I just about decided to chuck the whole works, but things go by streaks, and with a few people—including Loretta—bringing in items and my picking up a few items here and there, I decided to have another go at it.

Smalltown papers are not like the bigger city publications you read about and see about on TV and in the movies—if that's what movies show any more. A smalltown newspaper depends on other people for their voluntary contributions of news. And if some things are not seen in the newspaper, and they ought to be, it is as much the fault of others as of the editor if the news is not published.

I am quite certain that there are those in this community who think the newspapers have an automatic sixth sense and they don't have to tell the newspaper about what's happening—it gets into print by magic.

There may be other editors with different opinions and attitudes, but THIS paper is here to serve the community. It's our responsibility to publish the news—it's your responsibility to get it to us. Small town newspapers don't have full-time reporters who get paid for digging up the news—like in the movies; they can't afford it. They depend on the people they serve.

Last week's issue contained 85 column inches of display and classified ads. At 50 cents per column inch, that's an income of $42.50 for putting out last week's paper. It takes an average of three days to get the paper out. That makes a daily income then of under $15. For an 8-hour day that means an hourly wage of under $2. Out of this comes heat, light, postage, mortgage payments, etc.—before the editor gets his "take home pay."

You can see, therefore, that it is impossible for a smalltown newspaper—this one, anyhow—to devote more time to digging for news.

It shows how essential and important the advertising support of local business is. It would be quite appropriate that readers say to our advertisers, "Thanks for supporting our local newspaper with your advertising" the next time you patronize them.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club and their ladies held a dinner meeting at the Heritage House in Fort Wayne Monday evening, October 27.

With their new permanents and hair sets, their perfect make-up jobs, their new dresses and various accessories, the ladies were just beautiful.

This reminds me of a statement made some twenty years ago, by a former resident of this community, after not having seen Elsie for two or three years, "Elsie is just as beautiful as ever but I suspect that it costs Herman more to keep her that way."

Once I read a short story about a lady who got bypassed by all of the eligible young men because the other girls had prettier faces or figures or something else. In fact, she was somewhat on the plain order. Years later, she met, fell in love with, married and lived a very happy life with a very desirable man who had only one handicap; he was blind. Two or three years later, the doctors decided that they could restore his sight by surgery. The lady, remembering the boys who passed her by, was very much concerned about what her husband's reaction would be when the bandages would be removed from his eyes. He also had been looking forward to seeing his wife, then when the bandages were removed, he looked at her, took her in his arms and whispered in her ear, "You are just beautiful."

We have seen the ladies in their Sunday best, we have seen them when they were slinging hamburgers, when they were dog tired and their feet hurt. We still think that they are just beautiful. Perhaps someone will tell me why we think so.

Our Lion Tamer, Harold Murphy, evidently sensed all of this and decided to make the most of it. But first he just had to make a few remarks about some of our members such as, "I found a glass eye in my pie at our last meeting and I suspect that Shockley might know something about it." Then Lion Murphy announced to the ladies that they might join this imaginary club that he intended to organize for the small sum of 10 cents and in addition to the membership he would also give a free kiss to every new lady member. You should have seen those ladies digging for their membership fees. Lois Fisher questioned whether she could get three memberships for herself for a quarter. All of the ladies except Mrs. Murphy joined the club.

Karl Hart showed slides taken in Japan during the time of the Lions International Convention. I would try to tell you how good they were but it would be better if you would get him to show them at some meeting that you can attend.

Karl repeated the Japanese emperor's welcoming address to the convention in the Japanese language with the proper Japanese accents and flourishes. His English version of the address did not even compare to the Japanese.

Complaints Aired On Town Board's Plan To Buy Lots For New Hall

The town board met Monday night for its regular monthly session. Visitors included Donald McCann, Andy Monroe, Joe Robinson, Lynn Duke, Mose Yeiser, Mel Hershberger, Rev. Russell Snyder and Dick Roberts.

A lengthy discussion was held concerning the board's pending proposal to purchase two lots on the main street for eventual use as a building site for a new town hall at some time in the future. For the present, the lots would be graded and filled, then kept as a small "park" with grass and flowers as a beautification of the main street.

Objections voiced were that it is an unnecessary expense to buy the lots, that the location on the main street was not suitable and that space was available at the present town hall site to build a new building after the old one is torn down. A comment in support of the board's proposal was voiced.

The board noted that the purchase price was not "$3,000 or $4,000" as expressed in the complaints, but only $1,400. The board also pointed out that the money would not come from local taxation but from a Cumulative Capital Investment Fund which comes from state reimbursement of cigarette taxes. It was noted that the board undertook the total obligation of lot costs when other financial support was not forthcoming.

The board also noted that it had discussed the matter several months ago at which time several citizens expressed their support of the board's plans for the future. The board had proceeded thereafter on the basis of such support and the lack of any known opposition at subsequent board meetings.

Board president Ted Haberkorn expressed his personal desire to refrain from any action contrary to public opinion, on the condition that the public is aware of all the circumstances and has correct information. Board members Jack Bowser and Lynn Lake concurred in the desire to act according to the wishes of an informed public.

The opposition has arisen after the board proceeded with legal advertising necessary prior to the completion of the real estate transfer. The board stated that it had undertaken the project with the feeling that it is in the best interests of the community.

During later discussion, the board noted that parking is a problem at the local town hall and fire hall and that the property which it proposes to purchase appears to be large enough not only for a building but also for a parking area of limited size.

Also, it was noted that by removing the town hall from its present location, room would be available for expanding the fire department building, in anticipation of additional tank truck facilities for rural fire fighting. An adequate water supply is the prime factor in fighting rural fires of any consequence.

The official hearing on the board's proposed purchase of the real estate is set for Monday, November 10, 1969, at the town hall at 7:30 p.m. Interested parties, both for and against the proposal, are urged and invited to attend, as pointed out by the board at this week's meeting.

Additional business included the presentation of a request for a fireman's tax exemption as provided by law. Another request was for board support of the summer recreation program which is now sponsored by the Saint Joe Lions Club. Rev. Snyder appeared in behalf of the club to make a request for consideration of installation of a drinking fountain as well as other support to keep the program as successful as it was during its first year. The board said it would give consideration to the request.

After the interesting and constructive session, the board adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town—Roy Eck, open grave $50.00; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 240.00; City National Bank, fire truck payment 804.17; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., street lights 83.84; Kenneth Roberts, labor 36.25; Lynn Lake, annual salary 150.00; Roger Coburn, mow cemetery 40.00; Roy Eck, open grave 50.00.

Our president, Margaret Carper, opened the meeting by leading us in reciting the collect. Hazel Schrader then read a poem that had something to do with the difference between the way the trees dressed in summer and undressed in winter and the way she did.

Betty Bevington led in singing the song of the month, "Over the River and Through the Woods." Katy Crow had the devotions from "The Upper Room": "Ye Must Believe."

After a brief business session, Miss Sue Calvin, our county home agent, gave her talk on "Textiles, Old and New," which was very interesting as well as enlightening. We all enjoyed her first visit with us.

The entertainment was the game "Fifty" which sounded very enjoyable. Refreshments of a smorgasbord style were served to nine members and 21 guests. Mrs. Effiebelle McCann, our incoming county president, was also a most welcome guest.

Cemetery Shrubs Are 'Taboo'

During a discussion of town affairs Monday night at the meeting of the local town board, a complaint was aired from a Riverside Cemetery lot "owner" concerning the destruction of a decorative shrub on a grave.

As a result, Ordinance 36 was reviewed concerning the maintenance of the cemetery, with the responsibilities of the town and lot users reviewed.

It was noted that there has been a laxity in enforcing the regulations, and this had contributed to the misunderstanding about cemetery maintenance.

When the town board of 1962 established a permanent sinking and maintenance fund for care of the cemetery through Ordinance 36, specific regulations were included to govern the use of the lots in the cemetery. Section 3 of the ordinance reads as follows:

"Section 3: Be it further ordained that the said lots in the Riverside Cemetery shall be maintained by the Town of Saint Joe without cost to the said lot owners and which shall be sold and conveyed by deed of the Town of St. Joe. That said deed shall contain a provision prohibiting the planting of shrubbery on said lots, the erection of mounds, the installation of walls, fences or curbing around said lots and shall further provide that no monument, mausoleum or other building with a height in excess of four feet shall be erected on any lot in said cemetery unless the plan, plans or specifications for said monument, mausoleum or building has first been submitted to the Board of Town Trustees of the Town of Saint Joe and approved by them. Said deed shall expressly reserve to the Town of Saint Joe the right to enter upon said lots at any time and remove any shrubbery, mounds, curbs, walls, buildings, mausoleums or monuments erected, plated or constructed in violation of the provisions of said deed."

The board noted that the reason for such regulations concerning shrubbery was that the presence of shrubbery adds to the expense of maintaining the cemetery due to extra care needed in mowing and trimming.

The regulations governing the local cemetery are no more restrictive than those of most other cemeteries. There are some cemeteries which go to the extreme of prohibiting everything but the simplest and plainest of grave markings.

The care of the local cemetery has been a problem despite the 1962 ordinance which established a sinking fund. Sufficient funds have not yet been deposited into the perpetual care account to cover the cost of maintaining the cemetery. Therefore, tax money has been required for such care.

The presence of shrubbery is an added liability when it comes to cemetery care. The local ordinance, when enforced, reduces that additional cost.

The board indicated that it would attempt to enforce the ordinance in the future, to remove as much as possible the opportunity for misunderstandings to arise.

Cemetery lot owners are therefore advised of the provisions of the ordinance.

It should be noted that the term "lot owner" in conection with the cemetery is a misleading term. No land is deeded to individuals who pay the necessary fee for a lot. What is actually granted is the privilege of using the lot for burial purposes. The entire cemetery is still owned by the Town of Saint Joe, and the town has the authority to establish regulations governing cemetery use.

The sinking fund established by Ordinance 36 grows as lot privileges are sold. Fifty per cent of the lot cost is transferred to the perpetual fund. Interest from that fund is used for cemetery maintenance. As noted before, the fund is not adequate to cover the maintenance cost.

Description Of New School

(This is the second in a series of articles through which Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole will attempt to acquaint the citizens of the school community with the five buildings that will make up the new campus complex for the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School.)

In this article we will pretend we are standing center front (with our back to Green Street) of Unit 1, the Academic Building. It may be a misnomer to label this building the Academic Building; however, no implication is meant other than that this building houses what once were recognized as the 3R's.

In the very front of this building, between the building proper and the school bus safety loading area, is a "commons." This "commons" is simply an attractive cobblestoned area complete with benches which is meant to be an attractive place for students to assemble and socialize. If one stood with his back to Green Street and looked across the commons at the front of the Academic Building, it would immediately be obvious that there were two entrances, one near the left corner and still another near the right corner of the building. In order to explore this building, we are going to walk to our right and enter the southeast door.

We are going to walk in a northerly direction down the easternmost corridor until we intersect the east and west corridor northernmost in the building and follow that corridor until we run into the north and south corridor on the westernmost side of the building at which time we will turn left and head south (back towards Green Street) until we intersect the southernmost east and west corridor which we will follow until we intersect the corridor of our first entrance.

Upon entering and walking straight north, we would pass seven standard subject matter classrooms on our right. As we walked, first on our left would be the faculty offices; next would be boys' and girls' toilets, followed by still another standard subject matter classroom. We now would intersect the northernmost east and west corridor and as we turned left and walked west, on our right hand we would pass two fully-equipped general science rooms, a fully-equipped combination chemistry and physics lab, and a fully-equipped biology lab.

First on our left as we started west we would, of course, have noted the standard subject matter classroom previously mentioned, followed immediately on the left by one of the flexible subject matter areas designed into the building—four full-sized classrooms in an absolute square which classrooms are divisible by high quality, soundproof, flexible dividers. This then becomes an area for lecture to 120 students at a time, or the area can quickly be four good-quality standard subject matter classrooms.

As we pass the four-room flexible area and just before we intersect the westernmost north and south corridor, we find still another standard subject matter classroom on our left. If we pause as we intersect the westernmost north and south corridor, we can note that the western exterior of the building houses north to south five standard subject matter classrooms. But as we walk south, we notice that the area enveloping the southwestern corner of the building is still another flexible room situation. The area can, by using a high quality flexible divider, be two standard classrooms except that the northernmost classroom has elevated tiers and the southernmost half of the room is all on one level. However, the one-level portion sports a small raised platform or the hint of a stage. This flexible area can be opened into a lecture room for 101 students.

Going back to the point at which we had walked west and intersected the westernmost north and south corridor, upon turning left, on our left we recognize once again the standard subject matter classroom previously mentioned. Walking south once again, on our left we recognize boys' and girls' toilets, an electrical equipment room, followed by a storage room, followed by a mechanical equipment room.

We now have but to travel the southernmost east and west corridor and we will have traversed all of the corridors of the Academic Building. We now turn to our left and walk the length of the southernmost east and west corridor. Beginning on our right, we find a fully-equipped reading lab, a bookstore, and two electronic modern language rooms which rooms are adjacent to one another with each room flanked by a fully-equipped student practice room.

As we started east in this last corridor, immediately on our left we would note the audio-visual storage and repair room, and just to the north of that, the library workroom and glass-encased library office, and just north of the library office we note a conference room with its only entrance being from the library.

Only a few more steps take us to the entrance of quite a sizeable modern library which library as has been implied is complete with a storage room, a workroom, an office, an audio-visual storage and repair room, an out-of-the-way but very handy charging area, a book drop room and three conference rooms. Access to the library can be from either the north or south. The entire main library area floor is to be covered with institutional first-caliber carpeting which has been proven to be both psychologically and economically sound.

Since the whole five-building complex has been deliberately designed to house grades 7-12, one might anticipate logically that someone sometime made an effort, if not concretely, to philosophically separate grades 7 and 8 from 9, 10, 11 and 12. This has been done by separating the personal locker storage area of the 7th and 8th graders from the locker storage area belonging to the upper four grades.

Contrariwise as it may seem, those same planners had to pay heed as to how to concretely and philosophically cause a blending of these students in grades 7-12 in order that the most efficient sharing of other than straight academic facilities be had. The latter will be accomplished by clever, accurate and deliberate scheduling which scheduling will cause this sharing and will bring grades 7-12 together as is proper and felt necessary for social, developmental and governmental activities.

(SPECIAL NOTE: Next week Superintendent Cole will attempt to write an article describing Unit 2, the Vocational Building.)

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, November 13, 1969 — NUMBER 44

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Our Phil's question about the wording of those school articles now appearing substantiated my suspicions when they began that it would sound like dirty digs from Ye Editor with the repeated reference to the superintendent "attempting" to describe the new school.

The articles appear as they are prepared by the superintendent himself, and the words used in all the articles are of his own choice.

So—no, I didn't do it.

An old column in the Publisher's Auxiliary caught my eye. It concerns a questionnaire sent out reportedly by a Montana editor who asked his readers what they would like to read. Here is what he came up with (with tongue in cheek):

"1. My name.

2. A front page article showing how crooked the city government is most of the time.

3. My wife's name.

4. A feature article showing 25 ways on how to cheat on income tax forms.

5. My kids' names.

6. A local news item about the affair my neighbor is having.

7. A classified ad offering a new home for sale for $4,000.

8. More news about lawbreakers.

9. Less news about lawbreakers. I was picked up last night and I should not have to pay a fine.

10. An editorial condemning high school teachers for being too liberal with 'F's.'

11. A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty.

12. A sports picture of me when I bowled 183.

13. More advertisements on things that merchants are giving away.

14. A front page picture of my neighbor being hauled out of the bar by his wife.

15. A front page spread about the deadbeat who lives across the street from me who just had his car repossessed.

16. Forget the last one. I just got word from the finance company that they're coming after my car.

17. More letters to the editor naming the crooks we have in town."

Cub Pack Meeting

A Cub Scout Pack Meeting will be held Thursday evening, November 20, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Spencerville United Methodist Church.

Boys between the ages of 8 and 11 who are interested in participating in Cub Scout activities are invited to attend. Parents are urged to encourage their boys to join in the activities of this youth organization which not only provides recreation and study activity but also in the process helps to develop moral character.

'50-Plus' To Meet

The "50-Plus Club" will hold a pot luck supper meeting next Thursday, November 20, at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at St. Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville.

Those who attend are asked to bring their baby pictures.

Storm Damage Photos Add To Local School History

The photo above shows classroom damage caused by a windstorm in 1902 to the school house which then served the Saint Joe community for elementary and high school grades. The man in the photo is not identified.

The above photo shows a portion of the damage as it looked from the outside. The man in this photo also is not identified. Both photos are possessions of Mrs. Everett Mavis of Auburn.

By The Editor

We are deeply indebted to those readers in the senior generation who have given The News photographs and descriptive accounts of Saint Joe's past history, particulary those related to our schools. There are always errors which creep into such presentations, however, due to the assumptions which are often made by the listener when historical accounts are given. Perhaps they are more accurately described as "misunderstandings" rather than errors.

To illustrate the point, a recent article based on information given to us by Mr. Leon Kees brought responses from other readers which point out that time is an important element in relating historical facts. We failed, unfortunately, to accurately establish the time element in Mr. Kees' presentation and readers, therefore, were led to believe that the need in 1911 for a new school building came as a result of a storm in that same year. This is not the actual fact.

Mrs. Lela Northrup has informed us of the time element involved in the school construction dispute back in 1911. She pointed out that a windstorm in 1902 caused extensive damage to the brick building which provided local students with their elementary and high school facilities. The building was repaired and the photo which accompanied Mr. Kees' information in the October 23, 1969, issue was the school building after repairs had been made.

Mrs. Flossie Mavis of Auburn has also established the 1902 date for the storm and has provided two photographs which were taken immediately after the storm had done its damage. Each photo has a notation on the back establishing May 2, 1902 as the date.

We attempted to find the local news story concerning the severe storm, but were unable to do so due to the lack of back issues of this paper for the years 1888 through 1904.

Thus, it appears that if we have not erred again, the proper sequence for school buildings at Saint Joe is:

A school house of wood construction at the present Maurice Kline residential property, this being the first school house in Saint Joe and located at the northwest corner of the intersection of State Road 1 and County Road 60;

A brick building at the present "old school" site (construction date not yet established);

A severe windstorm in 1902 which damaged the brick building, but it was repaired;

Closing of the brick school house in 1911 due to cracking walls caused by the weight of fire escapes;

Repair of the building after a new trustee was named (as related in the October 23, 1969, issue);

A new building constructed on the same site in 1913 (this building now housing the Riverdale 7th and 8th grades);

A second building constructed just north of the old building on the same site in 1927 (this being the gym building which was razed in 1967 and also contained classrooms and office facilities);

The first unit of the present Riverdale building constructed in 1962;

The second unit of the present Riverdale building constructed in 1966.

Marked stones on the present old building give the following information: Sam Mumaw, trustee; W. F. Maxwell, T. H. Elson and Peter Coyle, advisory board. The architect was Chas. R. Wenthehood of Fort Wayne and the contractor was J. S. Ness of Plymouth, Indiana. This is the building which was built in 1913.

Mrs. Mavis has also established that the first 12-year graduating class came in the year 1914. Prior to that time, it appears there were only three years of high school credit given in the local school.

There were five members of that Class of 1914. They are: W. Gray Woodcox of Garrett; Clark Scholes of Fort Wayne; Lloyd Coburn of Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Marie (Leighty) Meese of Saint Joe; and Mrs. Mavis (Flossie Sechler).

In relating incidents of past local history, our informants frequently refer to "the old opera house" and its second-floor skating rink. If anyone has a photograph of that building, we would like to use it for a future article. Thus far, we have not seen a picture of that building, which seems to have been a central point of interest in much of the social activity of its day. It deserves proper recognition.

It is suggested that readers may wish to save these most recent issues of The Saint Joe News which have given historical background of not only the school community but the community as a whole. We are indebted thus far particularly to Mr. Kees, Mr. Ray Reasoner, Mr. Walter Keesler, Mrs. Ford Jackson, Mrs. Northrup, Mrs. Mavis and Mr. Lee Tustison for historical details and photographs.

$3500 Needed For Protest Expenses

Solicitation is now being made for donations and pledges to pay the balance of expenses incurred by the group within the eastern school district which basically sought to prevent the use of the Butler site for construction of a junior-senior high school.

A goal of $3,500 has been set. There are at the present time some $3,187.50 outstanding in attorney fees. A balance of $82.-11 is due on telephone bills. With other minimal expenses primarily for travel, the $3,500 mark is the needed amount to clear the group's obligations.

In the past the group has paid $2,350.00 in attorney fees, plus several hundred dollars additional for postage, telephone, travel, advertising, court fees, documents, etc.

The accompanying "thermometer" will be published from time to time to show the progress in donations and pledges.

Those who have in the last four years at any time encouraged the legal efforts put forth in behalf of a better total school program are asked to support the present effort to raise funds to cover expenses incurred in the public's behalf.

In the past week, two outright donations of $100 have been received. Before that three donations totaling $65 came in.

The current effort emphasizes the opportunity to meet the obligations by pledging a monthly sum of $5 until the obligations are met. It is suggested that a dollar a week will not hurt the family budget, but it will greatly assist in meeting the group's obligations.

Donations may be turned in to any of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Harold Kagey, Dick Roberts, Ivan Brown, Connie Hollabaugh, Lora Hart, Dick Coll, Vic Timmerman, Dick Crow, Lavon Boylan and Jerry Keener. Any other volunteer helpers will be greatly appreciated.

A pledge form is printed herewith for those who may not be contacted in person. Send to Connie Hollabaugh, Spencerville, Indiana 46788.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe held a hearing Monday night on advertised additional appriations, one of which is for purchase of a riding mower for cemetery and park use, the other for purchase of real estate for future use as a new town hall site.

Board Members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn and clerk-treasurer Donald Kinsey heard opinions voiced by persons who oppose and support purchase of real estate. No objection was voiced against the purchase of additional equipment.

Present at the meeting were Joe Robinson, Andy Monroe, Mel Hershberger, Walter Miller, Richard Musser, Lynn Duke and Dick Roberts.

Essentially the same objections were voiced Monday night as were presented November 3 at the regular meeting of the board. It was stated that the price of the two lots was too high, that improving the lots would be too costly and that the present town hall site is adequate for construction of a new town hall when such construction can be undertaken some time in the future.

The board stated that the purchase of the real estate had been publicized months ago and that it had proceeded with the project when no objections were raised. It stated that the change of site for a new town hall is deemed necessary to provide adequate space for present and future needs. It feels that locating on the main street will be a step in communiy improvement by enhancing the main street. It pointed out that it is now necessary to rent storage space to house the town tractor, the mower attachment, the blade attachment and the old fire truck which is now used for mosquito fogging. The board stated that it has considered the purchase of a dump truck for street and other maintenance work. These needs, both present and future, make the present site inadequate.

The two lots which have been selected for purchase are 100'x150' in total size, containing 15,000 square feet. If the present town hall were torn down and every available inch put to new building, there would be only approximately 3,700 square feet available. The proposed new site represented by the purchase of the two lots would, therefore, provide four times as much space as the old site.

The board, after hearing arguments for and against the proposed purchase, accepted the proposal to purchase equipment and tabled the proposal to purchase the real estate. It will give further consideration to the matter next Monday evening, November 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

CARD OF THANKS

I should like to express most sincere thanks to the Riverdale Elementary teaching staff, cafeteria ladies, secretaries and administrative staff of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, and friends who remembered me with cards, flowers, planters and encouraging inquiries during my many long days in Parkview Memorial Hospital.

I was especially grateful for the visits and prayers of the pastors from the churches in your community.

Mrs. G. L. Rader

CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE PLEDGE FORM

In order to help pay for obligations incurred in behalf of students and patrons of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, I hereby pledge to pay $5.00 per month until the sum of $..... has been reached. I understand that this pledge is not a legal obligation but a moral obligation in which I wish to share responsibility.

Of Decency And Good Taste

Queen Victoria would be shocked at the miniskirts and frank conversation of women today. Most modern women would be shocked by the dust-dragging costumes and prudishness of the queen.

Customs and manners change drastically from one generation to another. Sometimes they seem to run in cycles. Mutton-chop whiskers, sideburns and mousaches went down in defeat with the advent of the safety razor early this century, but they are now making a comeback.

People who get terribly distressed because young men choose to wear their hair long and young women choose to wear their skirts short are barking up the wrong tree. Every generation tries to set itself off from its predecessors. It wants a pattern of its own—although it may simply be borrowing it from some earlier century. There's nothing wrong or immoral about this. Styles change. The very meaning of the word "style" indicates that it is something temporary.

You don't have to look too far back to find a time when men rouged their cheeks, powdered their wigs and wore frilly lace shirts with lots of bows and fancy buttons. These were not effeminate or peculiar men, either. They included world leaders and statesmen like the founding fathers of the United States.

In any generation, however, there ought to be an avoidance of extremes and careful attention to the limits of good taste. A style that appears modest and appropriate on one individual may seem vulgar when worn by another. Men with pot bellies, hairy legs and knobby knees ought to avoid being seen publicly in shorts. And it goes almost without saying that some women should never wear slacks!

In the arts and literature, this issue of good taste is also properly raised. We can appreciate the freedom of thought and action that today's permissive society allows for the theater and for publications. The stage, the movies and even television feel free to deal with any subject that affects humanity, without taboos on plot or language. This can be honest and wholesome. But when shocking language and lurid sex scenes become the whole purpose of productions, you can't help but wonder if too much freedom is good or bad. Perhaps it's art, but it can leave you feeling a little sick.

Obviously, nobody is compelled to read books or go to shows that may offend him. But I feel sorry for children today who might want to go to the movies. It's pretty hard to find a picture that they will be allowed to see—if the self-applied restrictions of the movie industry are enforced. A recent survey by a rating organization found that out of more than a hundred films, only eleven were suitable for family viewing. Most were R or M or X. And some films deserve a special rating which might well be a double X—meaning that they are unfit to be seen by anybody.

A humorous twist that makes us realize how strange our standards are came to light a few months ago. It was revealed that a new best-selling sex novel was a literary joke compiled by 25 newspapermen who work for a Long Island (N.Y.) paper. They deliberately set out to create a bad book and they succeeded so well that it is selling like hot cakes.

As Christians we cannot help but be troubled by some things that we see and hear. Christians cherish freedom for themselves and for all men. They know that it is wrong to sit in judgment on others. They recognize that love, compassion and understanding must govern their attitudes and that they have no right to set up rules by which other people must live.

Christians, however, have the right to protect themselves and to shield those who are immature. A law now before Congress that would severely punish anyone who mails unsolicited pornographic material to teen-agers deserves our support. And there's little reason to load newsstands in public places with material whose sole purpose seems to be to exploit depravity. We can also protest violence and evil when depicted as normal conduct on TV screens.

Censorship and suppression are not an answer. If we err, it must be on the side of freedom. But we must support and promote good taste and decency in every area of life.

—Albert P. Stauderman, in "The Lutheran," November 5, 1969.

Don't Burn Leaves On Blacktop!

Several instances have been observed of burning of leaves along curbs on those streets in town which are blacktopped.

The town board cautions local homemakers that such burning can damage the pavement. Heat from leaf fires softens the composition and causes damage. Further damage is possible also if a car or truck passes over the warm, soft portion of the pavement.

Saint Joe residents are asked, therefore, to burn their leaves at some place other than on the pavement.

Description Of New School

by Supt. Kenneth Cole

In this particular article, I will attempt to guide the reader through Unit 3—the Vocational Building. However, before we acually start this tour, perhaps I had better apologise to the reading public, and even more especially to both newspaper editors, for I have been referring to Unit 1, Unit 2, etc., and doing so in good faith except that aparently I completely forgot to mention that these unit numbers were merely the architect's identification symbol for locating the five buildings individually on the plot. The unit numbers have absolutely nothing to do with the intended sequence of construction.

As to the sequence for construction, the truth is that the weather and the type of material used in the buildings will probably have more to do with which buildings are constructed first than will anything else. Because it is mostly a steel structure, and weather will have little or no effect on the construction thereof, Unit 3, the Gymnasium Building, will undoubtedly be the first building constructed. Unless I miss my guess, this all-steel gymnasium building, once completed but minus the floor, will become the contractors' huge, safe storehouse for much of the valuable equipment that will be used later in the other four buildings.

Actually, the present schedule for construction as issued by the general contractor is as follows: First, Unit 3, Gymnasium Building; second, Unit 1, Academic Building; third, Unit 2, Vocational Building; fourth, Unit 4, Cafetorium Building; fifth, Unit 5, Administrative Building.

Now that I have rambled for half a page or better about this and that, let us do turn our attention to Unit 2, Vocational Building.

Remembering that this whole campus plan leans toward the philosophy of the advantage of areas of specialization, this particular building theoretically is designed to house everything that is potentially a marketable skill for the high school graduate.

If we look at the picture of the buildings on the plot, and we remember that the uppermost left hand building is the now-existing Butler Elementary Building, we should recognize the Vocational Building as the T-shaped building which is the northwesternmost building of the five new buildings. Looking at the building, we notice that what would be the crossbar on the "T" is much higher than the remainder of the building. This high portion contains the only second level rooms in the entire complex. Use of the second story in this particular case is in fact to prevent waste of the area between the high ceilings of the Vocational Agriculture Department on the right front of the building and the Industrial Arts Department on the left front of the building. Both the Industrial Arts and the Vocational Agriculture Departments were arranged with the aid of the State Department of Public Instruction. Both departments will be fully equipped for a wide variety of vocational experiences.

On the ground floor between the agriculture room and industrial arts room is a large classroom, an industrial arts office and a vocational agriculture office along with appropriate storage room. Just above the classroom is a graphic arts room complete with dark room, an air-conditioned drafting room and an electronics classroom. In the extreme right hand corner front of this building there is an incinerator and receiving room. Storage rooms and custodial closets are appropriately placed throughout the building.

If we leave the high front portion of the building and walk into the lower remainder of the building, we could walk completely to the northern extremity of the building via one corridor. As we leave the high portion of the building and go north, we would observe a full two teacher arts and craft station. Both of these art rooms have been carefully planned and will be fully equipped to offer a wide range of art experiences.

Again, some flexibity has been built in by using a high quality flexible divider. This area becomes two private teacher stations or it can be left open as one huge station.

Immediately opposite the art rooms and taking up approximately two-thirds of the western side of the building we would find a completely modern two teacher station Home Economics facility. The Home Economics facility includes a large clothing laboratory, a fairly large multi-purpose auxiliary room and a large foods laboratory.

Continuing on north in the corridor on our right we would find boys and girls toilet facilities and to the east of the girls toilet area there is a large art department storage room.

The remainder of the building on our right side, or the entire northeastern half of the north side of the building is taken up by the commercial department. First on our right is a large slightly L-shaped room which room is equipped primarily as a bookkeeping room but would double in use for any of a number of other commercial subjects.

Continuing on next on our right we would come upon a large vocational business room which has been designed deliberately with flexible potential for it will be equipped with 22 business trainers and typists chairs, and the room will be wired in a manner so as to provide for fully programmed learning.

Continuing on north, the last room on our right and the northeasternmost room in the building is a large typing room fully equipped and wired so as to be fully programmed to handle 40 typing students at a time.

Leaving the typing room, if we cross to our left, we come upon the northwesternmost room in the building which we find is still another potentially flexible business education room. This room could be validly used for distributive education, or as an extra bookkeeping room, or for any one of the more subject matter types in the commercial family. The northernmost corner of this particular room on the side that borders the corridor is walled off to create a student publications room.

This then would conclude our tour of the Vocational Building, for we would find that we had arrived once again at the northern boundary of the Home Economics Department.

This building should offer a definite advantage to students and teachers alike for much that is contained in the building is interrelated and will be readily available for cooperative usage.

Special Note—Next week Superintendent Cole will attempt to write an article that will describe Unit 3, the Gymnasium Building.

Gifts Sought For Mental Patients

Mrs. Roger Kain of Auburn, chairman of the Christmas Gift Project for the Mental Health Association of DeKalb County, has announced that the project is now underway and gifts may be left at various depots within the county.

The project is undertaken each year to collect new gift items for presentation to patients in state mental hospitals and training centers. Gifts will be taken to the state institutions in December, so those who wish to contribute a gift for those who are sometimes forgotten should present them at their local depot by December 1.

The News Office is the depot for the Riverdale area, with Kandel Insurance Agency serving as a collection depot for Butler. The Boston stores in Auburn and Garrett and Waterloo Hardware are the other depots.

Donors are asked not to wrap the gifts, but ribbon and wrapping paper with the package will be appreciated.

Suggested gifts for men include sweaters, dress shirts, sport shirts, pajamas, pipes, shaving cream and lotions, raincoats, bathrobes, jackets and belts.

Those who prefer to purchase a gift for a woman may choose from such items as sweaters, washable dresses, skirts, blouses, nylon hose, nightgowns, pajamas, girdles, toilet articles, billfolds, raincoats, head scarfs and gloves.

Gifts for men or women include slippers, playing cards, instant coffee, billfolds, comb and brush sets and walking shorts.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

Mrs. Carl Perkins was hostess to the Ladies Literary Club on Wednesday, October 15, 1969.

After the president, Mrs. Yeiser, called the meeting to order, the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

For the evening program, Mrs. Yeiser introduced Mrs. Clayton Baker who told of the trip to Alaska a local group had taken during the past summer. By using maps and slides, Mrs. Baker made the trip "alive" for all present.

For entertainment, Mrs. Weldon Shafer read several poems with thoughts of autumn which were greatly enjoyed by the group.

After the business meeting, the club adjourned and the hostess served refreshments.

On October 29, the club met at the home of Mrs. Weldon Shafer. Mrs. Yeiser called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and the opening collect and pledge to the flag were repeated.

The lesson, "Organized Crime In the United States," was very ably given by Mrs. Carl Carpenter. The contents of the lesson were most revealing and shocking, bringing out the fact that crime is America's biggest business. In conclusion, Mrs. Carpenter gave an article written by J. Edgar Hoover on how to prevent crime.

The entertainment was provided by Mrs. Russell Snyder who had two clever Halloween word games.

The parliamentarian, Mrs. Snyder, conducted a review covering the general rules for parliamentary procedure in organizations.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker, critic, gave her report and the meeting was then adjourned. The hostess then served refreshments to the group along with the clever announcement of her approaching marriage to Mr. Harold Hamman on November 15, 1969.

The Denver uses the latest concepts in amphibious warfare. From its large helicopter flight deck, troops and equipment of a Marine battalion can be rapidly flown to combat areas ashore. Simultaneously, assault landing craft, loaded with combat supplies, can be launched from the ship's submerged well deck.

The ship is scheduled for a Western Pacific deployment in the near future.

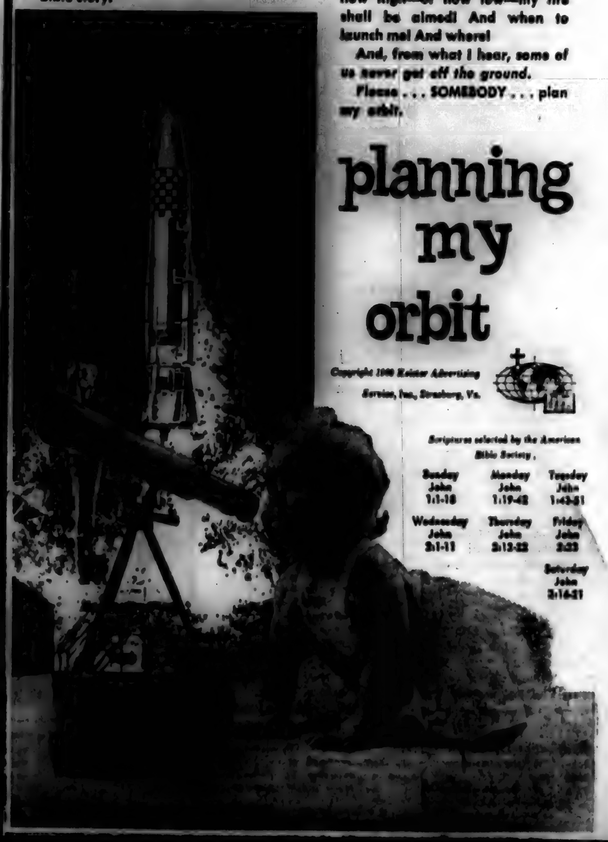
If only I had been born with the ability to reason and all the wisdom great decisions require.

Then I'd ask Daddy to teach me a prayer.

And I'd ask Mommy to read me a Bible story.



And, if nobody offered to take me, I'd walk myself to Sunday School.

But, as things are, I've no more say about my destiny than a missile has. You grown-ups decide how high—or how low—my life shall be almost! And when to launch me! And where!

And, from what I hear, some of us never get off the ground.

Please . . . SOMEBODY . . . plan my orbit.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Kenny and Pat Roberts ask that the kids refrain from using the hill in back of their place for a sledding run this winter, until a new seeding job can be done next summer. With the first light snow last week end, there was a lot of traffic on the hill and it really got chewed up.

I made myself sick Tuesday. With the protestors having given up in the school fight and the wheels now rolling to build the new school on that postage stamp site up in Butler, I have laid off any remarks about the situation. But things keep popping up and it is impossible to shut one's self off from the matter—or be shut off.

When we, the protestors, quit at the end of September in time for the school bonds to be sold, it seemed like the end of it—but frustrations have continued. AFTER the bonds were sold, AFTER the protestors quit, three or four comments have come to me directly or indirectly along the line, "That site is the wrong place." But the remarks haven't come from the Riverdale area; they've come from Butler.

Board member Harold Kagey has stated informally that he has had a few Butlerites complain to him about the situation. His reply has been something like, "Don't complain to me. Where were you when we needed you?"

I didn't go to the ground-breaking ceremony—I wasn't in the mood to witness that day of infamy. But it has struck me that evidently there was no big enthusiastic crowd at the ceremony; at least, there has never been any report of numbers in the Butler paper. Why weren't the Butlerites out enmasse to witness the kickoff of new school construction? Why did the school board majority think it necessary (or was it the school board?) to schedule the ground-breaking so hastily that at least two board members could not attend? There was only four days' public notice.

You'd think that with all the marbles now in Butler, the people up there, to whom the school means so much, would have attended such a significant thing as a ground-breaking in larger numbers.

To add fuel to the fire, this week postcards have been sent to patrons in the district asking if they want to continue the Butler P.T.A. The statement is made on the postcard that—

"Last spring the P.T.A. nominating committee was unable to find anyone who would accept an office in our local P.T.A."

Patrons are then asked to indicate if they want the organization to continue, if they will accept an office, if they will attend the meetings or if they want to disband.

This is an odd situation in the Butler community which has been so school conscious!!!!!?

And you can't place much blame on the Riverdale area in the present dilemma because we have been left out for the past year or so. No notices have come to this paper this year about P.T.A. activities, and last year we were out in the cold, too, when it came to being consistently remembered as a part of the school system.

Where are all the people who are so interested in education up there that NO ONE would accept a P.T.A. office? If there was any effort to recruit Riverdale area patrons for office, I haven't heard of it. —And no one asked me to serve! (They'd die first, up there!)

This instance is additional evidence that the site matter in Butler was not a matter of total educational quality and availability but rather a matter simply of possession of a school building.

I said I made myself sick. That was when I drove past the Butler site Tuesday afternoon, saw the thousands and thousands of yards of dirt being moved to make the postage stamp site as suitable as possible for squeezing in the junior and senior high school.

I wondered about the fence that is needed to keep kids from going on the railroad track. I wondered about the fence that is needed to separate the elementary school from the upper grades. I wondered about the noise discomfort and distraction for the football field and the buildings which will be even closer to the railroad than the present elementary building—and IT is not "insulated" from the noise of trains. And I wondered about the State Superintendent of Public Instruction who has strangely left our situation alone even though his own agency's rules and regulations are being violated—but he jumps in everywhere else, even when he isn't asked!

Those who may say, "There he goes again, off on another tangent"—just because their offspring may be participating in this or that school activity with no problems, these people should consider that for every student who has the opportunity to participate, there are a half dozen who cannot participate or who don't want to participate, because of the inconveniences of distance and time, or because they are discouraged by overall attitudes towards them.

Make no mistake—the Riverdale area is "set apart" in our school district through administration and general attitude. It is still a matter of public record that the present school board tied the site dispute directly to installation of sidewalks at Riverdale in the past year. Retaliation was the method by which the Butler intercats "represented" our school children in the matter of safety.

Perhaps the present dilemma facing our Butler P.T.A. is due to the disappointment of many Butlerites in the manner in which their board majority has approached the solution of our educational needs. Perhaps the evident disinterest is due to a feeling of guilt.

I think Mr. Kagey is right in his question—where WERE the Butlerites when they were needed?

We may already be paying the price of a poor location.

—And you can't condemn Riverdale-ites for lack of interest; we often don't know what's going on because we are just plain ignored, despite the efforts of a few in the school to keep the total district informed.

To top it off, now the school board must solve the problem of getting to and from the new location, with a new street necessary. Isn't that great? Remember how much cheaper it would be to build in Butler? Now we need a new street! —And we need a fence to separate the little ones from the big ones!—And we need a fence to keep the kids off the railroad!

Imagine—hundreds of acres of wide open spaces—and we, in the "space age," put up fences around our school.

Is it any wonder that many people have shown a lack of interest?

300 Attend PTO Tuesday

A crowd of some 300 persons attended the Tuesday night session of the Riverdale P.T.O. The feature of the meeting was "Back To School" sessions for parents of Riverdale students, three class periods set up during the evening for parent-teacher consultation and visiting.

While parents were in class, the kids had fun in the cafetorium watching a western movie, shown by Larry Smith, minister at Coburn Corners Church of Christ.

The Riverdale Junior High Band, under the direction of Richard Foster, then played several selections. Mrs. Robert Musser presented devotions appropriate for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Frank Seehler gave the treasurer's report which showed a balance of over $400 after receipts from last Friday's spaghetti supper and membership dues.

Bud Shockley thanked all those who helped with the supper. Ticket sales were led by Tim Hollabaugh who sold the largest number of tickets, followed in order by Lynn Hart, Joy Smith, Robin Meek and Gloria Daniel.

Mrs. Lynn Fisher, president of the P.T.O., presided at the meeting.

Letters to the Editor

Auburn, Ind.

Dear "Ted":—

As a former graduate and a "Primary" teacher in the St. Joe Schools, I would like to make a small contribution to the expenses recently incurred.

Although ultimately defeated, you are to be commended on the use of your paper, your time and your talent in being the foremost champion in attempting to secure an appropriate location for the new school. Many of us appreciate it greatly.

And in so doing, the "image" of the community was bettered rather than diminished by your FAIR coverage. Thanks!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Everett Mavis (Flossie)

Board To Purchase Lots, Proceed With Old Building Condemnation

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday night for its third session in as many weeks. The main purpose of the meeting was to accept bids on the installation of a new lighting system in the town. There was also a carry-over matter concerning the proposed purchase of real estate.

Present at the meeting in addition to the board and clerk-treasurer were Mel Hershberger, Walter Miller, Harry Loucks, Lynn Duke, Bob Chew and Richard Musser.

The board accepted the proposal of Indiana & Michigan Electric Company for the improvement of the present lighting system, which will include the installation of some 21 additional light fixtures plus the improvement and increased lighting capacity of the present 34 locations. The additional cost per month will be $155.15. No other proposals were received.

Time was then again devoted to the discussion of the real estate matter with a review of the objections as well as the favorable points. The board pointed out that its responsibility is to exercise its judgment in such matters, after giving due consideration to the views of the public and all other circumstances and conditions. Following general discussion of other community problems, including empty store buildings, old buildings that ought to be removed, the keeping of chickens, pigs, ponies and so on within the limits of the town, junk and unused cars and so on, the board again stated its position.

The purchase of the real estate was undertaken several months ago, the matter being discussed at board meetings and publicity given in the local paper about the board's intent. Having no objections presented thereafter, the board proceeded with preparations for purchase.

The intent of the purchase is to provide a site for construction of a new town hall in the future, but the date of such construction is undetermined and no detailed plans have been discussed about the size and cost of such new building. In the meantime the board proposes to maintain the corner site on the main street as a "mini park," keeping it in grass and adding shrubs and flowers.

At the present time, four concrete step blocks and a hole full of debris mar the appearance of the main street. A house which formerly occupied the lots was burned down a few years ago, leaving the present condition.

The board pointed out that there are only some 3,700 square feet at the present town hall site, if the old building is torn down and every available square foot utilized for a building and landscaping. The two lots in the proposed purchase contain 13,000 square feet.

The board acknowledged that a new town hall could be "squeezed" onto the present site, but it does not feel that such a program is in the best interests of the community. It is hoped that the proposed program will also be an incentive to others to undertake improvements in property as a matter of civic pride.

One objection voiced at recent meetings has been that the corner location on the main street is not appropriate for such a building. The board pointed out that the lots lie in one of four blocks in a four-block square which has been designated in past years as the business district. The commercial area is, therefore, appropriate for a town hall.

A question was asked as to why the board carried the matter over from one week ago, inasmuch as there were more against the proposal than for it who attended the meeting last week. The board pointed out that it is not bound to act according to the number of persons who attend the meetings; its responsibility is to give consideration to the opinions expressed before rendering its decisions. The board still has the privilege and responsibility of exercising its own judgment.

It was noted that if townspeople are dissatisfied with the board's efforts, the opportunity will come at the next election to do something about it. The board strongly noted that it had given additional time for objections due to the possibility of new or additional evidence, thus having given more consideration than is normally required.

Following the lengthy discussion, the board approved the additional appropriation for the two lots in question.

In further community betterment action, the board voted to authorize the town attorney to proceed with condemnation procedures to have the old mill at the east end of town removed. The owner was given an August 15, 1969, deadline for such removal and the board has waited beyond that date for appropriate action. In the absence of complete removal activities, the board will now proceed accordingly.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held Monday, December 1, 1969, at 7:30 p.m.

'Y' Open House

The Auburn Y.M.C.A. will observe its 55th anniversary this coming Sunday, November 23, with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m.

The "Y" was built in 1914 through a donation of $56,00 from the Eckhart brothers.

In announcing the occasion and extending an invitation to the Riverdale community to attend, Hal G. Hoham, president of the organization, made the following comments:

"The Y.M.C.A. is one of the worthwhile things that set this country apart, one of the things that makes us different from other mid-western small communities. This is the 'Y's' 55th year serving this entire county.

"The 'Y' has just had a 'face lifting.' Vast improvements have been made in the physical appearance of the interior of the building. It is now more nearly in keeping with other public properties and schools in our area.

"To celebrate the 55th year of the 'Y', and to show you what has been done, we extend to you, and through you, to the entire St. Joe community, a special invitation to visit your 'Y' during our Open House on Sunday, November 23, hours 2 P.M. until 4 P.M.

"You will be proud to learn of the increased activities and expanded program of your 'Y'."

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

Following the supper, Willard Hurni, a 30-year member, gave a three-minute talk on "Your Club and You."

He spoke of Lions International which is the largest organization of service clubs in the world, then of the national, state, district and local clubs. These local clubs such as ours are a very useful influence in their communities because they are not just social groups but they are public spirited and get many things done locally that would not get done otherwise.

It is the policy of Lions Clubs that their dues pay all of their running expenses including state and national dues and that all of the money made by the club be spent on projects that are beneficial to the community.

He then described the individual Lion in a positive manner, telling how dependable he is which is just opposite to the following rules of "How To Kill Your Club," which were recently printed in "Maintenance News":

1. Don't come to the meetings.
2. If you do come, come late.
3. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't come.
4. If you do attend meetings, find fault with the officers and other members.
5. Never accept an office—it is easier to criticize than do things.
6. Get sore if you are not appointed on a committee, but if you are appointed, do not attend the committee meetings.
7. Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary, then how! that the club is run by a clique.
8. Contribute no ideas or help to the meetings; after the meeting, tell everyone how it should be done.
9. Don't bother about new members—let the other fellow do it.

Lion Hurni summed up his speech by insisting that all this pays good dividends to the individual Lion in friendship, fellowship and satisfaction in a job well done.

November 24 will be another 100% meeting. All Lions take note and govern yourselves accordingly. At that meeting Gerald Murphy will show pictures and tell us about his Spanish trip.

The proposed budget, Lion Seebler chairman, was passed without additions or amendments. We hope that their estimated income will be realized because we would not like to cut anything out of this budget.

Lion Willard Maxwell took over for Tail Twister Murphy who had to go to another meeting. He acted like an Army sergeant making an inspection and freely passed out charges and fines. He looked me over, then asked, "Did you see the Lion article in the recent St. Joe News?" Then another question, "Did you notice that it referred to Tail Twister Murphy as Lion Tamer?" Then without waiting for a reply, he remarked, "That will just cost you ten cents."

Henry Eckles of the State Board of Health then showed pictures on the pollution of streams and lakes. Sewage disposal plants, septic tanks, industrial wastes and other related subjects were discussed and personal questions were answered.

Hamman-Shafer

Mrs. Weldon J. Shafer of Rt Butler and Mr. Harold C. Hamman of Auburn were married Saturday, November 15, 1969, at the Church of Christ Chapel in Butler.

Brother Larry Beard performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family.

Attendants were the sister of the bride and cousin of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hamman of Waterloo.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was served to the wedding party and guests in the dining room of the church.

The couple now reside at 315 Michigan Avenue in Auburn.

The Heartbeat

of DeKalb Memorial Hospital

By Ginny Nixon

DeKalb Memorial's new Coronary Care Unit was put into service when the first patient was admitted this week.

The Coronary Care Unit provides specially trained nurses who are on duty 24 hours a day at the bedside of the patient. The new monitoring equipment records a precise and continuous story of the patient's struggle for recovery. Let's hope this is but the first of many success stories for the new unit.

Someone has said, "If you want something done, ask a busy person."

These were the words of Rev. Carl O. Wirey, chaplain of DeKalb Memorial as he conducted the recent installation of officers for the Hospital Guild Coordinating Council. He continued,

"To you the chosen officers of this year for the Guild is entrusted a responsibility for the vitality of this organization. Yours is an outreach of service that begins here in the hospital, but extends throughout the whole community."

How true that is!

EHS NEWS

Van Miller, an Eastside High School senior, was given honorable mention by the coaches in the Allen County Athletic Conference for his fine performance during the past football season. The panel coaches were impressed by his ground gaining record of four yards per carry and his strong defensive play.

Coach Frank Osborne commented, "We are pleased by Van's selection, but we would also like to point out that we had other fine players who were with us through a long and difficult season and were equally deserving of recognition. We hope to see Van in college competition in the future."

The basketball team of Eastside High School has good size, pretty good speed and not too much experience.

Last year's top scorers, 6'7" Keith Kessler, 6'3" Charlie Ross and 6'2" Dee Wasson, are back although Wasson will probably miss the first game. These three players were also the top three rebounders last year.

In addition to these, 6'7" Steve Flood saw considerable action last year and should develop into a solid performer this year.

Steve Cole and Rod Knox also saw some varsity action last year and are working at front line positions.

Five guards were graduated from last year's team and only one of last years "B" team guards, Dale Curry, is available. However, two sophomores, Dave Miller and Kent Rosenbury, have been showing improvement at these spots. Both played on last year's freshman team.

Ross may be converted into a guard part of the time, which will give excellent size on this combination.

Paul Hollabaugh, a 6'1" junior, also has been improving although this is his first year of high school participation.

Dave Baughman, Bob Holtzberg and Doug Fetters are sophomores who also may see some varsity action.

Prospects are good for much improvement over last year's 6 and 14 record.

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the PTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, in hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis . . . the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

We've had a pretty successful lost and found service here at the News Office. The latest find comes from Jim Rinard at Spencerville who has a set of Ford "two way" keys in a brown key case. He found them Tuesday of last week. The owner can claim them by contacting Jim.

Joe Robinson is off his crutches now, atill with a cast on his leg but able to navigate on his own.

And just about the time he got off, our Esther got on. She fell last week, tripping on a curb and breaking bo th bones at the left ankue joint.

There is a lot in the news today about how unsafe it is to walk at night in our major cities and some not so major. I took a walk the other night and found out it isn't safe even in Saint Joe—but not because of mugginga or robberies. In Saint Joe it's dogs.

There was one place where I'd swear the people let the dog out purposely because he was barking—and I was only walking by. I thought he was going to take me, but he backed off when I got past his property.

Dogs continue to be a periodic problem—no; it's not the dogs, it's some of the people who wn them. It's rather unfortunate when a person must be fearful of dogs when walking the sidewalks in town. Some owners seem forever forgetful that they are responsible for their dogs' actions, even on their own property. And—sidewalks are not on private property.

The Heartbeat

of DeKalb Memorial Hospital

By Ginny Nixon

All children love Christmas. All children love toys for Christmas. Everyone loves a bargain. Wouldn't it be nice to find good quality used toys, big and small, books, games, stuffed animals, tricycles, dolls, skates, sleds, for Christmas at bargain prices?

Many of us have old or seldom used toys just lying around. Wouldn't it be nice to have them belong to children who really want them, and help your hospital at the same time?

Then mark December 5 on your calendar for the big Toy Sale at the Curiosity Shop, at the corner of 9th and Union streets in Auburn.

The Fund Raising Group of DeKalb Memorial Hospital sponsors the event each year to raise money for special equipment the hospital needs. Mrs. F. A. (Sigrid) Duncan chairs the project this year.

The gals will move out all other merchandise and move in the toys they've saved all year. The doors open at 10:00 in the morning, and the fun lasts until 5:00 p.m. Then the rush begins to move the regular merchandise back in for business as usual.

If you have toys in good condition—and that "good condition" is emphasized—to donate, please bring them to the Curiosity Shop before December 1 to be priced. The group will take toys of all kinds and sizes and for all age groups. If the items are not easily transported, call Mrs. A. L. (Barbara) Dyer at 925-1303 and she'll arrange to have them picked up. Collect those toys now so you don't forget!

That Big PTO Crowd Last Week

Photo reproductions were not available for last week's issue of this paper, but readers may still be interested in that big crowd of 300 who attended the Riverdale P.T.O. meeting Tuesday of last week, including "Back To School Night" for parents. While parents toured the classrooms, Larry Smith showed a western movie for the kids in the cafetorium, shown above.

Students' work was exhibited in the classrooms where parents and teachers had the opportunity to visit and discuss the educational process at Riverdale.

Mrs. Freida Guilford, first grade teacher, was particularly pleased at the opportunity to demonstrate for the above group some of the audio-visual equipment used in her room. Shown at front with Mrs. Guilford is David Kinsey, then left to right, Sheryl Kinsey, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kinsey, Mrs. Ed Wade, Roy Bissell, Mrs. Robert Prosser, Mrs. Juanita Jasso and Mrs. Bissell.

When everyone gathered back in the cafetorium for the business meeting and brief band concert by the Riverdale Junior High Band, the scene was gratifying, as above.

Community Club Plans Big Recreation Project

The picture above is a sketch of the layout of the proposed Spencerville Community Club Park. The Club bought the four acre site last August from the Foltz estate. The property is located west of the Community Building. This will be our park. We are hopeful that most of the work will be completed by fall of 1970. As you drive past now, you will see a lot of earth has been moved, but a lot more will be moved. It is hoped that most of the hill in the back will be brought toward the road to be almost level with the road when finished. Unless there is a great change in the weather, it will stand as is until next spring.

To fill you in on what has been done, we point out that the landscaping has started. Committees have been set up to provide for the various needs of the park. The following individuals have responsibilities as listed.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Baumgartner are in charge of swings, slides and other playground equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rinard are in charge of the ball park.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hudson are in charge of the planting of trees, bushes and other shrubbery. Perhaps a flower garden will be included.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmerman are in charge of landscaping, well, pavilion, parking lot, horse shoe pit, basketball-tennis court, rest rooms, etc. Others will help with these needs in the future.

To take care of all the work involved in this project, names have been taken from the telephone book and each committee-chairman has taken ten to fifteen names. When help is needed, these people will be contacted. It is hoped that residents of the community will respond to these calls for assistance.

It is going to take every able bodied man, woman and child to do this job. We have long needed this park. Now that we have the opportunity, let us not fail.

Just remember, if asked to do something in helping with the park, please help. Maybe a ball game, favorite TV program or something else will have to be sacrificed.

The project will be discussed in further detail at our annual Christmas Program. Please make every effort to attend December 7, 1969, at 6:00 p.m.

Thank You, Mr. Agnew!

One disconcerting thing for those of us who have seen "the past" ridiculed by modern thinkers and activists has been the lack of any response in behalf of what can accurately be called "the average American." However, in recent weeks the Vice President of the United States has become the spokesman for "the silent majority." He has, in the process, incurred the wrath of those who have been a part of the distarbing and disconcerting activities in this country.

Spiro Agnew was a comparative unknown when Richard Nixon selected him as a running mate in the presidential election of 1968. There was some disappointment within the Republican ranks because a bigger name had not been selected. However, those of us who had misgivings at his selection now are pleased by the declarations which he has made in recent weeks; those of us who have been bothered by the absence of good taste, decency, and respect in the minorities who have crowded the headlines.

The television industry particularly has been irked by Mr. Agnew's criticism. A few nights ago, a network program devoted one hour to an Agnew speech, including pointed remarks by the recognized top newscasters of the three major networks. The overall impression from their remarks was that, while they might in a few instances agree that the television industry needs self-examination, they were more intent upon destroying the image of Mr. Agnew than in deriving any benefit from his remarks. The fact that the public response has been overwhelmingly in agreement with Mr. Agnew did not seem to impress them.

It would be unfortunate if the country were to be "divided" by Mr. Agnew's declarations, as the newscasters stated was the case. But there are many of us who ask, "What about the activists who do seek to divide the country? Why do they get so much consideration?"

It is probable that the newscasters would deny favoring the subversive elements in today's society, and they probably do not favor such elements. However, they have missed the point of Mr. Agnew's concern, and the concern of millions of Americans. The point the Vice President appears to be making, as far as the television industry is concerned, is that the amount of time devoted to reporting incidents of rioting, campus unrest, peace marches, and so on gives the IMPRESSION of "rightness" to such activities. And the Cronkites, the Smiths, the Sevareids, the Brinkleys, and so on would do well to come down from their "ivory tower" and give consideration to what the public is saying, what Mr. Agnew is saying in behalf of many Americans. Their experience in dealing with the public ought to have given them enough wisdom to recognize that they are not being condemned, necessarily, but they are being justifiably criticized.

Much as they seem to deny it, the newscasters have impressed the public with the appearance of sympathy for all the disruptive elements. They have impressed the public with the appearance that dissenters are right and all others are wrong. Seldom has there been editorializing on the part of the newscasters to downgrade the dissenters' efforts which divide the country. But they have seldom hesitated to be critical of "the system" which the dissenters cannot seem to live with.

The end result has been the appearance of total condemnation of the American system by dissident groups with apparent sympathetic review by the television newscasters. It is this total condemnation which "the silent majority" has resented, this philosophy which says that everything must be changed, that the past has been all wrong as well as the people in it.

It is gratifying that a major political figure has at last spoken in behalf of those Americans who know that there are wrongs in our society which we are not proud of. They also know that these wrongs cannot be corrected overnight, in fact some of them may never be corrected because of the very nature of a free society where people are allowed to exercise their own judgment.

Mr. Agnew is a marked man. Those who cry "intimidation" are themselves guilty of the very thing they denounce by the manner in which they have replied to the Vice President. He has emerged as a forthright spokesman for the traditional American concept of a deliberate and cautious approach to our nation's problems.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The second round of Saturday basketball proved to be exciting. The play was fast, rough, and at times amusing.

Twenty-two personal fouls were committed in the first game. Roberts and Mansfield were outstanding for the Red team. Ricky Rinard and McKown were outstanding in a winning cause for the Orange team. The final score was 22-17.

The last game of the morning pitted the Blue team against the Green team. Laub and Carper were too much for the Green boys to handle. The final score was 20-16. Rick Conley looked good for the losers.

We Gather Together

We all went to church this morning. Later, as I served the turkey, Mary and I began to reminisce about our first Thanksgiving in our own home.

It was the year Joe was a baby. Always before, we'd gone home to our families. We sat a festive table and pretended not to be lonely.

"And were you?" asked Jane.

"Did you pray before you ate?" asked Ruthie.

"Of course, they prayed," said Joe importantly. After all, he'd been there! "That's what Thanksgiving is all about!"

Mary and I smiled at each other, remembering how we'd nearly forgotten. We'd bowed our heads together, baby son at our side. Suddenly, the real meaning of Thanksgiving swept over us, and we gave thanks for the blessings of the hour.

How grateful we are for the teachings of our church, which through the years has helped us interpret the source of all goodness!

Description Of New School

by Kenneth Cole, Superintendent

I write this to describe what visitors will be able to see if they thoroughly inspect Unit 3, the Gymnasium Building, after its completion. Readers will recall from previous articles that because it is an almost entirely steel building, Unit 3 is likely to be the first building completed. Also, readers should remember that this building is the northeasternmost building of the five new buildings on the plot. For those who can close their eyes and envision the track around the football field as it did exist, the new Gymnasium Building is so placed on the building plot as to encompass the northeast curve in the track.

The public will enter the Gymnasium at the Green Street front of the building. As we face north and look at the front of the Gymnasium, we see a 64-foot area designed with doors to allow entrance and this entrance area is centered, and more than that, the entrance area is flanked on either side by a ticket booth. If we enter one of the doors center front, we step into a rather large lobby area. If we look to our left from the lobby, we would see a rather large area housing boys' and girls' toilets, which toilets would in fact be the public toilets at all school-community gatherings. If upon entering the lobby we look to our right, we would notice a sizeable concession stand and a short hall which leads between the concession stand and a ticket booth. The hall leads into a southeastern corner classroom. This classroom will enable the male and female physical education teachers (who almost always teach health and safety) to meet those classes in the gymnasium area. The furniture in this classroom will be such that it can be stacked enabling the room to be used as a coat and hat check room for community affairs. There is a custodial space just off the lobby in the area of the boys' and girls' toilets.

If we leave the lobby and take four or five steps into the Gymnasium playing floor area, we note that this is a modest playing floor area; however, we also note that there are two full sized basketball courts and of course the standard full court running north and south for home game purposes. As we look to our right and left, back against each side wall we would notice for the full-length of the sidewalls what would look like a giant upright piano with the keyboard covered. Upon closer inspection we would discover our giant elongated upright piano effect to be equally divided roll away bleachers simply folded back against the outside walls. In this case the roll away bleachers are Brunswick Corporation's all-steel bleachers. The seats are steel with curved edges and they are covered with permanently bonded vinyl. This vinyl is bonded to the steel in a hot process and is guaranteed never to separate. Because the bleachers are all steel, these bleachers away none as the crowd walks on or off. In the jargon of the trade these bleachers would be described as "full power." This is to mean that a custodian could by turning a key or punching a button roll out all of the bleachers on one side or the other of the floor in a matter of just seconds.

The northernmost portion of the Gymnasium Building is so packed with facilities to accomodate each and every boy and girl who participates either in physical education or in the athletic program. In the northernmost center we first come upon a large storage room and to the right of that a relatively large custodial space with the two being separated by a short hall which enters into a wrestling and gymnastics room. Because this portion of the building is very complex, I am going to list simply all that is contained in the remainder of the building to the right of the wrestling and gymnastics room and then to the left of the wrestling and gymnastics room.

We are describing what is in the northeasternmost corner of the Gymnasium facility. We will begin in the absolute northeastern corner and tour clockwise. We are then in a large storage room from there we step into a scientifically constructed football drying room and going clockwise we step into a large laundry facility. We then would step out of the vestibule into an opening or a one-sided corridor which is simply an extension of the gymnasium playing floor on the north. As we proceed clockwise we find two fairly large well-equipped varsity dressing rooms complete with toilets and storage facilities.

Continuing clockwise we now go north along the east wall of the wrestling and gymnastics room and we discover an athletic office, a training room, a varsity toilet facility, one varsity shower facility, and since we are now against the north wall to continue on clockwise we must turn right and walk through a drying area and into the other varsity shower room and out of that into still another drying area and from that into a vestibule which is the result of an outside door, having traversed the vestibule we would walk into the electrical equipment room and we would have been in every area in the northeast corner of the Gymnasium.

We will now pretend we can walk through walls and we will explore the northwest corner of the Gymnasium Building by touring that area and traveling counterclockwise beginning in the wrestling and gymnastics room traveling west near the north wall. We would walk into a boys' physical education facility (locker room) then through two shower facilities each of which is bounded on the south by separate drying rooms, then we would walk into a girls' physical education facility (locker room). Continuing on the northwestern corner room is a large outdoor storage room. We now turn to our left and walking down the western wall we come into a large gymnasium storage area and continuing south through that area we come into a vestibule and we turn left as we step into the vestibule and walk straight ahead in an easterly direction and on our left we find girls' toilet facilities, a girls' physical education office, and beyond that still another office connected with boys' physical education.

To sum up the gymnasium area one might point out that there are 2,700 bleacher seats which are equally divided on either side of the varsity playing floor, and said bleachers are Brunswick Corporation's all-steel vinyl covered. Counting the wrestling and gymnastics room and through the application of high quality divider curtains, the gymnasium offers five separate physical education stations at any one time. The locker room, shower room, drying room, etc., are such that boys' and girls' physical education classes could be scheduled at the same hour and in any variety of number combinations; for example, you could have two girls classes and three boys classes, or perhaps four girls classes and one boys class going on at any particular hour. If planning has been adequate, and I feel it has been, there should be locker space in the Gymnasium for every boy and girl who will be involved in either physical education or athletic competition. All of the auxiliary facilities that are necessary for operating an athletic and physical education program are provided for in this Gymnasium Building. No gymnasium is ever perfect nor does it contain all that it should in the eyes of physical education teachers and coaches, but this Gymnasium facility in its modest way ought to be totally ample for a long time.

This week I write in an attempt to guide the reader through Unit 4—what for lack of a better term is called the Cafetorium Building. That the term Cafetorium is a misnomer should, I hope, be evident before the reader finishes this article. In actuality this building houses a complete modern kitchen, a cafeteria area that will seat 450 at one time for eating purposes, an area containing serving lines common to both the cafeteria area and the kitchen area. The entire north end of the cafeteria area is taken up by an elevated stage, and to the right of the cafeeria area is an area almost as large as the cafeteria area and stage area combined and this other large area houses separate instrumental music facilities and vocal music facilities.

This so-called Cafetorium Building is the southwesternmost building on the plot, and it is the closest building to the presently existing service driveway that runs north and south just east of the Butler Elementary Building. This building faces Green Street and at its closest proximity it is only about 105 feet north of Green Street. In order to examine this building let us pretend that we are standing with our back to Green Street facing the Cafetorium Building front and center at a distance of 50 feet.

The left portion or the westernmost portion of the building is the new kitchen facility and all that should be properly associated therewith. If we could look through the walls looking south to north, we would see that half of the entire area on our left is the kitchen proper with all of its modern equipment. Immediately inside the kitchen area and on the right of the kitchen proper there is a large storage area, and just to the north of that a large area designed to house the necessary serving lines, and just to the north of the serving line area a large ultramodern dishwashing facility. The remaining area of this kitchen portion of the building contains a cafeteria office which is in the northwestern corner of the kitchen proper, and immediately north of that the toilet, lavatory, and locker facility as mandated by the State Board of Health for all such public kitchen facilities, and to the north of that is a spacious and well planned dock area for the receiving of supplies. Adjacent to the northeastern corner of the kitchen proper is a large dry storage area, and to the right of the dry storage area is a sizeable electrical equipment room. Housed in this same kitchen area and easily accessible to the cooks are both a walk-in freezer and a walk-in cooler.

The cafeteria area, the major portion of the center of the building, can be entered either at the southwest corner or from a corridor entrance at the southeastern corner. As was previously stated this area will seat approximately 450 at one time for eating purposes; however, when the area is being used as an auditorium it should seat about 700. The entire northern end of this portion of the building is taken up by an elevated stage and to the right of said stage finds appropriate dressing rooms, control panel areas, etc. At the northwestern corner of the stage area there is a dock area making the stage directly accessible from the outside.

We now turn our attention to the eastern portion of the building that portion that houses both the instrumental and vocal music rooms. If we walked from the cafeteria area east through a corridor at the southeastern corner of the cafeteria, we would see on our left a faculty dining room capable of being divided into two parts by a high quality folding partition. This folding partition gives the faculty dining area flexibility which will make the area available for other than dining purposes. Immediately to the north of the faculty dining area is a short corridor running east and west from the cafeteria area into the instrumental music area. And just to the north of this corridor is a large storage area to house materials to be used in connection with the stage. Slightly more than half of the music portion of this building is devoted to instrumental music space, and this instrumental music space is the northernmost portion of the eastern part of the building. If we walk from the cafeteria area east through the corridor just mentioned, we would eventually come into the instrumental music room which is a permanently tiered or terraced room flanked on either side by adequate storage area as is necessary for immediate accessibility to music, instruments, etc. If we stood in the center of the instrumental music room and faced north, immediately on our left we would find a large storage room and just to the north of that an equally large practice room. Still standing in he middle of the instrumental music room but looking to our right we would see five more practice rooms with the largest practice room again the northernmost room.

If we left the cafeteria area at the southeastern corner, we could walk east through a corridor and evenually gain access to the vocal music room. As we walk from the cafeteria east through this corridor, we would first pass the faculty dining room on our left, then a north and south access corridor to our left, and then on our left an area housing both boys and girls toilets and a custodial space, and as we continued east we would come across two music offices adjacent to each other north and south, and after that we would acually step into the vocal music room. This vocal music room is also tiered or terraced; however, where the instrumental music tiers were semi-circular, these vocal music room tiers achieve partially the same effect with center straight lines and side angles. The entire right side of the vocal music room is flanked by three rather large storage rooms.

This Cafetorium Building which houses a completely modern kitchen, serving lines, cafeteria seating space, a multi-purpose stage, separate instrumental music and vocal music rooms, with adequate storage, practice, and flexible usage rooms, and which cafeteria space will double as an auditorium for up to 700 persons should, with the air conditioning that is built into same, serve this school community quite well and for a long time to come.

Special Note: Next week Superintendent Cole will conclude this particular series of articles dealing with the new junior-senior high school, and he will do so with a description of Unit 5—the Administration Building which actually houses a health suite, administration offices, and a guidance suite.

Deer Hazard Evident

The increase in the deer population in the Riverdale area makes it possible to go "hunting" with a gun or a car. In fact, the deer are becoming a major traffic hazard.

Among those who have made a "kill" in recent weeks are Mrs. Lynn Lake, Dave Edgar, and Lewis and Melvin Steury.

Mrs. Lake struck a deer two weeks ago as she headed for work in Fort Wayne shortly after dawn. The 200-pound eight point buck crossed State Road 1 in front of the Lakes' 1969 Ford. The animal was killed by the impact and $1,000 damage was caused to the car.

Somehow the deer disappeared between the appearances of the sheriff's department and the conservation officer, according to unofficial accounts. And local residents have been speculating as to who got the free table meat. Deer killed by such accidents are supposed to be disposed of by the conservation department.

Last Saturday Dave Edgar of Spencerville shot a 310-pound 10-point buck along the St. Joe River south of the Russell Arnett farm.

The Steurys bagged two buck deer Saturday with bow and arrow after being informed of the animals' predicament by William Lengacher of near Spencerville. The deer were locked together at the horns and it would have been impossible for them to separate. One was a 12-point buck and the second had eight points.

Last week an unidentified Hamilton driver totally demolished his 1969 Ford at the sink hole north of Saint Joe on County Road 59 when a deer ran in front of the car and the driver attempted to avoid a collision, rolling the car in the process.

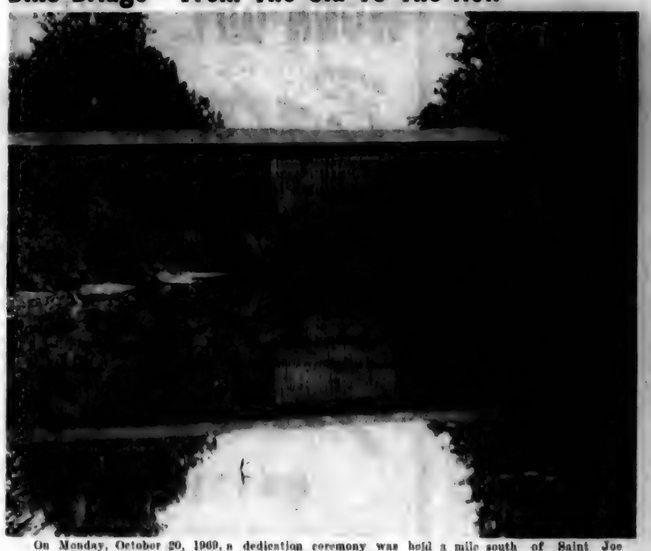
Dills Bridge - From The Old To The New



On Monday, October 20, 1969, a dedication ceremony was held a mile south of Saint Joe when a new bridge was opened across the St. Joseph River. The photo above shows the covered bridge which was removed before the new one was constructed. The old bridge was built in 1868 by Jack Dills and Emilles Rhodes. The above photo was taken in 1966 by Robert Wilder of Rt Saint Joe before structural weaknesses and vandalism brough condemnation of the old bridge.

The above photo shows the new bridge as it appears from approximately the same spot as the larger photo.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted,

Enclosed you will find a check for two years' subscription. We do enjoy our paper and feel that support of the free press is most important in the guarantee of our other freedoms.

I thought perhaps you would like to have my brother's address to publish. After being in Texas, Darroll went overseas to Germany. He would be very happy to receive pictures, letters or tapes from his friends. He is stationed at Hanau, near Frankfort. Perhaps you would pass this on to Mrs. Loy for her G.I. column.

As you know, I am a junior at the Fort Wayne campus, majoring in English. It is worthy of mention that we have 4000 full-time, 3000 part time students and a grand total of over 11,000 students if seminars, etc., are included.

We are very seriously overcrowded with many classes and offices in trailers on the north and east campuses. Our project Abelard (with speakers available for any group) strives to encourage the development of our campus. I enclose a chart of funding that shows that student fees provide nearly all funds for development, NOT the legislature.

A new newspaper, the "IUP Communicator," is being published. If you would like any information at any time, we would be happy to help. Call 463-8121, Ext. 386. The office is T-50 at our campus.

Keep up the good work on the "St. Joe News."

Sincerely,
Karen Griggs

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

The Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Walter Reinhart November 12, 1969, at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Yeiser was presiding and called the meeting to order. The collect and pledge to the flag were repeated.

The lesson on the Grand Canyon was well presented by Mrs. Reinhart who gave the history and a picturesque description of the canyon. The lesson was climaxed by the showing of beautiful slides which had been taken when the Reinharts visited there last year.

For entertainment, Mrs. Wayne Storer conducted two "brain-teaser" games which were enjoyed by the group.

Mrs. Everett Mavis, Sr., of Auburn was a guest at the meeting.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker gave the critic's report. The meeting was adjourned to meet with Mrs. Russell Snyder on December 2.

The hostess served refreshments following adjournment.

Sp-4 Kenny Groves recently completed 15 weeks of training at the aviation mechanics school at Fort Rucker, Alabama. He arrived home November 14. He will report for duty at the NCO Academy at Fort Eustis, Virginia, December 3.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Groves, now reside at Auburn after living at Saint Joe until a few months ago.

A PATRIOTIC PARTY

A very nice party was held at the home of Louise Church in honor of her mother.

Many years ago, the American Legion Auxiliary met periodically, and Ann Sechler still has great admiration and respect in memory of those meetings. So Louise thought it would be nice to invite some of the old members.

In spite of the heavy snow on Wednesday afternoon, they all came. Those present were Mrs. Clyde Hart, Mrs. Lehr Wilder, Mrs. Jake Miller, Mrs. Elmer Dean, Mrs. John Crothers, Mrs. Harvey Hull and Mrs. Roy Reichenbach.

The time was spent in a "Show and Tell" and in reminiscing about old times and, of course, the grandchildren.

A delicious lunch was served of sour cream raisin pie, open faced sandwiches, nuts, homemade mints, tea and coffee.

The table was set with a red cloth with a centerpiece of white mums and American flags.

Also, a flag was run up in the front yard to celebrate the event.

The group decided to have a similar party every year.

Will they? We hope so.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The St. Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Eva Clauser November 21, 1969, with eight members present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Cora Funk with the reciting of the Club Collect in unison. Devotions were given by Gertrude Borthwick, who talked on the greatness of mankind. She urged all to light their candles to shine brightly through this Thanksgiving season.

The history of the Song of the Month was given by Mary Baker, who also led in the singing of "Over the River and Through the Woods."

Roll call was answered with a Thanksgiving memory.

The secretary's report was given by Doris Yeiser and stood approved as read.

A vote of thanks was given to Roy Bowser for the use of his store, and to Lester Pugsley for his help during our fall Bazaar.

A report on Achievement Night was given and those who attended the meeting received many pointers on how to dress well at the least cost.

Gertrude Borthwick gave an interesting report on a book entitled "One Day," written by a young man in a Russian prison camp.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the Club Prayer song, after which the hostess served a lunch. After a social hour all returned home thankful for the fellowship we enjoyed.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

John Crothers picked up his poetic pencil last week and composed the following in recognition of Mose Yeiser's 44th anniversary in business:

Those 44 years of old "Mose" Yeiser
Surely have made him a wee bit wiser
About the birds who hang around
That garage of his in the center of town.
And tell wild tales and yak and joke
Till the place looks like it would go up in smoke.
He surely knows that those kookie guys
Are surely tops in telling lies
About their fishing and hunting, too,
With smoke so thick the air turns blue.
But Mose has got so used to it
If they didn't show up he'd have a fit,
For they are the suckers who bring to Mose
The swell car he drives and Mom's silk hose.
So he puts up with all that chatter
From day to day, for what does it matter
If all these troubles are not as appears
And we keep Mose with us a few more years.

Emma Frank and daughter, Nanette, were not too happy with me last week. A Girl Scout report was not published and Nanette felt she had failed as her troop's scribe.

Emma pointed out that I had just editorialized recently on the importance of readers' cooperation in getting news items to us for publication—then I didn't publish the Girl Scout report.

It was even worse because Emma had called the week before about the report but it was too late for publication. She then made a special trip back home last week to make sure the report got in the paper—and it didn't.

Every so often I get in the position where a choice must be made on what to use in limited space. Last week I made the wrong choice.

My apologies to Nannette and her mother—and the troop.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 29
—Nannette Frank, Troop Scribe

There were three patrols formed. The leaders are Susan Snyder, Karen Lake and Lori Loy. Treasurer elected is Theresa Conley and troop scribe is Nanette Frank. Adult leaders are Mrs. Forrest Bevington and Mrs. Russell Snyder.

Tuesday, November 25, the troop met and began the Scout year by choosing the projects we will work on to earn our badges. Refreshments of cookies and Kool-aid were served.

Letters to the Editor

123 S. Jefferson St.
Blomington, Ind. 47401
Nov. 22, 1969

Dear Ted,

The Eastside School District isn't exactly our bailiwick, and the enclosed check won't exactly pay off the legal bills you folks are faced with, but please accept it anyway as a symbolic tribute to a good fight in a good cause.

Sorry the best man lost! And we'll bet a lot of others are sorry, too.

Phil and Marge Appleman

Dear Ted:

Our family has lived on the farm and been brought up to love the woods and all that grows and lives in it. We have been thrilled the last few years to see deer in the woods, fields, and even in the yard. We had a special family that lived with us and when my husband lay sick on his death bed his eyes would light up with pleasure when I would tell him the deer were feeding in the field and I would get him up in the wheel chair and take him to a window or on the porch to see them. They grew tame enough to let us get close enough to take pictures. This year the mother had twins and often fed them in my yard on the sweet apples and flowering crab apples. I look out the window several times a day to see if they are eating the grass, clover or even soy beans (which they love) which we have in abundance for them and other animals. I have visited them several times in the woods.

A week ago Saturday while I was attending a baby shower Mr. Dave Edgar went into my woods and shot the dearly loved father of the deer family. I will see the deer no more. He even loaded the deer in a truck beside a large "NO HUNTING" sign. It was no big honor for him to shoot down this deer because the deer was no more fraid of him than the steers in Bill Staman's field across the road.

Everybody knows all the land across from Russell Arnett to the river belongs to the Strong farm. He also knows he did NOT ask permission. I could have this man arrested for this law breaking act of trespassing and hunting without permission but that would not bring the deer back and a person that has no respect for the law, signs, or people's property might shoot me or burn my house down if I did. It doesn't seem like it should be that a person has to put up such a fight just to live on his own property but I guess everybody has learned from the recent school atrocity that the RIGHT just has to be fought for, even if it doesn't always succeed. Since you published the report of my deer's cold blooded murder I thought I would just have my say also.

Thank you for the space required to print this.

LuReign Strong

The above letter is printed not to embarrass a hunter, rather to point out how unaware we may be of circumstances other than those which are presented for a news story. It also shows that one person's good fortune may be a tragedy to someone else. In a practical sense, the situation emphasizes the importance of hunters' obtaining permission to hunt from landowners. Hunters ARE trespassing on private property and should be mindful that the privilege must be requested. —Ed.

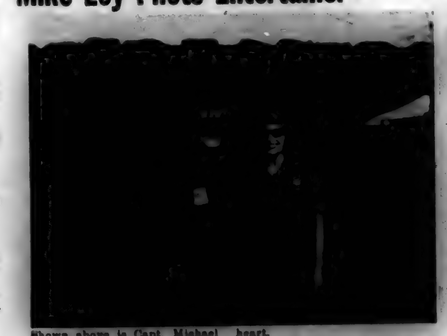
Mike Loy Pilots Entertainer



Shown above is Capt. Michael D. Loy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Loy of Saint Joe, in company with comedienne Martha Raye as she visits troops in Vietnam. A recent letter from Mike contains the following:

"For the past three days I've been the pilot for Martha Raye taking her to visit the Special Forces camps in II Corps. She goes to the camps and visits and talks with the Special Forces people. Then they take pictures and the works.

"She is a Lt. Col. in the Army Nurse Corps and wears her Green Beret and jungle fatigues everywhere. At one camp, Plei Me, they had 'Welcome Martha' spelled out in sandbags and we made a couple of low passes so she could see it. When we left we hovered about 100 feet so she could take a picture of it with the team members standing behind it. When we left she started crying. She has a great big heart.

"She kept spraying perfume in the ship and doing things like putting cigarettes in her nose. All in all it was really great except that we got shot at twice and one time by anti-aircraft fire. It was like flying in flak and I was scared but Martha just dug in her purse and dug out her pistol and said when we landed, 'Hell, I'm getting too damned old for that stuff.' "

In another portion of the letter, Mike says:

". . . right now we are shorthanded and are forced to fly from 10-20 days straight before we get a day off. With the troop cuts our battalion is being hit pretty hard in that we aren't getting any replacements. If something isn't done to relieve the situation we will be too far below strength of fill our missions."

Mike was scheduled for R&R in Hong Kong on December 1.

'50-Plus Club' Meets Monthly

In the accompanying photo, Marie Ward is shown as she led the baby picture identification contest during the November meeting of the "50-Plus Club" at St. Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville. 22 persons attended the meeting which began with a potluck supper.

In the photo identification contest, Mrs. Ruby Krafft won by naming six of the eleven persons who brought their baby pictures. It is reported that some of the group couldn't tell boys from girls in the photos.

Karl Hart showed pictures of his visit to Japan last summer during the Lions International convention at Tokyo.

Officers elected are as follows:

Frank and Sarah Amstutz—president.

Andrew and Marie Ward—vice-president.

Garnet Furnish—Secretary and treasurer.

Ida Reed was named program chairman and she appointed the following monthly chairmen:

December—no meeting due to the Christmas rush.

January—Ida Reed and Mrs. Ray Hoover.

February—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billow.

March—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller.

April—Marvel Kessler and Helen Tyndall.

May—Ruby Krafft and Mary Rutherford.

June—Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart.

July—Galen Markle and Bina McKay.

August—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bottoms.

September—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sink.

October—Mr. and Mrs. Auber Butler.

November—Dr. and Mrs. C.R. Baumgartner.

December—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ward.

The third Thursday of the month is the regular meeting night, and meetings are held at the Lutheran church in Spencerville. The club was organized through the Spencerville Community Club, with original interest and promotion begun by Rev. Russell Snyder of the Lutheran parish who has shown great interest in social action activities.

Meetings start at 6:30 p.m. with a carry-in supper with the monthly chairmen serving as host and-or hostess and also arranging for entertainment.

The group would like to have more senior citizens participate. But it appears, as someone noted last month, that "they just don't want to admit they're eligible!"

All Invited To Christmas Party

"Get ready for Sunday!"

That's the advice given by the Spencerville Community Club as it prepares for its big annual Community Christmas Party. The party will be held this coming Sunday, December 7, 1969, starting at 5:30 p.m. with a pot luck supper. Bring your own table service and a covered dish. And everyone is invited in the Riverdale area.

A treat for the kids will be the appearance of Santa Claus during the evening, with a program planned to start at around 7:30 p.m.

EVERYONE is invited to this annual Community Christmas Party.

Mayola Smith

Funeral services were held November 25 for Mrs. Kenneth (Mayola) Smith, 55, of Spencerville who died suddenly and unexpectedly the preceding Saturday. She had been in good health and was employed in Fort Wayne.

Death was due to a heart attack.

Services were held at the Baldinger-Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville with burial in Scipio Cemetery.

Survivors include the husband; a son, Kenneth Jr.; a sister, Naomi Snyder; and the father, John Dove.

Income Tax Reform - I

Reading the headlines in the last few months, as discussion and debate go on in our Congress about tax reform, can give John Q. Public a bad case of the ups and downs. One day it sounds as if our elected representatives are really getting down to common sense ideas as they approach the problem of tax reform; the next day it sounds as if they have forgotten what the word "reform" means.

Most of us are not "expert" at this matter of taxes, except to know that there are too many and they are too high! We don't understand the concessions made to one group of taxpayers and the lack of concessions to others. This debate on the oil depletion allowance is Greek to me. I am certain that it is difficult to understand why an extra-heavy allowance or deduction or whatever it is can be given to the oil industry, with all the millions it is making. I have read explanations about the number of unproductive drillings made on the average before a strike is made. But I also see the ridiculous program of building more service stations than are needed, all over the country. These "four-corner" gas station intersections within blocks of one another ARE ridiculous.

I also see the periodic price wars or "seasonal" drops in gasoline prices. I also know the major oil companies are spending a terrific amount of money in promoting their rash of "contests."

The oil companies are not the only ones who have gotten what seems to be unfair consideration in the tax program. Another group is that containing the low income individuals. Except for the most extreme cases of poverty, every person who has an income owes something to this country to keep it going, even if it is only a "drop in the bucket" as far as their tax contribution. There is talk at the present time of increasing the personal exemption from $600 per dependent to somewhere around $1,000. This sounds great at first glance; I would benefit from it. But it would also take a certain percentage of taxpayers off the tax rolls. This is NOT good.

Those who support increased exemptions, knowing that some families will no longer have to pay federal income taxes, are missing the target. We ought to be aiming for FAIR distribution of the tax burden, not the reduction in numbers of those who bear the burden of the cost of government.

What tax reform ought to do is set up a tax program which involves as many people as possible as SIMPLY as possible. Special exemptions and allowances ought to be removed and the tax rate adjusted downward accordingly. There ought to be real relief in tax reform for the middle income group. There ought to be a tax program which considers income from any source of investment, salary, wages, interest, etc., as taxable income, so that the rich cannot escape federal taxes by manipulation of money. Income is income and it ought to be treated as such.

The idea that comporations, business big and little, have some kind of special reserve into which they can dip to pay higher taxes than anyone else ought to be eliminated. Too many citizens think that high corporation taxes are being paid by the corporations; they are not. High corporation taxes are paid by John Q. Public who buys the products and pays for the services of the corporation and the corporation sets its prices according to what it needs to pay, for materials, wages of employees, expansion—and TAXES. PEOPLE pay ALL taxes; there is no such thing as "corporation" taxes in the literal sense.

There ought to be an adjustment in the rate structure, too, to prevent the penalty which everyone faces in higher taxes when selling property. The graduated income tax as it now stands has no logic. Any fair tax program is one which does not penalize increased income, one which can be easily understood and complied with, one which does not favor the person who has the means to find and use loopholes, legal as they may be, to save tax dollars.

I hope the tax reform which everyone knows is needed can be accomplished. But the manner in which reform is being approached suggests that our Congressmen in both houses are hedging, and the average taxpayer is going to come out short again.

Description Of New School

—by Kenneth Cole, Supt.

I write this as the final article in a series of articles which series was intended to paint word pictures of the new junior-senior high school complex, the individual units, and all of the supplemental facilities included on the same plot. Because I have recently heard two or three comments which comments stemmed from questions as to whether or not there were adequate outside athletic areas incorporated in these plans, I am going to make a one sentence listing of facilities on the plot outside of the buildings.

Almost centered south of the buildings and bordering Green Street is a rather large off the road bus safety loading zone; northwest of the buildings and southeast of the buildings are two blacktopped, lighted parking lots which will accommodate 729 vehicles; northeast of the northeasternmost corner of the Gymnasium Building is a full scale, sodded infield, fully lighted baseball diamond; to the right of the baseball diamond is a sodded fully lighted football field surrounded by a full scale track complete with a 220 straightaway; just to the north end of the track is a fenced area which is hard surfaced and can double as outdoor basketball courts and tennis courts; the entire northwestern corner of the school property is taken up by two full scale softball courts, either one of which could double as a varsity baseball practice field; and the entire northeastern corner of the school property is designed to be used as a football practice field.

I will now turn my attention to a description of Unit 5, which building the architect has called the Administration Building.

To call this building the Administration Building is to lead the reader astray for this so-called Administration Building houses not only the new offices of the Principal and Assistant Principal, but it also houses a complete health suite and a complete guidance suite. Unit 5 faces Green Street and it is the southeasternmost building on the plot. The building like the Cafetorium is only about 105 feet north of Green Street.

In order to envision the contents of this particular building we will pretend that we are standing at the southwestern corner facing east and walking east, and in the process we will pretend we are looking straight through the front walls. Now as we start walking east from the southwestern corner we look to our left or north and we see the southwestern entrance to the building on the side, a rather large waiting room, and just to the north of the waiting room a nurse's office, bordered on the north by a fully equipped health room, and looking on to the north we see side by side private rest rooms and the accompanying toilets which are necessary in this particular facility. Taking a few steps more to the east and again looking north we see that the Assistant Principal's office is just north of the waiting room and is adjacent to the nurse's office. Just north of the Assistant Principal's office is a toilet for the use of the nurse and the administrative personnel. Taking a few more steps to the east immediately inside the front wall we would see still another waiting room with an entrance from Green Street. Just to the north of this waiting room is a long counter and work surface overwhich general administrative business will take place. To the north of this long counter is the Central Administrative Office and to the north of this Central Administrative Office is a large workroom and to the right of that work room is the High School Principal's Office. Walking on east a few more steps and looking north we find the Office of the Guidance Director, and to the north of that a private counseling room, and to the north of the counseling room is a teachers' mail room. Two or three more steps to the east let us see a private counseling room bordered on the north by a hallway and north of the hallway private toilet rooms for men and for women and to the north of the toilets a custodial space, and to the north of that a hallway which hallway open to a northern exit from the building. Three or four more steps takes us to the southeastern corner of the building and looking north we see mechanical equipment and electrical equipment rooms side by side, and to the north of them a hallway which hallway leads to a private entrance to the guidance suite. To the north of the hallway is a private waiting room for students who are to see a counselor, and to the north of this waiting room is a large fireproof records vault, and to the north of the fireproof vault is a large private conference room.

What is being called the Administrative Building should add a great deal to the services rendered to both students and parents. There will be ample cots to accommodate students who are only temporarily ill. The Principal and Assistant Principal will have private offices. There will be available a conference room enabling either a principal or a guidance person to meet with groups of teachers, parents, or students. Guidance personnel will have adequate and private counseling rooms. School records will for the first time be free from the threat of destruction by fire. The guidance suite is so designed that parents waiting to talk with the counselor will no be waiting in the same room with students. Any authorized person will be able to communicate with any teacher, any combination of teachers, or with the entire faculty and student body as a whole, and this capability will stem from the Administration Building.

CONCORD JR. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Katy Crow, Reporter

The Concord Jr. Homemakers Club met December 1 with a bountiful supper at the home of Lois Strong.

The meeting opened with the collect, after which Betty Bevington read the history of the song of the month. Secretary's reports from October and November were read and approved.

Roll call was answered with "what I'd like for Christmas." Everyone hoped for peace all over the world and even in our own immediate vicinity as well as a few personal wishes for "things."

A few notes were read from the leaders training meeting.

Betty Bevington, president.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Christmas lights and decorations are visible in the community to a greater extent than was evident last year—and it sure looks pretty. The Joe Robinsons have a flock of little twinkles on their shrubbery that look nice at night. And I got a glimpse of something down at Spencerville when I went through there Saturday night—just out of the corner of my eye I saw something bright as I passed Lynn Fisher's store. I haven't had a chance to check on it, though. It was east of the corner.

Tom Hollabough had to wait for me to return to the shop one day early this week. While he waited, he sat down and tried his touch on the old Royal typewriter. When I returned, we talked a while and he left. As I walked past the typewriter, I pulled the paper he had practiced on from the typewriter to throw it in the wastebasket, glancing at it as I did. I had to guffaw—here's what he had typed:

"abededfghijklmnopybnmqrstruvwxyz
as abedefghijklmnop qrstuvwxyz the quick browbn foxx jumpefd over the damn lasy dog abederfghijklmnop"

School Books Wanted For India

The Butler Rotary Club will collect school books for the children of India the week of December 15. India is a land where many dialects are spoken. The English language is the one common means of communication.

The club is seeking donations of school books which are no longer current in our local schools, yet are in usable condition. Arrangements have been made for the collected books to be delivered to the needy areas where they will be used in the education of children.

In return, a Rotary Club of India is arranging to send books to this country regarding their country and these books will be placed in the public and school libraries.

Books deposits may be made at the Butler Elementary School, Riverdale Elementary School, Eastside High School and at the George Kandel Insurance agency in Butler.

Public support of this worthwhile project will be appreciated.

Scrap Paper Drive

Girl Scout Cadet Troop 192 will conduct a scrap paper drive this month. The drive will be held Saturday, December 27.

Old newspapers and magazines are wanted, and anyone who has these items to donate may call 337-3525 or 337-3401 for pickup.

PTO Christmas Program Dec. 22

The Riverdale P.T.O. meeting for December will not be held on the regular third Tuesday meeting night. Instead, the organization will meet Monday, December 22, for the annual Christmas program given by the students.

The first, third and fifth grades and the Junior High Choir will present the program under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Whitney, music teacher at Riverdale.

The program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium.

Letters to the Editor

St. Joe, Ind
Dec. 8, 1969

Dear Ted:

Another letter to you seems to be in order. I guess a person should thoroughly investigate everything he sees, hears and reads before making decisions.

A very neat and well mannered young man made me a visit to explain the deer situation. He shot his deer near Coburn Corners which puts him about two miles south of me. Although I'm quite sure, from other evidence, that the deer on my farm was killed, without permission, the fact remains that it was NOT Dave Edgar that killed him.

I hereby publicly apologize to Dave for wronging him because of misinformation.

Please excuse the dust cloud I raised in your paper, but I still feel the same about the man, whoever he is, that shot the deer without permission.

Thank you for your kindness in publishing these letters.

Yours truly,
LuReign Strong

Thank you for publicly clarifying the situation. —Ed.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The basketball games of last Saturday morning proved that football and basketball don't mix.

44 personal fouls were called in the two games.

The Orange Team led by Ricky Rinard's 27 points won by a score of 60 to 14.

The second game was a come-from-behind game. Paul Roberts found the basket in the last few minutes to win for his team. The final score was 29 to 23.

Mrs. Foster Gee sends the accompanying letter in connection with the above photo from "way back when."

Jewell, Ohio
Nov. 17, 1969

The St. Joe News
St. Joe, Ind.

Dear Ted:

We enjoy the old pictures you have had in the paper. Brings back old memories.

Am sending you a picture that was taken more than 50 years ago. Don't know the date, but maybe someone will remember when it was taken. It was taken in front of the Christian Church in St. Joe.

We know all but 6 or 8 in the picture. We only know two that are living now. Of course there might be more, as they a lot that have moved away from St. Joe. The two that we know are Clark Scholes, Ft. Wayne and Foster Gee, Jewell, Ohio. Foster is 80 years old and he is among the youngest ones in the picture. Hope it is plain enough that you can use it.

Thanks.
Mrs. Foster Gee

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

On December 3, 1969, Mrs. Russell Snyder was hostess to the Ladies Literary Club.

The president called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and members repeated the collect and pledge to the flag.

A most interesting lesson on Currier & Ives was well presented by Mrs. Roy Baker. The history along with other interesting information was included in the lesson.

Members were each given a Christmas card with a Currier & Ives print on it and slides were also shown depicting the famous prints. Also displayed were two prints which were heirlooms in Mrs. Baker's family, "Dolly" and "Little Sister"

During the entertainment portion of the program, Mrs. Yeiser gave an article written by the author of the collect used in the club.

The next meeting will be the Christmas Party on December 17 at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Forrest Bevington.

Club was adjourned and the hostess served refreshments.

Nursing Home To Open

Beautiful, new, modern and tastefully furnished facilities of Laubach Clinic and Park View Nursing Home at Edgerton, Ohio, will be revealed to the public Sunday, December 14, 1969.

After many months of planning, thought and work, this modern 50-bed nursing home and 5000 square foot clinic are ready for use. Within the walls are the makings of health, comfort, aid and living care for those in need.

The original founder of Laubach Clinic, Dr. James H. Laubach, is joined by Dr. Gary Sammons in a practice of chiropractic and mechanotherapy. They specialize in structural conditions of the spine along with their general practice.

The clinic is especially equipped to handle personal injury and industrial-type accidents. Most every type of physical therapy is available, along with the routine daily care. This particular part of the building is entirely separated from the nursing home.

The nursing home is staffed with registered and licensed practical nurses as required by the state of Ohio and constitutes a standard medical type nursing home.

Open house will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday, December 14.

50 beds will be available and the nursing home will begin accepting residents for care Monday, December 29, 1969.

The staff includes the administrator, Mrs. Willard (Ethel) Barnes; director of nursing, Mrs. Janet Graham; food services director, Mrs. Marie Klink; Dr. Laubach and Dr. Sammons; and the office staff, Miss Phyllis Krill, Mrs. Ruth Ann Johnson and Mrs. Ann Good.

The facility is located on the west edge of Edgerton to the north of US6 on a five-acre site.

Butler-EHS PTA Fate Up To Patrons

A reorganizational meeting of the Butler-Eastside P.T.A. has been set for Monday, January 12, 1970. The purpose of the meeting, which will include a pot luck supper, will be to consider and discuss the direction which the organization should take.

Lack of interest in the past year has led to a virtual breakdown in the organization's activities. Because of this, several alternatives face the group. A limited response from the public and faculty has already been received by the P.T.A.

A special meeting was held Monday of this week with President William Mann turning future activities of the group over to Mrs. D. C. Troyer of Rt Butler, Mrs. Care Tule, Jr., of Butler and Mrs. Karen Ziegler of Butler who is the current secretary of the P.T.A. Also at the meeting was Ted Haborkorn of Saint Joe who was one of four persons indicating willingness to serve in office. Mr. Mann had invited to the meeting those who had indicated they would be willing to serve in such capacity.

Mrs. Ziegler reported that approximately 150 post card questionnaires were sent recently to patrons of the school district who have been active in the P.T.A. Approximately 50 cards were returned with about 27 persons saying the P.T.A. should be continued, 13 thought it should be discontinued and the remaining 10 cards contained only comments about the situation. Only four persons indicated willingness to serve in office.

Mrs. Ziegler reported that those questionnaires returned by elementary faculty members at Butler indicated a general desire to discontinue the organization.

The alternatives for the group are the following:

Disassociate from the state and national P.T.A. and operate as a P.T.O. as does the Riverdale organization.

Divide the organization and have a Butler elementary organization separate from the junior high and high school parent-teacher group.

Keep the organization as it now is and promote interest in its activities and potential.

Dissolve the organization.

Income Tax Reform - II

The dictionary definition of the word "reform" is "to make better by removing abuses, altering, etc.; restore to a better condition."

In approaching the problem of tax reform, the first abuse the Congress of the United States ought to strive to remove is that which our government began to practice with the institution of the withholding tax system. Government spending is the reason for more taxes, and the reason there is more government spending is that millions of Americans are "paying" their taxes by having someone else take their tax money FIRST from the weekly or monthly paycheck, leaving the remainder as "take home pay."

As pay increases are sought and granted, the concern of the wage earners is really not for the total paycheck but for the amount they have left from which to provide for themselves and their families. They may shake their heads in disgust when they see the amount of tax withheld, but that's about as far as it goes. It thus becomes a strong possibility that tax rates can become a greater burden than any other family expense, but it will not make much difference to the wage earner as long as he is able to get what he wants with what is left after taxes. Government can then undertake vast programs involving expenditures of large amounts of public funds without having any significant grassroots opposition.

If we wonder why the cost of government has become so high, we should examine the fundamentals involved in the tax program which sustains the government. Such an examination, if undertaken objectively, brings one basic truth to light: the withholding system is the greatest contributor to increased government spending because it removes the basic personal and individual tax-paying responsibility from millions of Americans. They don't really KNOW how much they are paying; they never have the money in their possession; they only have a slip of paper to show how much money they didn't get!

Most homes know that the simple process of handling money for everyday needs can get mixed up even when a budget is established. When money is needed for an extra-large expense or for an unexpected expense, the temptation is often followed to use money intended for another purpose to meet the emergency need—or to get a "luxury"! Its convenient availability is overwhelming. It is even difficult to set aside a little bit every week, unless one has unusual dedication to that purpose. When money is at hand, we use it. Thus, one of the main reasons the withholding system was "sold" to the public comes to light: if you never get your hands on it, you can't spend it for something else. It is the "easy" way to pay income tax. Unfortunately, you also do not realize fully what the government is doing with it!

In the process of providing an easy way for the taxpayer, the government also provided an easy way to maintain a steady increase in governmental expenditures, to continue a trend to a bureaucratic mass (or mess!) which needs constant feeding. Our reform efforts, then, ought to aim at the basic philosophy of taxation, as well as the tax structure, to restore fiscal responsibility.

It should frighten most Americans that the social security program will be taking a tenth of their income in the near future, but you don't hear much complaint about this growing tax obligation except from those who are self-employed and must pay out of their pockets to cover their tax obligation. For others its withheld; it doesn't hurt. We have been so sold by the word "benefits" when it comes to mandatory government programs that we have lost sight of the need for basic INDIVIDUAL responsibility in tax matters, starting with the basic element of how the taxes are paid. The withholding system blunts our senses.

The best and most effective check on government spending is that which was given to the individual citizen when taxes were his personal responsibility. If the government gets out of hand financially under that system, the taxpayer knows first hand by the amount of money he must pay out of his pocket to provide his share of the cost. And, his elected representatives are more conscious of how they make use of that money.

I don't expect them to do it, it's too simple an approach. But what our Congressmen ought to do right off the bat in tax "reform" is eliminate the withholding system and make tax-paying once again the direct responsibility of the individual. Taxes and government spending would go down for sure, and we wouldn't have such inflationary actions as the 60% pay increase those same Congressmen gave themselves this year, an increase which was against the will of the majority of Americans, to all appearances. But Americans haven't really griped because they don't have to pay it out directly; it's being withheld before they can touch it!

The withholding system is a cancer in the body of American taxpayers.

New License Law

Gerald W. Habig, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of the State of Indiana, recently explained the new staggered automobile licensing procedure to be used for the first time during the 1970 licensing year.

All automobiles displaying 1969 Indiana license plates will be registered during 1970 under the following procedure:

Automobiles owned by individuals will be licensed according to the first letter of the last name of the owner, under the following alphabetical schedule:

Where owner's last name begins with A through C, must be licensed by the end of February;

Where owner's last name begins with D through H, must be licensed by the end of March;

Where owner's last name begins with I through N, must be licensed by the end of April;

Where owner's last name begins with O through S, must be licensed by the end of May;

Where owner's last name begins with T through Z, must be licensed by the end of June.

When the auto license branch issues a 1970 automobile license plate, the branch will affix an expiration sticker denoting the proper month when the 1970 plate will expire in 1971.

All vehicles, except automobiles, must be licensed by the last day of February. The license plates issued to trucks, trailers, etc., will have no expiration sticker placed thereon, and will expire on the last day of February of 1971.

Persons desiring to pre-register their vehicles may do so now by contacting their proper license branch. Plates issued now will be mailed to the owners the first few days in January, but will still display the proper month expiration sticker, according to the last name of the owner.

Persons whose first letter of their last name is at the lower end of the alphabet may still renew their license plates now for issuance in January. The law only provides that the owners of automobiles must have their licenses no later than the last day of the month in which their name would be due.

Because of the large number of registrations which would have been printed and mailed with wrong information, no renewal forms will be mailed from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles for 1970 registrations. Blank forms have been furnished to each auto license branch. This will permit the branches to insert the correct information on the 1970 forms.

Applicants for license plate renewals can present their 1969 registration form to the local license branch or may photocopy their form and mail it to the branch with the required license fee, service fee and mailing charge. The branches may also accept typed or printed 1969 registration form information, containing all the data indicated on the 1969 form when applicants are applying for renewal by mail.

Driver license expiration procedure has also changed.

Persons whose birthdate falls between the first day and the fifteenth day of each month, inclusive, will receive a two-year license. Those persons whose birthdate is the sixteenth through the end of the month will receive a four-year driver's license. The fee will remain at $1.50 for both the two-year and four-year license because of an error in the legislation.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles, will add two years to a person's re-exam date when necessary, in order to bring the re-exam date in line with expiration date of the driver's license.

The purpose of the four-year license is to spread driver license renewals over a four-year period instead of two and reduce the work load by 50% a year.

Some things are absolutely essential to manhood. One of them is knowing how to tie a necktie.

Obviously any ability must be acquired before there are regular demands for its use. That's why someone else decided that we must learn to tie our own tie.

All religious education is built on the same principle. Faith and moral understanding must be gained before doubt and temptation are encountered. Our parents, Our Church train us for constructive living.

Of course, there is nothing illogical in the oft-heard contention that, when a person is old enough, he can make up his own mind about religion.

That's exactly what millions of us have done!

But in almost every case our parents gave us adequate and continuing preparation for that decision. With the guidance of the Church we learned the value of faith and spiritual perception. Then we were able to make our vital decision from knowledge and experience!

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

As we told you in our last report, our November 24 meeting was designated as a 100% night. On checking we found that of the 28 persons present we had three visitors, Richard Drake, Mike Storer and Gerald Murphy. Two of our absent members had already reported the meeting made up and we only have two more to hear from.

Tail Twister Murphy was also batting 100% and was handing it out freely and some of our quick witted Lions were also handing it right back. The theory seems to be, "Freely ye have received, freely give."

Gene Casebeer gave a short talk on Lions International. Gene says that, "If a Lion will act as a Lion should and if he shows his membership card, he can find friends, many of them, anywhere on earth for there are Lions clubs in every community of every country of every continent. Any of those clubs would appreciate a visit from you, you would feel right at home with them and you might pick up some things interesting and useful to your club." He also explained that Lions International is a sort of clearing house or central office for all Lions activities.

Frank Laub of our Community Betterment Committee reported that at this time the Spencerville Community Club needs money for earth moving rather than for equipment. Glenn Moore, president of the Spencerville club, reported that a good rate has been given on the rental of a large earth mover and that the job is about two-thirds done. The club treasurer, Cliff Billow, was authorized to write a check for $500.00 to apply on the project.

Harold Kagey, our Scout Committee chairman, introduced Scoutmaster Richard Drake of Spencerville Troop 172 who reported that the troop has 17 boys, that the litter barrel project is shaping up and that they have some other projects and activities under consideration. Mr. Drake would like volunteers from the boys' dads to fill some vacancies that exist on a number of committees.

The club voted to accept the invitation of the Auburn Lions Club to visit them April 13. Mr. Rader, principal of Riverdale School, will be the speaker of the evening.

Lion Harold Murphy then introduced a young man from Eastside High School who was to show us pictures and tell us about his trip to Torreone, Mexico, that he won in the Spanish Club competition. Lion Murphy said that he had known this young man all of his (Gerold Murphy's) life. Lion Fisher was heard to say just loud enough for Murphy to hear, "I hope he does not prove to be a chip off of the old block." The pictures were good. Torreone appears to be a very modern and progressive city about the size of Fort Wayne. Gerald says the people are progressive, friendly and very fond of fiestas. He described much of Mexico as very dry and some places almost a desert but that Torreone is more on the wet order. He mentioned this just when he was showing pictures of Torreone's large and prosperous winery.

I knew that William Staman had visited Mexico so I asked him what he thought of that country. Bill commented, "I wouldn't trade the state of Indiana for the whole country." I think that maybe Bill is somewhat prejudiced.

Letters to the Editor

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515
December 10, 1969

Mr. T. E. Haberkorn, Jr.
Editor and Publisher
The Saint Joe News
Saint Joe, Indiana

Dear Ted:

I read with great interest your editorial on "Income Tax Reform." What you said certainly makes sense.

You've hit the nail squarely on the head when you point out that all people should bear a fair share of the proportionate cost of the government and that and simplicity of calculation should be the things for which we should strive.

I was concerned about some parts of the bill as it left the House — you will recall that it was presented to us under a closed rule which made it impossible to offer amendments from the floor. Yet I have become even more concerned now that I have observed some of the things the Senate is doing. Some of our leaders who have been to the White House to discuss this matter with the President say the bill really does face a veto unless it can be vastly improved in conference. I hope that many such improvements can be made.

Because I liked your editorial so well, it is my intention to insert it in the Congressional Record so that others also may read it.

Sincerely,
E. Ross Adair, M.C.

The editorial was entered December 12, 1969, in the Congressional Record.—Extension of Remarks. —Ed.

Dec. 13, 1969

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

You have lost one of your faithful supporters. Ort Wearley passed away on December 8. I am enclosing a newspaper clipping.

Sincerely,
Helen P. Wearley
105 Secor Woods Lane
Perrysburg, Ohio 43551

(The newspaper clipping reads in part:

"O. D. (Ort Dale) Wearley, 70, operator of the Globe Motel, former coach, auto dealer and real estate financier, died Monday in his home, 105 Secor Woods Lane, Perrysburg.

"Mr. Wearley, a former Scott High School coach and athletic director, also served as director of the Office of Price Administration for northwestern Ohio during World War II.

"A native of Spencerville, Ind., Mr. Wearley came to Toledo in 1919 shortly after his graduation from Wittenberg University. While at the Springfield, O., institution, he was captain of the basketball team and twice was named All-State center. He later served as director and vice chairman of the university's board of trustees.

"Mr. Wearley taught school at Olean, N.Y., and Akron Central High School, where he coached two city basketball championship teams before taking over as basketball coach and physics teacher at Scott High in 1917. His Scott teams won three city championships.

"In 1920, he began his business career as a salesman for an auto dealer, and in 1926 became a Packard Motor Car Co. distributor in Toledo, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Minneapolis until 1938, maintaining headquarters in Toledo.

"In 1932, he became Chrysler-Plymouth distributor and remained in that capacity until 1960, when the Globe Motel was built. He currently operated the motel.

"Surviving are his wife, Helen P.; son, Donald B., of Chicago; daughter, Mrs. Dorothy W. Damschroder of Perrysburg; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren."

We never met Mr. Wearley but were aware of his interest in the community through his continuing renewal of subscription. At one time he paid some five years in advance! —Ed.

PTO Christmas Program Dec. 22

The Riverdale P.T.O. meeting for December will not be held on the regular third Tuesday meeting night. Instead, the organization will meet Monday, December 22, for the annual Christmas program given by the students.

The first, third and fifth grades and the Junior High Choir will present the program under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Whitney, music teacher at Riverdale.

The program will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium.

Scrap Paper Drive

Girl Scout Cadet Troop 192 will conduct a scrap paper drive this month. The drive will be held Saturday, December 27.

Old newspapers and magazines are wanted, and anyone who has these items to donate may call 337-3525 or 337-3401 for pickup.

PTA Or PTO?

Which will it be? Only a short time will tell, according to Mrs. D. C. (Margie) Troyer of Rt Butler, who has shouldered main responsibility for reactivating the Butler-Eastside P.T.A.

Already preparations are in motion for a pot luck dinner to try to start or re-start the organization on a successful basis.

Mrs. Troyer stated this week, "After hearing James Angelone speak on PTA and PTO work and its meaning to the community, all interested people present will make the decision on which organization it will be.

"This pot luck dinner will be held Monday, January 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Butler cafetorium and open to all interested people in our community. Since the P.T.A. organization will supply the meat, reservations will need to be in by January 5, 1970. Hopes are to start the new year with a strong organization.

"For reservations, call 868-2388, 868-2763, 868-2984, 868-2858 or 868-5287."

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

Upsets were in the making in the Saturday Junior League Basketball games.

The Blue Team, with the fine team play of Carper and Laub, pulled what can be termed a surprise. The Blue Team won over the Orange Team 15 to 13. Ricky Rinard was high scorer in a losing cause.

The second upset of the morning came when the Green Team, seeking their first win of the season, won over the Red Team by a score of 19-12. Ricky Conley was too much for the Red Team. Paul Roberts was high scorer for the losers.

Here's The Opera House From Early 1900's

In the photo, the opera house is shown at left in the location now occupied by Yeiser's Standard Service. The lower portion of the building contained two store sections. A "post office" sign hangs at the front and circus or show posters on the side of the building give an August 15 date but no year is indicated. The hand-printed caption on the photo indicates that Williman's Drug Store was the main occupant of the lower building at the time the picture was taken.

The upstairs was the "opera house" which popularly identified the building. Not only were entertainment programs presented there, whether opera or not, but also opportunities for roller skating and basketball.

In seeking information about the building, the editor prompted a friendly dispute between Mose Yeiser and Ray Reasoner as to the location on which a store was operated by Sol Barney. Mose says Sol was in the opera house and Ray says Sol was located a block east and on the opposite side of the street. Since Ray is not a betting man, Mose's $100 will rest in peace. But can anyone shed light on the situation—where was Sol Barney's store?

The opera house burned down in 1921 and with it went the building adjacent then owned by one of Saint Joe's old time barbers, the late Leslie Meek. No date has as yet been established for the construction of the opera house. Anyone know? It was built by Oliver Widney and at various times housed a hardware, post office, restaurant, drug store and furniture store.

Wash-A-Teria To Expand Service

Jack Bowser and Norman Morr, owners of the local Wash-A-Teria laundry and car wash under the name J&N Enterprises, have announced that expansion of the facilities at the laundromat will be completed in the near future. Delivery is awaited on six additional conventional automatic washers, a duplex large-capacity washer, four additional dryers plus a new convenience for customers, an automatic dry cleaning installation.

When the additions are completed, the local business will have a total of 16 conventional automatic washers, three duplex washers, nine dryers and the dry cleaning unit.

Due to the efforts of the two owners, the Riverdale area now enjoys one of the most modern and attractive coin laundries to be found anywhere. The additional equipment to be installed will make the cleaning establishment even more convenient and functional.

New Lighting System Is Big Step For Saint Joe; Some Lights In

Mechanical limitations involved in installation appear to prevent a ribbon-cutting or grand opening type of ceremony by which to throw the switch, and system is being installed bit by Saint Joe's new street lighting bit. It may be, therefore, that the public has not noticed the progress made thus far and will not notice when the installation is completed; it's creeping up unnoticed.

However, there have been some favorable comments expressed already about the new lights, some having been installed on State Road 1 as it enters town from the south. With additional lights now located at alley or half-block intervals, the effect is to give a continuous illumination of the street. Such benefit will also come elsewhere in town as the system is installed.

After months of deliberation, the local town board accepted Indiana & Michigan Electric Company's proposal in its entirety. The board was aware of the great increase in cost of such a new program, but finally decided that such a move was necessary and appropriate for public safety and the protection of private property.

The move was a bold one, for seldom does a community, particularly a small town, accept a proposal "as is" when recommendations are made. And in this instance, the local board noted deficiencies in the first recommendation and asked for a few changes and one significant addition.

The addition is now visible at the south approach to town where three light fixtures illuminate the highway approach to the town limits. These lights were added for the benefit of the Riverdale School property which lies along the same approach. Three more lights will be installed along the township line street which borders the school on the north, thus giving not only public street illumination but also protection for the school against prowlers and vandals.

Another addition authorized by the board is a light at the entrance to the local cemetery which will also benefit a homeowner near that corner who has been "in the dark" until this time.

The expanded and improved system will include the replacement of the 34 present fixtures of varying low intensities with new 7000-lumen mercury vapor enclosed luminaire lamps. There will be 21 more lights added to the present 34, to make a total of 55 street light installations in the town.

The five lights in the two business blocks of the main street, now of 4000 lumens, will be replaced with 21,000-lumen fixtures, also the mercury vapor enclosed luminaire type.

The cost of the new lighting system will be $233.75 per month when fully completed. Concern has been expressed by at least one resident about the high cost of the new lights. The local board was aware of this legitimate and reasonable objection to the new system, but considered the benefits worth the extra expense.

Part of the reason for the bit-by-bit installation of the new lights is that I&M is also installing an enlarged sub-station at the northeast edge of town, to double its present output of power in this community. Both projects are being carried out at the same time.

However, in a short time, the town of Saint Joe will have one of the most modern and extensive street lighting systems of any town of comparable size.

The project was carried out through the efforts of board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn, in cooperation with William R. Nimmo, Kendallville district manager of I&M.

The Fallen 'Star'

Somewhere around the end of November or the first of December, the administration of the DeKalb County Central United School District published an explanation of "Why A New Junior High School?". The article was published in the "DeKalb Scribe," a periodical distributed by that school district's administrative staff. The publication contained three detailed pages of such explanation, plus a rough sketch of the general layout of a proposed new junior high school.

I picked up a copy a couple of weeks ago when I was in an Auburn bank, read it and thought, "Say, that's nice—puting out something like this so that the public knows what is going on."

But others thought otherwise.

On December 3, 1969, "The Evening Star," DeKalb County's daily newspaper, published a front-page notice under the heading, "Making Our Position Clear," in which it was announced that the newspaper would begin publishing unsigned editorials from its staff "when . . . . an issue or event is deserving of such comment." It also stated that the lack of writers' identifications was not a sign of the lack of courage, but rather an indication of the newspaper's wholehearted support of the comments to be made in the future.

The notice also made the following statement, "Signed editorials and columns will continue to be used by The Evening Star, and the Star will continue to welcome letters to the editor from its readers either for or against editorial positions taken by their newspaper."

On the next page of the December 3 issue, the first "deserving" editorial appeared under the heading, "Let's Have All The Facts," and it was about school. Sound familiar?

The editorial criticized the "DeKalb Scribe" for not stating how much a new junior high school would cost and for giving apparent conflicting explanations to justify the construction of a new junior high. The newspaper editorial at the outset branded the school administration's publication a "broadside"—that's a pretty strong word—and said that statistics in the school's publication "make me wonder if anyone really does know why we need a new junior high school." But the "me" is not identified, and so the newspapers denial of "lack of courage" is difficult to accept, under the circumstances.

Another statement in the newspaper's editorial was as follows:

"While it's difficult to argue against the need for the best posible education and facilities for our students, it's easy to see that a new school at this time would lead to wide open wallets for taxpayers in the central District."

Sound familiar? It ought to. The only difference is that in past months the citizens' group in the eastern district (or remonstrators if you prefer to call them by that name) were expressing concern for the wallets of ALL taxpayers, not just their own.

Two days later, on December 5, 1969, "The Evening Star" ran a front-page story titled, "New School Estimate Is $3.75 Million." The article stated that central superintendent Dr. James Watson had apologized for the lack of information in the "DeKalb Scribe" and said it was due to hasty preparation in order to inform the public of present conditions. A holding corporation has already been formed to provide for the proposed construction and the superintendent said that "plans for the school were developing more rapidly than anticipated."

On December 8, 9 and 10, 1969, there then appeared a series of three articles on "the present era of change in our schools," written by a United Press International editor.

The above detailed information is presented to justify the title of this column, "The Fallen 'Star'." It appears that the declarations appearing on the pages of the county daily do not coincide with actual practice of that publication. Where have they been in the past several months when others in the county—THEIR county!—were then raising questions —or trying to raise questions—along the line of "wide open wallets" in connection with the need for and the cost of new school construction in DeKalb County—THEIR county? Where were their editorial comments then about such a "deserving" subject as local education when mutual problems of their district and the eastern district challenged all of us for open mutual consideration and decision?

As to the declaration that they welcome letters to the editor or editorial comment even if it is in opposition to their views, it is absolutely contrary to fact. "The Evening Star" REFUSED to publish factual letters to the editor last summer when the citizens group in the eastern district was attempting to inform the public of the reasons for its efforts. In addition, a verbal commitment was made by the "Star" to prepare the "Star's" own in-depth review of the county school situation, recognizing and admitting that a "point" had been made by the citizens' group and editorial efforts of "The Saint Joe News." The expected three-part series never appeared. There was, therefore, no total knowledge of conditions in both districts in the minds of many people in the central district when the remonstrators faced the decision to continue or not continue—but there could have been and should have been.

Thus, the citizens group labored under one of the many handicaps it faced in the last three years, that of being denied the use of the columns of the county daily newspaper. The letters presented to the county daily in behalf of the citizens' group did not contain accusations, personal attacks, inuendoes or the like. They were FACTUAL in content, presented for the purpose of informing the public of suggested educational possibilities and a saving of tax dollars. But the letters were refused. Now the same newspaper is raising the same question about educational needs and costs and invites comments on any "deserving" subject—but they are only concerned about their own district.

The county daily is desirous of becoming THE county newspaper. It has expanded its departments considerably under new ownership. It presents interesting columns from its staff of feature and editorial writers. It has instituted carrier delivery service in the larger towns in the county. It is on sale in Saint Joe at the local grocery. Again, it seeks to become representative of the entire county. That's good business; I have no quarrel with their ambitions. The daily serves a purpose—and so do the local weeklies. Each has a constructive and useful function.

However, it is unfortunate that, when the chips were down, when there was the challenge to serve the entire county and live up to its declarations of intent in the public interest, our county daily fell flat on its face. At a time when mutual cooperation was vital and was sought, it chose to be independent and aloof.

I'm bitter? You're darned right I'm bitter—about three and a half million dollars' worth bitter! There are others in the club, too—and still more will join in the next year or so.

Only two months have passed since the eastern district opposition to its proposed construction program had to pull in its horns. But already the truth of Nelson Grills' detailed brief related to both the eastern and central districts is coming to light—the brief ridiculed by both the eastern and central school boards. He sought mutual consideration, from the State House on down to local school boards and local citizens. But no one would listen. Now we're all paying for it.

Principal's Son Finishes Statue

D. Jack Rader, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rader, has completed a life-size statue of Christ for the St. Luke United Methodist Church congregation in Indianapolis. Dedication and unveiling of the statue will be held this coming Sunday at 3:00 p. m. at the church. The public is invited.

The commission for the statue was issued in June. The title of the statue is "The Fallen Carpenter."

Mr. Rader attended Cincinnati University and Columbia University before receiving his degree in fine arts from Kent State. He majored in sculpture and is now a teacher in the Indianapolis school system.

The artist's father is principal at Riverdale School.

Church Feature Receives Honor

The church page series which appears in this newspaper, as it does in hundreds of other newspapers across the country, recently was nationally recognized by the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge for the quality of content contained in the messages presented to readers of participating newspapers. The Distinguished Service Award of Freedoms Foundation was presented in Washington, D.C., to the Keister Advertising Service.

Given only to those who have received ten or more previous citations, the distinguished award was given to the advertising agency as the only recipient in the advertising category, other than the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Foundation vice-president Burton Langhenry presented the award to Dr. Henry B. Laffberry, major contributing editor, who explained the origin and growth of the church page service which has been produced for over a quarter of a century. He stressed the Keister conviction that a strong religious foundation is essential to the preservation of freedom and the character of America.

The church feature is presented to readers of this paper through the cooperation of the sponsoring business firms.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday, December 1, at the local town hall with Andy Monroe and Richard Musser attending as visitors.

Mr. Monroe presented information concerning the purchase of two air pack smoke mask units which the local fire department wishes to obtain. Estimated cost is $270.00 each.

The board authorized the installation of "no parking" signs on the narrow portion of Widney Avenue on the east side of the street. The parking restriction was passed several months ago, but periodic violations brought the decision to install signs.

An offer by Willard Hurni to get the assistance of Boy Scouts in clearing small trees and brush at the south boundary of the local cemetery was accepted.

Other items of general community interest were discussed, including the unattractive practice by some homeowners in town of leaving their trash cans along the curb all through the week. Cans should properly be stored in an inconspicuous place except during the time of trash collection Saturday mornings.

Bills allowed were as follows: Town—Yeiser's Standard Service, gas and oil $19.45; Ted Haberkorn, salary 150.00; Dr. W. Hornbacker, dog board and disposal 31.00; Roger Schlegel, dog warden 75.91; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, $40.00; Donald Kinsey, cemetery clerk 50.00; Jack Bowser, salary 150.00; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas and oil 7.70; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., street lights 81.78; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and oil 5.73; Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department, 150.00; Philip Butler, six months attorney fee 100.00; Dailey Motor Sales, service 3.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and oil 4.46; Donald Kinsey, 6 months clerk salary 150.00; Yeiser's Standard Service, supplies 2.85; Yeiser's Standard Service, supplies 9.72; DeKalb County Coop, fuel oil 3.87; Brown Furniture & Hardware, supplies 4.41; Kenneth Roberts, labor 26.25; Saint Joe News, publication of legal notice 8.32.

Waterworks—Indiana & Michigan, 38.77; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas and oil 3.95; William Mansfield, salary and expenses 49.85; Donald Kinsey, six months clerk 100.00; Hep's Dairy Store, six months collection service 90.00.

The Town Board of Saint Joe met in extra session Monday night to complete business for the outgoing year. Also present were Onan Laughman, Andy Monroe, Steve Monroe, Bob Kinsey and son, Willard Hurni and Dick Crow.

Mr. Laughman displayed a new air pack smoke mask unit and quoted a price of $374.30. Mr. Crow, Concord Township trustee, indicated that he was prepared to purchase one unit for the township truck. The board had previously approved the purchase of a unit, but on the presentation of a purchase price of only $[illegible].00. With a significant increase from original information given to the board, further deliberation was held before approval was given for such purchase out of 1970 appropriations.

Discussion was held concerning the pickup of stray dogs and related problems. Difficulties encountered in meeting park expenses were discussed with Mr. Hurni. Difficulties arise in this matter because he has money from three sources, the town, the Saint Joe Lions Club and individual donations with which to expand the park. Misunderstandings have arisen as a consequence and these were discussed at Monday's meeting. Mr. Hurni makes no charge for his time spent in park maintenance and in providing new facilities. He channels all monies into materials and the board recognized that it is in effect getting "double its money's worth" from the money which is appropriated for park purposes.

The board, recognizing the

THERE WE ARE!

It was a newspaper picture of a crowded street. Then we examined it closely. There we were, nameless faces in a crowd to the rest of the world, but important faces to us.

Ours is a world of fast-growing urbanization. More and more people are concentrating in crowded areas. Ours is a world dominated by the gang, the club, the party, even the mob. It's mighty easy to get that "one drop in the ocean" feeling, as if no one knows we are here.

That's why we treasure our church. In it we are individuals. Our minister, our teachers and our friends, even visitors, knew us. Each of us is seen as a separate person. Each of us is known to the same loving Father.

You might call us the "fellowship crowd" . . . a crowd in which we are never lost. Discover for yourself the wonderful blessings your church can impart to you. Attend this Sunday and every Sunday.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

On the evening of December 8 Lion Ralph Kesler gave a three minute talk on the Lions International Office which is located at 209 N. Michigan Avenue in Chicago. This is also the address of "The Lion," which is the official publication of Lions International and is published in 12 languages.

We must vacate this present building by July 1971. A new four million dollar building is being built on a ten acre tract in the Chicago metropolitan area very near the junction of the Tri State (north-south) and the east-west tollways. Chicago was the birthplace of Lionism and no one would think of moving our headquarters from that city.

Three flags fly over the building at all times: the U.S. flag and two other flags. Mr. Keeler suggested that all Lions would benefit by making a visit to Lions International. Such a visit would be credited as a make-up meeting for some meeting you might have to miss.

President Harold Curie announced that any Lions wishing to attend either the State Convention, National Convention or International Convention should make their reservations through our secretary, Cliff Billow.

I believe it was president Curie who said, "A Lion should always live in such a manner that when someone says, 'He is a Lion,' everyone who knows about Lionism will believe it."

Glenn Moore then introduced George Bader, principal of Riverdale School, who showed slides taken on his recent trip to Alaska. The slides included scenes of seacoast inlets, lakes, rivers, glaciers, salmon fishing, Indians and eskimoes. Mr. Rader says Alaska has some good roads, many bad roads and many, many places where there are no roads at all, but that you can hire bush pilots to take you places or you can go by boat or in the winter you can take dog sleds. If you want to get off of the decent roads and beaten tracks, you had better take a guide.

P.S. Harold Kagey and Frank Amstutz had to miss this meeting because they had to represent our club at the Scouters Appreciation Dinner at Fort Wayne. Also we want to thank Karl Hart for making notes on the meeting so we could write this report.

Dear Ted,

I am writing this to wish the town of St. Joe and surrounding neighborhood a Merry Christmas and a joyous New Year.

I've been fairly busy the past few months by spending 47 days at Kimpo Air Base in Korea which is located 14 miles from the D.M.Z. and presently spending 30 days at Kadena Air Base here on Okinawa. (My home base is Naha.)

Things have really been hopping around here with demonstrations and all. There were 30,000 nationals at one demonstration, all for the reason of letting Japan take the island back, plus trying to get rid of the B-52's here at Kadena.

I'd like to extend my Christmas greetings further to Crow's Nest Farm and wish them a Happy New Year.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB

—Pat Roberts, News Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of our president, Cora Funk, for our Christmas party December 12, 1969.

At the noon hour, we gathered around the table loaded with an abundance of good food and I'm sure we all gained a few more pounds.

The meeting was called to order at 1:30 p.m. by the president with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Edith Sailer, taken from the Book of Psalms, Chapter 100. She closed devotions with a prayer.

Due to the illness of our song leader, Mary Baker, the history of the song of the month was not given. But all joined their voices in singing the beautiful Christmas carol, "Silent Night."

A motion was made and supported that we send money to the TB Christmas Seal fund. Motion carried.

We were very happy to welcome into our club a new member, Emma Strombeck. We know she will add a lot to our group and our activities.

We then enjoyed a lovely Christmas program in charge of Gertrude Borthwick. She read a beautiful piece, "The Day of Days." Then a reading was given by Edith Sailer, "St. Nick Visits the Salesgirl," followed by "Mary's Little Child," by Eva Clauser. The program was then completed by Huldah Reasoner reading the Bible story of our Savior's birth from the second chapter of Luke.

The meeting was then closed with the club prayer song and all enjoyed the social hour that followed with the exchange of Christmas gifts.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB

—Katheryn Krieg, Reporter

The Newville Township Homemakers Club met Wednesday, December 10, in the home of Cynthia Sipe. A delicious carry-in dinner was enjoyed during the noon hour. Guests were Betty Miller and Ruth Sipe. There were two children present.

The meeting was called to order by the president who led the club in repeating the club creed. Katheryn Krieg read devotional selections, "This Christmas" and "Peace On Earth." History of the hymn, "Silent Night," was read by the song leader. Dorine Singer played an accordion solo, and several Christmas hmyns were sung with accordion accompaniment.

22 members answered special topics roll call. Following the secretary and treasurer reports, the club constitution was read by the secretary. Correspondence and season's greetings from the county president were read. A wedding anniversary December 12.

Crafts shown were: tin can candle holder, sequin-trimmed felt decorations, lifesaver dolls, felt corsage and shoe. The committee purchased charm bracelets for members of the Country Cousins girls 4-H club.

The meeting was closed by singing the Homemaker's Prayer Song.

Recreation activity was conducted by Dorine Singer. Secret pal gifts, distributed from under the Christmas tree, were shown to all. 1970 secret pal names were drawn.

The January 14 meeting will be held in the home of Hazel Nicholls.

County MD Society Opposes Use Of Medicaid For Public Ills

The DeKalb County Medical Society, prompted by concern over the trend in the administering of medical assistance to the public through government-inspired programs, has issued a statement calling for the rejection of the Medicaid program in Indiana. The society considers the program "inadequate to answer the problems of Indiana."

Text of the resolution is as follows:

"Resolution of the DeKalb County Medical Society

Whereas: The Federal Government had mandated January 1, 1970 as the deadline for implementation of Medicaid, Title XIX.

Whereas: The 1969 Indiana General Assembly enacted this legislation rather than lose Federal funds intending implementation to be delayed to the Federal deadline.

Whereas: The present local welfare system can function more efficiently and economically than Federally mandated legislation which frequently stimulates greed in recipient and providers of services.

Whereas: We recognize the value of faith in the healing process, but do not think payment for faith healers is the legitimate concern of government as advocated under this medical law.

Whereas: This hastily passed Medicaid law groups quality medical care along with such unscientific cults as chiropractors in direct opposition to the opinion of the US Department of Health, Education and Welfare and that of the National Council of Senior Citizens.

Whereas: Federal intervention in the private practice of medicine has been the major factor in the upward spiral of costs of medical care contrary to the best interests of all.

Whereas: Our medical society acknowledges its responsibility to all the people and we are eager to help improve our present system of medical care including free service to the needy when necessary.

Now therefore be it resolved: That the DeKalb County Medical Society of Indiana unanimously rejects the conditions of the Medicaid agreement as inadequate to answer the problems of Indiana, and urges that implementation of Medicaid in Indiana be immediately deferred until a more satisfactory program can be instituted.

Be it further resolved: That copies of this resolution be sent to the Honorable Edgar D. Whitcomb, Governor of Indiana; the Indiana Legislature; the Indiana Department of Public Welfare; the individual Indiana County Medical Societies; the Indiana State Medical Association; The American Medical Association; and released to the news media in the fervent hope that all citizens will support this resolution.

I certify that the above resolution was adapted by the DeKalb County Medical Society on this 10th day of December, 1969.

H. R. Gruber, M.D.
Secretary
Wm. B. Hughes, M.D.

Time To Turn Back The Clock?

It's getting to be more of a compliment all the time to be told that we are trying to "turn back the clock" when we stand up for a solid, time-honored principle.

Home back tracking would be good for us all.

However, before jumping to conclusions, it would be well to think how Grandpa probably would have reacted to suggestions that he give up blessings like these:

RESPECT FOR THE FLAG, now replaced by the kind of acts and utterances that were once punished as treason.

SAFETY ON THE STREETS, so far gone that men may soon arm themselves to go to church, like the Pilgrim Fathers.

DISCIPLINE IN THE SCHOOLS and order on the campuses.

MODESTY IN ENTERTAINMENT, instead of the lewdness and filth, to which we are now subjected.

INSPIRATION IN LITERATURE, instead of chastisements for our "mass guilt."

COURTESY IN SALESMANSHIP—the indifferent snippy attitude of today's store clerk's "is threatening the significant feature of American enterprise," according to Jack I. Straus, R. H. Macy and Co.

PRIDE IN CRAFTMANSHIP, now given way to the mediocrity, featherbedding and feegouging prevalent in so many trades.

THE RIGHT TO WORK, which is denied in many places to all but union members.

THE RIGHT TO SPEND ONE'S EARNINGS, instead of being forced to turn over an average 35% to tax collectors.

All in all, Grandpa may have preferred it like it was. And if the present social ailments get much worse, so may we. It's time to revive some old scruples, to rediscover the virtues of honest work, thrift, respect for authority and personal and community responsibilities.

If that requires turning back the clock, then let's start turning.

Silent Or Complacent Majority?

—by Rep. Floyd B. Coleman

The great silent majority must reverse their sinful complacency. Pride, anger, lust, envy, gluttony, greed, laziness or whatever motivates complacency and apathy must be replaced by a will to sacrifice a little of each busy day to show concern for a cause that's right.

We (Uncle Sam) are in deep trouble from within and without to the point that our very future existence is threatened. Our only hope for survival is to awake from our complacent apathy and give of our time and talent that the cause that's right might prevail. We must work and serve without concern for pay or credit, but pray for supreme guidance, that wisdom might prevail, in the decisions which profoundly affect the lives of all.

We are involved in politics. We are all politicians at least to the extent of paying taxes, using the services provided by government and living with the scourge of galloping inflation brought on mostly by greedy politicians concerned for propagating themselves in power even by deficit spending. In our struggle for power and prestige and to propagate our party power, we grasp for any idea that might provide some political hay.

A noisy minority, many of whom aren't even qualified to vote, are clamoring for more government handouts. The wicked plot of providing a guaranteed annual wage, and our past federal government record of dealing with poverty and hunger, are only two examples designed to further destroy our incentive-oriented society.

We must remember that "He who won't work shall not eat" and shouldn't even be allowed to vote. If those among us motivated by sloth and afflicted with the "gimmies" were required to forfeit our voting voice, the problems of hunger and poverty could return primarily to a problem of concern for our families and neighbors rather than the federal confusion it has proven to be.

Poverty, hunger like nearly all of our problems are personal and must be dealt with on a person to person basis. We the people must shoulder our own responsibility to the greatest possible extent and remove from federal authority the concept of "conception to resurrection" care. When family and neighbor responsibilities are assumed by government, the associated privileges are forfeited.

Voice your opinion, or has complacency got you?

If electric rates are lower than ever, how come your bill is higher?

Yeah, how come?

Easy... you're living better. It works this way: our rates for electricity have gone down over the years. But you're using more power all the time.

These days, you not only use electricity for light, but you can use it to heat, cook, wash and dry clothes, tell time, entertain you with radio, TV, tape and records, shave, dry your hair, keep your bed warm, make your coffee, heat water, open cans, sharpen knives, wash dishes, even carve your Sunday roast.

That's why your bill is higher. Think about that next time you hear us say...

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

WINTER JOGGING

MANY FAMILIES, caught in the latest fad of jogging, wonder if it is wise to continue the exercise during the winter months.

While physicians warn that inhalation of very cold air is not advisable for anyone suffering from medical problems such as heart trouble, asthma, emphysema, cold allergies, chronic bronchitis, sinus trouble and other respiratory or heart disturbances, jogging remains a healthy exercise for the normal individual.

According to one theory, cold induces a general reflex constriction of blood vessels, thus placing an additional work load upon the heart. In jogging, the heart is already working harder than usual, so it would be inadvisable for anyone afflicted with a health problem to jog in very cold weather.

Evidently the breathing of cold air would not be particularly harmful to the healthy person. From the standpoint of comfort, however, the jogger might wear a mask if it did not restrict respiration while running. An appropriate mask, which would provide some protection and comfort, can be purchased at drug and department stores. The mask should be made of soft, porous material to permit maximum exchange of air

Winter Tests Provide 6 Tips For Safer Winter Driving

By Professor A. H. Easton
Director, Motor Vehicle Research Laboratory
University of Wisconsin

1 • Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

2 • Increase your following distance. It takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

3 • "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action three to five times per second keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

4 • Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires offer still more help on icy surfaces.

5 • Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. They provide four to seven times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.

6 • Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades gone dead from exposure to sun, wind and oily road film. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

Three wise and good men followed a star one night in search of truth, in search of peace. Their quest led them to a town called Bethlehem where lay an infant Babe. Then and there, new hope for mankind was born.

Two centuries later, we are still on a desperate quest for peace. But as yet our path is not as easy as those who followed the light of a star, nor is it likely that we will find our answer in historic Bethlehem. But the message of that place is still as clear, still as strong, if only we will heed the words.

Seek Him, and you shall find Him . . . in quiet contemplation, in prayer, in church He waits to welcome you.

Go to church this Sunday. Pray not only for your own needs, but for all the world! Pray for peace! Goodwill to all men!

4-H Youths Find Recipe For Success

The nation's 3.5 million 4-H youths have discovered a formula that works. It is: Learn-earn-serve-save. Diligent application guarantees success.

During recent county and state fairs, scores of youngsters from virtually every county received recognition from the state Cooperative Extension Service and the many business enterprises that support 4-H.

Numerous awards are offered annually. Among them are trips to the National 4-H Congress which will convene in Chicago Nov. 30 through Dec. 4 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Some 1,650 boys and girls representing many different project areas have won 1969 state trip awards. They will comprise the state delegations to the congress, and will be accompanied by state 4-H leaders. Teenagers from all 50 states are expected to attend the Chicago event.

Of this group, nearly 270 will be selected for national scholarships valued at $155,300, according to the National 4-H Service Committee. Winners will be announced during the congress.

In addition to these valued awards, 4-H sponsors provide to another group of state champions, $50 U.S. savings bonds, wrist watches, radios and plaques.

Award donors include: Amchem Products, Inc.; American Oil Foundation; Chevron Chemical Company—Ortho Division; The Chicago Board of Trade; Burlington Railroad; Chicago & North Western Railway Company; Cities Service Company; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company; Ford Motor Company Fund.

Others include: Hercules Incorporated; International Minerals & Chemical Corporation; Eli Lilly and Company; Oliver Corporation; Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc.; Standard Brands Incorporated; Union 76 Division, Union Oil Company of California; The Upjohn Company; The Campbell Soup Company, and The Wrather Corporation.

The congress is the highlight of the 4-H year, and to be a delegate is the dream of every 4-H'er. New experiences such as jet travel, living for a week in the nation's largest hotel, taking in the sounds and sights of Chicago, eating banquet-type meals every day, and being royally entertained by stars of stage and TV are but a few of the "firsts" awaiting the 1969 delegates.

The Heartbeat

of DeKalb Memorial Hospital

By Ginny Nixon

The DeKalb Memorial Hospital Foundation was the recent recipient of a $3,000.00 cash gift from the directors of the Auburn Federal Savings and Loan Association. Mr. Theo Webb, president, made this comment, "We are happy to continue the financial support of this outstanding local institution with this gift. We realize fully the need for such financial assistance to support future capital expenditures."

Mr. Ralph Pearson, president of the board, reported that in addition to this generous gift, other substantial gifts received during the current year totaled $19,000.00.

A bequest in the amount of $1,000.00 was received from the estate of the late Harry Surfus of Auburn. This was the third gift by Mr. Surfus since the hospital project was undertaken. Also, recently received was $2,000.00 from the estate of Arthur E. Bailey of Auburn. Included was a gift of $1,000.00 in memory of his wife, Ora B. Bailey, who died in 1962, and $1,000.00 in his own name. Mr. Bailey moved to Auburn after retiring from his farm. He died in April of 1969.

From the estate of Mr. Charles F. Pervine (Frank) came $11,300.00 Mr. Pervine was formerly a resident of Spencerville and later moved to Auburn. He then moved to Bradenton, Florida, upon his retirement and was living there at the time of his death in 1968.

Other smaller gifts have been given outright anonymously or through estates, totaling over $3,000.00 for 1969.

The board of directors, administrator and DeKalb Memorial Hospital Foundation, which received these gifts, once again extend their deep gratitude for the generosity of these people.

DeKalb Memorial is a growing and chaging public servant. A modern hospital such as ours can never stand still. The effort to provide the best in medical care for DeKalb County and the surrounding areas is an ever demanding and expensive task.

DeKalb Memorial is classified as a tax exempt institution, and any contribution of any size is tax dednetible to the doner.

Letters to the Editor

Dec. 22, 1969

Dear Mr. Ted:

When I moved to the farm on which I am living now, in Nov. 1914, Sol Barney's grocery store was in the Opera House building. My first grocery trading in Saint Joe was in this store. Sol Barney's son Merritt and wife Belle, parents of Mrs. Baumgartner of Spencerville, clerked in the store. I wouldn't want to say but what Sol Barney might have run a store as Ray [Reasoner] says, "a block east and on the opposite side of the street," if he did, it was before I came into this community. Wilbur Yeiser is right in that the Barney store WAS in the Opera House building, as I say, in Nov. 1914.

Another little matter of history called to my attention by a member of the family concerns an article in the News some months ago. So, "throw another log on the fire," make some more ashes to rake out of the past! I consider it most unfair to the memory of John Fetters and his family that the controversy over the location of a new school building in what was the undivided township of Concord should be blamed on the township trustee, John Fetters, by saying he objected to higher education. By Cracky! That "ain't" the way I "heerd it!" The bone of contention then, just as it has been now, was the SITE, not whether there should be a high school or just a grade school, but WHERE it should be located. Mr. Fetters wanted it built in the center of Concord Twp., high or grade school, where it was eventually built, and where according to those in the south of Concord Twp, it would be to the decided advantage of Saint Joe town, and of course it would put Saint Joe on the way to being a thriving Metropolitan city! The south half of Concord Twp. wanted the school building AT Spencerville. So, the township was split into Concord and Spencer, and not only was the Township split, but the friendships and good will of the two communities. The schools of the county used to have contests; so bitter was the feeling between the two communities that the County Supt. finally told the two schools that they were not to be entered in the competition against each other. I wonder sometimes if John Fetters wasn't right! With all our expensive school buildings and high-falutin' curriculums, have we not perhaps raised a generation of half-educated fools? Hippies and Yippies who riot and commit vandalism, not only on college campuses but in high school. It looks as tho' the generation past doesn't want an education, the way some of them are kicking their opportunity around. Some of them can't read, some can't spell, and none can compose with any continuity of thought. Some of them have a limited vocabulary, consisting of "Here's my dad's credit card" or "Charge it." John Fetters may have been a bit "sot" in his way, but he was an honest God-fearing man, "salt of the Earth," and he raised and left in this community families who are a credit to the community!

These are my observations from the high pinnacle of a past, as I look back over some fifty-five years in this community.

Sincerely,
Gertrude Berthwick

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

So Mose and Ray have been arguing where Sol Barney had a store. It is nice to be young and have to depend on "oldsters" for information concerning the "Good Old Days," but both these "youngsters" are in error and should give the $100 to some charity.

The Sol Barney Emporium was located on the same lot as your newspaper plant, on the north side of Main Street next east of the residence on the corner across from the town pump. It was a frame building extending back toward railroad street. Mr. Barney's residence was the one mentioned, on the corner above your plant now standing.

Mr. Barney was an aggressive merchant. I once owned a china doll given me by Mr. Barney when my father paid an account for merchandise purchased. It was a common practice by merchants of that day to permit accounts to run until the farmer sold hogs, or delivered harvested grain to the elevator. When I was a senior in high school, Mr. Barney got me interested in Odd Fellowship, and accompanied me to Indianapolis and vouched for me as worthy to become a member of the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. in Indiana.

I have forgotten when the Barney store disappeared, and Mr. ——— Curie built the building now standing on the site occupied by his farm implement business. I remember well joining other Democrats in this building for election returns when Woodrow Wilson was elected president. I cannot say what business now occupies the building.

I am coming to think that Concord Township is a good place for youngsters to grow up, even if their memories recede.

Respectfully,
Leo O. Tustison

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The Saturday morning basketball is beginning to look like basketball. The play was full of team effort. The boys are learning to play as a team unit.

The first game December 20 was a slow starter, but as the game progressed, the Blues could not be stopped. Phil Staley and Leo Carper broke loose time after time to score for the Blues. The final score found the Blues defeating the Greens 37 to 13.

The Orange team, the league leaders, had their wings clipped by the Reds 27-19. Mike Mansfield and Paul Roberts teamed up to score 16 points in the final quarter to erase the early lead of the Orange team.

Use Of Microfilm For Census

Will Save Taxpayers Millions

WASHINGTON — Important new microfilming procedures in the processing of the 1970 Census will make possible the most comprehensive and useful storehouse of information ever assembled by the Census Bureau, reports Karl Adams Jr., president of the National Microfilm Assn.

And, considering the volume of information and the cost involved, Americans will get more for their money —$210 million — than ever before.

Adams, microfilm consultant from Weston, Mass., explained that by using microfilm to provide input to computers and to record their output, the Census Bureau will save of millions in personnel costs over the cost to process the same amount of data by previously used methods. Taxpayers benefit from having more sophisticated equipment able to do a better job of processing census data.

"A significant breakthrough in the handling of tremendous masses of information was the marriage of microfilm to the computer. Next year every American will benefit by the development of devices that read data from microfilm directly to computers, and advances in computer-output-microfilming (COM) technology," Adams said.

Some four billion facts about 205 million Americans and their 62 million homes, apartments and other dwellings will be gathered.

It will take three to five weeks to gather the bulk of the data and 18 months to sort, process and put that data into usable form — a comparatively short period of time, considering that in 1790 when the census consisted of only five questions about four million persons, it took 18 months just to collect the data and prepare it for reporting.

CENSUS MICROFILMING — Completed census questionnaires are photographed at rate of two per second onto microfilm.

Completed multi-page census questionnaires will be photographed at the rate of two per second onto special high contrast negative microfilm, which records only the pencilled-in dots used to indicate correct answers.

The microfilming is facilitated by an automatic page turner developed in the Census Bureau's Engineering Development Laboratory under the direction of Anthony A. Berlinsky. As each questionnaire is fed to one of 40 available microfilm cameras, an automatic turner flips pages, and after sensing when the last page is reached ejects it and begins processing the next. No [illegible] device exists.

The microfilm is fed to FOSDIC (Film Optical Sensing Device for Input to Computers) which scans each microfilm frame with a beam of light and converts the data into magnetic code on computer tape. Six FOSDIC's will operate around the clock for four months to transcribe 50,000 rolls of microfilm onto 6500 reels of computer tape at the rate of [illegible] items of information per minute. In [illegible] six items could be processed each minute.

The computer will be capable of processing [illegible] items of information [illegible] output directly to microfilm (COM) at speeds up to 90,000 characters per second — about 30 times faster than data can be recorded by impact printers. The COM output records [illegible] which resemble [illegible] typewriters.

To illustrate the speed of processing advances since 1790, the Census Bureau computed current work and tabulating capacity [illegible] the modern computer [illegible] found that in terms of [illegible] of work, the [illegible] puter [illegible] 14,000 times.

A [illegible] He reports [illegible] survey of [illegible] National Mo[illegible] machines [illegible] 1970 there will be [illegible] five times as many [illegible] in operation as [illegible] the beginning of [illegible] Industry [illegible] as much as [illegible]

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Mildred Jarrett

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting Monday evening, December 22, 1969, with President Floyd Pfierman presiding. Harold Diehl used as his devotional topic "Wise Men Bring Gifts."

Edna Perkins read a letter of thanks for her knife from a 4H winner. Mrs. Perkins urged women leaders to report amounts spent by their units on 4H.

The Administrative Budget presented by Mr. Pfierman, assisted by Howard McDaniel, was accepted.

The Board voted to officially support The Farm News.

The District 2 Officers Training School will start with a dinner at The Sweden House, Gateway Plaza, Fort Wayne, December 29 at 6:30 p.m.

Robert Bloch, Membership Chairman, reminded members of the Kick-off pancake and sausage supper at the Farm Bureau Building January 27.

Following roll call, Mrs. Perkins took charge of the 1970 Planning Meeting. There was a prolonged discussion of the type of meetings to have and a survey of members' wishes was suggested, but all January meetings had been planned and apparently the usual procedure will be followed.

Safety films will be scheduled for May in Wilmington-Stafford, Franklin-Troy, Tri, Fairfield, and Richland and for June in Smithfield, 4T, and Jackson.

There will be an educational film in September in Jackson and in October in all other units.

Further plans will be made later.

Symbol of the New Year—a bouncing baby boy! Symbol of the Old Year—a gnarled and dejected Father Time! As the New Year begins, we want to wipe the slate clean, we want to erase everything that has happened and start all over again.

But stop and think a moment. Naturally, there were things in the past that we wish had never happened. There were things that we are sorry we had said and done. But what of the wonderful hours, the tender moments—the really good things?

The best way to start a really "new" New Year is by going to church and taking a quiet personal look at yourself. Take advantage of the experiences given us during the past, and then, with a new perspective, plan your New Year with faith and resolution.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

When Ray Donat stopped in a couple of weeks ago to have a card of thanks put in the paper, I had to admit that I didn't know he had been in the hospital —or if I did know, I had forgotten about it. Ray was in bad enough shape that he says at one time he was "almost gone." He seems to be getting along OK after the heart attack.

The Cub Pack meeting is held every third Thursday at the Spencerville Methodist Church. With Mark now in Cub Scouts, we're also now in on the activities. I couldn't make it to the December meeting, but big brother Mike took Mark to the meeting —and I hear that there may be an increase in interest among the dads, what with the new mini-skirted den mother who just got started in December.

—That's the third Thursday, fellas.

Bill Hurni brought in an old DeKalb County history book which was loaned to him by Mr. Countryman (I forget the first name) from east of Saint Joe. It is an interesting old book compiled in 1880.

Merwin Place brought in an old scrapbook this week compiled in 1889 by Hattie (Snyder) Walker, mother of the late Fern Place. What is striking about the cards in the scrapbook is the color work done in the printing industry 'way back in those days, even for just advertising purposes. And everybody had their own fancy name cards which were exchanged, neighbor to neighbor.

Merwin also had an old newspaper clipping with the following humorous anecdote:

"NUPTIAL NOVELTIES: How the Matrimonial Knot Was Tied by a Frontier Justice.

Camping near a town in Wyoming we secured our stock and then went in. Entering the leading store of the town I introduced myself to Mr. Stiles, one of the proprietors, and the postmaster. Stiles said: "It's now 2:30 and at 3 there's a wedding at Jonas Burton's. Old Jonas is a rough old coon that we elected a justice of the peace about a month ago, and as this will be his first attempt at a marriage I think we will see some fun; come, go with me." We went into the old 'squire's cabin and found him pouring over a large volume of the "Statutes of Wyoming," sweating like a horse and terribly anxious. After greeting us he said:

"Stiles, them galoots that got up these yer laws hadn't gumption enough to last 'em over night. I've run through the blamed books a half dozen times an' can't find a word about matrimony or how the hitchin' process is perceeded with. I've just got to put the clamps on this ere couple, hit or miss, an' if I don't yoke 'em up legal I can't help it."

Stiles explained to him about how to proceed, and the old man finally thought he could worry through in tolerable shape.

Ere long the couple appeared, followed by a crowd of citizens of the camp. The candidates steod up before the 'Squire, who began:

"Feller-citizens, this yer man and this yer woman have appeared before the court to be hitched in the legal bands of wedlock! If any galoot in the mob knows of anything that might block the game if took to a higher court let him now toot his basoo or else keep his jaw to himself now and forevermore.

All in favor of my perceeding as authorized by law say 'I.'"

Everybody said "I."

"Contrary, 'No.'"

Nobody said "No."

"The motions carried unanimously, an' the court rules that there hain't nothing to prevent the trying of the case.

"Now," said the 'squire, "grip your fine."

The candidates joined hands.

"Amos Peabody, do you solemnly swear that ye'll freeze to Mandy forever, and pervide for her, and treat her squar' and white, accordin' to the rules and regulations set down to govern sich cases in the laws o' the United States, so help you God?"

"Yes sir; I do, sir."

"That fixes your end of the bargain.

"Mandy Thomas, do you solemnly swear that you'll hang on to Amos for all comin' time; that you'll nuss him in sickness, and be squar' to him in wellness; that ye'll always be to him a good, true, honest, up-and-up wife, under the penalties prescribed by the laws for the punishment of such offenses? Do you swear this, so help yer God?"

"I swear I will."

"Then, by the power in me vested as Justice of the Peace in and for this precinct, I pronounes you, Amos Peabody, husband, and you, Mandy Thomas, wife, and legalize ye to remain sich now and forevermore; an' ye'll stand committed till the fees and costs in the case are paid in full, an' may God have mercy on your souls an' bless this union with his heftiest blessin's."

The fees and costs were adjusted, and the newly-made husband and wife after receiving the congratulations of the assembly departed for their cabin up the creek."

Have you been writing "1969" instead of "1970," too? Last week's paper said, "January 1, 1969."

153 Reservations For PTA Dinner

Mrs. Margaret Troyer of Butler, who has served as chairman in planning for a re-organizational meeting of the Butler-Eastside P.T.A., issued the following statement this week in urging patrons of the school district to attend the meeing. Reservations have been made for the 6:30 potluck. However, those who did not make a reservation but who can attend the business meeting are invited to do so.

Mrs. Troyer stated this week, "Don't forget the January 12 P.T.A.-P.T.O. pot luck. Reservations are in but if you can't come for dinner, remember the meeting at 8:30 p.m.

"The 7th grade Girl Scouts are providing baby sitting service in the kindergarten room, which will help the parents of small children.

"Be sure to come and help make a success of the effort to make our P.T.A. or P.T.O. a strong organiation."

Butler attorney James Angelone will be the speaker for the business session. Consideration will be given during the meeting concerning the organization's status as a P.T.A. It has been suggested that the group disaffiliate with the state and national P.T.A. organization and function as an independent P.T.O.

The meeting will be held next Monday, January 12, in the Butler Elementary School cafetorium.

Mrs. Troyer said that 153 reservations have been made for the dinner.

Policy Conf'nce Monday

The 1970 Area Policy Conference of the Cooperative Extension Service will be held Monday, January 12, at Plainer's Steak House north of Garrett on State Road 327. The purpose of the annual policy conference is to bring to the leaders of the community factual information about current public problems. The problem selected for this year's conference is "How Should Local Government Be Financed?"

Members of the Purdue University staff will present background information on where tax money comes from now, and how it is being spent.

In announcing the policy conference, area extension agent Michael Jewett made the following statement:

"At the present time, property tax is the primary source of revenue for local governments in Indiana. Even though state-aid distributions have been increased from time to time by the General Assembly, property tax collections have increased. Since 1954, the increases have approximated 8 percent per year. Judging from the amount of discussion that is taking place, the financing of local government is becoming a matter of increasing public concern. This conference will be devoted to the discussion of some of the alternative choices that are available and some of the probable consequences of each alternative.

"The knowledge and understanding of each of these alternatives and probable consequences should provide you a broader basis for decision making regarding this important public problem."

Report Of Troop 172 Activities

—Wayne P. Koch, secretary

Besides the regular weekly meetings each Monday the following activities were enjoyed by the troop during the latter part of last year.

On October 10 to 12, a Camporee was held at Little Turtle Scout Campgrounds near Pleasant Lake, with many troops of the Pokagon area participating. In spite of a rain and wind storm which flattened nearly all tents and dampened the clothes and bedding of nearly all of us, we still had an enjoyable campout. Many of the boys made appreciable advancements in their striving for increased rank.

Troop 172 of Spencerville received the Presidential Award for their camp project and orderliness.

On November 9 Troop 172 hiked over the Little Turtle Trail, a distance of 11 miles, and visited many historic places along the way such as the site of Little Turtle's home, battle fields, and old fort locations. There is much history to be learned in this area. The Trail follows much of Eel River, starting at Coesse and ending on Highway 33. This is more or less a cross-country hike..

On December 5 to 7, a campout was held in Mr. Fred Ulm's woods just east of the new bridge over the St. Joe River between St. Joe and Spencerville. The first night was ideal for a fall campout. However, Ed Shilling, in charge of the evening meal—a big pot of stew—got started a little late. The stew at last became edible about 9 p.m. and really good at about 11 p.m.

On the second day of the campout it began to snow, sleet and rain, but the boys weathered that in fine shape. We broke camp early however, since conditions became too rough for any of the boys to accomplish much in the way of advancements.

On the 19th of December, Troop 172 held its Court of Honor, at which all its members who advanced in rank were given individual recognition for their efforts.

The following awards were made.

Those advanced to 2nd Class Scout were Tom Hollabaugh, Loren Fisher, Don Shilling, and Richard Kagey.

Those advanced to First Class were Ed Shilling and Tim Hollabaugh.

Jerry Markle and Eric Jacobson were advanced to Star Scout.

The following Merit Badges were awarded: Keith Melchi — Music, Athletics, Personal Fitness, Reading, Sheep Farming, Corn Farming, and Rabbit Farming; Eric Jacobson — Woodworking and Drafting; Jerry Markle — Woodworking and Model Design; Raymond Drake — Animal Husbandry.

Following an impressive award ceremony, two short but clever and entertaining skits were presented by the Troop, after which refreshments were served by a committee composed of many of the troop members' mothers. They all outdid themselves. The food was out of this world both in quality and quantity. It was a sort of dessert buffet.

Approximately 35 to 40 people were in attendance as spectators at the award ceremony, many of them proud parents of the recipients. Scoutmaster Drake, following the presentations, addressed the group on the real meaning of scouting, explaining that it is not all fun and games. It is building self-reliance and a sense of community responsibility.

His assistant, Wayne Koch, stressed courage, dependability, and morality as the goals to cultivate in our youth in these days when minorities override the rights of the majority while seeking their own through violence, immorality, and dissention.

It was also brought out that every astronaut except one had been a Boy Scout. Where is there a better place than in Scouting to build physical fitness, courage, leadership, and dependability? Every Scout pledges himself to become physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

Did you know—

—that funeral services were held for Cpl. James Fore Thursday of this week at the Baidinger-Walter Funeral Home in Spencerville.

—that the Leo Carpers visited in Florida over the holidays. Father Carper and son, David, attended the Orange Bowl football game.

—that the below-zero weather across the nation is also present in this community, Bill Hurni stating that it was still 14 below zero on Wednesday morning at around 9:30 a.m.

—that a "citizens' group" met some three weeks ago with the school board of the DeKalb Central United School District to discuss the board's proposed junior high school construction project. The group's motivation apparently came over concern about costs and tax rates for such construction. The school board agreed to take no further steps on the project until further studies are made and deliberated—believe it or not!

—that Congressman E. Ross Adair has announced that he has been informed by the General Services Administration that the architectural firm of Schenkel & Shultz, Inc., has been selected to design a new Social Security Administration building to be located in Elkhart, Indiana. The building will serve as the new District Office. It will cost $184,900 and contain 5700 square feet.

—that Gerald W. Habig, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in Indiana, has announced that all persons applying for an original Driver's License, a renewal thereof, or for any Learner's Permit for practice driving or driver education, must now furnish a Social Security number on each application. The number will be used as the Driver's License Number for all such licenses issued by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, starting with 1970 applications.

—that a workshop which will look into the role of the father in the family has been announced by the Oaklawn Psychiatric Center in Elkhart, Indiana. Titled "Trouble in the Family: Father," the workshop is a part of the Center's continuing "Education for Living" program. The workshop is to be held on Thursday evening, January 22, and will include a supper at 6:30 p.m., followed by a presentation and discussion. Adjournment is scheduled for 9:15 p.m. Registration for the workshop must be made in advance and is open to any man alone or any couple. The cost, which includes the dinner, is $4 for a single person, $7 per couple. Registration may be made by calling the Administrator's office at the Oaklawn Center.

—that General Telephone of Indiana has announced a record $40 million construction budget for new and expanded facilities throughout its 47- county territory in 1970. Clifton E. McCormick, company president, said the new budget is approximately $3 million above the amount being spent in 1969 and nearly $15 million or approximately 35 percent greater than the figure of five years ago.

—that 17 continuing education classes for adults, including four new courses, will be offered during the spring semester at Indiana University at Fort Wayne. New courses are "Estates, Trusts, Investments, and Fiduciary Taxes," "Commodities or Mutual Funds?", "Real Estate Brokerage," and "Foundation in Early Childhood Education." Other courses include "Approved Real Estate Salesmen's Course," "Stock Market Techniques," "Transportation & Traffic Management II," "Great Books—Part III," "Writing Can Be Fun," "History and Philosophy of Religion II," "Parent Workshop," "The Power of Meaning — How Words Change Our Lives," "Conversational French," "Conversational German," "Conversational Spanish," and "Creative Ceramics."

—that a number of Universal Tool and Stamping Co. employes were given medical treatment when they became nauseated and complained of headaches this week in Butler. Plant manager Norman Ritenour said that employes were given immediate attention when several complained of illness shortly after 2:15 p.m. Monday. Plant officials immediately summoned Northern Indiana Fuel and Light Co. men to check for a possible gas leak in the plant, and traces of gas were found. Ritenour could only theorize that a gas pocket was formed while the plant was shut down for five days over the holidays.

—that members of the Butler City Council are studying bids submitted by area builders for the construction of a new waterworks. Cost of the waterworks will be $426,674.32 if the bids are accepted by the council. The revised water rate necessary showed a jump from the present $1 a month to $2.50 a month.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Paradise of Auburn are the parents of a seven pound, six ounce daughter born Thursday at 5:28 a.m.

—that DeKalb County motorists applying for their 1970 vehicle license plates at any of the three branch offices in the county will not have to produce proof that property taxes have been paid. Motorists will have to sign the regular license applications which state that property taxes have been paid. Beginning in 1971, Indiana will switch to an excise tax payment plan on autos instead of property tax. It will eliminate the question of showing property tax receipts. The new law establishes a table of excise taxes ranging from $12 for a car costing about $1500 new, to $192 for a car costing more than $5500 new.

—that the 1970s are likely to be the decade of declining numbers of children in Indiana to be educated, and rising tension over costs. A major study nearing completion by Dr. John Hill of Indiana State University indicates a decline can be expected in the number of students in grades 1 and 12 in Indiana's public, private, and parochial schools. Hill's study predicts 1,248,942 graduates in the 1970-1971 school year, of which 113,931 would be in private and parochial schools and the rest in public schools. The forecasts reflect not only declining birth rates of past years, but also the expected transfer of pupils from Catholic parochial schools to public schools.

—that the Indiana State Police at Ligonier request snowmobile operators to stay off the highways, including berms. Fairgrounds or parks (with permission from those in charge) or private property (with the property owner's permission) are the only places to run these "fun machines." A snowmobile, by definition, is classed as a motor vehicle, and as such, must be licensed to operate on Indiana's highways. The Bureau of Motor Vehicles does not recognize snowmobiles as safe vehicles and, therefore, refuses to license them.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith of R2, Butler, are the parents of a seven pound, twelve ounce daughter born Thursday at 4:26 p.m.

—that the county commissioners have announced the appointment of Larry Madden, R1, Garrett, as DeKalb County Veterans Officer. The appointment was made by the commissioners after recommendations from the Indiana state veterans service officer and each of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans organizations. Madden assumed his new duties on January 2 with an office on the third floor of the court house in Auburn.

—that a nationwide reduction in interstate long distance rates effective January 1 applies to customers of General Telephone Company. The new rate schedule is the eighth decrease in long distance rates in the past ten years. It provides a night rate for customer-dialed interstate station-to-station calls ranging from 15 cents for the first four minutes of conversation to a maximum of 90 cents for the first three minutes, the maximum applying to calls to the most distant points in the continental United States. Under the new schedule, this night period starts weekdays at 5 p.m. instead of the former 7 p.m. The night period continues to start at 7 p.m. for operator-handled calls, but remains in effect until 8 a.m. (instead of the former 7 a.m.) for both customer-dialed and operator-handled calls.

Sen. Kruse Boosts Meetings

State Senator Dean Kruse has recommendede participation in two meetings next week.

The first is a Civil Defense Conference of DeKalb County to be held Wednesday evening, January 14, at the court house in Auburn from 7 to 10 p.m.

Mr. Paul Freeburn, local civil defense director, and Steve A. Vencel, the administrator of the Indiana University Civil Defense Extension Program, will be in charge of the meeting. They will make citizens better informed of unified community action during natural or man-made disasters.

Senator Kruse said, "This is a tremendous program and well worth the time spent to learn of our civil defense programs before they are needed."

The second meeting will be held Thursday, January 15, at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn just south of Goshen, Indiana.

Congressman John T. Myers, a member of the United States Congressional Agriculture Committee, announced the special "Farm Forum" meeting for farmers of this area.

Congressman E. Ross Adair will attend the meeting and urges all farmers of the Fourth District to attend also.

Senator Kruse said, "It would be a grave mistake if every farm organization of this county is not represented at this meeting. If we are all to be informed and to make our influence felt in the nation's farm program and policies, attending this meeting with our government officials is a 'must'."

Senator Kruse mentioned that all the public is invited, including the news media and any civic organization interested in the farm problems of the times.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 192
—LuAnne Hooke

Girl Scout Troop 192 had its regular meeting January 5. Projects for the coming year were discussed, and so were money making projects.

The month of December was a busy month. We went Christmas caroling at the Auburn nursing home and hospital. We also caroled in St. Joe, then we had a Christmas exchange.

We would like to thank all the people who helped our paper drive be a success.

Ross Leads ACAC Scoring Averages

Eastside's Charlie Ross leads all Allen County Athletic Conference basketball players with a 24.7 point-per-game average. Ross has scored 222 points in nine games with 93 field goals and 36 free throws. However, Eastside's fortunes as a team have not been so successful, as the Blazers are currently riding in seventh place in the nine-team league. The Blazers have won only three of nine games, and have been outscored by their opponents at an average of 79.4 to 67.7 points per game. Woodlan's Warriors lead the league with a 7-1 conference record, defeating their opponetns by an average of 14.4 points per game. The Leo Lions, although in second place, sport the highest average scoring mark, putting a mean of 81.2 points on the scoreboard. They also have the highest average difference, outscoring their foes at a 16.9 point clip. Churubusco lies in third place with a 6-3 mark, followed by Carroll (5-4), Southern Wells (4-4), Norwell (4-5), Eastside (3-6), Adams Central (2-8), and Heritage (1-9). Adams Central's Rick Minnich is the league's point-leader with a total of 226 in ten games for the second-highest average in the league, 22.6.

Following Charlie Ross in Eastside's scoring are Keith Kessler with 26 points in two games for a 13-point average, and Deo Wasson with 107 points in nine games for a mean of 11.9. Ross, a junior, has twice surpassed the previous one-game scoring mark for Eastside this year. On two occasions, Ross has poured in 38 points, shattering the old standard of 31, set by Bob Gerber.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday night for its first meeting of 1970. Present were board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake, and Ted Haberkorn, town clerk Donald Kinsey, and visitors Richard Musseer and Roger Coburn.

The meeting was devoted primarily to general discussion of town matters, including insurance coverage for the old fire truck now used for fogging purposes. Problems encountered in administering the dog control ordinance were reviewed. It was then concluded that, despite the problems, the program had resulted in fewer strays in town. The success of the program in keeping loose dogs from the streets of Saint Joe depends upon the cooperation of the owners of such pets.

With receipt of funds from the state in the final days of 1969, the board was able to purchase a new air pack for the fire department out of 1969 appropriations at a cost of $374.30. Other obligations taken care of out of last year's appropriations included:

Brown Furniture & Hardware, riding mower 639.95; John P. Lewis, balance of street resurfacing 347.00; Mel Hershberger, labor 15.60; Riverside Cemetery, sinking fund 115.00; Ford Grimm, purchase of lots 1,300.00.

Current bills allowed included:

Town—Kenneth Roberts, labor 47.50; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., street lights 83.70; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 240.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 2.39; Roy Eck, open grave 50.00; Farm Bureau Co-op, fuel oil 17.40; Farm Bureau Co-Op, fuel oil 19.94.

Waterworks—William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.70; I&M 35.17.

Letters to the Editor

According to the St. Joe News of Dec. 24th, there seems to be a little correcting on the location of the early 1900 merchants. Sol Barney was in business in Spencerville until he located here in 1882. I can't remember him of ever being anywhere but where he was when his store burned down, and the telephone office over the store.

According to the DeKalb Co. History the Opera House was built by Oliver H. Widney in 1900. My uncle, Dan Baker had a hardware store in the west side of the lower floor and also had the Post Office which was then a 3rd or 4th class P.O. The east store was always as I remember it a restaurant until it burned in 1923 and was occupied by a drug store run by Charles Rice. In 1918 the building on the south side of the street—east of the Lutheran church and occupied by the Big 4 Store, run by Bert Patterson and the Hiram Dunkle Drug Store—formerly Harry Milliman's Drug Store and the St. Joe Valley Bank burned. The Sol Barney store was on the north side of the street where the 2-story brick building now stands, and Jiggs' Garage was formerly the Wm. Curie Store with the K. of P. lodge above it. After the fire Wm. Curie bought the Sol Barney lot and built the present store.

In the west store of the Opera House Building, a store was run by Merritt Barney (Sol's son), and in 1917 by Dickerhoof's Notion Store. Milliman's Drug Store was never in the Opera House building.

Harvey J. Hull
Jewell, Ohio
Dec. 30, 1969

Dear Ted:

The picture of the old opera house brought back fond memories of the many Saturday nights we spent roller skating there.

Neither Mose nor Ray were right in the location of Sol Barney's store. When I came to live in St. Joe in 1911, Barney's store was just east of where you live. Barneys lived in the same house you live in now at one time. His store was a frame building. In the front was dry goods and in the back was groceries. Upstairs was the telephone office.

Just east was another frame building, where Will Curie had an implement store. They all burned in the summer of 1915. There was just an alley between Curie's store and the house where at that time Mr. and Mrs. Sam Werner lived. Mr. and Mrs. Elza Kinsey, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pepple lived in the house on the corner. They moved everything out of both homes, as they thought both would burn. All the damage was the west wall of the Werner house. The paint was blistered. Mrs. Werner had a millinery shop in the front of her home.

We enjoy the old pictures, keep them coming.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Foster Gee

We unintentionally got Mr. Reasoner "behind the eight ball" with our local historians in the matter of the location of the Barney store as he remembered it. He was reported to have located the store on the south side of the main street. This was an error on the editor's part in assuming that when Mr. Reasoner said 'down the street" it meant in the present brick building which has been a grocery in the past. In the past, we have heard of the "Big Four" store so often, located where the brick now stands, that we placed ANY grocery on that spot.

It shows how the "youngsters" are unaware of Saint Joe's "bigness" in years past. At one time there were three groceries in town.

Newville and Spencerville were the first thriving communities, Saint Joe's turn coming when the railroad came through. Now all suffer from the same disease as many other small communities —automobile-itis. —Ed.

Navy Seaman Apprentice David L. Mumma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Mumma of R1, Spencerville, is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Midway. The ship is scheduled to be recommissioned in San Francisco this month.

The Midway, named for the famous World War II Pacific naval battle, has been decommissioned while undergoing extensive modernization at the San Francisco Bay Naval Shipyard. Her new features will give the carrier the capability of operating the new aircraft now planned for the Navy during the 1970's.

The carrier's new home port will be Alameda, California.

Marine Corporal Thomas E. Stemen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Stemen of R2, Butler, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the Second Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

The base has two missions. It provides housing, training facilities, and logistical support for Fleet Marine Force units and conducts specialized schools and training for Marines who have recently graduated from basic at Parris Island Recruit Training Depot.

Qualified young men may now enlist for their choice of many metropolitan areas right here in the United States, it has been announced by Sergeant George E. Siler, local Army recruiter.

Under the provisions of this special enlistment program, a man may choose from a long list of cities in all parts of the country, including Chicago, Boston, Miami, Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Minneapolis, Dallas, Pittsburg, and Seattle.

Sergeant Siler also said that any man who qualifies physically and mentally, and who is interested in the field of guided missiles, electronics, and communications may be guaranteed an initial assignment to a NIKE site near the city of his choice.

The NIKE installations are under the Army Air Defense Command, known as ARADCOM. In addition to the guaranteed assignment, the enlistee can be sure of at least twelve months training at the NIKE insallation of his choice.

Full particulars on this program may be obtained by contacting Sergeant Siler at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 118 W. Mitchell Street, Kendallville, Indiana 46755; telephone 347-2264.

"What's in the cup, Granddad?"

Not many bother to answer the countless questions he loves to ask. But usually he can count on Granddad.

"What was in The Cup at church this morning?" It's a question many people ask — people sincerely wanting to know its significance . . . people who like to argue. (Is it wine or grape juice?) Theorists . . . theologians . . . people older and wiser than a little boy.

"Why can't I drink The Cup, like you and all the others, Granddad?"

"You're a little young, Sonny. It's one of the important things in life . . . a privilege . . . a part of growing up!"

"What does it mean, Granddad?"

"It means remembering . . . remembering what God gave us — what Christ did for us — what the Church is to us. It means being truly sorry that we have failed to do our very best."

"I don't understand, Granddad."

"But you will. That's why we all go to church . . . to learn . . . to understand . . . to remember . . . to love our Lord."

"Maybe I do understand, Granddad, about The Cup — 'cause I already love the Lord."

GOP Plans Lincoln Dinner

Senator Dean Kruse, DeKalb County Republican chairman, has announced that the DeKalb County Republican Central Committee will have a Lincoln Day Dinner in February in honor of the 35th President of the United States and the first Republican to ever hold that office.

Senator Kruse named Norman Gerig, DeKalb County clerk, as general chairman of the event. Kruse said it will be entirely up to the chairman to appoint committee chairmen for ticket sales, entertainment, date, site, food and the complete organization of the dinner.

Gerig has been a life-long Republican and active in politics, serving as a delegate to the state convention, an officer in the young Republican organization, and a candidate for trustee of Union Township. He defeated the Democrat incumbent candidate for clerk in the 1968 election. This was the first time in modern history that a county incumbent was defeated.

The dinner will honor all precinct committeemen and vice committeemen for their work and service to the party. It was at the suggestion of Abraham Lincoln that the offices of precinct committeeman and vice committeeman were created in this nation.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The chill of winter could not kill the desires of 25 fifth and sixth grade boys Saturday, January 9.

In the first game, the Reds played one of their come-from-behind type of games to win by a score of 21-13. Paul Roberts found the hoop late in the game to lead his team to the win.

In the second game, two new Junior League records were set. The Orange team ran up a score of 68 points, which is high for the two years of league play. At the same time, Rick Rinard scored 46 points, which is the highest total scored by one player. The final score was 68 to 11. The Greens were never in the game.

EHS Has Visitor From Brazil

The Eastside High School community has a unique guest for three months, Carlos Pereira of Santas, Brazil. A 16 year old junior, Carlos is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parshall, 520 North Elm Street in Butler, during the Brazilian summer vacation. He is auditing junior courses at Eastside High School. He demonstrates a strong interest in math and science, and has expressed the intention of studying medicine.

Having left Brazil during the heat wave there, and arriving in Indiana during the recent cold snap, Carlos has adjusted well to the dramatic change in climate. Following his stay in our state, he will briefly tour the eastern United States prior to returning to Brazil for his regular fall school term in March.

Central District Now Has School 'Fight'; Group Forces Board To Stop Plans; Student Echo Of Eastern Group's Plea

By The Editor

Three very interesting headlines have appeared in the Auburn "Evening Star" in recent weeks.

The first appeared on December 26, 1969, as follows: "Citizens' Group Discusses New Junior High With Board."

This was the first indication in the DeKalb Central United School District of any public response to their school board's announced intention of building a new junior high school at a cost estimated last December at $3½ million.

The December 26 story was very pointed in failing to identify those involved in the citizens' group and pointed toward creating the impression of joint good will on both sides. But the group was influential enough that the school board publicly announced it would "take no further steps" in constructing a new junior high school until further studies were made. For this they deserve commendation.

The citizens' group main objection was the increased tax burden required to carry out the board's intentions.

On January 7, 1970, the second story appeared on the matter, with the headline, "Board Slows Planning Of New School."

This story continued the "agreeable" atmosphere of the discussions, with points offered by both the group and the board. Significantly, the school board stated that the estimated cost of the junior high project was $4.6 to $5 million, representing an increase of over $1 million above the estimate given just two weeks earlier.

The citizens' group did not contest the need for proper and adequate facilities; it questioned the wisdom of proceeding with the project before a "new" tax setup might be accomplished statewide for the financing of schools.

The board continued to point out the need for better housing, what with Ashley students now using an old building. The article pointed out the board's persistence in proposing the new construction. John Martin Smith, an Auburn attorney serving as spokesman for the group, was the only member of the group who was identified.

The third headline came this week, in the January 14, 1970, issue of the county daily: "Board Shelves Plans For New Junior High."

Group Has Influence

Though no list of names is given, the identification of the citizen's group is at least made by occupation. They were: three Auburn physicians, one Auburn veterinarian, five area farmers, one Auburn attorney, the executive secretary of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, and seven Auburn and area businessmen. This group was reported to have requested the previous meetings with the school board and the request was granted.

From this citizens' group came enough influence to compel the central district school board to stop its plans for a new junior high. It did so, however, with a lengthy public statement which voiced strong disagreement with the views of the citizens' group. The board withdrew all plans, not only for junior high but also plans for additional space for junior high, high school and elementary.

It sounds as if the board has said, "If we can't have all our way; we won't do anything." It appears hurt because it has been rebuffed by a significant group of citizens from its school district.

Central Students' Challenge

Also in the January 14 issue of the county daily is a "Letter To the Editor" from two students at DeKalb Central. The students question the motivation of the citizens' group, but more significantly question the manner in which the school board handled the situation. Ron E. Diehm and Jeff L. Turner, class and school officers, ask why the public was not informed of the meetings with the select group and conclude with this telling statement:

"We agree that there should be more light shed on the subject of the feasibility of and need for a new junior high school, but we also feel that the public should be able to express its views for itself and that a handful of 'citizens' shouldn't pronounce themselves rightful representatives of that public."

Mutual Problem

The situation in the central district is not their problem alone; it also belongs to the eastern district. It is the same problem. It shows that the "little man" is disregarded, that too often it is money, not public opinion, which "talks" in public affairs.

The central patrons are now in a dilemma which an eastern group (of "little people") tried to bring to the central district's attention in the past several months. Because of the lack of publicity, the eastern group did not get its message to the central district, and now the latter is engaged in a school controversy which need not have occurred. If the eastern remonstrators had had their way, patrons of BOTH districts would have been informed of all pertinent facts concerning mutual school problems, and the public would have been given the opportunity to voice its preference. But the school boards in both districts preferred to do it their own way.

Remember? Just last August, in a public statement issued at a press conference, the central district school board said, "We don't want to get into the eastern district's school fight; we're doing too well on our own"!!!

Central Board's Haste

The sequence of events in the central district suggests that the school board proceeded with its junior high plans rather secretively during the eastern district's dispute. Because the central board had been antagonized by the superintendent of the eastern district and did not want anything to do with that public official because of his insults directed their way, they did not reveal the extent of their planning, especially costs, even when asked late last summer. However, as soon as the eastern protest group, in October of 1969, withdrew in its effort toward consolidation of the two districts, the central district, with notable speed, formed a building corporation and had rough plans plus an estimate of cost. Now, because of their hasts, they have been compelled to "back off."

High Cost Per Student

The lack of faith in the public on the part of both school boards is costing both districts, as matters now stand. The central district's high school cost something like $4.5 million, of which $3.5 million is still outstanding. The eastern district's current building program is set at $3.5 to $4 million. The central district board wants a junior high for nearly $5 million. That is a total of $13 million, roughly speaking, for junior and senior high school facilities for a total enrollment in those grades of approximately 2,650 students. That is just shy of $5,000 per student for new construction.

The protest group in the eastern district tried to get the message to the central district that this cost could be reduced by using the central high school facilities for the top three grades of high school, and constructing junior high facilities which are needed in both districts. The eastern district would have had over a half million dollars to "throw in the pot" for junior high construction, to add to the central district's cumulative fund. AND THE PLAN ELIMINATES THE NEED FOR ANOTHER HIGH SCHOOL COMPLEX!

At the root of the idea is the thought; with costs and other considerations as they are today, we can do it more efficiently through unification.

Grills' Brief Appropriate

Because both school boards ignored and ridiculed a comprehensive brief prepared by Nelson Grills in behalf of not only the eastern remonstrators but also indirectly for the patrons of the central district, citizens of both districts are now either going to pay more than necessary for needed facilities, or go without as the central district board has now decided.

The brief had to do with taxes and money to be spent, and that is exactly what has motivated the citizens' group in the central district in their current situation.

State Agencies' Failure

Far from blameless are the state agencies, from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to the Schoolhouse Planning Commission to the Commission On General Education to the State Board of Tax Commissioners and even the office of the governor. All have failed to uphold regulations and responsibilities when local circumstances have been brought to their attention. Why should it be necessary for a group, such as the eastern remonstrators, to resort to court action in seeking the protection which state regulations offer as the final public protection? Such court action only answered legal technicalities, not dollars and cents tax burdens.

Suggested Possible Procedure

Although work is underway in the eastern district on its construction program, it would appear fruitful for both districts to officially and jointly discuss the situation, to call a halt to the eastern district's current program. Though money has been spent thus far, it seems less expensive to write off such expenditures as a loss and make the change necessary—consolidation—to pool resources and problems for everyone's benefit. This would cost less than to continue construction of a high school which is not only unnecessary but also poorly located.

This is what the citizens' group in the eastern district has suggested for consideration in the past several months. It sought, as the central students suggest, public participation in a review of all circumstances.

We don't need a total cessation of school expansion. We do need continued efforts to overcome mutual problems. We do need a continued effort by the central district's citizens' group—and the school boards of both districts to come down off their high horses!

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

We arrived just barely in time for the pledge to the flag and table grace. Howard Timmerman had to come around between courses to collect for the price of the meal.

President Harold Curie requested Johnny Mason to stand, then he announced, "This is Johnny Mason, our newest member, and he has his 1970 dues paid, and that is more than I can say about most of our older members." Wasn't that tactful (if tactful is the right word to describe it)?

Mr. Curie then reported that January is Founders' Month, so he asked our two remaining Founding Fathers, Cliff Billow and Willard Hurni, to stand and be recognized.

Present at our meeting were 23 regular members and two visitors, trooper Lester Carpenter and Wayne Koch. We appreciate the loyalty of members who come for portions of the meeting, even though they may miss parts because of other commitments. When I say "we," I do not include our tail-twister, who recognizes this as an example to levy a fine.

Willard Hurni gave a three-minute speech on the Headquarters Staff of Lions International. He reported that the headquarters are at Chicago, that it is a non-profit corporation, that the purpose is community and humanitarian business, that the Lions have 1 billion men working (200) of which are full-time workers at or out of Chicago headquarters), that all of those 200 full-time men are of the highest executive ability.

We of the St. Joe Club are happy to think that, while we are just a little cog in that great big machine, we are a well-oiled part and are working O. K.

President Curie then called on Willard Maxwell to report on our liability insurance. Willard reported that we, being an active Lions Club, are automatically insured in the Royal Globe Insurance Co. and that this insurance covers us for $1000 on injuries when working on Lions projects, on participants in sporting events, food poisoning, etc., if the Lions are held responsible.

Harold Kagey, our chairman of the Scouting Committee, made some remarks about the local scout troop, then introduced assistant scoutmaster Wayne Koch. Mr. Koch gave high praise to Scoutmaster Walter Drake. He reported that he and Mr. Drake were going to overhaul the school bus donated to the troop by Maxton Motors of Butler. The troop requested that the Lions Club take the title to the bus and pay the insurance and a few other incidentals to the amount of $102. The club immediately voted the budgeted amount of $100, and Mr. Hurni threw in the other $2.

Howard Timmerman then introduced the speaker of the evening, trooper Lester Carpenter, who gave an illustrated lecture on the use of narcotics in public schools. He reported that there is some use in each of the DeKalb County High Schools, but he hastened to add that the amount is light. He explained how the habit grows on the individual user and the resulting influence on the user. He told of one school, somewhere in the U. S., where 85% of the students had experimented with dope or knew where they could get the dope. It would seem that starting on drugs is just about the same thing as starting on the way to the cemetery or a mental institution. He stated that only 3% of drug users ever really get cured, and even the cure is a terrible experience.

We used to think that being an alcoholic, a wino, or just a drunk was bad, but this drug thing is much worse.

Making the general public (that's you, me, our families, friends, and especially the younger generation) aware of the danger is perhaps the best way to fight this new tragedy. Trooper Carpenter and others like him are available to tell your group about this subject.

HOWARD L. McMAKEN
Saint Joe Ph.337-2854

Swaying on a limb outside my kitchen, a bird flapped his sleek black wings and curved his throat in a burst of pure beauty.

"Watch out!" I wanted to cry. For over by the woodpile Tabby crouched, carved in predatory silence. Stone-like she stared, as the bird warbled, and even after the songster flashed off in a streak, she sat impassively.

How like our Tabby we humans sometimes are. Caught in the frenzy of making a living, stalemated with problems, we look indifferently at our world. Forgetting that God reveals Himself in simple ways, we overlook the laughter of a child, the smile of a stranger, and the flaming colors of our landscape.

Your church can show you how to find joy in life again. Within its fellowship you can learn the happiness which comes from loving God and serving Him.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met at 12 noon January 13, 1970, in the home of Sarah Amstutz for a delicious chicken-and-biscuit, salad, and Dutch apple pie lunch.

Following the good eats, the president, Inez Smith, called the meeting to order. All repeated the Club Collect. For devotions, Bernicee Wilder gave a biography of her favorite character of women in the Bible — Jochebed, the mother of Moses.

Roll call was answered by each telling whether she received what she really wanted for Christmas. Some did and some did not. Then came the report of the Council meeting and discussion of lesson topics for the year. Committee appointments will appear in our new program booklets as soon as they are received, as will the names of those who will attend the lesson sessions.

The president announced a meeting for club leaders to be held at Platner's Steak House on January 15.

A card from Harriet Hood, who is wintering in Florida, was read. Our group wrote short notes to Mrs. Marvel Kesler and to Mrs. Hood, to be sent on by Bernicee Wilder.

Since reports of our meetings are to be sent to the Evening Star and the Saint Joe News, Mrs. Wilder moved that the reporter be allowed $1.44 for postage. The motion was seconded and carried.

For our February 10 meeting, the group voted to take a sack lunch and visit the Newport House in Harlan, Indiana, where notions, varieties, and some antiques are for sale and viewing.

Those present today were Mrs. Inez Smith, Mrs. Marie Ward, Mrs. Bernicee Wilder, Mrs. Mary Rutherford, Mrs. Gladys Hart, Mrs. Sarah, Amstutz, and Miss Ida Reed.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB —Loretta Musser, reporter

The Ladies' Literary Club held their Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Forrest Bevington, December 17, 1969 at 6:30 p.m. The guests enjoyed a bountiful dinner.

For entertainment, there was a movie, "Silent Night," carols were sung, and a gift exchange was held.

The committee for the evening was Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Mrs. Lela Northrup, and Mrs. Russell Snyder.

On January 7, 1970, Mrs. Robert Musser was hostess to the Ladies', Literary Club. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, president, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and the members repeated the collect and the pledge to the flag.

The lesson given by Mrs. Russell Snyder about Women of the Bible was very interesting and highlighted women from the Old and New Testaments.

The entertainment was directed by Lela Northrup, who conducted a word game, read thoughts on the new year, and had each member tell of their resolutions for the new year. After a short business meeting, hostess served refreshments. the club was adjourned and the

The Greens were not able to floor five players, which meant that their team lost to the Reds by forfeit. This did not dampen the spirit of the ten boys present for the first game. Two make-up teams were chosen, and the Roberts beat the Conleys 24 to 21.

The second game of the morning pitted the Blues against the Orange team. The Blues learned how to slow the scoring of Rick Rinard, but too late in the game. The Orange team won by a score of 22-18.

Did you know—

—that a carload of nitrogen fertilizer rolled off the end of the spur at the Rainbow Farm Center last Friday afternoon. A crane crew placed it back on the track Saturday. Trains were slowed to 10 mph to clear the tilted railroad car.

—that the Spencerville Community Club will hold an important meeting Thursday, January 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Building.

—that Mrs. Mary Baker was transferred from DeKalb Memorial Hospital to Glen Oaks last Saturday.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker and children visited the C. E. Bakers and Charles Timmermans at West Otter Lake over the holidays. They have recently returned to their home in Washington, D. C.

—that the Cub Scout Pack meeting will be held Thursday, January 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Spencerville United Methodist Church.

—that Thomas L. Zook, chairman of the practical arts department of DeKalb Central High School, has been named to a three-year term on the Northeast Region board of trustees of Indiana Vocational College. Zook will represent vocational education on the seven-member board. Ivy Tech's Northeast Region includes Adams, Allen, DeKalb, Huntington, LaGrange, Noble, Steuben, Wells, and Whitley Counties.

—that measurement service should be requested now for farms which will be signed up in the wheat or feed grain programs, according to Max Hefflev, chairman of the DeKalb Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. He urged farmers who plan to request the measurement service not to wait until sign-up time (February 2-March 20) to do so. "If they get their requests in now," he said, "farmers have much better assurance of getting measurement service at a time when it will do them the most good. The service may well save expenses for farmers."

—that a two-day training program will be held at East Noble High School for people interested in training to become teachers in future Vocational Education Programs. There will be no charge for the course. The course will be completed in 15 clock hours. The requirements are: a high school diploma and a minimum of five years' experience in the field it is desired to teach. The class will be held in Room 164 at East Noble High School at 9:00 a.m. Monday, January 26 and at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, January 27.

—that Ray Laub, 64, of Butler died Sunday at DeKalb Memorial Hospital of a heart attack.

—that 15 to 20 students at DeKalb Central High School were suspended for long hair Monday at the beginning of finals week for semester grading. Enforcement of the school's "dress code" prompted the suspensions, and it appeared that most of the students would comply with the rule.

—that Auburn Postmaster Buster L. Hetrick, 61, died Monday at Souder Hospital in Auburn. He had been in failing health for the past year.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stiver of Saint Joe are parents of an 8-lb. 9½-oz. son born Friday at DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

—that Ted Voirol of Saint Joe was dismissed last week from DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

—that the Butler Rest Home has been granted a license to operate for another year. It had previously been announced that the home was among several which did not get state approval. Improvements in the home are planned for the coming year.

—that C. Earl Casebere, 54, of Butler died Friday at DeKalb Memorial Hospital 12 hours after admittance.

X. Power steering.

XI. Chassis bidder delivery responsibility -- The successful chassis bidder will be responsible for delivery of the chassis to the successful body company.

XII. Coordination for road speeds -- The engine, the transmission, and the differential shall be so matched as to allow 60 mph at somewhere around 3800 rpm in direct gear, loaded, and on a hard surface, level road, and so as to allow 40 mph to 45 mph at somewhere around 3000 rpm in fourth (4th) gear under like load and road conditions.

Special condition for the bid: If any of the additional specifications as listed herein should be in conflict with "Bulletin No. 267, School Bus Standards, Indiana State School Bus Committee," effective August 1, 1967, as being less than State Specifications, then "Bulletin No. 267" shall dictate said specifications.

ST. JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB —Pat Roberts, reporter

The St. Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Cora Funk January 16, 1970. Eight members were present.

The meeting was called to order by the president with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Madonna Wade stressing the need to keep our faith like that of a child. Devotions were closed with the group praying the Lord's Prayer.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser, and the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" was led by Edith Sailor.

A thank-you card was read from the Christmas Seal Chairman for the money we had sent them. Gertrude Borthwick, Mary Baker, and Huldah Reasoner also send thanks for being remembered while they were ill.

Myrtle Pugsley was unanimously elected treasurer. The new officers were read the club rules, and installation of officers followed. The new president then took the chair and conducted the remaining business.

After the close of the meeting the Social Hour was spent making out our year books. The hostess served a lunch, and we all thanked her for being the past year's president and for the good job she did.

dream castles

Scriptures selected by the American Bible Society

Deep inside each person, where no one can see, stands a dream castle. The nature of it varies according to one's character and personality. An artist may dream of creating a masterpiece—not yet painted—which will inspire many people. Another person may see a vision of how he can make life happier for others.

Everyone must believe in his dream in order to go forward with patience.

Jesus hoped that the world would hear His message through the uneducated fishermen He chose as His close companions. He did not give up His dream that the disciples would carry on His work . . . even when they argued over places of honor in heaven . . . or when Peter denied any connection with Him.

His dream came true. Showing courage and faith, this small group of twelve grew through centuries into today's worldwide congregation of millions.

You will find inspiration and help for your dreams of spiritual accomplishment when you attend the church of your choice.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The flu bug and 18 points broke a two-way tie for the league standing between the Orange and Red teams. The flu bug kept Mike Mansfield and Paul Roberts of the Reds from playing. Rick Rinard of the Orange team scored the 18 points. He was helped by the 12 points of Larry McKown. The final score was 36-10 in favor of the Orange team.

The second game found Bruce Laub and Leo Carper teaming up for many easy shots. Bruce Laub was high in the scoring with 12 points. The final score was 25 points for the Blues and 10 points for the Greens. Rick Conley was high scorer for the Greens.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted, January 22, 1970

I have enclosed a check for $4.00. This should cover the paper for 1969 and those issues I have received up until this time in 1970. I believe I am paid up through 1968.

I would like for you to discontinue sending it as it has been a long time since I have lived there, and many names in the paper are completely strange to me now.

This is certainly nothing personal as I very much respected the way you stand up for the way you feel about some of the issues regarding or concerning all of the people in the area, such as the controversy over the location of the new school. I hope you continue to serve the community in this way.

Thank you,
Carolyn Cormier

Savings Interest Rate Raised

On the 21st day of January, 1970, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System amended Regulation Q which sets the maximum rate of interest that member banks may pay on time deposits.

As a result of this action, The Knisely National Bank of Butler announced it will pay the new higher interest rate on passbook savings and on Certificates of Deposit up to the limit set by law. Passbook savings will earn 4½% (up from 4%) retroactive to January 1, 1970.

New Certificates of Deposit will earn at rates as follows:

MATURITY	RATE
90 days or more but less than 1 year ($1,000.00 minimum)	5%
One year or more but less than two years ($1,000.00) minimum)	5½%
Two years or more ($1,000.00 minimum)	5¾%
One year or more ($100,000.00 minimum)	7½%

The Knisely National Bank of Butler is happy to announce these new rates in keeping with its policy of paying the highest interest allowable by law.

GOP Lincoln Dinner Feb. 11

With two major speakers set to appear, DeKalb County Republicans are preparing for the February 11 Lincoln Day Dinner to be held in the DeKalb Central High School cafeteria. Out of 48 counties now planning for such an observance, the local GOP organization is the only one with two major dignitaries scheduled to appear.

Fourth District Congressman E. Ross Adair and Indiana State Treasurer John K. Snyder will be the guest speakers at the smorgasbord rally which will start at 6:30 p.m. The program is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Lincoln administration was the first to organize an effective precinct level of politics. The Lincoln Day celebration gives local precinct leaders an opportunity to begin their grass-roots campaign.

The executive committee for the event includes Norman L. Gerig, chairman; Grace Phelps, vice chairman; Carmlyn Stahl, decorations; Herman Collins, tickets; Ralph Myers, hospitality; Joan Knepper, tables; Wayne Sebert, treasurer; and Dean Kruse, county chairman.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

Mostly, we meet as a dinner club at 6:30 p.m. at the Spencerville Methodist Church fellowship room. The score for the meals would average par for the course, and I hasten to add that we usually have a three-course meal. But this time, because of the salad bar and especially because of the three bean salad dishes on that table, I am going to score it three under par. Since this golf scoring method might be confusing to some non-golfers, we might change it to good, better, and best. Now, since their average meal is good, it would naturally follow that if they added a bean salad dish, that would make it better; then if they added a second, it would make the score best; but they had a third dish, so what would that be? What makes it still more confusing is that when you taste each one of those salads, you're ready to swear that it is better than the other two.

Before the meal, someone put a large Lions Club paper bib on Johnnie Mason and instructed him to wear it continuously until he had it autographed by every Lion present. Shortly after dinner, Jim Kline took Johnnie to the front, and after instructing him in Lionism and listening to him pledge to be a good, faithful, and diligent member, he pinned him; that is, he pinned a new Lions pin on Johnnie's lapel, and declared him to be a full fledged Lion.

President Curie reported that the next meeting will be Ladies' Night, and will be held February 9, at Plattner's.

Bob Wilder discussed the youth exchange program. He said we have $300 in our budget for it; also that some clubs could still send youths to France, Belgium, or Sweden, but that we are late now to make arrangements and that our budgeted amount is just about one half enough to pay the transportation. He says we should remember this next year and start working on it early.

Gene Cassbere reported on his visit to the Honolulu Lions Club while he was in Hawaii. He neglected to report if this trip was a second honeymoon, a reward for outstanding work on his Surge Milking Machine job, or just another vacation. Gene says that, advertised in advance in the newspapers, the meetings are luncheon (noon) meetings, very informal. The visitors are registered as they arrive, told to get in line, fill their plates at the smorgasbord, pay their bills, are seated, and begin their meal. All of this is in the same room with all of the regular restaurant guests. When the Lions had all arrived, the president of the club came on the loud-speaker system and called on another individual for prayer, following which the meal was continued. This was a very typical meeting for the club which had 31 members present and 36 registered guests who were from almost everywhere, 17 states and British Columbia. They used a microphone hookup with three loud speakers to conduct the meeting, and Gene said he really had to listen to hear the Lions speakers above the regular conversations. Gene said, "Their tail-twister was a character." Cliff Billow shipped in with, "They don't have anything on us there."

Lehr Wilder gave a very short talk on the Post Office Department, then Lavon Hart showed a film, "Rivers of Mail," that Wayne Storer had borrowed from the Post Office Department.

Visitors at the meeting were the Storer brothers, Mike and Jerry, Eli Parker, and Gaylord Davis.

Eli Parker of the East Allen County club gave a list of things Davis had done and Lion offices he had held. It seems that Davis has done everything and held about all of the Lion offices clear up to the District Governor and now Parker is promoting him for that job. Yes, we have politics in the Lions Club also.

Gaylord Davis gave a short address and encouraged us to go to the next District Convention which will be held April 12 at Concordia Senior College. He is an enthusiastic speaker and yet just an ordinary person who works at the Harvester Company. He has even convinced me that I should go to that convention if at all possible.

The Heartbeat

of DeKalb Memorial Hospital

By Ginny Nixon

Lots of goods news slipped through unreported while I was busy "researching" hospitals in Southern Indiana—from the inside! But now I can tell you personally all about electroencephalograms, ECHO encephalograms, x-rays, blood tests and spinal taps - UGH! For lots of drama with pain of short duration, viral encephalitis is the thing to have!

Congratulations to Mr. Fred Laub on his election to the presidency of the board of directors.

One item that seems to be causing a little confusion in the community is the hospital's policy on outpatient diagnostic work, that is, tests ordered from your doctor's office. These include blood tests, urinalyses and x-rays used in diagnosis.

Because of the complexities of the hundreds of different insurance companies, and the variance in benefits of all these companies, the hospital will not accept an insurance assignment on diagnostic x-ray or laboratory examinations. These services must be paid for at the time of the exams. However, the patient will receive a statement to present to his insurance company so he can be reimbursed.

These x-ray and lab services are distinctly different from emergency room services. The hospital always shall continue to furnish service in the emergency room and x-rays for accident patients FIRST and inquire about payment after the patient care has been completed. This procedure of the board of directors is not a reflection upon any insurance company. It is necessary because often either the patient does not know what benefits his policy provides, or the policy has a deductible clause and the hospital cannot determine the status of the benefits.

This system of handling the outpatient diagnostic exams has resulted in a $5,000.00 a year savings in labor and bad debt loss to the hospital.

I hear the pre-Christmas toy sale at the Curiosity Shop was a huge success. Homes were found for about 300 stuffed animals, 50 dolls, shelves full of games, gobs of toys, ice skates, roller skates, skate boards and even four golf bags for big children, four artifical trees and lots of Christmas decorations. Remember it's an ANNUAL event!

Guild members, and especially Irene Bisel, Fran Allison and Betty Bucker (all past presidents), are busy making plans for the Northeast Area Convention of Hospital Guilds and Auxiliaries. Hosted here in Auburn this April will be all of the hospitals of the Northeast District of Indiana.

By the way, if you are a registered nurse and you could work part time, even for a few months, there are patients at DeKalb Memorial in need of your services. There is an acute shortage. Mention it to your friends who are nurses.

SPENCERVILLE BOY SCOUT TROOP 172
—Wayne Koch, Secretary

Troop 172, despite the bad weather, entered two patrols in the Klondike Derby held at Chain-O-Lakes State Park Saturday, January 17. Both patrols, the Eagle and the Wolf, completed the course satisfactorily. This was a 5-mile obstacle type course over very rough terrain.

Each patrol pulled a home-made Yukon type dog sled loaded with all the gear and food necessary for an overnight camp, including extra clothing and bad weather gear.

At various checkpoints, they were given a Scouting exercise such as fire starting, signaling, rescuing, first aid, etc. At each station they were graded as to ability and time.

Troop 172 was in competition with many other groups from the entire Pokagon District and both patrols were given the Award of Merit and Honor.

Those participating were Ed and Don Shilling, Dennis and Keith Meichi, Raymond and Dennis Drake, Jerry Markle, Richard Kagey, Jack Allen, Tom Dwyer, Rick and Randy Chappell, Loren Fisher and David Koch.

BOARD MEETING

Those present were Harold Kagey, board chairman, and subchairmen Robert Camp, Jim Shilling, Lynn Fisher, Frank Amstutz, Richard Drake and Wayne Koch. Board member Glen Moore was also present.

Visitors sitting in on the meeting were Jim Dwyer and Jerry Fischer who joined in on a discussion on incorporating the Weblos' meeting in with the Troop 172 meeting each Monday evening at 7:00 p.m. at the Spencerville Community Club Hall.

All agreed that these dual meetings would be beneficial to both groups. The Senior Scouts could assist the Weblos leader and gain experience in leadership. Jerry Markle was chosen as the most likely prospect for this duty at this time.

The Weblos will also benefit by being able to observe and become interested in the activities of the Boy Scouts and, as they reach age 11, can enter Scouting with a possible immediate Tenderfoot rank.

The meeting was brought to order by Chairman Harold Kagey.

Reports by committee members were as follows:

Mr. Lynn Fisher reported that he will contact Maxton Motors and have the bus titled in the name of the Saint Joe-Spencerville Lions Club in the near future. He is also investigating the procurement of two large tents which will be needed in the near future.

Chairman Kagey, in the absence of Mr. Max Markle, made a finance report. After allocating sufficient monies for procuring a life raft, the troop still has approximately $100.00 remaining in the treasury.

Secretary Wayne Koch, after meeting with the Lions Club at their luncheon, reported that the club agreed unanimously to title the bus in their name and insure it. The Lions Club also agreed to pay for the troop registry. These expenditures came to $102.00.

Mr. Shilling reported that the job of caring for White City Cemetery will be given to the troop. Approximately seven mowings will be necessary per year and it should be trimmed for Decoration Day. However, the question of insurance on the boys came up and this will be investigated by Scoutmaster Richard Drake.

There are a few items on this project that still need to be agreed to, such as maintenance of equipment. Mr. Camp reported no problems of transportation at this time, but he would need help on Saturday the 17th to transport the troop to the Klondike Derby. Help was made available for this.

Chairman Kagey proposed that a committee member be chosen to guide and record advancement of the individual Scouts. A volunteer for this position would be welcomed. He should be familiar with Scouting.

Scoutmaster Drake announced that the troop was allotted 25 tickets to the Komet hockey game January 21.

Mr. Amstutz has received permission from Mrs. Kraft to clear up the river banks near the covered bridge at Spencerville as a joint community service project of the Lions Club and Scout Troop 172. There will be a joint meeting of the Lions and Scouts on this matter in the near future.

Chairman Kagey proposed that a committeeman be set up for promotion of membership in the near future. This position should also be filled by someone familiar with Scouting.

The litter barrel project should be completed by the next committee meeting.

The next committee meeting will be held February 23 at 8:00 p.m. at the Spencerville Community Hall. Anyone interested in filling the above mentioned positions is invited to attend.

The meeting adjourned by motion of Richard Drake and seconded by Ed Shilling at 9:10 p.m.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana, Thursday, February 5, 1959 — NUMBER 6

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

With Scout Week to be observed February 8-14, it is appropriate to think for a moment in thanks for the men and women who give of their time to serve as leaders for Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts. Without such adult devotion the Scout program would not exist.

In the Cub Scout organization, Jerry Flesher is serving as Cubmaster for the local pack and is obviously very interested in the development of the character of the boys in the community. You need only to attend a pack meeting to be witness to his charm and, to see the boys in action across terms which they are out of line and challenges them to live up to their pledge.

But the real core of Cub Scouts lies in the women who serve as den mothers carrying the burden of weekly den meetings with the help from time to time each week by others in completing the many projects for advancement. In this respect the parents are a vital element, too, because much of the work in record in the achievements is dependent upon Mom and Dad and their interest in their own cub.

Boy Scouting gets nowhere without good Scoutmasters. And the two Scout troops, one at Saint Joe and the other at Spencerville, are fortunate to have the able leadership of Frank Seehler and Richard Drake, plus their assistants such as Wayne Koch, Jim Dwyer, Don Seehler, John Seehler and Clarence Rinard.

Troop adult committees are vital, too, and should not be forgotten.

So, during the coming Scout Week, hats off and a "thank you" to the men and women who devote so much time to our Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Roland (Carol) Minson of Woodland Hills, California, sent a note last week asking for the obituary on Martha Ann Callender Woodcox, published back in 1936. Mrs. Woodcox was born in 1847 and died in January of 1936.

When I dug out the requested information, I noticed the ads in the January 16, 1936, issue, including one for J. R. Goldsmith's Home Store. The Friday and Saturday specials included tomatoes at 25c for three number 2 cans, lettuce at 15c for two large heads, hamburger at 13⅓c a pound, all steaks at 23c a pound, and beef roasts at 17c a pound.

Fred Ulm pointed out an error in the names listed under that big photo a couple of weeks ago showing students at the Coburn Corners school back in 1907. The young lady identified as "Grace" Place should have been "Grace" Place. Evidently I misread the writing and thought the "G" was a "G."

Benefit Bake Sale By Saint Joe Troop For Spencerville Troop

Members of Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop 173 will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, February 14, at the News Office in Saint Joe. Proceeds will be given to the Spencerville Boy Scout Troop 172 to help replace equipment lost in the Community Building fire.

Fire Destroys Spencerville Community Building

A birdseye view of the Spencerville Community Building on the morning after the fire which destroyed the structure. The upper right hand corner is the front of the building.

A view of the rear section of the building, also as a bird sees it. A fuel tank which exploded during the fire is visible at the top center of the photo.

A closeup view of the front area of the basement, showing the remaining floor supports and several steel chairs standing as they were when the fire broke out. A haze still drifts over the ruins.

Fire destroyed the Spencerville Community Building early Saturday morning, causing losses in building and equipment estimated at $40,000.00. Six fire fighting units fought the blaze, including those from Spencerville, Saint Joe, Grabill, Auburn, Butler and Cedar Canyons.

Flames scorched the south wall of an adjacent rental property owned by Lyan Fisher of Spencerville causing unestimated damage. Flames also threatened St. Peter Lutheran Church located across the road from the Community Building. Witnesses stated that the flames encircled the church steeple, but the church building apparently suffered no extensive damage.

During the fire, a furnace fuel tank, located in the basement, exploded and sent a big fireball high in the sky. The tank had been filled just last week.

Tanks of bottled gas, located at the rear of the building, were removed to prevent additional explosions. The sheriff's department evacuated nearby residences due to the danger of explosions.

The fire apparently was due to faulty wiring in the building, flames first seen in the northeast section of the building where electrical service was located. The club had just held a special meeting last Thursday to plan the re-wiring of the building. Several fuses were reported to have blown recently and the need for new electrical service was recognized.

It is reported that insurance coverage amounted to $10,000 on the building and $2,000 on contents.

The Saint Joe Lions Club had used the building for several years to store its fair tent and framework, plus other supplies. Harold Curie, president of the Lions Club, reported that all they had left was coffeemakers and plastic cups which had been taken to Lions Camp Mack.

The Spencerville Boy Scout Troop also suffered the loss of tents and other equipment stored in the basement of the old building.

An interesting background is connected with the old building which burned last week end. Back in 1919 a stock company was organized by those who recognized the need for a public gathering place in the Spencerville community. The lower and basement were completed in 1920.

Information contained in the "History of Spencerville" by the late Dr. Willis W. Carey, published in 1952, plus other information from Bricks Erick of Spencerville, indicates that the group had difficulty in meeting its financial obligations on the building thereafter and it became somewhat of a "white elephant." It was then turned over to the township trustee for school purposes.

The building then served the school and community for many years, with Spencerville High School basketball teams playing their home games on the basketball court on the main floor. The gym and basement were also used for other community activities as well.

After the consolidation of the Concord, Newville and Spencer townships into a single school corporation in the mid 1950's, the school board advertised the building for sale on bids. The Community Club entered a bid of $225.00 along with one other private bid. The school board rejected both bids and set another bid date. The board then sold the building to Argil Richmond in June of 1958 for $675.00.

Community Club members fought the sale, filing a suit in March of 1959 seeking to nullify the sale. The group contended that the property had never been legally transferred from the original stockholders to the trustee and therefore was not the property of the school corporation.

The matter was soon settled with the payment of some $1,100.00 by the Community Club for Mr. Richmond's interests plus legal expenses which were incurred.

For the past ten years, the building had been used extensively for public recreation, club fish fries and carnivals, dancing and twirling lessons, organization meetings and so on.

The Spencerville Community Club has been and still is an active element in the community life of Spencerville and Spencer Township.

Undaunted Club Members Plan To Rebuild

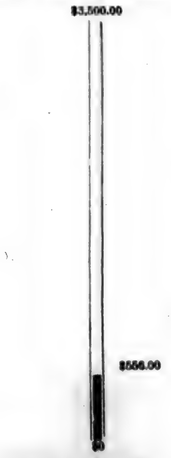
$3500 Needed For Protest Expenses

Donations come in from time to time toward payment of the legal debt incurred by the citizens group in behalf of local education.

There is a long way to go, however, to meet the obligation. $556.00 has been donated thus far toward the goal of $3,500.00.

Checks and cash in the amounts of $5, $10, $20, $25, $30 and $50 are among the most recent contributions.

Donations may be given to Ivan Brown, Connie Hollabaugh, Harold Kagey, Dick and Paula Roberts, Lora Hart, Forrest and Betty Bevington, Vic Timmerman and Lavon Boylan. They may also be sent to the News Office. Checks should be made out to "Nelson Grills Fund."



GOP Lincoln Dinner Feb. 11

With two major speakers set to appear, DeKalb County Republicans are preparing for the February 11 Lincoln Day Dinner to be held in the DeKalb Central High School cafeteria. Out of 48 counties now planning for such an observance, the local GOP organization is the only one with two major dignitaries scheduled to appear.

Fourth District Congressman R. Ross Adair and Indiana State Treasurer John K. Snyder will be the guest speakers at the smorgabord rally which will start at 6:30 p.m. The program is set for 7:30 p.m.

The Lincoln administration was the first to organize an effective precinct level of politics. The Lincoln Day celebration gives local precinct leaders an opportunity to begin their grass roots campaign.

The executive committee for the event includes Norman L. Gerig, chairman; Grace Phelps, vice chairman; Carolyn Stahl, decorations; Herman Collins, tickets; Ralph Myers, hospitality; Joan Knepper, tables; Wayne Sebert, treasurer; and Dean Kruse, county chairman.

Tickets are available at the News Office and from Robert Wilder.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The flu bug may get some of us down, but the flu bug is no reason to stop Indiana's madness. The Saturday Junior League basketball went off on schedule.

Mr. Dunson, our excellent sixth grade teacher, with the aid of Doug Shockley, Jake Fetters and Bing Bevington, guided the eager players through two games.

The Greens, with the help of the flu bug, took the Orange boys 24 to 7. This was a mild upset.

The second game found the Reds winning over the Blues 21 to 10. This game should have been a toss up, but again the flu bug was the culprit that made the difference.

In the standing of league play, we find the Red and Orange teams tied with eight victories, the Blues with four victories and the Greens with two victories.

Lt. Col. Harry C. Fisher, Jr., Commanding Officer of the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station at Indianapolis, has issued a reminder to young men who are about to be drafted, or who have already received their draft notices. These young men may still take advantage of the Army's many liberal enlistment options, the officer said.

He explained, "The Army has many special enlistment options including the 'choose-it-yourself' program. This particular program offers young men who have a high school education a chance to actually pick out their own field of endeavor from many career groups.

"Even after a young man has received his draft notice, he is still eligible to enlist before he reports for induction. He should visit an Army recruiting station and inquire about his chance of enlisting for one of the Army options most suitable to him and for which he qualifies."

The local Army recruiting station is located at 118 W. Mitchell Street in Kendallville.

SPECIAL CONVOCATION

The Caldwells will present a convocation at Eastside High School Friday, Februnry 6, at 10:30 a.m. for the student body.

The Caldwells are a 14-member musical ensemble from Columbus, Ohio. They present an action-packed concert appropriately called "Music For Young America." Their purpose is to promote renewed faith in God and country. Their musical styling is contemporary. They use popular music, professional choreography and patriotic emphasis to entertain and communicate.

Their programming includes high school assemblies, concerts, fairs and festivals, military bases, television and recordings. Their high school assembly schedule alone will take them more than 50,000 miles this year to place them before 150,000 teenagers.

Paul Caldwell is the pace-setter for this talented troupe. His musical background and training have given him the solid technical foundation on which to build his colorful and inventive style of music. He has an unusual ability to capture in sound the emotional impact that each song possesses.

They have just released a new LP album, "It's Time To Hear the Caldwells."

Now, in "the quiet years," he has a chance to put the finishing touches on that schooner. When a man's working with his hands, he has time for some thinking, for some looking back.

Our aged friend has a good many years to look back over—some of them good, some bad. But, through all of them, there's been one steady, continuing force, like a thread of steel woven through the pattern of his life.

This force has been the thread of faith—a faith that is sustained and strengthened when a man devotes great time and energy to the Church and its mission.

Now in "the quiet years" he can look back over what has been—he can rejoice because he is able to review a life full of devotion.

You see, it is all-important to be able to review the right kind of life. Don't wait. Start going to church now.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Maybe you get confused last week, as Esther did, when I ran the school calendar and did not indicate that it was for the 1970-71 school year and not for the current session. Mark was all set to have February 11 afternoon off.

Having been engaged one day last week in dumping drain compounds down the bathroom sink and plunging repeatedly to get the water to run out, a mailing received thereafter was appropriate. It's sorta like giving a free commercial, but since water pollution is so much in the news today, the message is worth listening to.

August Neuman of "Sink Master" in Detroit, Michigan, described his hand-operated high pressure force pump to open drains, thus eliminating the pollution of rivers and streams due to the poisonous chemicals used in commercial drain-opening compounds.

He says the unit is 14 inches long and weighs a pound. It has a 10-inch stroke and is capable of building up a 60 to 80 lb. pressure. A plunger has only a one inch stroke.

A $5 bill will get you one of the units, with a money-back guarantee if you aren't satisfied.

The mailing address is P.O. Box 06160, Detroit, Michigan 48205.

—No, I'm not getting any commission.

I see where Ringo Starr made the headlines with his declaration that everyone should get off "pot," that drugs are "a bad scene."

I suppose his word will be heeded by many admirers, and they will be convinced that drugs are bad because Ringo said so.

What makes us old fuddy duddies peeved is that we said the same thing a long time ago, but it didn't mean anything. That's the frustration of old age.

Did you see the item where a guy in Houston was practicing his fast draw. His wife, naked, sneaked up behind and said boo. He whirled and shot her in the chest.

—I don't know—it seems like there's a message there, but I don't know what it is.

Phil and I had some fun Saturday. We had run out of news print last week and couldn't get the proper size to replace it. So, we were late in getting all of the papers run off—then forgot Saturday morning that Saint Joe rural route had not been taken to the post office. So, we hopped in the squareback and made door to door delivery of about 75 per cent of the route subscribers.

Some of them got a kick out of it.

We wish to thank everyone for the help given at the Community Building fire in removing our household goods from our apartment.

Much credit for the success of the contest is due to the parents who gave so freely of their time Saturday to work in the cafeteria, and also to those who donated food. It was a tremendous job carried off in excellent fashion, and the music department is grateful to all of the parents and students who helped in any way.

In the vocal contest held at Bishop Luers High School in Fort Wayne, the following ratings were given:

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The meeting was at Plattners.

President Curie took it as a foregone conclusion but did let us vote to continue our fair concession and our ice cream social. He then appointed Billow, Hart and Keeler as a committee to work on fair equipment and encouraged every Lion to stay for the executive meeting February 23.

Lion Kagey reported that it would cost the Spencerville Scout Troop $800.00 to replace the equipment that they lost in the fire. They have since received $128.00 for the iron and copper that went through the fire and they are already planning some other money-making projects.

Lion Fisher reported, "The assets of the Lions Club now consist of two coffee urns and one ice cream freezer."

Johnnie Mason had his autographed bib with him but forgot to put it on. He had a lot of advice but did manage to pin his wife, Opal, at her initiation.

Lion Bill Staman introduced his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Church, and we do hope that they enjoyed themselves and liked us.

Lion Lavon Hart presented the President of "Lionesses Anonymous" with a copy of Playboy magazine that was disguised with a Success Farming cover on it. Lavon also stated that, "Lionesses come to life at forty." Just about then in came three Lionesses and you could tell at a glance that they had really come to life. One Lioness, Lois Fisher, was dressed as a bunny with artificial rabbit ears, fuzzy bunny tail, mini skirt and all of the trimmings. She then started selling Lion decals to put on car windows to all of the Lions for ten cents each. The one I had before cost me $1.00.

Next came the rest of the fashion parade, Lioness Lois Jean Shockley and Lioness Jean Moore, with each lady wearing a dress of her own creation. Lois Jean's dress was a red and white striped design with black fringe sewed round and round and with some black trim to accent or set off the colors of the 2 inch wide brilliantly colored stripes. Maybe it wasn't a ballroom gown after all; maybe it was a 1899 vintage of a bathing suit with a wrap around skirt. Her rouge and makeup job was a wee bit bright but she was beautiful.

Lioness Jean Moore's mini skirted party dress almost defies description. It was a green and white print with large red flowers and also trimmed in black. At first I thought it was a suit because the jacket and trousers were of the same material and general design. I also considered calling it a moderalized mumu because it had that tropical Hawaiian look except that instead of having a long flowing skirt it had loose fitting trousers.

Mrs. Nancy Hill, a representative of General Telephone Company, presented an illustrated lecture and demonstration on "Your Voice and You."

I won the cake but I suspect that the drawing was rigged. This was a large heart-shaped sugar frosted and decorated Valentine cake. I was going to sell pieces for ten cents each but gave that up when we tried to cut it and found that its inwards were 100 percent sponge rubber. You can cut on it and dent it and it will spring right back into shape.

On February 23, Rex Hile, Youth Exchange chairman for the district, will be our speaker. President Curie would like for all Lions to be present so that Mr. Hile can see us at our best.

We will invade the Auburn Lions Club March 9.

Town Board

Most of the discussion held at the Saint Joe Town Board's February 2 meeting centered around costs of reinstituting cathodic protection in the town's water tank. Robert Nickel of the Electro-Rustproofing Corporation presented pertinent information to assist the board in making a decision. Estimates are to be given for reinstituting the system on a manual and on an automatic basis.

Cathodic protection for the water storage tank had been utilized for many years before being discarded by the previous board in favor of periodic cleaning and painting maintenance. The cathodic protection program eliminates the need for repainting the interior of the tank.

Complaints concerning "junk" cars were reviewed, with a few instances noted of lack of cooperation by the public in removing unused cars from streets and private property. The local "junk" car ordinance prohibiting such standing vehicles is intended to serve as a means of maintaining an attractive appearance in the town.

Liability insurance on the fogger truck was priced to the board at $7.00 per month for the months the truck is in use.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town—Roger Schlegel, care of stray dogs and disposal 22.50; Dale Collins, door at fire hall 209.00; W. L. Hurni, 1969 balance on park bills 38.08; W. L. Hurni, park materials 133.40; Parker Insurance Agency, one-half clerk bond 40.00; Kenneth Roberts, snow removal streets and cemetery 25.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 20.00; Post Office, postage 6.00; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash pickup 240.00; Donald Kinsey, supplies 4.05; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, street lights 106.86; Farm Bureau Coop, fuel oil 18.58; Jiggs' Motor Service, tractor battery 26.95; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 5.98; Donald Kinsey, clerk cemetery 12.50; Indiana Association of Cities & Towns, dues 86.00.

Waterworks—Parker Insurance Agency, one-half clerk bond 40.00; Indiana Department of Revenue, corporation tax 173.21; I&M 39.39; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.36; Indiana Department of Revenue, sales tax 131.31; Lehr Wilder, stamped envelopes 73.70; Indiana Department of Revenue, merchants certificate 3.50.

Joel Tuscan has been discharged from the service and is now back home after serving his hitch.

Navy Seaman Apprentice David L. Mumma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mumma of Spencerville, is serving aboard the airfract carrier USS Midway which was recommissioned during ceresonies at San Francisco Bay Naval Shipyard.

Army PFC Elwood Curry, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Curry of Edgerton, was assigned December 11 to the 17th Cavalry at Camp Enari, Vietnam, as a supply specialist.

His wife, Jody, lives in Butler.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish in this manner to thank the Saint Joe Fire Department and the general public for their help in the fire at the Spencerville Community Hall. Also to inform the public of a meeting on Sunday, February 15, at 3 p.m. at St. Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville to replace the old community hall. Everyone welcome.

Sewage - What's A Billion $

Water pollution is everybody's problem.

Saint Joe is supposed to put in a sewage system as soon as it can, but it was about 70th on the priority list of around 140 cities and towns in Indiana last year which applied for state and federal funds. The estimated cost is around $350,000, but that will probably be higher by the time funds are available for the town.

President Nixon has started an all-out campaign in correcting our water pollution situation. He has also just submitted a budget of over $200 billion which was "pared" to the bare minimum in order to balance.

Every year the cost of government goes up by billions and I wonder how come. And I'm worse off than I was the year before. And I also wonder how a little town like Saint Joe —or rather the people in it—can afford a $350,000 obligation, even if it is for water pollution control.

Last week all these thoughts ran through my head, and I hit on the very un-Republican idea that ALL the money for water pollution control ought to come from a federal grant, since water pollution is a national responsibility. But—you know—$350,000 is a lot of money and you probably couldn't do very much on a national scale with total federal financing; it would cost too much.

Just out of curiosity's sake, to see what one lousy little billion would do, I took paper and pencil and divided $1 billion by $350,000 to see how many towns like Saint Joe could be taken care of. And I couldn't believe my eyes.

Do you know how much a billion dollars is? Well, here's one comparison that is right at home. TWO THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FIFTY-SEVEN TOWNS THE SIZE OF SAINT JOE COULD HAVE TOTAL COSTS PAID BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FOR A $350,000 SEWAGE SYSTEM FOR EACH TOWN!

I came to the conclusion that something is way out of whack in our sense of values. We are spending or have spent, what is it, $20 billion for the trip to the moon program, we're talking about more billions for trips to Mars, we're pouring, what is it, $15 to $20 billion a year into the Vietnam conflict over and above our other "defense" expenditures. But we don't have enough to purify the water here in the United States!

First things first. Let's get off the type of "welfare" and "defense" programs that lead to abuse and use tax money for true public welfare, like preserving our supply of pure water.

Think of it. A federal budget of $200 billion - and only $1 billion would take care of 2,857 Saint Joe's with complete sewage systems!

P.S.

They say that President Nixon has found out what late President Kennedy and President Johnson found out: they can't cut down on the federal bureaucracy. It's too entrenched in its own powerful system of self-sustenance. That means it will take John Q. Public to do something about it; and he ought to. With every man woman and child in the United States faced with a share of the annual budget at $1,000 a head, it is time to throw out those overlapping agencies, those government jobs which do little more than send correspondence to one another, and get down to sensible and responsible federal government. Water pollution could be taken care of and the budget cut if John Q. Public lets his tax gripes be known.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The Saturday morning Junior League found the opening game the best played game of the year. Each team made nine baskets. The difference in the score came when Bruce Laub made the only foul shot of the game. The final score was 19 to 18 in favor of the Blues.

The second game was anything but well played. Many turnovers were made by both teams. The score, 32 to 6, shows very little basketball was played. The Reds by winning are now leading in the league play.

In the Eastside FFA annual pest hunt, the following number of pests were killed:

Rats 542, pigeons 285, crows 30, mice 460, sparrows 1,943, blackbirds and starlings 226, woodchucks 29, totaling 9,352 points.

The teams were the North and South with road 8 being the dividing line.

The chapter is planning a supper where each member will bring his father and a guest.

Every Man a Philosopher

Everybody holds some view about life and its meaning. Whatever confronts us in our daily round is the substance out of which we weave our "philosophy of life."

But merely to have an isolated thought or an opinion does not help us find a foundation on which to base our entire lives. We need encouragement and guidance.

The message of the Church has been, through the ages, concerned primarily with the deeper meaning of life. It lends wisdom to those who are striving to relate themselves to the total pattern and purpose of human existence. It helps us maintain a reasonable stability amid the flux of human endeavor and events. It helps us relate the totality of all that has been, is now and ever shall be.

Let the Church help you weave these golden threads into the finished fabric of life.

Troop 172

—Wayne Koch, Reporter

The Executive Board of Troop 172, Boy Scouts of America, held an emergency meeting to discuss the possible replacement of troop equipment which was destroyed in the fire at the Spencerville Community Hall.

The loss amounted to approximately $900.00 in equipment, and all banners, ribbons and awards earned in the past, and which cannot be replaced, were also destroyed.

Mr. Max Markle, sub-chairman on Finance, reported that the troop assets were $135.00, but that $40.00 has already been committed toward other expenses, which leaves a working capital of only $95.00.

The officers of the Spencerville Community Club granted the troop permission to salvage any materials left after the fire. The troop, along with some of their fathers, worked on this last Saturday. The use of a few trucks was donated for that purpose.

Various projects were discussed to earn money to replace the lost equipment. Any suggestions by anyone in the community will be appreciated.

Anyone having a tent, cooking utensils or camp gear that they would care to donate should contact Wayne Koch at 238-45-36 for pickup. Hand axes, bow saws, shovels, etc., are also needed.

A work project on the river banks adjacent to the covered bridge at Spencerville has been proposed in place of a hike and camp-out for Saturday, February 14, and Sunday, February 15. Until equipment is replaced, especially tents, camp-outs must be cancelled.

The meeting was adjourned by Harold Kagey, Board Chairman, at 9:15 p.m.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

It isn't the kids doing it—it's the grownups.

What am I talking about? I'm talking about the grownups who park on the wrong side of the street—the main street, yet—when they come to Saint Joe. If these same people go to Butler or Auburn or Fort Wayne or what have you, do they park on the wrong side? You bet your boots they don't. Why is Saint Joe any different? The main street is paved and curbed, it has a center line and parking lines and yellow curbs, just like every other town, for traffic control. But for some reason it's different—you can break the law at Saint Joe and it's o.k., you can set a bad example for the young drivers, it's o.k.

The same kind of contempt is shown by drivers, young and old, for the stop signs here next to the News Office and across the street at the Town Hall. You can almost hear some of them say, "By God, I never had to stop at this corner before, and I'm not going to now." Slowing down is better than nothing, but some don't even do that.

It wouldn't be such a big thing if it was only once in a while. But this is going on every day. And if some smart aleck wants to put me on for being so cushy about it, he should remember that the first time somebody pulls away from the curb on the wrong side and has an accident in doing so, he's had it. Or if the car is just parked and isn't moving, but it's on the wrong side of the street and there's an accident, guess whose billfold will be thinner.

There's always a first time, and with the situation as it is, including the atrocious parking that goes on at the post office and the grocery, we've been just plain lucky there hasn't been a crumpled fender—or child!

Cheer up, men, it may not be as bad as it has sounded.

In the face of style changes shown in the last few weeks by the big shots in the fashion world, taking the short skirts away and putting hemlines 'way below the knees of our womenfolk, an article appeared in the News-Sentinel this week, written by a fashion expert who said the short skirts are still "in" and strong. And another article, written by a lady, mind you, appeared in Wednesday's Auburn "Star" and she really gives the fashion bigwigs a going over. She says the new long stuff is "one of the least flattering fashions born since women started clothing themselves with the fig leaf".

In another comment, the lady says, "The midi makes someone my height look as though one were standing in a manhole."

She concludes with, "We don't panic this time and discard wardrobes which never have been prettier, more flattering, more youthful looking no matter what the age wearing them."

Having had a running battle with the little woman here lately about short skirts (she's got the legs to wear 'em but gets scared even though her dirty old man tells her she looks great), it is gratifying to have a woman put into words some sound and reasonable protests against the dropping of the hemline.

If anybody wants to help me out at home, just drop a post card—you don't have to sign it—and say, "Esther, keep on with the short skirts."

—Thanks.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB
—Ella Crothers, Reporter

The Rural Housewives Club assembled at the home of Lola Northrup of Saint Joe for the February meeting with Marie Ward presiding.

Ella Crothers gave the opening by reading Lincoln's First Letter; Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer whose heart could see; Beauty Aids from your Refrigerator; and a poem on "Taxes."

Roll call was "On Washington." Berniece Wilder conducted a provocative contest on "What about your attire."

It was announced that the March meeting will be held at the home of Flossie Rodiger.

A social hour followed and the hostess served a lovely plate of refreshments.

"Help With The Heart Transplant"

(Glenn Moore, president of the Spencerville Community Club, has issued the following brief history of the Spencerville Community Building as the Community Club begins its efforts to replace the building which served as the center of activity in the Spencerville community for many years.)

The people of the Spencerville Community who were here around 1918-19 can well remember how pleased they were that enough people were interested in the young people to erect a gymnasium on the corner of what is now known as State Highway No. 1 and County Road 68, for basketball games.

Then in a few years the high schools all over the county supported a basketball team. As Spencerville High School had no gym, they were given the use of this building for many years. Then as each decade gives progress to education, the schools were consolidated and the interest in the once badly-needed building began to wane.

In the meantime, a little community club had been formed and was holding their meetings at the fire hall. And in order to hold a little Halloween party for the children and have a Santa at Christmas, they would have to contact the business places who responded generously so the young folks could be entertained.

Then, by bake sales and other money-making projects, along with the generosity of the community, they sought to fill the need for more space. They purchased the community building, and with the cooperation of everyone, they were able in a few short years to equip the building. They held fish fries spring and fall, and sponsored many other means of making money to support the recreation center for many young people.

In the year 1969, they purchased four acres of land near the gym, to be converted into a playground or park.

Then last January 31, 1970, at 12:20 a.m., a fire was discovered in the corner of the building and, being of wood structure, it burned very rapidly. Fire companies from Auburn, Saint Joe, Butler, Grabill and Cedar Canyons all responded and helped the Spencerville department to save the nearby structures with some damage to an apartment house and church. About 100 firemen were on the scene; the community will be forever grateful to them.

We have had several meetings. The people feel the building should be replaced as it was used almost every night. First came recreation two or more times a week for the young folks, under the supervision of scheduled members. The Boy Scouts and Cubs Scouts held meetings there, basketball groups used the building for their games. The Land Bank meeting, elections, baton lessons, the fish fries when we served from 600 to more than 800 in one evening—these are a few of the many activities held in the building.

Now the building is gone and an all-out effort is being made to replace it, as our young folks really need a recreation center to help keep them active the year around.

Anyone wanting to bring smiles to our youth of this community for many years to come are asked to contribute whatever they feel they can. It will be greatly appreciated by the Spencerville Community Club.

Letters to the Editor

(Students of the Riverdale fourth grade have sent their reactions to the recent Shrine Circus as follows):

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

I went to the Shrine Circus. We had 14 buses from DeKalb County. There was a girl hanging by her hair. Ouch!

Circus Lover,
Terry Lee Keesler

Dear Mr. Haberkorn

Our class enjoyed the circus very much. I loved the motorcycle act. It was scarcy. I liked the seals, clowns, dogs, and horses. I went twice in one day. The first time I went I ate one box of cracker Jacks and some cotton candy. The second time I went I ate a hot dog and some cotton candy. I bought a balloon. Then we had to go home.

Sincerely,
Cathy Mast

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

The fourth grades went to the Shriner Circus, I'm telling you if you didn't know! We didn't have to pay our way in, we also got some cracker jack free. Would you like me to tell you something about it? Well here I go! There's this motorcycle that was on a ring and it left the ring and turned over and over as the bar took around and around. The dogs were pretty, I wish I had one

Free Cracker Jack too!!

All the fourth graders went, all of them! I bought a gas balloon and cotton candy.

Free Cracker Jack too!!

love, a candy eater,
Sandy Hood

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

We liked the circus a lot. It was a lot of fun. We saw a motorcycle act. That was really scary. Mr. Mason rode on our bus. They had funny clowns. They had pretty monkeys. I can see that the Shriners did a lot of work. And the people that did the acts. Thank you for the cracker jacks all you Shriners!

Your Friend
Theresa Conley

Dear Mr. Editor,

We went to the circus Saturday. We had fun. We saw black and white poodles dressed up as butterflies and dancing girls. They were funny. We also saw a motorcycle stunt. It was scary, but we liked it very much. I have never been to a circus before, I was glad to Saturday. I bought a monkey and a bird on a stick. Some people who bought balloons lost them. Mr. Mason is a Shriner and he rode on our bus. We had a good time. Mr. Mason had cards that he gave to Mrs. Jewel so that she could write our names on them. So we could get in.

Your Friend,
Gloria Daniels

Dear Mr. Haberkorn

Our Class went to the circus. And it was exciting they held up the traffic so we could get through. And two police cars ahead of us. And one behind us.

Kitty Bowser

In addition to the lovable mistakes of children learning to write, we noted that each letter was very neat, very legible and followed the proper form for a well-constructed letter. But best of all, they're cute! Thanks, kids. —Ed.

Postal Service Extended

A major new postal service program has been instituted by the U.S. Post Office Department, expanding home deliveries to an additional 29 small communities in the Fourth Congressional District for the first time.

Under the program, persons living more than a quarter mile but less than half a mile, from 18,700 post offices that do not have city delivery are now eligible to receive the delivery at home. Previously, they had been compelled to go to the post office for their mail.

Since they live less than half a mile away from a post office, they have not been eligible to receive rural delivery service prior to the new program. And because they live near a post office that does not have city delivery, they have missed out there, too.

The only requirement to obtain the service is that it must be requested of the postmaster, and a majority of those living in the area must desire the service.

DeKalb County post offices affected by the new program include Saint Joe, Spencerville, Ashley, Corunna and Waterloo.

RIVERDALE MENU

Monday, February 23—sloppy joe sandwich, tri taters, apricots.

Tuesday—hamburger and spaghetti, peas, plums.

Wednesday—chicken and biscuits, lettuce salad, fruit jello.

The Church-What's Wrong?

Recently, the president of the Indiana-Kentucky Synod of the Lutheran Church In America voiced concern over the lack of numbers of young men studying for the ministry. Recently, a public opinion poll indicated that the percentage of citizens in this country actively participating in church affairs was dropping in all denominations. Recently, a member of my congregation here in Saint Joe wrote a poem about the monthly meeting of the women's group, expressing concern over the lack of numbers actively participating, and ending with the question, "What is wrong with our church?"

I don't know the answer for sure, but I submit for your consideration the possibility that the same situation faces the religious world as besets the secular world. Elements in both worlds totally condemn the past and its traditions in placing the blame for present ills plaguing both worlds, to the point that those who have been raised in the "old" tradition react as the human beings that they are, and they show something less than enthusiasm to continue as actively as they have in the past. In short, my thought is: when you condemn people as thoroughly as Americans and Protestants have been condemned in the recent past, it is hardly reasonable to expect anything other than a lack of enthusiasm. At a time when a bold and confident defense of the past and its traditions is needed, only a few have spoken, and they are often left standing alone. In the church, its leadership has remained silent, the leadership responsible for perpetuating time-honored traditions from the past. The layity has, as a result, felt abandoned.

A big contributor to the lack of participation in anything, whether it is religious or secular, is the feeling of guilt and inadequacy. When you consistently belabor a society for its wrongs, the people in that society will feel guilty, and to avoid making any more errors will stop "doing," even what they have been accustomed to doing. The same reaction is evident in the Christian world today; at least that is my observation. If someone wished to raise a question as to what is wrong with their church, or "the" church, they should be prepared to face the possibility that they themselves have contributed to the lack of enthusiasm by "backing off" so to speak in upholding that which has been a part of their own training and education, after criticism has been leveled at that training and education.

I have mentioned my own denomination, my own congregation, but the same situation prevails generally in Protestantism. Statistics reflect this conclusion. And I submit that the condemnation of past "tradition" by many of the newer members of the clergy has dampened the enthusiasm of church members and has subtly created an overwhelming feeling of guilt. If there is a lack of enthusiasm by the masses in all denominations, the leadership of those churches must answer to the question, "Have we upheld that which we have taught, that which we have believed in, in the face of today's condemnation of the church and its program?"

I know from personal experience how discouraging it is to be abandoned, to be left standing alone, when seeking to uphold and defend my beliefs and the beliefs of others. It is the same discouragement felt by fellow church members and those of other denominations who have been intimidated by the total condemnation of our religious efforts in the past. I have never sensed a feeling of self-righteousness in those efforts. In fact, I have been taught to know that these efforts will still be inadequate, no matter how lofty ambitions may be. For this reason, it is totally inappropriate for condemnation to be heaped upon the church world by those entrusted with its leadership, whether clergy or layity, and for others within that leadership to stand by and abandon their traditional teachings and their fellow membership.

Liberalism in the church, as well as in the secular world, has so intimidated the past that the majority of people in the church feel a tremendous guilt, a guilt which is not theirs to bear. The condemnation of the Christian world, which has arisen in the Christian world itself, rather than spurring its membership has instead promoted a feeling of incapability and inadequacy not appropriate for the Protestant approach to the Christian faith.

A late afternoon movie last week was about Abe Lincoln and his early trials, literally and figuratively, as a lawyer. One line of dialog struck me because of its connection with this matter of the church's difficulty. Abe's courtroom argument went something like this (and I am assuming that the movie did not put words in Abe's mouth other than his own):

"I don't have a lot of book-learning, but I don't need it to know when something is wrong."

The Christian faith is not built on "book-learning"; the church member's "right" to speak is not reliant upon concentrated education in religion. Faith cannot be taught, it can only be expressed, by action and words. After that, it is up to the observer to decide whether or not to become a follower as a believer.

When serious doubts are cast upon the manner in which a believer has been showing faith, doubts which totally condemn as today's liberals in the church have been condemning, it is the responsibility of the believer to defend not only himself but also that tradition which has nurtured him. Indeed, it is an essential element of faith that one "stand up and be counted."

Those who raise the question, "What is wrong with our church" should be prepared to accept the answers which may come their way, and not condemn the answerer as a trouble-maker. And those who are in positions of leadership, and who have been in such positions for times past, face the task of self-examination in answering the related question, "Have I upheld that which I have taught and believed, have I upheld those who have followed my leadership?"

The average church member, just like the average American citizen, has somewhat of a sixth sense in knowing when something is wrong. When total condemnation is heaped upon him, as is being done and has been done in the last few years, that sixth sense is activated, and the layman becomes as "intelligent," as capable, as the learned scholar, in sensing that something is "wrong." In the Christian world, you don't have to know a lot about theology to recognize that promoting a feeling of guilt is in direct conflict with the mission of the church. In fact, the mission of the church is to relieve the world of its guilt.

So—it seems to me that the trouble may not be with the people in the church today; it may, rather, be in the heretical teaching which has arisen in the clergy and is left unanswered to by others of the clergy who find inspiration in "the past." Heresy is defined as "a belief or opinion contrary to the established doctrines of a church or religious system." Those who are in the position of teaching, that is the clergy primarily, must therefore bear the burden of answering to the question of what is wrong with the church. For it is in the clergy that basic elements of the Protestant Christian faith have been criticized and condemned. And those in the clergy for whom such basic elements have had meaning have failed to answer to such charges, have failed to uphold not only their own faith but also that of the "silent majority" within the layity who are therefore left in condemnation and guilt.

Others say. . . .

How sad it is that Congress adroitly avoids the strict, stern rectitude piously prescribed for others — Supreme Court justices, for example.

Consider one small case in point that makes the recent rejection of justice nominee Clement Haynsworth, Jr., ironic indeed.

As you know, all Congressmen may send official mail free, or "franked," using signatures for stamps. Last fiscal year this cost taxpayers $10.1 million for 190 million pieces of mail weighing 12 million pounds, or roughly 11 tons per Congressman.

Would you believe unmoral Congressmen occasionally frank blatantly unofficial mail — especially near or during re-election campaigns?

Indeed they do, and evidently more than a few! In the past the Post Office — relying on complaints from citizens who received franked but unofficial mail — billed those lawmakers caught cheating. Some paid, some didn't.

Finally, between rampant abuses and refusals to pay when caught, the whole thing got to be a painful bother so the Post Office gave up.

Now how a Congressman uses franking privileges is strictly between him and his conscience.

At least one, however, doesn't believe that's enough taxpayer protection. Rep. Morris K. Udall (D., Ariz.) has proposed a special House unit to police franked mail. Las Vegas bookies give the Udall idea one chance in 1,385,987 to pass!

Well, one day Congress may actually demand of its own members the same strict, lofty morality required of others, to the applause (and astonishment) of all.

But odds against that and Udall's idea are about the same!

"AN INTELLECTUAL'S VIEW—"

I am puzzled and upset . . . by the almost obsessive interest in sports taken by the average adult American male.

Athletics is one strand in life, and even the ancient Greek philosophers recognized its importance. But it is by no means the whole web, as it seems to be in our society. If American men are not talking business, they are talking sports, or they are not talking at all.

. . . Most men seem to use commercial sports as a kind of narcotic, shutting out reality, rather than heightening it . . . Ironically, our obsession with professional athletics not only makes us mentally limited and conversationally dull, it also keeps us physically inert — thus violating the very reason men began engaging in athletic competitions. It is tempting to call this national malaise of "spectatoritis" childish — except that children have more sense, and would rather run out and play themselves.

School Program Seeks To Aid Handicapped

The Eastern school district of DeKalb County will make an intensive survey of the district to find handicapped children whose special needs can be provided for through the Special Education Law passed by the Indiana General Assembly in 1969.

A special education committe is planning to make a statistical education survey in the school community to determine special education needs. The committee includes Superintendent Kenneth Cole; David Wilson, school psychometrist; Florence Weaver, special education teacher; Beverly Martin, non-graded class room teacher; Jerry Zonker, guidance director; George Rader, Riverdale Elementary principal; Robert Williams, high school principal; and Alice Cole, school nurse.

The law requires that all schools provide appropriate educational services for all handicapped children, including the multiple-handicapped, after September 1, 1973. Schools must submit a comprehensive plan for special education, including appropriations, to a newly-created state advisory council. The local committee will complete its survey April 1, 1970, and submit its first draft to the state advisory committee by December.

The cost of providing the particular special education appropriate to teach every handicapped student in the state will be carried by local taxpayers, less whatever funds come from the next General Assembly session.

Such cost can vary from the same as for other children to as high as five times as much as for standard classroom programs.

Some exceptional areas, such as legal blindness, could not be handled locally due to the small number involved. However, special education can cover the educable mentally retarded, those with speech and hearing defects, mild emotional problems and varying degrees of hearing and sightedness. It is stated that these cases could be educated in local classrooms with local specialists, or with itinerant teachers and therapists.

Every faculty member will be asked to survey each child he or she teaches as to possible exceptionality.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The Junior League basketball games are beginning to make one think of tournament time. The two games played Saturday morning were won with the difference of only one point.

In the first game, the Greens pulled a big surprise and won from the Blues. The Blues could not find the basket from the foul line and had to suffer another heart-breaking defeat by the score of 11 to 10.

Following the first game, we had another thriller. The Orange boys, without the service of Larry McKown, lost to the Reds 29 to 28. Rick Rinard tried to win for his team by scoring 27 of his team's 28 points. Frank Rinard made his first basket of the season which could be the difference in the score.

PEARLS and oyster shells

A pearl is a thing of beauty—iridescent—a precious gem. An oyster shell is rather ugly—a remnant of a marine mollusk much esteemed as a delicacy. And yet both are built of identical shell-producing cells.

It is happenstance that causes tiny parasites or grains of sand to penetrate the oyster, severing the shell-producing cells and carrying them deep into the oyster to form perfect pearls.

It is no accident that some men from poor beginnings have become great leaders, statesmen or educators. Others from identical surroundings live out their lives in poverty and despair.

The difference is integrity and a yearning for excellence in every part of life—that love of God that illumines and elevates.

Your church can help you to make the most of your life. As you grow to understand God as a part of any real achievement, strength and vitality and joy will enrich your days.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Last week just wasn't my week—and let that suffice to explain why some papers were so late in reaching subscribers.

Mike Loy and Gary Sible, our two local Air Force captains, are home now. Gary is out altogether while Mike has a year or so to go. Mike will be stateside from now on, having been a helicopter pilot in Vietnam.

Gary served as navigator on a bomber and also has some stories to tell.

Mrs. Dan Johnson, proprietor of the Auburn dinner and daughter of the late Jesse Loftus who resided at Saint Joe many years, called the News Office this week to say that R. L. Holben suggested a counter jar for public donations to help the Spencerville Community Club get its new building. Mr. Holben kicked off the project with a $5 donation.

Thus Auburn friends are helping to bring back the Spencerville community center.

And with information given late this week by Bob Hollabaugh and Jean Moore, it seems the fund-raising is going great guns. They now have enough to pay some $16,500 for foundation and a 60x100 steel building. The building has been ordered and they are set to go when weather permits.

I read the Auburn paper and the Butler paper, and I wonder what's wrong with the Butler people—that is, assuming that I have the facts straight.

There is a group of people actively opposing the improvement of the city's water system, as proposed by Mayor Raymond McCann and the town council. A meeting last Monday reportedly had 60 present, and it got kinda hot at times, according to the newspaper reports.

The people object to paying a little over $6.00 for what now costs the average water consumer a little over $2.00 a month.

What I can't understand is—if the water system improvement will provide soft water for the entire system, what are they hollering about? It costs us over $4.00 a month for softener service. Add that to our water bill and we get $6.00 to $7.00.

It sounds like six of one and a half dozen of the other.

Of course, there are some other goodies attached, like hiking the hydrant and water fountain rentals to the city, which would raise their tax rate by 24 cents, it is reported.

But the tax rate hike shouldn't bother Butlerites; they don't mind taxes. These same people didn't say a word when their school board took action to raise the cost of education by building an unnecessary high school. They didn't let out a peep. Why are they hollering now over a mere $500,000 when they wouldn't say anything a few months ago over $3½ million????

Ensemble Wins 1st At State

On Saturday, February 21, the State Music Contest was held at Butler University in Indianapolis. Thousands of students from the state of Indiana, who had played music classified as Group I and had received a "I" rating at the district contest, were eligible to compete.

Eastside had a large ensemble which competed Saturday and received a "I" rating. The girls who won gold medals were Jean Ervin, Pam Myers, Jewell Bellamy, Ann Knox, Toni Alwood, Nila Willibey, Kristine Brand, Eva Baker, Pam Anderson, Kathy Houser, Gay Parshall, Christine Keller, Angie Keller, Susan Hose, Kay Hollinger, Diane Sebert, Diane Bungard, Nancy Freidenberger and Michelle Long. The group was accompanied by Larry Hart.

A flute trio received a "III" rating. They had received a perfect score at the district contest, indicating that competition at state is very keen. Members of the trio are Jerry Mansfield, Debbie Hulbert and Kristine Foster.

On January 31, 1970, Spencerville had the misfortune of losing its heart—the Community Club Building—and now we are in the process of performing a heart transplant by building a new community recreation building.

After a week's work, we are pleased to announce that we have collected $3,658.00, and pledges have been made for an additional $3,610.00, making a total of $7,268.00 towards our goal.

Individuals canvassing the areas are as follows:

Saint Joe—Janet Heyman, Bud Shockley and Paul Moore.

Spencer Township and Spencerville—Frances Doll, Pauline Baumgartner, Arden Dwyer, Charlotte Hudson, Mabel Rinard, Margaret Jacobson, Gladys Akey, Janice Bowser, Mrs. Glenn Geyer, Ethelyn Miller, Barbara Longbrake, Bob Wilder, Bob Jacobson, Gale Bowser, Lavon Hart, Frank Laub, Glenn Moore, Jim Rinard and Max Markle.

Concord Township—Jim Hudson, Ford Hudson and Bob Arnett.

Newville—Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hicow, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Hook and Dale Harter.

Butler—Debbie Warstler.

We thank everyone who has already donated and we urge everyone to help us replace our recreation center which was used almost every night for some type of recreation by the young folks in the area and the new building will be used in the same manner.

Anyone desiring to make a donation may do so by contacting one of the above mentioned individuals or by sending to the Spencerville Community Building Fund, Box 25000, Spencerville, Indiana 46788.

Blazers Knocked From Tourney

—by Phil Haberkorn

The Eastside Blazers threw a scare into the DeKalb Barons Wednesday night, but the Barons recovered in time to turn a 1-point halftime deficit into an 84-63 victory in the second game of the 1970 DeKalb Sectional tournament.

The Hamilton Marines nipped the Angola Hornets 53-51 in the 4ourney opener, and will now meet the Fremont Eagles at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in the first semi-final game.

The Barons' shooting was almost non-existent in the first half, as they connected on only 23% of their field attempts. Their big gun, 6'5" Steve Post, didn't escape the disease, as he tallied only 10 points with opportunities for many more.

Charlie Ross led Eastside with 7 from the floor in the half.

The Blazers jumped to a 2-0 lead on a goal by Dale Curry, and built it up to 11-10 before DeKalb could catch up for the first time with only a minute left in the period. The period ended at 15-15.

The lead changed hands often in the second quarter, with neither team gaining more than a 4-point edge. That point came when Eastside led 23-19 midway through the period. Post made a last-second shot to pull the Barons to within one at the half. Keith Bunch of DeKalb led everybody with 10 points, 8 in each period.

The Baron scorers threw off the chills in the third period, notably Post and Ron Dean. DeKalb took a 32-31 lead in the first minute, let the Blazers regain it twice, then knotted the score at 37 with 5:27 left in the period. Shortly after, a field goal gave them a 39-37 lead, and Eastside spent the remainder of the night watching the Barons ride off in the distance.

From 40-39, the Barons jumped to 51-40 with 2:27 left. In the final minute the Blazers closed the gap to 53-47, but a Baron goal with 23 seconds left triggered a binge that saw them build up a 20-point lead in the first three minutes of the fourth quarter.

Ball-handling errors and cold shooting caused the Blazers to manage only five fielders in the finals. The Barons' pace, on the other hand, allowed them to build a 63-51 lead at 6:22 to 70-51 at 5:00, 82-55 at 1:30 and 84-63 at the gun.

The net practically got ripped to shreds by Post's 20 points, with added friction from Dean's 18.

Ross led Eastside with 13 in the half, and 27 total.

Eastside hit on 24 of 68 field shots for a 35% average. DeKalb's figures were 30 for 79 and 42%. Post topped the individual column with 30 points.

The story is also told in the rebounding figures: DeKalb 33, Eastside 16.

DeKalb	15	15	27	27	—84
Eastside	15	16	16	16	—63

Vital Public Meeting On Drugs

An important meeting, of concern to youth and adults, will be presented next Tuesday evening, March 3, in the Conservation Club building at the west edge of Saint Joe. The program will be devoted to a film and discussion on the increasing problem of drugs and narcotics in today's society, and will be sponsored by Tri-Township Farm Bureau.

Sheriff James, Sims, who has presented similar programs in the county in the past few months, will show a film entitled, "Narcotics - Pit of Despair." He will have samples of marijuana and other drugs now being used and abused. A group discussion will follow the film, including a question and answer period.

Sheriff Sims is a graduate of a seminar on drugs conducted by the Federal Bureau of Drugs and Narcotics.

The public is urged and invited to attend this very significant meeting, in view of the increasing use of drugs especially by young people. Such use is now in evidence in DeKalb County.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Girl Scout Cookie Sales

The 1970 Girl Scout Cookie Sale will begin Friday of this week, February 27, with Senior Scouts, Junior Troops and interested adults participating.

Residents of the community are asked to order as many cookies as possible to help the Girl Scout Council and benefit the local area as well.

Sale of cookies brings the following benefits to the local unit:

6 cents per package stays in the local troop treasury.

450 boxes of cookies sold buys one tent.

50 boxes sold brings one Campership from the Council.

400 boxes sold brings one canoe.

Girl Scout girls will be taking orders for cookies through March 8.

Telephone orders can be given to Pat Osmun at 337-3401 or Marguerite Fish at 238-4315.

CC Revival Runs March 13-15

The Saint Joe Church of Christ will hold revival meetings Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 13 through 15, at 7:30 each evening.

The evangelist will be Douglas Holley, minister of the Columbia City Church of Christ, who served as a student minister at the local church a few years ago.

Special music will be presented by the Great Lakes Bible College New Campus Crusaders.

Topics to be presented include "What the Bible Teaches About God" on Friday night, "What the Bible Teaches About Man" Saturday night and "What the Bible Teaches About Conversion" Sunday night.

Wayne Skiver, present student minister for the local church, has extended an invitation in behalf of the congregation to the general public to attend these revivial meetings.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

—Loretta Musser, Reporter

The Ladies Literary Club met with Mrs. Wayne Storer Wednesday, February 18, at 7:30 p.m. After call to order, the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated.

Musical Evening was observed with Mrs. Forrest Bevington in charge. Mrs. Bevington explained about the music contest the school children participate in and how they are judged and then presented several students who had participated. Members greatly enjoyed the following program:

Vocal solo—Ted Hansen.

Flute solo—Lucinda Bevington.

Clarinet solo—Julie Yeiser.

Trumpet solo—Ted Hansen.

French horn solo—Laura Bevington.

Trumpet solo—Stephen Bevington.

The accompanists for the group were Mrs. Bevington, Mrs. Omer Hansen and Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser.

For the conclusion of the program, the group, led by Mrs. Bevington and accompanied by Mrs. Hansen, sang three patriotic songs.

The entertainment was provided by Mrs. Maurice Kline who had a puzzle game and gave an article, "February Leaves Me Cold."

Mrs. Roy Baker, critic, gave her report and the meeting was adjourned. The hostess then served refreshments.

March 6 'World Day Of Prayer' At Newville UM

World Day of Prayer will be observed in the Riverdale area at the Newville United Methodist Church Friday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m.

World Day of Prayer, a project of Church Women United, is observed annually on the first Friday in March by Christians in more than 130 countries spanning six continents. Prayers will be offered in 75 languages and a thousand dialects. 25,000 communities will be involved in the religious observance.

This annual chain of prayer links the first voice at dawn in the tropical Tongas, just west of the International Date Line, with millions of others as it passes throughout the day across oceans and continents. By nightfall, its message of hope will have followed the sun's arc until the last prayers are said in units of Church Women United in Hawaii and the islands of Alaska.

The theme, "Take Courage"—"Moet Houden," "Stech Fest," "Esfuerzate"—was chosen and made relevant by an International Committee headed by Miss Gudrun Diestel of Germany. The program was developed as a housewife from Egypt, a social worker from Guyana, a church worker from the Philippines and a woman from the U.S.A., discovered a common bond of worship and witness.

The challenge of the '70's across the continents is to bear witness to one's convictions when morals and decadence are at a premium. In India, Kenya or the U.S.A., it takes courage to be open to the unknown in the '70's which are bringing so many changes to families the world over. World Day of Prayer will be reflecting courage for responsible action.

The Sheriff Has A Message

Several meetings have been held throughout the county in the past few months concerning the problem of youth and drugs. Next Tuesday night, it is Riverdale's turn.

Even though they may have seen and heard the same or similar presentations elsewhere, including school assemblies, every student in the community ought to attend next week's meeting sponsored by the Tri-Township Farm Bureau. And their parents ought to go with them!

There is always something new, something different, to be heard and considered at such meetings. Also, there is the practical fact of life that the learning process is basically one of repetition.

It is often assumed that the youth problems of today are mostly found in "the big city," that drugs for instance are a problem which we don't have out here in the "sticks." With the revelations that have come from law enforcement officials in recent months, that assumption is false. We DO have a drug problem; there ARE kids in our own county "on" drugs.

If we are not able to understand why the drug problem exists, the next best thing is to know the consequences of turning to drugs and narcotics. For the young people, such programs serve to warn them of the physical dangers lurking in the appeal of "turning on" to find pleasure. For adults and parents, these programs serve to provide factual information to back up their fears for the welfare of their children and their young friends. It always helps to know something of what you are talking about when attempting to give counsel to young people; but even this is no guarantee that they will be impressed.

Our sheriff has had training in the field of drug education. But this is not the greatest of his qualifications to serve as a booster in prompting young and old to attend next week's meeting. His greatest qualification is his genuine concern for young people. I heard him at a father-son banquet last year and I know he is not what you would call a "professional" or "polished" speaker. However, there was another notable quality that "sold" his little talk that evening, and that was his sincerity. I would imagine that the genuine appeal of our sheriff's approach to young people comes from the fact that the Sims family has had its burdens to bear as far as children are concerned and from these burdens has come genuine love. Thus, when our sheriff speaks to young people, it isn't just his job; it's also his calling as a father concerned about our youth.

I hope the conservation club building is packed with kids of all ages and parents of all ages next Tuesday night. It ought to be; we're talking about life—and agonizing death.

NEWS DISTORTION MORE SUBTLE SINCE AGNEW'S CONDEMNATIONS

Recently Sen. George McGovern was being interviewed on the David Frost TV Show. When the senator mentioned Ted Kennedy as a potential presidential candidate, the audience booed.

The boo was eliminated from the tape before that program was aired.

One remembers that the name of George Wallace has been booed on that program and that was never eliminated.

And that is the sort of thing Vice-President Agnew has been talking about.

This is not intended to single out one TV talk show except as an example; most New York-based offerings persist in promoting the liberalism, however, more subtly since Agnew's remonstrance.

When the Vice-President toured 11 Asian nations, worldwide news services led almost every story with a mention of "demonstrations."

It was a pitiful handful of protesters who sought to embarrass our Vice-President in Canberra, Australia, but here is the way UPI led its account of his visit there:

"A protest barrage of tomatoes spattered on the bullet-proof surface of Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew's limousine . . ."

Actually, the limousine was unoccupied at the time. The Vice-President was nowhere near. The few shouts of "Fascist Pig" and "Go Home Spiro" were drowned out by cheering multitudes, but that noisy handful of not more than 40 persons got itself reported and quoted suffi-

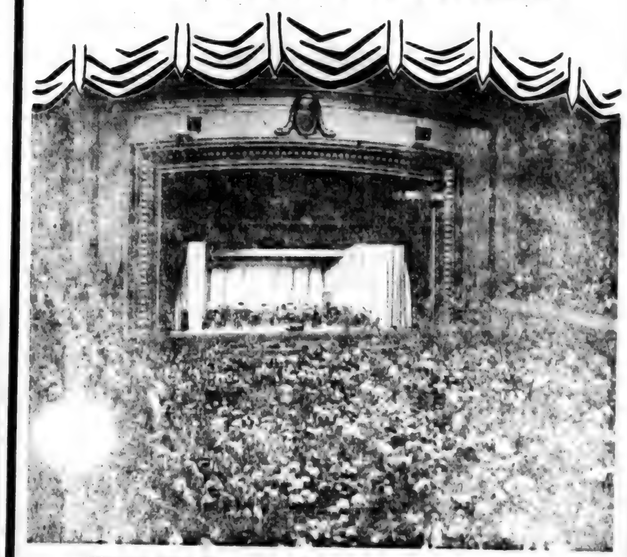
The ticket committee members are Pat Vose, chairman, Kerry Gessler, Bill Jacquay, Kathy Robinette, Candy Stark, Angie Keller and Debbie Beck.

Members of other committees [illegible] announced in the future.

Dramatic readings will be [illegible] to be given [illegible] of the play on April 10 and 11.

RING DOWN THE CURTAIN



When we leave the concert hall, the music is gone. When we leave the theatre, the play is over. Not so with life! It continues on and on.

Life is not just a play. In the play an actor has no choice. But in real life you, the actor, have many choices, and how you play the part is up to you.

But still you need direction, coaching, encouragement. All these you can find in your church, for the Supreme Author of all life can give you inspiration and faith. In church, in the silence of your heart, you will hear His voice and understand.

ciently to distort the whole world's important first impression of the events of that busy and productive day.

Other news services were equally myopic in their coverage of other stops. AP anticipated "hostile demonstrations to include some of our own Peace Corpsmen" in Afghanistan.

A few hippie-type demonstartors, not including any Peace Corpsmen, in that ocean of turbaned, gaily robed Afghans waving American flags, were utterly unworthy of the worldwide mention and attention they received.

And that is the kind of distortion Agnew has been talking about.

The National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence (the so-called Milton Eisenhower Commission) accused the news media of troublemaking.

The Commission said the news media have "contributed to the widespread use of confrontation as an instrument of social change."

Now, the report concludes, "A crisis of confidence exists between the American people and their news media."

The last Gallup Poll seconds that notion. A majority of adults questioned felt the TV networks "favor one side" when presenting news dealing with political and social issues, a higher proportion believed that newspapers "favored one side."

John Macy, president of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, says, "Americans are seeing more news and believing it less."

Now—if there were a sinister top-level conspiracy designed to distort what you see and hear, you would not now be seeing and hearing Paul Harvey.

The Eisenhower Commission says the press should provide more interpretive reporting on social problems and should display fairly and clearly opinions, analyses and solutions from a wide variety of people.

That—and no more—is what Agnew was recommending.

—Paul Harvey in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

"LITTLE HOOSIERS"

Donna Jewel and Violet Baker of the Riverdale faculty attended a history workshop at Madison recently. One of the fruits of their participation will come next week when a presentation will be made on setting up a historical group in the school, starting with the fourth grade.

The two faculty members were impressed by the program as explained by Mr. Robert Montgomery at the workshop. Arrangements were then made to have Mr. Montgomery appear at Riverdale Thursday, March 5, to tell how "Little Hoosiers" historical groups are established. If Riverdale students show enough enthusiasm to establish such a group next week, it will be the first such student historical group in DeKalb County, according to Mrs. Jewel.

Did you know-

—that deaths of relatives of local residents were recorded in the last week or so, including a brother of Mrs. Russell Snyder of Saint Joe, a brother of Mrs. Otis Brown of Spencerville, and a brother of Mr. Brown.

—that the Saint Joe Volunteer Fire Department supervised the burning of an old garage building on the John Coburn property Sunday afternoon—and that is a nice starting gesture by the Coburns in anticipation of spring cleanup for the town.

—that Mr. and Mrs. John Seehler of Saint Joe are parents of a 9 lb. 13½ oz. son, born Tuesday at DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Thorne of Saint Joe are parents of a 7 lb. 4½ oz. daughter born Tuesday at DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

—that Gene Sible and Jerry Storer of Saint Joe are among the 1,434 students who completed work for degrees during the first semester at Purdue University. Gene in industrial management and Jerry in agriculture.

Fourteen down and one to go. It has been fourteen weeks of basketball and every week has been worthwhile.

The Reds, led by Mike Mansfield and Paul Roberts, are the winners. The Orange boys came on strong, but the season records show them to be the runner up.

The games played Saturday were won by the Orange boys and the Red boys. These two teams meet next Saturday, but the outcome will not change the standing. The Red team has 11 victories, the Orange team has nine victories, the Blue team has five victories and the Green team has three victories.

Two All-Star teams were picked by the boys. These two teams will play against each other. The team winning the first two games will be the champion.

The All-Stars for the Red team are Michael Mansfield, Paul Roberts, Chris Knisely, Rick Conley, Steven Hood, Mark Farrell, James Cannady, Roger Smith, Lane Hart and Kevin Griggs.

The All-Stars for the Orange team are Ricky Rinard, Larry McKown, Leo Carper, Philip Staley, Bruce Laub, Jerry Mays, Tom Dwyer, Brent Resor, Davey Doll and Tony Seehler.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

My thanks to the line crew of I&M for their prompt attention to line transmission problems which momentarily affected our home and the News Office this week. It could have been serious —but those guys were johnny-on-the-spot.

Delores Hicov called to say that they have a some cute pups to give away, if anyone wants one. The pups are a combination of cocker and poodle. If you want more information, call 238-4891.

A pretty good sized crowd was out at the Conservation Club building Tuesday night for Sheriff Jim Sims' program on narcotics. He said there were two other programs of like nature being presented elsewhere in the county the same night.

It looked as if about 80 or 85 were at the local meeting, despite the lousy weather of rain and mud. Over half were of the younger generation.

I am a little puzzled, though, about this drug matter in DeKalb County. Jane Kempf, columnist for the Auburn Star and chairman of Auburn's own committee on drug and narcotic information and education, had a bit in her last column advising citizens not to panic. DeKalb County isn't as bad off as some have made it sound. And Sheriff Sims made a similar comment, noting that he did not agree with some newspaper articles which have appeared about DeKalb County's youth-and-drug situation.

I'm puzzled because, if DeKalb County is comparatively "safe" at the present time, why the big push for all the meetings? If there is any panic, it would seem to be due to the concentration of efforts by the law enforcement agencies and the Auburn committee itself.

The support which this paper gave to Tuesday's program was due in part to the publicity read elsewhere and the activities of the Auburn group. I wouldn't classify last week's writeup and editorial in The Saint Joe News as leading toward panic.

If there is some misconception in the mind of the county public about the drug situation, I think the officials involved should clarify the matter.

Last week a couple of friends stopped me as I picked up a six-pack at the Oasis and said they were just talking about how to help the community club raise money for its new building program. I replied that the Community Club still had a ways to go, but it appeared their financial efforts were bringing good results. I also said I was more concerned about how to pay off the $2,600 still owed Nelson Grills for his efforts in this community's behalf in the school situation. My friends looked dumbfounded at my reply, and asked, "Is it really that much?"

For those who may doubt—yes, it really is that much. I'll show you the bill if you want to see it.

In the past three months about $450 has been sent to Mr. Grills, due to the contributions of a comparative few. I don't mind telling you I am just a bit disgusted at the lack of response by those whose interests were represented by Mr. Grills and myself. Some of those who gave encouragement at the beginning haven't put a dime in the pot in the last year. And some who asked me to end the remonstrators' legal efforts—and their wishes were followed—also haven't contributed one red cent since.

The Community Club's needs are legitimate and I hope they get all the money they need. To back that hope, I pledged $100 to their effort when Janet Heyman made a solicitation last week. But I think there are a lot of people who are turning their backs on a prior obligation without justification.

"Paying for a dead horse" is a weak excuse for getting out of the moral obligation some East-side patrons still have. The horse may be dead, but as things have turned out, it was the best one in the race. And the jockey still has considerable pay coming!

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met Monday, February 23, at 6:30 p. m. at the Spencerville United Methodist Church with 27 members and three visitors present. The visitors were Everett Davis and Ed Kaake of the Central Lions Club of Fort Wayne and Miss Marsha Hough, a youth exchange participant who spent six weeks in France last summer.

Lion Davis, who is Youth Exchange chairman for our district, firmly believed and is able to convince folks that the best way to develop understanding and friendship between countries is through this program. He has his club sold on this idea and they spend a large percent of their money on sending teen age students abroad. Also the club is active in entertaining foreign exchange young folks in their homes where the student lives as one of the family for a week or two, then moves to another family so that more people can participate.

He got our club sold on entertaining a guest and promised to contact Lions International to see if arrangements can be made.

Lion Davis then introduced Marsha Hough, a pretty brunette teenager, who spent six weeks in France last summer. Marsha could not speak any French but she got by because at least one in each of her four host families could talk English.

Marsha says, "In talking to folks who are not accustomed to talking English, it is wise to speak slowly and distinctly and not rattle along like we usually do here at home. And it is wise to carry a French dictionary."

Marsha visited Paris and saw the Eifel Tower and some of the other attractions, but the thing that really impressed her was the way everyone, young and old alike, drive their little cars. She says they are all hot-rodders, they drive like mad, often 100 miles per hour, and everyone thinks he has the right of way and the other fellow should get out of his road in traffic and at intersections.

The French are an excitable people and it is common to hear drivers shouting advice, instructions and insults at each other.

Marsha is prejudiced against castles. She says, "These castles are nearly always set on a hill. They are huge, damp and dark with very few windows, have steep steps and are altogether undesirable to live in but people do live in them."

She says that French families are nearly always congenial with no bickering or scrapping and she thinks that many of our families could learn from that.

It shocked her that they did not cut off the chicken's head before they roasted it, but it did not spoil her appetite. They serve yogurt very frequently and she got so she could eat it once or twice a day and like it.

She never did learn to like goose liver, which they consider a delicacy. The French think that their water is just unfit to drink or that it is just to wash in, so they all drink wine instead.

Her hosts took her on trips through the countryside, to an eleventh century church, to a cave with an underground river and to homes where they visited.

It seems there are no teenage persons in France; they are all children until they become adults. Nor are there any part-time jobs for teenagers, they just loaf around the restaurants or other loafing places until they do become adults.

Lavon Hart sponsored and presented our new member, Larry Smith. President Curie did a good job lecturing to Larry on Lionism, gave him the oath and declared him to be a Lion.

The ice cream social committee, Maurice Kline, chairman, reported that committees will be appointed in due time.

Cliff Billow, our fair stand committee chairman, reported that the DeKalb Rural Youth Club, who formerly had a stand at the fair, is giving us a lot of equipment to outfit our stand and that members of our club will get it Saturday.

We know we will have to buy a tent but this gift will keep us from curtailing our benevolent activities. We assure this youth group that more people will benefit by this method than if they were to sell these articles and then donate them money to benevolence.

I wish to notify Mrs. Loraine Murphy, our official sponge rubber cake manufacturer, that the Senior Citizens Club of St. Luke Church in Fort Wayne enjoyed my cake just as much as did our Lions Club. I will put it in a plastic bag and hang it in the garage until I find some further use for this slightly used delicacy.

Remember These Kids?

Recently Pauline Baumgartner of Spencerville sent The News the above photograph with the following note: "Here is a picture that I thought some of your readers might enjoy. We were all neighbors, and they are as follows: Kathleen Gee, Eloise Bowman and DuWayne Kinsey." (Eloise lives in California, Kathleen and DuWayne deceased.)

CC Revival Runs March 13-15

The Saint Joe Church of Christ will hold revival meetings Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 13 through 15, at 7:30 each evening.

The evangelist will be Douglas Holley, minister of the Columbia City Church of Christ, who served as a student minister at the local church a few years ago.

Special music will be presented by the Great Lakes Bible College New Campus Crusaders.

Topics to be presented include "What the Bible Teaches About God" on Friday night, "What the Bible Teaches About Man" Saturday night and "What the Bible Teaches About Conversion" Sunday night.

Wayne Skiver, present student minister for the local church, has extended an invitation in behalf of the congregation to the general public to attend these revivial meetings.

McMaken-Hawn

Carol Hawn of Butler, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Logansport, was united in marriage to Howard J. McMaken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. McMaken of Saint Joe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Russell E. Snyder at the home of the groom's parents Saturday afternoon, February 28, 1970, at 2:00 p.m.

There were 30 relatives present. A supper was served to all the guests, after which a reception was held at the "Four Guys Club" near Mooresville, northwest of Saint Joe. Those present enjoyed round and square dancing.

Gladys G. Hart

Gladys G. Hart, daughter of William and Melissa Engle Baltz, was born December 6, 1882, near Spencerville, Indiana. She was the oldest of four daughters and one son. Her brother, Grant Baltz, and a sister, Grace Webb, now survive.

Because her mother died when Gladys was about twelve, she, along with her father, assumed the responsibility of raising the younger children.

She was married to Clyde Hart on January 27, 1900, in Hicksville, Ohio. God blessed them with fatherhood and motherhood, and born to this union were three children, Berniece Wilder, Karl Hart and Alice Kagey.

She became a member of the Coburn Corners Church of Christ October 10, 1903, and served faithfully in its ministries until God called her from this life's existence. The giving of her life and the lives of her children to Christ and the church was done willingly and with great pride.

Her life's testimony can be summed up in the words of Holy Scripture: "Strength and honor are her clothing . . . . in her tongue is the law of kindness. . . she east not the bread of idleness . . . . her children rise up and call her blessed . . . . a woman who reverently and worshipfully fears the Lord . . ." (Proverbs 31).

On March 1, 1970, she departed this life at her home at the age of eighty-seven.

Did you know—

—that the children of Ira and Elva Hook were hosts to a dinner party, held Sunday, February 22, at Colonial Manor in Bryan, Ohio, in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. Their children and families were all present, except one granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dorsey of Kansas City, Kansas. Also attending were Miss Cathie Cranford of Fort Wayne and Mrs. Lela Miller, sister of Mr. Hook. She and her late husband, Walter H. Miller, were attendants at the Hooks' wedding. Out of town guests included those from Chattanooga, Findlay, Bryan, Ada, Fort Wayne, Saint Joe, Great Lakes Naval Station, Butler, Montpelier, Bluffton, Auburn and Quincy, Michigan. Following the reception at the church, all the family were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vanec Hook and daughters.

More Than Fault-Finding

It has been interesting to note the reactions to my comments two weeks ago about parking and stop signs in "Around the Town With the Editor." They range from embarrased apologies for wrong-side parking to the accusation that I run stop signs, too.

As one who regularly expresses private thoughts publicly in print, I am aware of the fact that a certain percentage of people is going to take offense, in a sense, at having been "caught" and they will immediately go on the defensive with the thought something like, "He should talk; he's no angel." They justify their errors by pointing out someone else's errors.

However there is a danger involved in NOT pointing out some of these public matters such as wrong-side parking. Just because everyone else makes mistakes or breaks the law occasionally, too, doesn't mean every one must keep quiet. The danger is that, if restraint in offering criticisms is exercised one hundred per cent, then there is little need for any law. In other words, if I am not supposed to make an issue of persistent wrong-side parking simply because I have violated a law sometime myself, a totally permissive society is the result when we all practice the same silence. And with the fruits of our present premissive-bound society now evident in disrespect for parents, adults, elders, experience, authority and law, it would seem that perhaps we, as individuals in a society, have not spoken often enough in pointing out the pitfalls of disregarding basic everyday common sense conformity. Small troubles lead to big troubles.

A very important phrase may have been overlooked or forgotten by those who read my comments. "Once in a while" was the phrase which qualified my concern over the parking matter, as the persistent wrong-side parking was made an object of public review. My comments did not condemn EVERY such act of parking; they allowed for "once in a while" occurrences. It is the continued and general everyday practice which was criticized. The trouble is, though, that "once in a while" so often becomes "every day."

Another thing. Some people may think that I have made myself a self-appointed policeman. They do not know—I didn't think it was necessary to mention—that the article was prompted in part by a local citizen who, some time ago, said, "You ought to put something in the paper about this — — parking."

And another thing. The primary purpose for such an expression of concern was public safety—and private pocketbooks! Wrong-side parkers are STILL behind the eight-ball when an accident occurs. And the way public liability suits go nowadays, it is foolish to be too lazy to park correctly and walk a few more steps.

And did anyone ever hear of the idea of turning a block sooner to come up on the right side of the street for the post office, instead of wrong-side parking? — and instead of whipping around in a U-turn as one of our local adult drivers did this week, at the busiest time for traffic in the afternoon, when school was out, factory workers were stopping at the post office and people were generally more in circulation than at any other time of the day.

This is no attempt just to "catch" people — fault-finding. The purpose is to point out things that have been seen and heard, and pass it along for the public's benefit.

SAINT JOE VALLEY HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Club met at the home of Doris Yoiser February 20, with six members attending. We are sorry to report so many of our members ill with the flu, but hope they will soon be out with us again.

The meeting was opened by the president, Doris Yoiser, with the reading of the Home Economics Creed in unison.

Devotions were given by Eva Clauser. She read the 37th chapter of Psalms. It reminded us again what our Lord will do for us if we keep our faith and courage and believe in Him.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. With so few of us to sing it, she played it through on the piano.

The secretary's report was given by the secretary and stood approved as read.

Roll call was answered by giving the life of some famous person, this being February and the birth month of two very famous Presidents. They were of course foremost in our minds.

Pat Roberts reported on the vice presidents meeting she had attended and asked the members to fill out the papers, choosing their lessons for next year.

The president then asked what we would like for our goal this year. It was voted we again help with the Bloodmobile, also help sponsor a youth from Indiana for Overseas Student Exchange Program.

Our project for March will be crocheting pearls into strings of beads.

As the close of our meeting drew near, our hearts and minds were with a very dear member who was called to her Heavenly Home. We will always miss Mary Baker for she was a great asset to our club and always a willing worker.

As you gaze at this scene of snow, ice, and leafless trees, your mind may skip ahead and picture green grass, abundant foliage, and a rippling stream. The very thought brings happiness. Spring makes the difference.

As grass, trees, and streams are fettered by winter, so some lives are bound by doubt, unbelief, lack of faith, and false ideas. When they come in contact with the Church, the love of God sets them free. They see new beauty in everything about them, and others see new beauty in their lives. As spring brings all nature to new life, so God's love makes human beings happier, gives them life more abundant.

No matter how strong the fetters which bind you, freedom can be yours through the Church and the message it brings to all. Why not accept that freedom today?

Junior League
By Forrest Bevington, Director

The regular season for the Junior League basketball is over. Fifteen Saturday mornings of fast basketball by 87 eager boys makes a program well worth the time and energy spent.

In the first game of the morning, the Reds, led by Roberts and Mansfield, won by a score of 35 to 28. Rick Rinard, in a losing cause, was high scorer with 16 points.

The second game was won by the Blues 23 to 9. Bruce Laub was high scorer with 10 points.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

At least I know that one person reads The News.

Jack Bowser picked a bone with me this week. I hadn't changed his telephone number in his ad, and somebody was trying to get in touch with Jack with the old number, after consulting the local newspaper.

The new number is now in the ad—and I know that one person is reading the paper.

Jack also said what with the driving and parking remarks I've made lately, he panics every time he drives now, wondering if he's breaking any law.

—Well—almost every time.

A couple of suggestions have been made by residents of town that a few homemakers have the unsightly habit of leaving their trash cans at the curb all the time. Consideration for the community as a whole dictates that such cans be kept out of obvious public sight and placed at the curb only for the day of pickup.

Mrs. Carpenter's column about the Girl Scouts brings the reminder that the "thanks" I gave to Boy Scout leaders a few weeks ago is just as appropriate for Girl Scout adult workers.

And while both organizations seem to be involved so much of the time in raising money, the most valuable lesson or example for both the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts is not their projects, not the response of the community in supporting money needs, but rather in the time given to them by their leaders. There is no greater gift than that of time devoted to others. It says, "I care about you."

Girl Scouts—Boy Scouts— remember this. Your Scoutmasters, their assistants, and all the other adults who help, care about you.

Engaged To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Church of Rt Saint Joe have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lynda Anne, to Stephen I. Baughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Baughman of Butler.

Miss Church is a graduate of Eastside High School and is employed by General Telephone Company at Fort Wayne.

LYNDA ANNE CHURCH

Mr. Baughman is also a graduate of Eastside High School and is presently serving in the armed forces.

An August 29 wedding is planned in St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

What Is A Girl Scout?

GIRL SCOUT WEEK, March 8-14

—from Mrs. Barbara Carpenter, Rt Butler, Indiana

Do you think of a Girl Scout as a cookie seller dressed in green? This is the distorted image we would like to correct. Yes, we sell cookies (we only get 6 cents a box for the troop); but we only sell cookies to raise the money to pay for our camping equipment, take trips to visit manufacturing plants, radio and TV stations, etc., to maintain our established camps and day camps, to give camperships to those girls who could not otherwise attend.

But most important to a Girl Scout is service to others. Are you aware of the many services given by your local Girl Scouts? Even Brownie Girl Scouts (2nd and 3rd grade) make tray favors for nursing homes on various holidays, carol at Christmas, make bookmarks for libraries, help their mothers while they learn to work, play and sing together. They learn to work together in committees. Junior Girl Scouts (4th through 6th grade) make tray favors, read to older people, make toys for church nursery classes, serve their various churches by helping with records, cleaning, nursery classes, flag ceremonies for P.T.O. meetings, etc.

Cadette Girl Scouts do all these things plus many others such as baby sitting for P.T.O. and patterning for palsied or birth defect children and what tremendous pride these girls must feel when they see a crippled child walk for the first time. Cadette Girl Scouts help with Brownies and Junior Girl Scouts. Cadette Girl Scouts take care of adult volunteer children at camping facilities like Camp Agnes McMillen. They take trips to Indianapolis to see how our government works, they camp and live outdoors to learn more of nature. They study and learn first aid so in time of need they can offer their services to their churches and yet they are still asking the community agencies, social services, hospitals, etc., "What can we do to help?"

Our slogan this year is "Awareness In Action" and we hope with your help in the community we can show that we are aware of needs and act on them. If you have a need for service from a Girl Scout troop, call your local leader or call Mrs. Barbara Carpenter, Service Team Chairman, 868-2596. Remember, every Girl Scout leader is a volunteer. Her only pay is the girls' "Thank you for teaching, taking and helping me."

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

—Loreta Musser, Reporter

On March 4, 1970, Mrs. Lela Northrup was hostess to the Literary Club. After call to order by the president, the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated.

The lesson on Canada was very well presented by Mrs. Albert Wade who has visited the country various times and stressed fishing was not the only lure to the many visitors there. Along with the lesson, she had slides of scenic beauty to prove her statement.

Two-word play quizze were given by Mrs. Forrest Bevington for entertainment.

After the business meeting, the critic, Mrs. Roy Baker, gave a short report and the meeting was adjourned.

The hostess served refreshments.

Season's End

—by Phil Haberkorn

The 1969-1970 basketball season proved to be another one of frustration for Eastside High School. In 20 contests (19 season and one in the state tournament) the Blazers managed only four victories. Their 4-15 win-loss record placed them seventh in the nine-team Allen County Athletic Conference.

According to the ACAC final statistics based on all games played by each team, Eastside finished as high as 4th in total offensive point total and offensive average-per-game. However, they were last in the conference in both total points allowed and average defense-per-game. They were outscored at a rate of eight points per game.

There was one bright spot in Eastside's dark journey this past year: the contributions of Charlie Ross. A junior, Ross had the highest point average-per-game (22.36) in the league; he also scored more field goals than anyone else, 173. Included among his accomplishments is the ownership of the school's one-game scoring record. On two occasions he poured in 38 points to Eastside's cause, shattering the old mark of 31 held by Bob Gerber. Ross's play isn't fully appreciated until his totals are compared with that of the team's. His 425 total points, second-best in be league, are little less than one-third of the team's 1359. Besides Deo Wasson, he was the only Blazer to score more than 190 points.

The Woodlan Warriors were the conference headliners this year. The Warriors won the conference championship, won the conference tourney for the third straight year, and their final statistics dominate the top positions in the standings.

John Kammeyer, a senior at Woodlan, took the individual point total crown with 428, three more than Ross of Eastside. His 20.38 average was third best in the league. The Warriors' 18 victories were five more than their closest rivals. They outscored their opponents at a rate of 15 points per game. Leo came in second in that category with a six-point average victory margin.

Final ACAC standings:

Woodlan 18-3; Leo 13-6; Churubusco 13-7; Carroll 13-7; Norwell 12-9; Southern Wells 6-14; Eastside 4-15; Heritage 4-15; Adams Central 3-16.

Final player averages:
(Player-team-games-total points and average per game)

Charlie Ross EHS	19	425	22.36
Rick Minnich AC	19	397	20.89
John Kammeyer W	21	428	20.38
Jeff Schenher 'Busco	20	352	17.60
Bruce Linker H	19	334	17.57

Eastside's leading scorers (based on ACAC statistics):

Charlie Ross, junior	19	425	22.36
Keith Kessler, sr.	11	165	15.00

The DeKalb Barons captured the DeKalb Sectional Tournament for the second straight year, then lost to Fort Wayne North Side in the Regional for the second straight year.

The Barons slipped by Prairie Heights 81-76 in overtime in the semi-final round of the Sectional, then sank the Hamilton Marines 81-50 in the title game.

At the Fort Wayne Coliseum, the Barons sought revenge for a 47-45 loss to North a year ago. Instead, the Redskins repeated the feat, 54-52.

DeKalb Sectional scores:

Hamilton Marines 53, Angola Hornets 51.
DeKalb Barons 84, Eastside Blazers 63.
Prairie Heights Panthers 70, Garrett Railroaders 66.
Hamilton 63, Fremont Eagles 41.
DeKalb 81, Prairie Heights 76.
DeKalb 81, Hamilton 50.

DeKalb's Steve Post, a senior, captured the scoring title hands down in the Northeastern Indiana Conference as the Barons won the NEIC championship. Post's 186 points in eight league games for a 23.25 average led the Barons to an undefeated mark in the conference (8-0), just good enough to nose out Bluffton, 8-1. The Barons' average victory margin was a whopping 16.5 points per game, but Bluffton led that column with a 21.11 average scoring advantage.

NEIC standings:
DeKalb 8-0; Bluffton 8-1; Columbia City 6-2; East Noble 5-3; Garrett 4-4; South Adams 3-4; Belmont 2-6; Concordia (Fort Wayne) 2-6; New Haven 1-6; Angola 0-8.

NEIC scoring:

Van, Col. City	8	161	20.12
Houlihan, Bluffton	9	173	19.22
Braun, Belmont	9	158	17.55

Of Lent - And Revivals

With several revival meetings scheduled in churches throughout the area during the next several days, my thoughts turned to the relationship between these revival-type congregations and the larger creed-based denominations such as my own Lutheran church. I had to admit that not too many years ago, I did not have much sympathy for the other churches and the sometimes emotion-slanted approach in their worship.

In the past few years, however, I have altered my outlook. And while I do not consider emotion as a solid basis on which to build faith, there nevertheless is emotion involved in the Christian faith because we humans are emotional creatures.

So, granting allowance for the differences in people, it now seems more reasonable to accept any approach to the Christian faith based on certain common-sense fundamentals. For instance, it's better to have people in the churches than not to have them there. That sounds silly, but under today's circumstances, the criticism over how badly the churches have been doing as organized Christian groups demoralizes church people, and they either quit or fight. Most of them quit. If they quit, and are not present when the Bible is preached, the Word of God is unheard. If it isn't heard, there is little chance for anything to be absorbed. It is foolish to expect fruits of Biblical inspiration if fewer and fewer people are listening.

The value of our diversity in the Christian faith did not really strike home with me until I heard the grumblings of misunderstanding coming from many members of churches which have undergone mergers with one another. It sounds like a worthwhile goal, to unite Christians as much as possible in one body. The idea is to have greater strength to fight the ills and evils of the world through a more united effort.

But uniting does not necessarily bring the desired results. Various denominations have varying practices in their teaching and in their worship. I have heard enough people complain about their merger to know that they are no more aware of "unity" than they were before it was a literal fact. The give-and-take compromising needed to bring two or more groups together has not really united Christians, except that they now are identified by fewer official names. This points out the fact that real unity is not in physical efforts but really is in the spirit.

I am more concerned, therefore, with getting people to church and trust that the Bible will do the necessary uniting. I do not feel the urge to attend any of the revivals that are coming, but I know there are those for whom such meetings have real meaning; I am glad for them. In a similar way, they do not feel the need to observe Lent as a special season of meditation on the meaning of the Cross and its challenge to believers, as I feel such need. We are both, therefore, going different ways, but our goal is still the same, fundamentally.

I think it's great that we have as many denominations as we do. It gives a person the opportunity to exercise his God-given freedom to worship our God as each sees fit. As long as we mutually respect one another's way of seeking communion with God, there is no need to worry about "unity"; it's already there. I do shudder occasionally to think that the kind of literal unity sought by many church leaders has such a tremendous potential to enslave Christians unwittingly by forcing them to accept standards and practices which have little or no meaning to them, in order to achieve mergers.

God bless my church and its Lenten observance. God bless the revivals of the other churches, and may we all strive for sincerity in what we do in our witness as Christians.

In unity of spirit, there is strength. In diversity of practice, there is freedom.

Assessing Is Late

County assessing for 1970 personal property tax is being delayed until after March 17, according to County Assessor Clayton Hartman. The assessor stated that the necessary forms were not available in time and a meeting bewteen the townships assessors and the county commissioners to set livestock and grain values had not been held.

This year, automobiles, motorcycles and motor-driven campers will not be assessed for taxes, but owners will pay an excise tax when they buy their 1971 license plates.

Trucks, along with boats, motors, airplanes, tractors, campers both pull type and truck mounted, buses and antique vehicles, will be subject to personal property appraisement.

Dog licenses are available at township assessor offices or at the county assessor's office. The fee for dogs is $1 for males, $3 for females, $1 for spayed females, $5 each additional dog.

Jimmy weighs a full ten pounds only when he's full of formula. But to his daddy, he's the weight of the whole world when its time for that 2 A.M. feeding. What a chore it is, but it allows plenty of time for thinking:

What kind of man will Jimmy grow up to be? What kind of father will I be to him? How can I keep him from following the wrong crowd? How can I help him to value the worthwhile things? How can I give him a solid foundation for life?

The responsibility that parenthood places on people is a heavy weight. A sensible man can't take it lightly. But the Church can help him bear it wisely. In church he will discover those enduring values, something against which to measure his own standards—and, as he finds these things for himself, he will pass them on to his son.

The church can't rear your children for you, but it can help you as you do the job. It's a champion weight-lifter.

CC Report

—By Mabel Rinard
Finance Secretary

The Finance Committee for the Building Fund of the Spencerville Community Club met Sunday, March 8, to check the progress of the door to door canvassing of homes and business establishments in the area.

As of this date, we have collected $7,557.00 and have pledges of $5,302.00, which is only a little over halfway to our $25,000 goal set in order to replace our recreation building.

The new building will be 108x60 feet, an all-steel Cuckler Building, and is to be located in the four acres of land recently purchased in 1969 as a park or playground site. Like the old one, it will provide a home for meetings, dinners, dance and baton lessons, athletic events, and most of all a place for supervised teenage recreation for young folks for miles around almost every night.

We thank everyone who has donated and sincerely hope the effort continues to be as great to help us secure necessary funds that we need to replace our recreation center.

Anyone desiring to make a donation who has not been contacted may do so by sending it to Spencerville Community Building Fund, Box 25000, Spencerville, Indiana 46788, or by contacting any of the following:

Saint Joe—Janet Heyman, Hud Shockley and Paul Moore.

Spencer Township and Spencerville—Frances Doll, Pauline Baumgartner, Atden Dwyer, Charlotte Hudson, Mabel Rinard, Margaret Jacobson, Gladys Akey, Janice Bowser, Mrs. Glenn Geyer, Ethelyn Miller, Barbara Longbrake, Bob Wilder, Bob Jacobson, Gale Bowser, Lavon Hart, Frank Laub, Glenn Moore, Jim Rinard and Max Markle.

Concord Township—Jim Hudson, Ford Hudson and Bob Arnett.

Jackson Township—Mr. and Mrs. Junior Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mann and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sponhower.

Newville—Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hicov, Mr. and Mrs. Vanee Hook and Dale Harter.

Butler—Debbie Warstler.

Junior League

By Forrest Bevington, Director

The All-Star games are now history. The Junior League basketball season is over. 39 eager boys have had 16 weeks of thrilling participation in basketball.

The Orange All-Star boys won the first-two-of-three tourney by defeating the Red All-Stars. The first game was 24-12. The second game was 28-26.

The Reds, without the help of three players, gave an excellent account of the ability to give their best in a losing cause.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

Twenty-five local members and two visitors were present at our meeting Monday evening, March 9. The visitors were district governor Glenn Stebie and his number one assistant, Bob Moore.

At our next meeting we will entertain the Eastside basketball team, their coach, manager, cheer leaders and other personnel.

President Harold Curie reported that six families have requested a chance to entertain a youth exchange guest if we should be so lucky as to get one. He asked for volunteers to help sponsor the activities of the Eastside students and friends immediately following the Junior Prom.

Forrest Bevington, our director of recreation at Riverdale, reported 55 boys signed up for baseball. He reported that last year, the boys picked up 37,000 pieces of rubbish along the roads in our community. I do hope that they don't find so much this year because that would make it look like we didn't learn anything last year and that we don't care if someone does have to clean up after us. It's just as though we would not take off our rubbers nor wipe dirt off our shoes, throw paper and other junk on the floor and then expect our mothers, our wives or our children to clean up after us.

Ralph Keeler gave a short report on what our $15.00 dues pay for. He reported that the first $6.00 goes to Lions International and this pays for the upkeep of the International offices, branch offices, equipment, convention, literature, insurance, travel for officers, etc. Lion Keeler insists that no other service club gets so much for six dollars per member.

Most of the balance of this $15.00 per member goes to our national projects, eye bank, leader dog, cancer fund and care. This last item, care, seems to cover just about everything. For example, last year it built a school building in Honduras. Keeler reported that our local club puts an average of $75.00 into each of these projects each year. Keeler figured that we all know that all of this would use up all of our $15.00 dues and we would not have one thin dime left for our local projects. Maybe that is the reason for having a tail twister who can levy 10-cent fines at his own discretion.

Our own tail twister, Harold Murphy, didn't even fine anyone Monday evening, but he did decide that we all needed a permanent social security number card built into a genuine imitation leather folder; price $2.00. It is also rumored that he was a contact man in the gift of all that equipment Rural Youth gave to us. The committee that picked up those articles that were stored at the county farm did not know that there was a large pie case and a griddle stored at the Dean Smith home. So Harold Curie and Howard Timmerman got the job of picking them up. All of this will save us a lot of money and boy do we need it because the fire wiped us out and the club has decided we will not change our budget and the budget committee had arranged to spend the money that we didn't have but that they hoped that we would make.

Following this, President Curie introduced District Governor Glenn Stebie who continued for a while in the same vein of thought, spending money. He emphasized that a club's local projects come first. With most of our dues already spent on national projects, there is nothing else to do except continue with our ice cream social and our hamburger stand at the fair if we are to continue sponsoring the Boy Scouts, the Riverdale recreation program, etc.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Congratulations to Gene and Annabelle Stafford at the Waterloo Press. They recently observed their 11th anniversary.

Well, not exactly Gene and Annabelle—it was really the newspaper's birthday. But the Staffords are seeing that it gets out each week.

The Waterloo paper is the oldest in the county, first printed in 1859. Gene dug up the interesting data that 100 years ago there were 17 newspapers in the county. Now there are only five—at Waterloo, Butler, Auburn, Garrett and Saint Joe.

The census report in September of 1870 was as follows, according to Gene:

Franklin Township 1,243, an increase of 35 from 1860.

Butler Township 1,209, an increase of 236.

Union Township (including Waterloo and Auburn) 3,065, an increase of 878.

Waterloo Town 1,259, an increase of 63.

Auburn Town 667, an increase of 38.

Wilmington Township 2,204, an increase of 605.

Newville Township 842, an increase of 131.

Stafford Township 584, an increase of 43.

Troy Township 880, an increase of 109.

Concord Township 1,472, a decrease of 4.

Butler Village 884.

Newville Village 206.

Spencerville Village 198.

The population fell below the estimated 18,000, according to the report in 1870.

Saint Joe wasn't even born yet.

Rush and Thelma Holtzburg are going their separate ways—next week he will visit his parents in Florida, riding with the Stivers, and she will visit her 84-year-old mother in Pittsburgh. Thelma is a Pirate fan, and is moaning because the baseball season won't be started when she visits out east and so she won't have an opportunity to see her team play.

Mrs. Forrest Resor of Spencerville passes along the word that Rick Rinard, son of Jim and Mabel Rinard, recently rolled a 202 in the Bantam Bowling League at Auburn. The league is for students in grades 1 to 6.

Rick's score is a new high for the league.

The way Republicans in Indiana are acting at the top levels, you'd think they have forgotten there is an election this year.

What with the threats of firings, and the firings, and the other shenanigans, Senator Vance Hartke may find himself walking home free—while the GOP cuchres itself.

Why can't ANYBODY who wants to run for ANY office and who is qualified do so now or later without tearing this opportune year to shreds? As a voter, I don't like the power politics that seem to be going on.

Pickle Factory Seeks More Growers

Sechlers, known over the nation for outstanding pickle products, is seeking to expand its source of raw materials for the coming summer. In other words, the local processing plant wants more pickles.

Frank Sechler, president of the firm, has used tongue-in-cheek advertising to promote a sizeable acreage in this community devoted to raising pickles. His "put the wife and kids to work" has brought some smiles—and some not-too-happy expressions. But the sales pitch is not intended as a joke; there is a good opportunity to earn a good chunk of cash with a small patch of pickles.

There is one catch to it, and "the pickle man" doesn't hesitate pointing it out to prospective small growers. That catch is that when pickles begin maturing, the grower must be ready to pick, constantly and daily. There's no time to play around, Mr. Sechler says, but the hard work is rewarded in the prices paid for the harvested crop.

So—if anyone does want to put the wife and kids to work this summer—and no foolin'—contact the local pickle factory.

—And you'll need an acre of ground, too.

Bake Sale

Members of the Saint Joe Boy Scout Troop will hold a bake sale Saturday, March 21, at the News Office in Saint Joe.

The sale will start at 9:30 a.m. and the public is invited to patronize the fund-raising project.

Revivals Continue

The Newville Church of Christ will hold its revivial meetings this week, Monday through Sunday, March 16 through 22.

The meetings will be conducted by Dr. Eubanks and Prof. Rood of Johnson Bible College.

Frank Lillie of Garrett will be the evangelist for revival meetings to be held at Coburn Corners Church of Christ Sunday through Friday, March 22 through 27. The services will be held at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Larry Smith, minister at the Coburn Corners church, extends an invitation to the community to attend the special services.

Letters to the Editor

We hear lots these days about the rising costs of medical care and how greedy M.D.s are grabbing too big a slice of the Medicare and Medicaid cake which was half baked and ready to serve before any M.D. was ever invited or agreed to participate in the feast. It seems regretable that all involved in providing health services, eg., private doctors, nurses, hospitals, nursing homes and pharmacies, should all be hung up together to die by one rope, Title XIX Medicaid tailored and enforced by legislative branches of our federal government composed of 55% to 70% respectively judiciary viewpoint. (U.S. Senate from Indiana is 100% judiciary view.)

Federal intervention in the private affairs of health care via Title XIX Medicaid is the last step before complete and total socialization of all health care in the U.S. This wicked law should be replaced before it leads us to the end of the road of our incentive oriented society like it did England (eye witness).

Speaking of fees, there are still some M.D.'s around who work long and hard out of compassion with little regard for fees. But wouldn't it be nice to slice and eat that $827,000 cake half baked and served by the judiciary to the judiciary out of the pockets of the taxpayers for the smooth settlement of the Marion County M.T.A. inheritance tax hassle. Sounds like those of the judiciary viewpoint could stand a change of views or perhaps we don't really need the legislative and-or executive branches of government? He who relinquishes responsibility assigned by the Almighty shall die without privilege—a slave! Government has no legitimate responsibility assuming ours.

The 'New' Misses Mark

The announcement was made last week of a "new" translation of the books which make up the Holy Bible. The headline in one newspaper emphasized the expected appeal to youth because of the use of everyday or common terms to replace the "old" language of the King James version and of later revised versions. The New English Bible announced this week is the result of the joint efforts of several religious bodies of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

The "new" Boble is not really new; the New Testament portion was published in 1961. Since that time, the Old Testament has been completed, and with the combination of the two, the "new" Bible has come forth.

I have made periodic use of the New English New Testament version since its publication. It has some good points for the most part, and it has its failures. But none of these failures are as disturbing as appear in another translation recently published under the title, "Good News Unto Modern Man." While the portions I have heard are, generally speaking acceptable, there have been two specific instances where the change in words has taken away significant meaning rather than adding to understanding of the scriptures.

Recently I heard the "Beatitudes" read in church, from the fifth chapter of Matthew, as translated in "Good News Unto Modern Man." The word "happy" has been substituted for the word "blessed." I have a limited education as far as the Bible is concerned in concentrated study. But I do know that the preservation of the holy or Godly significance of Biblical revelations is essential to an understanding of the Christian faith. The word "blessed" has infinitely greater significance in religious terms than does the word "happy." One has a God-gift significance; the other has a wordly emotion suggestion which virtually appeals to selfishness.

At a time when religious and moral values are being not only challenged but also questioned, at a time when youth is striving to find some meaning to life (being led to believe by liberal new-idea critics that their parents and the older generation don't care about any "meaning"), there is great need to challenge youth to lift themselves up to God, not seek to bring him down to their level. New translations may serve a good purpose; I do not question that good. However, it is of a limited nature. We are destroying the challenge of self-discovery by making everything easier, including the understanding of the Bible. Pointedly, we are destroying the holiness of the Bible by substituting words of worldly appeal for words which preserve the recognition of God's involvement in man's everyday existence.

Having been belabored for some time now with scripture readings from "Good News Unto Modern Man," I accept "new" translations with deliberate reservation. The appeal of something "new" to today's liberals, both in church circles and in society as a whole, is an appeal which ought to be challenged. In this instance, one of the most significant passages in the Bible, the "Beatitudes," loses its meaning of God-gift when, instead of being "blessed" or "blest," we are only "happy." What does "happy" mean ???

The King James version of the Bible, universally recognized for its simplicity and beautiful language, remains as the backbone of Biblical revelation. I certainly don't believe it is faultless. But I do believe that its "antiquated language," as some call it, is more conducive to an attitude of supplication with its "thees" and "thous" than are modern translations with their "you" and "yours." No one finds God until he looks up. And words do have the power to make us look up.

A person does not grow strong by letting someone else do the exercises. The scholars who worked 350 years ago to combine the scattered translations of God-inspired men carried out a task which should not be discarded as just the first in a series of translation efforts. Granting the need for correction of recognized errors, it still remains for any believer to use that first authorized English-language translation as a foundation of faith. Such individual use, such "exercise" in seeking an understanding of one's self and communion with God, is far more valuable than the concentrated use of "common language" translations.

My concern is due to the "historical-critical" approach to the Bible, led by liberal elements within the church who are bent on throwing out "the old" and placing total confidence in "the new." Much is destroyed by this approach and little if anything is offered to take its place.

Why this religious "kick"? Because our nation's predicament parallels that of the church—the pressure for "newness' and its supposed ability to solve today's problems. The foundation of religion is in the past. The foundation of this nation is in religion. "New" efforts in both must be strongly tempered by the past, or both will surely fail.

Others say. . . .

Midi Is A Hoax

Washington.—We are told by those people who make the fashion rules that hemlines are going down this year whether anybody likes it or not; the so-called midiskirt will replace the miniskirt, and there isn't a darn thing men can do about it.

But there is a small group fighting back. Known simply as LMA, which stands for Leg Men of America, this group has vowed to destroy the midi and all it represents.

The President of the Leg Men of America is Gordon Manning, who received me in his basement office with a large view of the sidewalk above.

Manning said, "It's outrageous. The midi is an affront to every Leg Man in the country."

"How many Leg Men would you say there are in the nation at this moment?" I asked.

"There are at the present time 61,935,263 men who could qualify as Leg Men, not counting our armed forces abroad.

"These men represent every economic, religious and cultural group in the nation, and they have no intention of standing by and seeing hemlines go down below the knees."

"But what can they do?"

"We are serving notice through the press media that if women go along with this ridiculous fad, they will lose the interest and admiration of the majority of the male population in the United States."

"That's a tough threat."

"We intend to stand by it. The days when the French, Italian and American dress designers can declare where they will put the hemline on the leg are over. We will decide."

"But how?" I protested.

"We're not going to look."

"You're not going to look?"

"You heard me. We are sending out orders to Leg Men all over the country that they are not to look at a girl wearing a midi."

"Will the Leg Men obey the order?"

"Why not?" said Manning. "There is nothing to see anyway.

"When women wore the miniskirts, millions and millions of man-hours were spent, pleasurable hours I might add, looking at the legs that went with them.

"The women responded by walking straighter, smarter and sexier. When seated, a woman wearing a mini could hold the attention of any man in the room. And we all know the thrill the mini brought to fellow drivers, particularly when the girl in the miniskirt was driving a minicar. But with the midi there will be absolutely nothing for a man to look at, and those wasted man-hours will be used to increase the gross national product, which will probably contribute to inflation."

"Then it's not just fashion but economic ruin you're predicting for the country?"

"Correct," said Manning. "The dress manufacturers who have covered the knee will have a lot of explaining to do."

"Mr. Manning, if your no-look campaign succeeds and all the Leg Men in America refuse to eye any female wearing a midi, how long do you think it will take to get women back to the mini?"

"Not very long. Once a woman realizes that no one is looking at her, she will immediately lose interest in the midi-length hemline. To speed up the process the Leg Men of America will finance instant shearing booths in all the major cities where a woman can stop and have her midi cut off to mini length painlessly and free of charge."

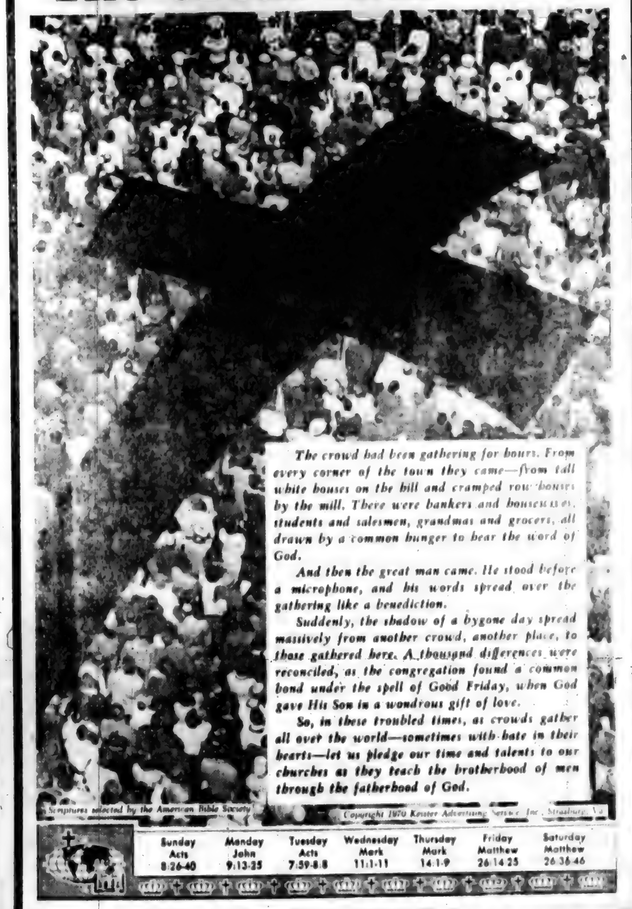
The Great Man Came



The crowd had been gathering for hours. From every corner of the town they came—from tall white houses on the hill and cramped row houses by the mill. There were bankers and housewives, students and salesmen, grandmas and grocers, all drawn by a common hunger to hear the word of God.

And then the great man came. He stood before a microphone, and his words spread over the gathering like a benediction.

Suddenly, the shadow of a bygone day spread massively from another crowd, another place, to those gathered here. A thousand differences were reconciled, as the congregation found a common bond under the spell of Good Friday, when God gave His Son in a wondrous gift of love.

So, in these troubled times, as crowds gather all over the world—sometimes with hate in their hearts—let us pledge our time and talents to our churches as they teach the brotherhood of men through the fatherhood of God.

SENIOR CLASS PARTY

On Monday, March 9, the senior class went to Club Olympia in Fort Wayne for a class party. There was a big turnout and the class thoroughly enjoyed the water activities. After a long swim, the class ate out. Everyone is sure this is one class party they will never forget.

CONVOCATION

On Wednesday, March 11, the Eastside student body was honored by the presence of a group from the Calvary Temple. They were led by Reverend Paino along with a musical group which consisted of 22 high school students, John, a college student who almost lost his life for drugs, Clara, a 26 year old converted drug addict, Penny, an art student at Fort Wayne Art School who got mixed up with witchcraft, and Ralph, who used to belong to a gang war and who is now an ex drug addict.

The assembly was enjoyed by all the students and especially by about 50 students who were able to talk to the guests after the program. These students were able to ask some very important questions that are in the minds of many students and parents alike who are afraid to ask them.

Reverend Paino stated after the assembly that their church, Calvary Temple, is open to any one of our students who would like to attend. Penny, John and Clara will be at most of the Sunday evening services and will be quite pleased to talk with anyone.

G.A.A. VOLLEYBALL

The second meet of the G.A.A. volleyball team of Eastside met at Lee High School March 12. Other schools participating in the meet were Lee, Churubusco and Woodlan.

The first games were under way at 6:00 p.m. Eastside was defeated by Woodlan 15-4. The second game was also a defeat of 14-16 but was much closer. Eastside then played Lee and was defeated 15-5. The second game again was much closer and defeat was harder at 13-15. The final school Eastside played was Churubusco with a first game defeat of 15-5. The second game, although, was an exact turnabout and Eastside is happy to announce a win of 15-5. Since each side both won one game, a third game was played to determine the winner of the two out of three games. The last game was a defeat 15-4.

BASKETBALL

On March 12 the Eastside "Has Beens" played the Eastside "Will Bees." The game was played after school because of the crowded schedule of the students involved.

The "Has Beens" led at the half 20-19, but the "Will Bees" were able to break away the second half and won by a score of 54-39. A large crowd of students were present to watch the game.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Homemakers Club met Tuesday, March 10, 1970, in the home of Miss Ida Reed for a 12 noon luncheon. The food and table appointments were in keeping with the memory of St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland.

Following the luncheon, the business meeting was conducted by our president, Inez Smith, who gave a report of the council meeting. Other items of business were discussed and decided up on in the regular manner.

For the April 14 meeting, the group decided to have a luncheon at some place in Auburn and then attend the Craft School that same afternoon.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Inez Smith, Mrs. Sarah Amstutz, Mrs. Marie Ward, Mrs. Bernlece Wilder, Mrs. Lois Fisher, Mrs. Marvel Kessler, Miss Ida Reed and Mrs. Bina McKay.

VOLUME LXXXV | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, March 26, 1970 | NUMBER 13

It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly, who errs and comes short again; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly; so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A few weeks ago I expressed my appreciation for the prompt service given by I&M's line crew in correcting a problem. But I forgot to mention a vital link in the service pattern. I'm talking about the gals who answer the telephone and see to it that the message goes out on the two-way radio to the service crews. The whole bunch does a fine job.

Saturday night I was struck by the difference in circumstances that occur but with visual similarity. What I mean is—Saturday night I ran up to Butler to drop in at John and Shawn Stiver's wedding reception for a few minutes before coming back south for Fort Wayne and a job with Bob Snowball and the Snowflakes. The reception was at the home of Shawn's parents. There were many people, friends and relatives; there were many cars.

A few minutes later, I passed another bunch of cars, looked in a window as I passed and saw, once again, many friends and relatives gathered. It was then that it struck me that you never know just by looks what is going on, just by what the eye sees, that similar appearances may have entirely opposite meanings. You see, the second gathering was at Baidinger-Walter Funeral Home at Spencerville, and the people were friends and relatives of the Bill Hursts.

In a few minutes, cars and people meant first great joy, then deep sadness.

—And that is life.

For anyone who might have no church ties but wants to attend Easter sunrise services, it could be a problem—there are so many choices. If it was me, I'd think about going to Mt. Pleasant to learn "The Meaning of Easter"—but I don't know if they're having the biggest breakfast!

Do you realize that 1970 is 25% gone already!

Yippee—fellas, all is not lost yet! Did you see where the gals in New York have formed an organization called "GAMS"—that stands for "Girls Against More Skirt." So, it looks like maybe the enemy (fashion designers) can be defeated despite their apparent hypnotic power of the past.

Cliff Millnor had a bit in his column Tuesday in Fort Wayne about the matter; he favors retaining mini's, too. He says they add "aesthetic" value. Aesthetic—that means "WOW!"

He also quoted two letters on the subject, pro and con, from two of his readers.

And in Washington, D.C., Barbara Katz, 27-year-old member of Senator Birch Bayh's staff, is leading a minivolt in the capitol, distributing petitions and posters to gain support against longer skirts. "Madam Pompidou may look good in a midi," says Barbara, "but she's another generation." Mini's are comfortable, Barbara says, and "if your legs are attractive, what's wrong with showing them off. The mini is sappier."

—I'll buy that.

What is most gratifying, however, is that the women are finally revolting against the fashion designers who have always told women what they ought to wear. This is a nice "system," guaranteeing more bucks in the designers' pockets when milady must buy a new wardrobe to conform with fashion changes every year.

At last the women are rising up—on their two legs, I might add—and telling the designers a thing or two.

—They might include in their efforts the matter of these clods the designers call shoes. What woman has been able to find a plain common ordinary pair of dress heels in the last year?

Speaking of legs—if you want to know how effective those "Ugly Duckling" hose can be that are advertised on TV, just ask Esther.

Over 100 At PTO; Connie Hol'baugh New President

Connie Hollabaugh was elected president for the 1970-71 school year. Other officers elected are Bill Hudson, vice-president; Corrine Ramey, secretary; and Mary Ann Casebere, treasurer.

Mrs. Florence Weaver, special education teacher, reviewed the new program now mandatory in all schools under which handicapped children will be provided with schooling by teachers specially trained to cope with not only mental but physical handicaps. A survey is being conducted in the school district at the present time to determine the nature of handicaps present and the number of children involved.

Kenneh Altekruse of Fort Wayne presented a program of panoramic slides, utilising three slide projectors and three screens to show the beauty of the southwestern national parks.

VICA Sponsors Dance

VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) is sponsoring its first annual spring community dance April 4 at the Universal Clubhouse on county road 28 east of Butler, according to an announcement from Eastside High School. The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The event is described as the first effort to bring together the entire community, business, professional and industrial people, teachers, school officials and upper-class students, for a social evening. VICA of Eastside hopes to make this an annual affair.

A semi-formal dance is being planned with VICA as host. 100 tickets are to be sold with an admission price of $2.50 per couple. No single tickets will be available. It is expected that student ticket sales will be limited to juniors and seniors in high school who are now in, or are expecting to enter, the Industrial Cooperative Training program. Tickets are also available to the adult groups mentioned previously.

The Eastside school dance band will play, and refreshments will be served as a courtesy of VICA.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to further the work of the VICA program. The primary objective is to foster cooperation, harmony and understanding throughout the school community.

Items discussed included the fact that the trash collection contract expires in March of 1971; the possibility of including an appropriation for tree trimming in the budget for 1971; the need for alley grading and stoning; and the need for a good cleaning of the main street, with the cooperation of the state highway department needed.

Sticking Out One's Neck

In reading the Tuesday, March 24, account in the Auburn "Star" of the Monday night Butler council meeting, the gray matter got nudged.

It is interesting to watch the proceedings of the Butler mayor and the town council in the fight the city is having over a vast improvement in their water system. The mayor campaigned on the basis of such improvement, he was elected. Now there is a petition being circulated in opposition to the program, and the mayor said this week that he would back off.

That wouldn't be so bad if that's all there was too it. At the risk of prompting Butlerites to say "it's none of his business," I would like to point out how similar the personal attack on the petition carrier is similar to the personal attacks utilized in our school situation against the remonstrators. In this instance, both the mayor and the city attorney have degraded the opposition by referring to "the tavern owner." The inuendo smacks you right in the face: a tavern owner is not entitled to respectable consideration. The implication is that, if it were anyone else leading the opposition, it would be all right. The tavern owner is criticized for wanting to "have his own way." The same diversionary tactics were used against a small town newspaper editor in a recent school fight!

Isn't it too bad that a difference of opinion can't be discussed, factually and openly, in order to make decisions? We think of all the fine, upstanding, intelligent people in our communities—but where are they when it comes time to discuss a question intelligently? Are they sitting back, watching the others hassle? Or are they perhaps a part of the personality bit, where you don't stick to the question, rather you divert attention to other supposedly objectionable circumstances—like letting a tavern owner run the town!

If anyone is getting the idea that I'm taking sides, I'd better state that I happen to disagree with the man's opposition to the water improvement. But I do agree that he is getting a raw deal when city officials single him out because of his occupation and divert the public's attention away from the economic contribution he is making in their community; the tavern isn't his only business. If his objection is for business reasons, they ought to be aired and explained.

It's really not funny, but I'm getting some kind of "kick" out of watching the shenanigans up in the city of Butler over their waterworks improvements. I can recognize that one unfortunate guy, who has a legitimate gripe, has been singled out and is being denounced by others who don't seem to know how to punch except below the belt.

—Welcome to the club.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Extension Club met at the home of Edith Sailer March 20.

The meeting was opened by the president, Doris Yeiser, with the reciting of the club collect.

Devotions were given by Cora Funk who read the 20th chapter of John, the Easter story of our crucified and arisen Savior.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. "Go Down Moses" is a negro spiritual and is used many times in the negro churches.

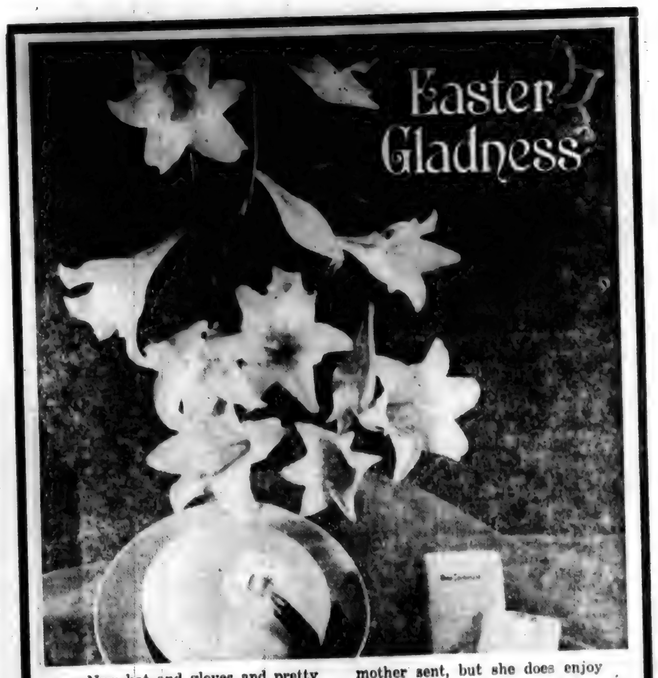
Roll call was answered by nine members with a house cleaning hint. Many helpful ideas were given but the easiest one was "let your husband do it."

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The president reported on the council meeting, craft school and rummage sale to be held in April.

The meeting was closed with the club creed and the social hour was spent crocheting pearl bead necklaces and making straw flowers.

The hostess served a delicious lunch and much visiting was enjoyed over the coffee cups.



New hat and gloves and pretty dress, chocolate bunnies and colored eggs. But I noticed on the way home that Betsy kept humming the "Alleluia" of the anthem. She even remarked how happy the choir sounded. It made me feel happy too.

At five, she's too young to realize the true significance of the Risen Christ, but she can appreciate the beauty of voices raised in joyful harmony. She can't yet read the New Testament her grandmother sent, but she does enjoy the Bible stories she hears in Sunday School.

Bob and I believe that no one is too young to learn the loving ways of God. That's why we take Betsy to church with us. We want to share with her the depth and meaning our church has added to our days.

Make every Sunday glad! Go to your church, and take your family with you.

The Saint Joe Lions Club was host to the Butler Lions Club and the Eastside basketball team, coaches and cheerleaders at the club's Monday night meeting held at the Spencerville United Methodist Church. There were 22 local club members and 32 guests present, including zone chairman Hubert Stackhouse.

Tailtwister Harold Murphy reminisced about his "schooldaze" at Spencerville High School, Coletown and Newville. His "remarks" were quite humorous and "inaccurate," but they did help to loosen up the meeting, according to Lavon Hart who served as temporary reporter in the absence of Frank Amstutz.

Coach Phil Miller introduced the basketball squad, including Charles Ross, Keith Kessler, Deo Wasson, Dale Curry, Dave Miller, Rod Knox, Steve Flood, Steve Cole, Kent Rosenbury, Dave Baughman, Paul Hollabaugh, Doug Fetters and Greg Oberlin.

The cheerleaders, who serve a vital role in support of team efforts, were introduced: Janelle Moore, Debbie Warstler, Debbie McDowell, Jill Dickman and Janet Jennings.

Lion Hearsel Shockley introduced the speaker, Judy Thrush, who made an archeological trip to Central America during her academic year at Manchester College. She showed slides of her trip.

Election of officers will be held at the April 27 meeting. Nominations for club officers are as follows:

Howard Timmerman, president.
Harold Kagey, 1st vice president.
Gene Casebere, 2nd vice president.
Willard Maxwell, 3rd vice president.
Clifford Billow, secretary-treasurer.
Paul Moore, tail twister.
Andy Crow, Lion tamer.
Lynn Fisher and Harold Murphy, directors one year.
Forrest Bevington and Karl Hart, directors two years.
Harold Curie is immediate past president under the new officers-to-be.

RETURN OF CALDWELLS

The students of Eastside High School recently were entertained by the Caldwells, a group of 13 singers and musicians. The entire student body was so greatly fascinated by their performance that the Student Council, Spanish Club and Annual Staff are co-sponsoring "The Return of the Caldwells" Friday, April 17, at 8:00 p.m. in the Eastside gym. Tickets will be on sale starting April 4 with prices set at $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students grades seven through 12.

GAA GYM MEET

On Tuesday, March 17, the Eastside G.A.A. went to Hamilton High School for a gymnastic meet. They had the experience of using some of the equipment that our physical education department does not have. They were taught the correct way to use the equipment and also the basic fundamentals for its use. This proved to be an enjoyable trip for everyone.

GAA VOLLEYBALL

On March 10 the Eastside G.A.A. volleyball team met Woodlan, Leo and Adams Central on the Leo court. The girls played well but could not rally enough points to win a game.

JR. GIRL SCOUT TROOP 229
—Carolyn DePriest, Troop Scribe

Spencerville Junior Girl Scout Troop 229 members have been quite active lately. 16 of our members were able to attend Fine Arts Day in Fort Wayne March 7. Our troop attended a program put on by the language department at Snider High School, toured the new Fort Wayne Public Library, toured the Lincoln Museum, enjoyed a performance by the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra with ballet accompaniment at the Scottish Rite Auditorium, and finally visited the Allen County-Fort Wayne Historical Museum.

The following day 12 troop members and the three leaders attended St. Peter Lutheran Church together. Of course, we were also busy selling Girl Scout cookies from February 27 to March 8. We made a "sunshine box" for troop member Carolyn DePriest.

On March 18, 11 girls went swimming at the "Y" in Auburn. At recent meetings Patrol 2 sponsored a Valentine party and Patrol 3 sponsored a St. Patrick's Day party.

We would like to thank Rita Fish and LuAnne Hook, Cadette Scouts, who came to a meeting to help us work on Health Aid Badge. We would also like to thank Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. Nina Hollabaugh, Mrs. June Hudson, Mrs. Pat Melchi, Mrs. Connie Hollabaugh, Mrs. Donna Snyder and Mrs. Corrine Ramey who have helped our leaders with transportation on various trips.

Girl Scout Troop 229 held its regular meeting Monday, March 23, 1970. First we had our opening ceremony and songs. Then we had games and then got in patrols. After that we got back in a circle and made out permission slips for a train ride. Patrol 1 did some skits for dramatic badge and Patrol 2 taught a couple of songs for the badge water fun. Mrs. Hook gave each of us an Easter basket. Then we had our closing ceremony and the troop was dismissed.

HINTS ON HEALTH
by the Indiana State Medical Association

SHOCK

THE man is in shock. This means, in most instances, that he has been injured in some way. In shock, the major factor is a reduction in circulating blood volume.

Usually, the victim becomes pale, the skin cold and moist, the pulse feeble but rapid, and there may be unconsciousness. If the shock is very deep, it can produce death.

Severe shock should, of course, be treated by a physician and there are steps which can be taken to protect the victim until a physician arrives. Some shock will result from burns, broken limbs, and other wounds and whatever may be the cause, shock should be considered seriously.

The patient should be lying down and wrapped warmly. Bleeding should be stopped, splints used to protect a broken bone and dry dressing applied to severe burns. The victim's head should be kept level with the body or lower unless it is a head injury, in which event the head should be slightly raised.

Nothing should be given by mouth to a victim who is vomiting, semiconscious or appears to be in severe shock. The liquid might get into the victim's windpipe or lungs and cause him to strangle. If there is an abdominal wound, nothing should be given by mouth.

Shock is a state of circulatory collapse usually due to hemorrhage externally or internally. In many cases of shock, blood transfusion is urgently needed to restore lost blood to the body.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, April 2, 1970 — NUMBER 14

Indiana State Library

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITORS

There is some confusion about the census, and Lois Fisher asked to have something put in the paper to assure people that just because they were not contacted on April 1 does not mean they won't get counted. April 1 was "Census Day" and the publicity was a little misleading, to the point where some people thought it was the ONLY census day.

Enumerators will be working in this area for the next three weeks. So don't panic, just wait patiently. They'll get ya.

Glndie Akey called Wednesday to get a note in that the Community Club will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at St. Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville.

Last week they got a $1,000 donation from Auburn Federal Savings & Loan Association, making a total of over $15,000 in donations and pledges so far.

Club president Glenn Moore got his "pitcher" in the Auburn paper as he received the check from association president Theo Webb.

Nelson Grills, our school fight attorney, sent the following note this week:

"I appreciated the editorial on page 2 of your newspaper (concerning the Butler water system fight—Ed.). In the event the improvement of the water system is to increase the cost of its operation to the user making the privilege of residing in Butler more expensive, a considerable sum could be saved by consolidating the school systems. I am pleased to report that I have used essentially the same information that was presented in DeKalb County at a proposed school consolidation meeting in Warren County. Over 1,000 persons were present. Both school corporations cooperated in placing the issue on the ballot and it is likely that the schools will be consolidated. In the event they are it may serve as an example to your two school corporations."

The key word is "cooperation." From this comes an informed public. The Butler water hassle parallels the school situation in that misinformation and misunderstanding predominate.

Two Butler men stopped at our house Tuesday evening—I was gone—and one called by phone the next night to say thanks for last week's editorial, referred to by Mr. Grills in his note above. The man from Butler said, "I'm glad you mentioned it," when I referred to the similarity of the school fight with their water improvement problems. "I didn't get involved in the school thing, but now that we are into this water situation, I can see where you had some good points."

The main point was to inform the public and then let the public decide. But our school board and administration wouldn't listen. Now it has been suggested that the public be allowed to decide Butler's water question. It remains to be seen how the city administration resolves the matter. They have a meeting Monday night.

—So does our town board.

Fish Fry April 18

The Spencerville Community Club's annual spring fish fry will be served Saturday, April 18, 1970, at the Riverdale Cafetorium.

Serving will begin at 5:00 p.m., with carry-out service available from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The menu will include fresh Lake Erie perch, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, pie, coffee and koolade.

Prices will be $1.50 for adult servings and 75 cents for children.

Butler Rotary Talent Show

The Rotary Club of Butler will sponsor its annual talent show Friday night of this week, April 3, at 7:45 p.m. at the Eastside High School gym.

Pat Oberlin will serve as master of ceremonies for the 12 acts of vaudeville.

Proceeds from the show will be used in the club's scholarship fund.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Senior Play April 10-11

The Senior Class of Eastside High School has provided the following information about the class play to be presented Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11. The play will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students, and may be purchased at the door or from any of the following students:

Pat Voso, Sandy Anderson, Kerry Ginder, Bill Jacquay, Kathy Robinet, Cindy Stark, Angie Keller and Debbie Beck.

The directors and cast members were interviewed about the play last week and made the following comments:

Mr. Klausing, director—"The play was specifically chosen with the community in mind. Also, because the cast has been very cooperative to make the play a success, I feel sure that the play will satisfy any audience."

Both Mr. Klausing and Mrs. Long have had previous experience in acting and directing, consequently they are considered very capable directors.

Guy Boylan (Mr. Morlock)—"I have never been in a play before, but I find that it is quite enjoyable. With no previous experience, the directors have helped me the most."

Nila Shockley (Mrs. Morlock)—"The hardest part of an actor or actress is to put themself so completely into their role that the character will be portrayed realistically to the audience. Play practice is enjoyable and a lot of work, but you also have a chance to get to know some of your classmates better."

Kathy Hudson (Mary Morlock)—"The role I play fits my own personality to a certain degree. We are both shy. With no pevious experience, I have learned a lot, but the most important learning experience was how to accept constructive criticism."

Debbie Warstler (Jessica Morlock)—" 'Rest Assured' shows in a humorous way why a family needs love rather than material things to survive. Although I once helped direct an eighth grade play, I have never been in one before and I find it a new and exciting experience."

Jerry Mansfield (Luigi Lanzoni—"I feel that the play was well chosen and I am proud to be part of the production. I have benefitted from acting in this play although I was in a play in the eighth grade."

Due to lack of space and time, it was not possible to interview everyone in the cast, but each character is needed to make the play a success. The cast has been working hard even though each of them is in other activities.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Willard Hurni acknowledges with deep appreciation the kindness and thoughtfulness of their friends and neighbors. To John Paul Hill for his words of consolation, Dr. Max Wills for his kindness and helpfulness during the illness and at the death of our beloved wife and mother.

Rec'n Program Needs Money!

"You will be sorry!"

These were the words of warning given Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bevington when they decided to do something about the Riverdale area's need for a recreation program. The words were kind and well-meant, but, as Mr. Bevington puts it, "I am an old stubborn fool. I believe the best place to find a helping hand is at the end of your arm."

The same comments as above appeared in the Saint Joe News of Thursday, August 14, 1969, when Mr. Bevington pointed out that there would be a time to think of another year of recreation activity. "The time is here," he said this week, "and we need help if we are to have another successful year."

According to the recreation director, the summer program will open June 12, 1970, with the Junior League Baseball opening game. The following week, Monday, June 8, the morning baseball school will open.

The tennis lessons will start the same afternoon.

On Tuesday, June 9, the girls' Kickball season will begin. And on June 23, the swimming lesson program will begin for two weeks of activity.

With this complete program, many boys and girls will be busy for the months of June and July.

The recreation program will cost money. As of now, the treasury has $58.00, with the local Lions Club tentatively setting aside another $200.00 to assist the program. $600.00 is needed, according to Mr. Bevington.

Major expenses for this year will include baseball suits, batting helmets, bats, baseballs, a lawn roller, insurance and bus transportation.

A litter cleanup day will be held in order to help raise some of the money. Any help given will be greatly appreciated, Mr. Bevington said.

Scouts Enjoy Trip

16 Boy Scouts from Saint Joe Troop 173 spent two days and nights at Brown County State Park during school spring vacation.

Those who participated in the trip were eligible according to attendance requirements set up at a troop meeting last fall. At that time it was decided that an 80% attedance record would be required in order to participate in such a special event.

Such a good time was had on last weekend's trip, according to Scoutmaster Frank Seehler, that it was decided to have an early summer trip to Turkey Run State Park. Eligibility for this trip will be to advance one rank or earn at least one merit badge before the trip.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple now reside at Harlan.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

The Ladies Literary Club met with Mrs. Carl Carpenter on Wednesday, March 18, 1970. Mrs. Forrest Bevington, vice-president, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and conducted the opening ceremonies.

In keeping with the Lenten season, a book review on "In His Steps," by Charles M. Sheldon, was presented by Mrs. Robert Musser. The review stressed the question, "What Would Jesus do?", and gave much food for thought on how we could change our lives and community if we would use this as a yardstick.

For entertainment, Mrs. Roy Baker provided a "Found In the Home" contest which was enjoyed by the members.

The committee for "Gentlemen's Evening" announced that it would be held April 10 at 6:30 p.m. at Richard's Restaurant in Auburn. Members will be contacted for confirmation of reservations.

The next regular meeting will be April 15 and will be a panel discussion on pollution and will be moderated by Mrs. Harold Hamman.

The critic, Mrs. Roy Baker, gave her report and the meeting was adjourned. The hostess served refreshments.

Sen. Kruse Deserves 'Break'

Despite all the news reports, the "exclusive" interviews and so on, it is impossible for anyone to be able to positively declare the motivations involved in the current Republican turmoil in the state of Indiana, particularly in the northeastern area. So one can only go on what is reported in the news and whatever information a person may seek on his own, and add this to past experience.

There does seem to be, however, an inclination in this area to pile criticism on the shoulders of State Senator Dean Kruse, and I don't think he has it coming.

Anyone who thinks that politics isn't "dirty" is sadly mistaken. By that I mean that there are times when what must be done, in the opinion of an elected or appointed personality, is not pleasant, but it must be done if that person is to be able to function as he or she thinks they are entitled to under the circumstances. You may not like what Governor Whitcomb has done (I don't!), but it is also a fact of life that when actions of subordinates seem to become a hindrance to one's efforts, something must be done about it. The governor has acted in that way, it appears.

Since Senator Kruse has been a supporter of the governor (why shouldn't he be?), he has been criticized to the point where it looks like a "dump Kruse" campaign, and I can't figure out why. Before anyone makes a decision to condemn him, they ought to have a conversation with him, if it can be arranged. My own experience with the Senator is that he is a sincere, down-to-earth individual who has the same fears and concerns about Indiana government as do you and I. He isn't perfect, by any means. Anyone who is awarded the dubious honor of having made the worst speech in the Indiana Senate last year, is obviously not a polished politician. The Senator is also far from incapable and he is no "dummy."

From what I have heard and read, Senator Kruse appears to be caught in the middle, to be blamed for something over which he has no overriding control. And the embarrassing circumstances appear to have inspired some people to jump on the bandwagon and start throwing everything but the kitchen sink at the Senator.

My approach in something like this is to go on what is known from personal experience. In this particular instance, that experience is favorable, rather than unfavorable, and I do not believe the anti-Kruse sentiment that has become evident in recent weeks is fair nor justified.

TV 'Debate' Continues

Since the big hullabaloo a couple of months ago when Vice-President Spiro Agnew took the TV newscasters to task for biased reporting, there yet appear occasional articles about the matter both pro and con. Not the least of the latest writings appeared in TV Guide a few weeks ago when Howard K. Smith wrote his views which were surprisingly in agreement with the criticism of the TV news industry, and Eric Severeid followed with his defense of the newscasters.

It has seemed to me from the start that most of the TV commentators have been a little too ouchy about the whole matter—even Walter Kronkite whom I have always considered the most capable of unbiased reporting. They give the impression that they are "holier than thou" when it comes to intelligence and the ability to sense meanings. Why don't they let the President or Vice-President—of either party—make a speech and let it go at that? What is so wrong with letting John Q. Public make up his own mind as to what was said? It is no exaggeration to say that Presidential speeches have been immediately followed by the comments of some of these learned commentators who show their contempt for the public's intelligence by coming on with, "What the President said was - - - -" and then give their explanation —THEIR explanation. Someone else might have a different idea—someone like the average American citizen listening and watching the same Presidential presentation.

It appears that the commentators were subtly attempting to give certain unfavorable impressions of the President and his administration in the last two years, without actually using pointed words. Then when someone called them for it, the newscasters screamed bloody murder, perhaps to cover up their "subversive" activities.

It is difficult to give specific examples; it's more like a feeling than a smack-you-in-the-face choice of words. But I do know that during the recent Christmas season, Frank Reynolds closed a news program with Christmas wishes for the President and his subordinates—however Mr. Reynolds' comments were more cynical and fun-making than sincere. The only kind wish he expressed was for former President Lyndon B. Johnson, of whom he spoke most kindly.

That particular incident was illustrative of the restraint that has characterized the remarks of most TV commentators when speaking of the "liberals." I cannot recall watching a TV news broadcast during the presidencies of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson and hearing the doubts cast as is done when President Richard Nixon speaks. Liberals have always gotten a "break" but not so the likes of Mr. Nixon or Mr. Agnew. This is the kind of bias that many Americans seem to have sensed, what with the favorable reaction given to criticism of TV commentators.

The commentator who really gets under my skin is Mr. Severeid who strikes me as being totally impressed by his own wisdom. It might be interesting to turn the country over to him and others of the TV "experts" and see what they would do when the burden of responsibility was placed on their shoulders. The impression is (and I think this is what Mr. Agnew was getting at) that, in the eyes of most TV commentators, Kennedy and Johnson and the commentators could do no wrong and Nixon and Agnew can do no right. And the most unacceptable approach in the eyes of most commentators seems to be that which seeks to face problems with caution. The liberal influence of "crash programs" permeates the numbers of TV news commentators, and they show their impatience with unkind and unsympathetic attitudes, if not remarks, more often than not.

—That's why I look with favor upon the likes of Mr. Agnew. To me, he "tells it like it is." Apparently others feel the same way. He is reported to be the most sought-after speaker in the ranks of the G.O.P.

Guided Destiny

In confidence I boarded the plane, thinking what a beautiful day it was for a flight.

But once in the air, our plane ran into a heavy storm and we began to drop hundreds of feet at a time I looked around at the other passengers. Some of them were sick. Some sought assurance from the stewardess that everything would be all right.

An hour went by and we were constantly told to keep our seat belts tight. It was then I noticed that many passengers began to pray. People are quick to turn to God in a crisis, I thought.

Forty-five minutes later our plane landed safely. A frightening experience had become only a vivid memory. The incident became indelibly printed in my mind because, as I waited for our luggage inside the terminal, I saw a blind man holding a sign. It read: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding."

WITH THE EDITOR

For one who is such a nut on correct spelling and so on, it's terrible to goof as I did last week in writing about the TV newscasters, misspelling the last names of two of the best-known such personalities. Walter Cronkite came out "Kronkite" and Eric Sevareid came out "Severeid." I did have corrections set for the latter's name, but the corrected lines ended up in the scrap bucket instead of in the newspaper forms.

Oh well. A fella can't be perfect all the time.

Pat Huston can't win.

I complimented her last Friday on her extensive wardrobe, having noticed in the previous week and a half or so of coffee breaks that she had not worn the same outfit twice in her work at the restaurant. She came back with, "Oh, they're all old. And every time I tell Ray I need a new dress, he has a fit."

—So, I guess the compliment didn't help her out any.

Hey fellas, look out for Nanette Shockley. She had her picture in the Ball State "Daily News," along with Carol Monson when the pair won second place in state judo competition. Now they get to go to Los Angeles this week end for national competition at Cal-State College.

—Sorry Nanette. I'll never shake hands with you again.

Some people are sorta shook up over an editorial in the Auburn "Star" (that paper certainly gets a lot of mention here, doesn't it?) April 1. The paper said the editorial was no joke. It raised questions about the proposed improvements to the covered bridge at Spencerville and suggested that the bridge would collapse under a new roof.

This puts the county commissioners on the spot because they are attempting not only to preserve the landmark but also keep it safe for public use.

The Auburn paper's main concern is over weight limits. The paper said a new asphalt shingle roof would weigh 6½ tons but the load limit is only 6 tons. The conclusion is that the bridge will collapse.

Not only are Spencerville folks worried about the matter, the commissioners also sport furrowed brows. And any taxpayer in the county would be interested because he wouldn't want to see his tax dollars go down the river.

In response to a request to "help out" by publishing some words of reassurance on the matter, I did some telephoning, some asking of questions and came up with the following. It is not intended to show anybody right or wrong. It is just a resume of information given by individuals voluntarily or in answer to questions.

So, here is what comes out:

The commissioners propose to improve the bridge with a new roof, siding and paint in order to preserve the structure as a historic site. Concerning the new roof, the commissioners obtained prices on wood shingles, as were used on the original bridge roof, and on asphalt shingles. The cost of the asphalt shingles is some $2,000.00 less than that of wood shingles. As an economy measure the commissioners decided on asphalt.

Accepting the weights given by the Auburn "Star" in its editorial, the asphalt shingles needed to roof the bridge will weigh some 6½ tons. The load limit on the bridge is 6 tons.

Assuming that wood shingles weigh the same today as they did when the bridge was built about 100 years ago, the weight of a new roof with wood shingles would be one-third the weight of a new roof with asphalt shingles. Information obtained about comparative weights indicates the difference as indicated.

Thus, it would appear that if wood shingles are used (costing $3,000 more), the load limit can remain the same. But if asphalt shingles are used, an adjustment would be necessary in the load limit. It does not appear that the bridge would collapse, as some people apparently fear. But simple arithmetic makes it appear that a load limit of 2 tons would be required with asphalt shingles on the roof.

While the commissioners do not have an engineer's assurance of the bridge's strength under the weight of asphalt shingles, it was indicated that "builders" have given assurance of the structures stability. A contractor I contacted about the matter indicated that a load limit adjustment would be necessary with the use of asphalt shingles.

So, the whole picture shows everybody with some decisions to make. We all want to keep the Spencerville covered bridge as a landmark, as a historic site. We all want to spend as little as possible on the old structure. We all need a bridge that will function also in a practical way, and the question arises as to whether or not a 2-ton load limit (if the above computations are correct) is practical.

One suggestion was made to me this week: put on a steel or aluminum roof. The weight will be even less than wood shingles.

Another possibility—a costly one—is to move the bridge from its present location (assuming that the present location is the best for a public bridge) and build a new one there. Or leave the old one where it is and build a new one in a better location, if a better location can be determined.

This presentation probably will not satisfy nor please some people, I am sure. It won't be what they were looking for. That is unfortunate—but it is more important to have facts to go on than to "sell" one way or another.

I haven't identified individual sources of information because they might be misunderstood. You'll just have to take my word for it that questions were asked and answers were given. If anyone has information or comments to correct or add to the above, it ought to be aired.

The whole thing sorta boils down to—how much is history worth?

Bee Champ Named

Karen Gentis of St. Joseph's School in Garrett is DeKalb County's spelling bee winner in Journal-Gazette competition. The champion was named last weekend after a spelldown at Butler Elementary School. Karen won the bee on the word "amateur." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gentis.

Runner-up was Dawn Billings of the Butler Elementary School. She misspelled the word "aileron." Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Billings.

Other contestants were Susan Kelham of Butler, Gale Cannon of Riverdale and Naomi Cook of Rivordale.

The winner will now participate in area finals at Fort Wayne May 9. The area winner will then compete in the National Bee Week in Washington, D. C., June 1-5.

Rubbish, Dogs Vex Town Board

Complaints registered in the past two weeks concerning the pickup of trash and garbage in Saint Joe have prompted a letter to the firm which has the contract for such pickup. Apparent refusal to accept certain rubbish brought complaints to the local own board and they were aired and discussed Monday evening at the regular session of the board.

However, it is also apparent that some householders are not following the regulations governing the size and type of container to be used for such pickup.

For the benefit of town residents, pertinent portions of Ordinance No. 42, which established the pickup of garbage and rubbish, are quoted as follows:

"The Town of St. Joe, Indiana, is hereby authorized and empowered to collect and dispose of or provide for the collection and disposal of all rubbish and garbage within the Town of St. Joe, Indiana. . . . ."

"Garbage within the meaning of this ordinance, shall be construed to mean rejected food waste and to include every waste accumulation of animal, fruits and vegetable matter, used or intended for food, or that attends the preparation, use, cooking, dealing in or storing of meat, fish, fowl, fruit or vegetables.

"Rubbish, within the meaning of this ordinance, shall be construed to mean such matter as ashes, cans, metalware, broken glass, crockery, dirt, sweepings, boxes, lumber, wood, leaves, grass, weeds or litter of any kind. . . . ."

"The owner, occupant or lessee of any premises in the Town of St. Joe, Indiana, shall cause to be removed from said premises all garbage and rubbish, and shall keep said premises at all time free and clear of any accumulation of garbage and rubbish. . . ."

"Suitable Containers. Garbage and rubbish receptacles must be of a galvanized metal or other like material with handles or a bail and close fitting covers, and shall be water tight and shall have a capacity of not less than five gallons nor more than 27 gallons and be kept in a sanitary condition.

"Location of Containers on Collection Days. The Town of St. Joe, Indiana, or its duly authorized agency shall collect all garbage and rubbish providing such garbage and rubbish is deposited in proper containers and placed on the street curb or at the edge of an all weather alley or in a location and at a time as designated by the collecting agency.

"Preparation of Wastes. Garbage shall be carefully drained and wrapped before depositing in receptacles. Trees, limbs, boxes and other articles of unwieldy size or shape will only be acceptable for collection if they are broken or cut down to a size suitable for handling and transportation, and the Town Board shall have authority to prescribe the maximum size and weight thereof from time to time. . . ."

"Limitation on Materials Collected. The designated collection agency shall not be required to collect and dispose of building materials nor shall they be required to collect or dispose of carcasses of dead animals or other material as require the labor of more than the normal truck complement or require special collection equipment such as a hoist, block and tackle, etc."

The contract for collection of garbage and rubbish was entered into in March of 1967 for a four-year period, ending in February of 1971. Auburn Sanitary Landfill provides the collection service at a monthly rate of $240.00. Each household in Saint Joe is assessed $1.50 per month to cover the cost of the contract. Business and commercial pickups are provided under a separate and private arrangement at a higher rate.

Other business at Monday's meeting included a discussion of the dog problem in Saint Joe, a problem which is felt in other nearby communities. A boy was bitten last week in Saint Joe and required medical treatment. The dog which allegedly made the attack has had rabies shots, according to the owner. However, the incident occurred while the dog was running loose.

A local ordinance covers the matter of stray dogs. However, the ownerless stray does not present as much a problem as the domestic "stray," that is the dog which is owned and fed but not kept confined or on a leash at all times.

The job of picking up strays is a thankless one, for the most part, with residents complaining when a dog incident occurs and residents also complaining when their pet is picked up for being allowed to run loose.

It has been suggested to the board, and it was discussed Monday night, that an extreme course of action be taken to solve the problem. This solution is to pick up strays and dispose of them immediately. The present ordinance provides for a three-day grace period during which the owner can regain possession of his dog, after it has been picked up as a stray, upon payment of a $3.00 fee for the first offense. Any subsequent pickups of the same dog call for payment of a $5.00 fee.

It was noted that other communities are being compelled to take extreme measures in order to control the dog situation. The board asks that local dog owners cooperate fully in keeping dogs confined or on a leash at all times.

The board was informed that Robert Klink of Clyde E. Williams & Associates is preparing the necessary forms for renewal application for federal and state grants, to be used in installing a sewage treatment system. April 15 is the deadline for applications in 1970. Last year Saint Joe was halfway down the list in priority.

Arrangements have been made for a total survey of the local cemetery by Wayne Van Auken in order to establishment positive boundaries of lot locations.

A discussion was also held concerning the local ordinance which prohibits the installation of mobile homes in Saint Joe except in licensed mobile home courts. It was noted that prohibitive building costs for permanent-type homes were causing an increased use of mobile homes.

Mother-Baby Care Clinic - For Dads, Too!

The DeKalb County Red Cross is completing plans to conduct a mother and baby care course of instruction for DeKalb County mothers—and incidentally for fathers, too.

Mrs. Robert (Vivian) Ball, nursing chairman, announces that DeKalb Memorial Hospital and the DeKalb County Medical Society have approved the plan and have offered their support and cooperation.

Mrs. Marvin (Connie) Wolf, R.N., will instruct the class. Sessions will be held Tuesday and Friday evenings, beginning April 21 and continuing through a three-week period.

The two-hour sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the conference area of the main dining room at DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

The course will include instructional Red Cross films on "Human Reproduction - Phenomena of Early Development, Normal Birth, and Breath of Life." There will be a tour of the O.B. department of the hospital, with visits to the labor and delivery rooms.

There is no charge for the course. Two government pamphlets of mother and baby care are provided free.

All doctors in the county have been notified concerning the details of these arrangements.

Prospective class members may register by phone call to the Red Cross office, 925-4506, or by a visit to the office on the first floor of the court house in Auburn. Hours are 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The subject of the boys' exhibit was model rocketry.

Also winning third in the Junior Division were Retha and Gene Martin, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Martin of Butler. The exhibit showing the effect of increased gravity on plants, was entered in the Botany and Microbiology Section.

In the Zoology Section of the Junior Division, Ida Mae Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Willard of Butler, placed fifth. Her exhibit centered around the car and how it works.

The project which was judged as the best elementary project at the local science fair placed second in grade five. This project, which dealth with various types of seeds, was the work of Lorna Reinhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reinhart of Butler.

A Director's Award was given to Riverdale Junior High. This award consisted of a one-year subscription to "Science News."

Candidacy Brings Reply

With the announcement by Dr. Floyd B. Coleman of Waterloo that he is a candidate for the nomination for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket, a statement has been issued by Democrat candidate Russell Kelham concerning Dr. Coleman's present responsibilities as joint state representative, his candidacy for re-nomination for that office and his latest announcement regarding the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Vance Hartke. Mr. Kelham said:

"I am sure that a question arises immediately in the minds of the voters of DeKalb and Steuben counties, both Democrat and Republican, as to the sincerity of Dr. Coleman's attitude toward his present elective office.

"It certainly demonstrates his lack of entrusted confidence of the voters in the 1968 election, or he has become disenchanted with his constituents of DeKalb and Steuben counties.

"One cannot believe that it is good, ethical or politically sound to place one's self on such a high plane of seeking a higher elective office and at the same time ask the voters to re-elect him to his present office.

"It would seem only proper and in all fairness to all the voters of DeKalb and Steuben counties that if Dr. Coleman is sincere in his announced intention of running for the United States Senate that he withdraw as a candidate for joint state representative from DeKalb and Steuben counties."

Parents - Get Kids Innoculated Against Rubella

The DeKalb County Medical Society has arranged for the innoculation of all children between the ages of one and twelve in DeKalb County against German Measles, or Rubella.

The innoculations will be given at DeKalb Central High School Sunday afternoon, April 26, from noon to 2:00 p.m.

The cooperation of all physicians and nurses in the county is needed, according to county health officer Dr. E. E. Rogers, as there are approximately 6,000 children in that age group who should receive the vaccine. The vaccine will be provided by the Indiana State Board of Health and given on a "first come, first served" basis. Voluntary contributions will be appreciated to help defray the cost of supplies needed to give the vaccine.

Arrangements should be made by parents to have their children take advantage of this opportunity to get measles vaccine at this time, Dr. Rogers advised.

He pointed out, "This is not recommended for infants less than a year old because they may retain maternal rubella neutralizing antibodies which may interfere with the immune response.

"Children in kindergarten and the first grades of elementary school deserve priority for vaccination because often they are the major source of virus spreading in the community. A history of rubella illness is usually not reliable enough to exclude children from immunization," Dr. Rogers concluded.

Eastside News

The finishing touches are now being put on the forthcoming Eastside High School Junior-Senior Prom, according to prom chairman Dale Curry.

This year's premier social event of the school will be held at Potawatomi Inn at Pokagon State Park beginning at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 25. The banquet and prom will be followed by the traditional after-prom activities, this year being staged at Bledsoe's Beach on Lake James.

The after-prom activities will again be community sponsored. In response to an invitation issued by the junior and senior classes, the following organization's have agreed to participate, to organize and to chaperone:

Rotary Club, Lions Club, Jaycees, Eagles and Women's Home Demonstration Club, all of Butler; the Saint Joe Lions Club; and the Spencerville Community Club.

Based upon the outstanding after-prom events from 1969, expectations are, great for another fascinating evening.

On April 1, the Eastside student body was dazzled by the performance of David Kuhns, focused on the field of cryogenics.

Cryogenics deals with the experimentation on the production of very low temperatures. Mr. Kuhns used liquid air which registered around -260 degrees F. He also demonstrated the usefulness and the hazards of such a solution.

Just one example of such used by Mr. Kuhns was pounding a frozen rubber nail into a piece of wood using frozen mercury as the point of the hammer.

Mr. Kuhns also demonstrated the different properties of a gas and he used many intriguing experiments to enlighten the students in the field of cryogenics.

After the convocation, the students concluded it to be a very educational experience, besides being very cool!

Cancer: Early Detection Saves Lives

Three out of four deaths from lung cancer are linked to cig[illegible]

To the adolescent, a clandestine smoke in the school washroom seems a risk worth taking — despite the proven link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

True, it could be the example of their elders that dared the youngsters to steal these puffs, or even that of a peer group, unfortunately, already wise in the ways of lighting up.

More than likely, however, it is tobacco advertising — of the kind that equates smoking with adulthood, or with the social graces, or even with virility and glamor, all qualities desired by the young. And as youngsters are potentially lifelong customers, advertising takes dead aim at them.

Such is the case generally in both developed and developing countries. Yet, to cite U. S. statistics alone over the last 15 years, chances of dying from lung cancer have been on the rise.

Mortality rates jumped from 18.4 per 100,000 population in 1951 to 39.1 in 1966 — an increase of 113 per cent. Significantly, upward of 75 per cent of the most widespread lung form — epidermoid cancer — has been linked to smoking.

Moreover, according to the American Cancer Society, of all the cancers, lung cancer takes the highest toll in male lives, with about 80,000 men perishing from it yearly.

But that some 10,000 women also die from it each year, and that the disease, more and more, is snuffing out women's lives are facts that the junior misses shown here could do well to ponder upon. For them, in particular, the risk of lung cancer is lessened easiest — simply by not smoking.

Concern for them was one reason why Western Hemisphere health officials last October urged nations to closely scrutinize "measures which have been taken to control the advertising of cigarettes, by restriction . . . or by promotional material of appropriate warnings."

That is also why the World Health Organization, and in the Americas its regional office, the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, this year launched a program to increase public understanding of cancer.

Cancer is not a single disease, but rather a family of diseases. Some forms are difficult to diagnose, and consequently to treat. Others however, more easily detected, are more easily treated and cured.

Through chemotherapy, for instance, almost all skin cancers are curable, as are breast cancers, through surgery and the Pap test makes possible an almost 100 per cent cure rate for uterine cancer, [illegible] No. 1 cause of all cancer deaths among U. S. women over 25 years ago.

Indeed not only [illegible] drugs and surgery but also through radiology, physical therapy, and screening techniques, more than 50 per cent of all cancer patients could be cured — provided, WHO feels, the disease is detected early enough.

It is early detection, above all, that WHO is stressing during the year, doing so under a theme that hopefully claims that the "Early Detection of Cancer Saves [illegible]

(One of a series of articles published as a public service by this newspaper in cooperation with the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc.)

—by Mrs. Roy Williams

The DeKalb Cancer Association organized in August, 1965. Although it has helped many cancer victims in the county, spending over $1,100 in patient care alone in 1969, there are still many people who do not know of it. Therefore, the association has prepared for publication in local newspapers a series of four articles, the first explaining the organization goals and financing of the group. The following will answer some of the medical questions most often asked about cancer. These answers were prepared by the Medical Advisory Committee of the Allen County Cancer Society.

Q. What is the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc.?

A. The association is a legal, non-profit corporation. It was incorporated to receive monetary contributions in bequests, memorials and other gifts, and is a United Fund agency.

Q. Who are the members of the association?

A. Technically, all persons who contribute in any amount to the United Fund in DeKalb County are members for one year from the time of the contribution.

There is no paid staff. The work is done by the officers, committees and the executive board of directors, who are volunteers donating their time. These are: president, Donald T. Mefford, Auburn; vice-president, Mrs. F. J. Longden, Auburn; secretary, Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Saint Joe; treasurer, Michael Haggarty, Auburn; educational committee, Mrs. James Carper and Mrs. Howard Bates, Auburn; ministerial representative, Rev. George W. Schuette, Auburn; professional representative, Dr. C. B. Hathaway, Jr., Auburn; executive board of directors, Mrs. James D. Brinkerhoff and Mrs. Roy Williams, Garrett, Mrs. Clifford Shultz, Butler, Dr. Don Derrow and Earle Henderson, Auburn, Mrs. H. N. Grimm, Waterloo and Mrs. Wiley Phillips, Ashley. Anyone wishing to actively participate in the association is urged to call one of the above.

The annual meeting is scheduled for the third Monday in September, the 21st, time and place to be announced. The public is invited.

Q. What is the purpose of the association?

A. The ultimate goal is a total cancer control program, achieved through service, education and research. Service to home cancer patients who are unable to afford the often expensive items so necessary for cure or rehabilitation is the feature involving the most volunteers.

The association provides WITHOUT COST to needy home cancer patients: (1) cancer dressings and pads, sterile and non-sterile; (2) commodes, aspirators, oxygen outfits, walkers, bedside tables, bed pans, urinals and numerous other items; (3) transportation to and from medical centers for treatment, when such poses a problem or burden to patient or family; and (4) miscellaneous medications and supplies. In addition, the association will pay 70% of the cost of prescription drugs needed.

Education. One of every three lives now lost to cancer could be saved with current medical knowledge if the disease were detected early enough. The association strives to make everyone aware of the seven warning signs of cancer, to persuade all adults to have annual physical examinations, and to inform all of the services offered to the county.

Smoking films are shown in local grade schools, and these and other films are available to groups and organizations for showing.

As the ultimate answer to cancer will come through research, the association also donates each year a certain amount of money to research projects, the projects and amounts determined by the local executive board. Often the grants are local, as in the case of Jeff Best of Garrett who received $150 last year.

Q. How often are funds solicited?

A. Funds for the association itself are never solicited. It is a United Fund agency and participates in the distribution of these funds, the share determined by submitting an annual budget to the United Fund board. Monies are received through bequests and memorials. To donate a memorial, mail a check to Mrs. F. J. Longden, 404 North Main Street, Auburn. A thank you is mailed to the donor and a memorial card to the deceased's family, which does not include the amount of the donation. Memorials sent to any board members will be turned over to Mrs. Longden for handling.

Q. Is the DeKalb Cancer Association affiliated with the American Cancer Society?

A. Aside from a common goal of a cancer cure, there is no affiliation whatsoever. As stated this association is a member of the United Fund and receives its money from the United Fund. The American Cancer Society raises its own funds by direct campaigns to the national public, and disburses them on a nationwide basis. Excepting certain research grants, all funds coming to the DeKalb association from DeKalb County are spent in DeKalb County to help cancer patients in the county.

Q. How does one go about getting help from the association?

A. Call a board member, with patient's name and his doctor's name. Before aid is given, the doctor is consulted. All assistance is confidential, with only those directly involved informed. Often needy cases are brought to the attention of the association through friends, neighbors or clergymen.

Q. Does the association provide funds for doctors bills, etc.?

A. No, it cannot. Funds for hospital and doctor bills and nursing care are not available, but every effort is made by the association to aid the patient in securing these services through the proper agencies.

The DeKalb Cancer Association is here to help YOU. Please let us know when we are needed.

In the Riverdale area, call Mrs. Forrest Bevington at 337-3142.

Lecture Series On Delinquency

The ladies of the Church of Christ at Saint Joe and Coburn Corners have received invitations to attend a lecture-luncheon series by Women of the First Church of Christ in Garrett. The area-wide lecture series will be held April 12-15 in the Garrett church.

Dr. Dorothy Keister of Mulligan College and a nationally-known speaker will be the director of the meetings.

"Mission To Women," as the program is called, is an all-women's program in which the problems of youth and juvenile delinquency will be discussed. Dr. Keister is reported to be well qualified to conduct such a timely program. She is listed in "Who's Who in Colleges and Universities,' has received honorary affiliations in Phi Kappa, Theta Phi and Delta Pi. She holds several degrees in education and church history, and her achievements include valedictorian in high school and college.

No charge will be made for the lecture series, and competent babysitters will care for pre-school children.

A silver tea will start the afternoon sessions Sunday at 2:30. Monday, following the salad luncheon at one o'clock to which all ladies are invited, Dr. Keister will speak on the subject, "How We Foster Juvenile Delinquency in the Home." Tuesday afternoon she will speak on "How We foster Juvenile Delinquency in the Churches." Wednesday's topic will be, "Problem Parents; Problem Children."

Special music will be provided at all sessions.

Peas in a Pod?

All men are created equal! But their mothers see it differently. And their fathers don't hand out cigars simply to attest to their part in the population explosion.

It's natural to believe that our child is just a bit different from all the others.

Surely he has our love to start him off, our good sense to guide his development and our convictions to mold his.

Yes, our convictions! Are they stale religious cliches remembered vaguely from Sunday School lessons years ago? Or are they fresh, vigorous beliefs and commitments acquired through regular worship and spiritual searching?

Our child is different from all the others. His immediate heritage is a home built on our religious foundation.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It was great to be with so many of you at the Indiana Republican Editorial Association meeting at the Indianapolis Hilton Saturday noon and evening, April 4, 1970. Sorry I was late getting enough hard cold cash gathered up to pay my assessment fee for U.S. Senate. Since my personal check of $6375.00 was refused last Thursday, April 2, at the Indiana Republican Women's meeting at the Murat Temple, I've been busy gathering up enough real cold cash.

The Republican Editorial Association meeting was very good. But it seemed a little degrading to be scheduled so close to the meeting of the hierarchy of C.O.P.E. I enjoyed giving the lapel flags to so many good patriots, but I was shocked to have the bosses of C.O.P.E. from across the hall denounce both me and our flag when I tried to give them a U.S. lapel flag. Two of them denounced me publicly for passing out the U.S. lapel flag and one of them who refused to give me his name delivered me a thunderous lingual abuse in the Hilton hall. I was grateful to have the offer of help by a plain clothes policeman who overheard the "Mr. Thug." If the C.O.P.E. boss who attacked our flag, denounced me and refused to give me his name will send me 24c, I'll enclose my forthcoming brochure "How To Tune In Or Turn Off." Thanks to the good policeman in civilian clothes who witnessed part of this occurence and offered to assist if I needed it.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Willard Maxwell stopped in this week to donate $10 to the attorney fee fund. Even though he is retired, has no kids in school and returned to this, his home community only a couple of years ago, he said he felt an interest in all community affairs and wanted to help out.

Since the last time donors were listed, I've had contributions from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamman of Auburn $10.00, Lavon Hart monthly pledge of $5.00, Walter Ervin $10.00, Paul Fish $10.00, D. W. Yeiser $50.00, plus Mr. Maxwell's donation.

Ray Foltz stopped me last week as I prepared to take photos showing the beginning of grading operations for the new community building at Spencerville. He showed me some old newspapers which he found attached to old boards taken from a house on the Ezra Horn farm on the Cuba Road. The papers go back to the 1860's, and one sheet showed that it was an Evangelical Lutheran Church publication.

Unfortunately, the pages cannot be removed from the boards without tearing, so it's a little difficult to make much out of them, except that they are old.

Ray gave me a few of the page pieces, in case anyone would care to examine them.

I had Phil's radio tuned in on FM Friday, and a spot announcement on WIFF pointed out that WIFF is northeast Indiana's "exclusive voice of the Chicago Cubs."

—They sure know their baseball.

Bill Roop stopped in Saturday to try to help get certain things straightened around as far as the trash pickup problems are concerned. Bill has worked for Tom Muhn of Auburn Sanitary Landfill for 10 years.

During the conversation, I inquired about the disposal of heavy items, such as refrigerators, stoves, etc. He said the landfill at Auburn would take small appliances and other junk, but the big stuff is not accepted. It must be taken to the junk yard at the south end of Auburn.

Those who have extra trash to dispose of, other than that which can be hauled on the regular Friday morning pickup, can take their loads to the landfill through the week, from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 6 a.m. to noon Saturday.

There is a charge made for these extra loads.

Margaret Drerup called last week and again this week to let me know that her father, Roscoe Walter, is confined at the Bluffton Clinic. He asked a friend at Auburn to take him to Bluffton Tuesday of last week, having had a "bad night" Monday. The doctors at the clinic kept him there after an examination, saying that he had suffered a heart attack.

It's a wonder old Roscoe hasn't keeled over before. He keeps going, even when he sounds terrible and feels the same way. But he's one of those people who must keep busy at something—be active or feel useless.

I see where they're going to eliminate the driving test for students who successfully complete public driver education courses. Reasons given are that the teacher who instructs the driver student knows whether or not the student is prepared to drive, and the fact it's such a long wait at the license bureau for student and parent when a license is applied for and a driving test must be taken.

I always have felt that the student driver training programs have been overplayed. Although insurance companies give a discount for teenage driver training, the statistics continue to show that teenage drivers and into the early 20's are the worst in accident experience. The number of one-car accidents involving young drivers indicates their lack of understanding of the limitations in control a person has when driving a car.

If most students nowadays take driver training, and if the instructors in those programs can judge the fitness of the student for driving, then it looks like they can fire the 74 examiners throughout the state and eliminate an unnecessary expense borne by the public.

I was impressed by the cool, confident and polite manner of State Trooper Mike Colgate as he appeared at Riverdale Tuesday to give Kathy Prosser her prize. Trooper Colgate stopped at the News Office to let me know of his arrival, and I managed to get a picture of the event. But because there was not time enough to get an engraving, you'll have to wait until next week to see the picture.

Next year high school basketball coaches face strict enforcement of a "stay on the bench or else" edict from the Indiana High School Athletic Association. Technical fouls will be called on coaches who stand up to protest a referee's call.

A coach who stands up to instruct his players may, therefore, get called for a technical, even though he is not "beefing." If the ref's must make an on-the-spot decision as to whether or not a coach is coaching or beefing, it looks as if the situation will be worse rather than better; the ref's already have plenty to do.

I think it's a mistake to remove some of the "color" from high school basketball. And I think IHSAA commissioner Phil Eskew is barking up the wrong tree when he justifies the enforcement of "stand-up" technicals with the statement, "We have to maintain crowd control. Nothing is any worse than a coach who incites a crowd by insistent arguing with game officials."

Granted, there are coaches who do lack the ability to get over a "mad" during a game. But there are many more whose activities on the bench are a natural reaction to the emotional tension and stress characteristic of a high school basketball game. Why penalize someone for their natural—and for the most part, controlled—reactions?

And then there are the entertainers, the coaches like Jim Roush at Eastside a few years ago, who put on a show at every game. I don't think he ever "incited" a crowd by his antics. In fact, he probably hurt himself a few times, even in the eyes of Eastside fans, when he let a towel fly or took a long walk to the opposing bench, his reaction to referees' decisions. The crowd knew when he was wrong, it wasn't "incited" to anything. It also knew when he was right and didn't need his actions to prompt a vocal reaction.

Game officials already have sufficient authority to control an unreasonable coach. It's unfair to take some of the color from high school basketball by penalizing all coaches for the extremes of a few.

If they REALLY want to do something about student and fan reactions, why don't they crack down on individuals who get involved in fights and so on. Certain public and school officials in Fort Wayne are happy that the manner in which they "handled" incidents at the sectional and-or regional games prevented a riot. Maybe they did do the right thing. But it still remains that the public was subjected to racial intimidation because a Fort Wayne team—or rather some of its students—couldn't take defeat.

We are reaping the harvest of the emphasis on civil and human rights—abuse by those who fail to exercise responsibility.

If we REALLY want to avoid trouble, why not eliminate spectators altogether and let the coaches and athletes stick to athletics in an empty gym?

See where the theater owners are trying to get us back on central time? More power to 'em.

That boxing show at Auburn Saturday night sounds like a welcome relief from the unwholesome atmosphere created by professional boxing in recent years—for those who believe that boxing can be "clean" and a sporting test of skill and endurance.

Hm-m-m-m, from that picture down below, I'd say Friday's program at the high school is worth going to even if they can't sing a note.

FRY CANCELLED

BULLETIN—Due to the government crackdown on the sale of fish from Lake Erie, the fish fry scheduled for Saturday night, April 18, has been cancelled by the Spencerville Community Club. The fry will be held later in the fall, according to Glenn Moore, president of the club.

The decision to cancel was made at a board meeting Tuesday evening.

The drawing will be held as scheduled, however, and winners will be notified.

Poisons in the waters of Lake Erie prompted the government's action to prohibit sale of fish from those waters. The Community Club traditionally offered Lake Erie perch at its fish fry.

Kathy Prosser Wins Award

Kathy Prosser, a student in Mrs. Blanche Middaugh's sixth grade room at Riverdale Elementary School, received recognition Tuesday morning for her letter to Governor Edgar B. Whitcomb on what is good about Indiana. The governor sponsored a contest recently for students in the entire state.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Prosser of Spencerville, received an autographed copy of the governor's book, "Escape From Corregidor," which relates his experiences in World War II.

Both sixth grade rooms were present when Indiana State Trooper Mike Colgate made the presentation on behalf of Governor Whitcomb. There were nine winners in DeKalb County who received similar presentations.

'The Caldwells,' Outstanding Musical Group, To Appear At Eastside Friday Night

The entire Eastside school community will have an opportunity to enjoy a program which high school students only attended recently, when "The Caldwells" return to Eastside Friday night of this week. The 14-member musical ensemble from Columbus, Ohio, presented such an action-packed concert at a school convocation that the student body asked for a return public engagement. The group's program is called, "Music For Young America," and its purpose is to promote renewed faith in God and country. The program will start Friday night at 8:00 p.m. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students, sixth grade and under. An invitation is extended to the public, young and old, to attend this outstanding program of inspirational and entertaining music.

Reminder For Mothers And Dads-To-Be

The DeKalb County Red Cross is completing plans to conduct a mother and baby care course of instruction for DeKalb County mothers—and incidentally for fathers, too.

Mrs. Robert (Vivian) Ball, nursing chairman, announces that DeKalb Memorial Hospital and the DeKalb County Medical Society have approved the plan and have offered their support and cooperation.

Mrs. Marvin (Connie) Wolf, R.N., will instruct the class. Sessions will be held Tuesday and Friday evenings, beginning April 21 and continuing through a three-week period.

The two-hour sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the conference area of the main dining room at DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

The course will include instructional Red Cross films on "Human Reproduction - Phenomena of Early Development, Normal Birth, and Breath of Life." There will be a tour of the O.B. department of the hospital, with visits to the labor and delivery rooms.

There is no charge for the course. Two government pamphlets of mother and baby care are provided free.

All doctors in the county have been notified concerning the details of these arrangements.

Prospective class members may register by phone call to the Red Cross office, 925-4566, or by a visit to the office on the first floor of the court house in Auburn. Hours are 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Early registration is requested in order to make adequate preparations for those who will attend.

EYE INJURIES

APPROXIMATELY five per cent of all blindness is due to accidents, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Injuries from B-B guns, slingshots and bows and arrows cause 9% of all accidental blindness and sharp objects account for another 20%. Blows to the eyes cause almost 40% and falls, 20%. Foreign objects such as metals, dust, chips and wood cause about seven per cent.

What to do in case of an eye injury:

1. In case of a blow to the eye region, apply cold packs to the area. Use clean cloths and tap water.
2. If a chemical is spilled into the eye, flush the eye immediately with plain tap water. Alkalis are more dangerous than acids in similar amounts.
3. Sometimes a speck can be removed easily. Lift the upper lid and pull it down over the lower lid, allowing tears to wash out the speck. If this is unsuccessful, wash with drops of lukewarm water. If the speck still remains, bandage the eye, to prevent the victim from rubbing it and consult a physician. Eye irritation may be due to early infection rather than to a foreign body.
4. Consider the need for medical attention in all cases of eye injury. Loss of vision may result from the penetration of a small splinter or piece of metal into the eye.

Two Local Men To Participate In Environment-Preservation Program

Environmental teach-ins are scheduled throughout the nation at colleges, universities, high schools and elsewhere next Wednesday, April 22, as a mass educational process on preservation and protection of the country's natural resources.

Legislators, public officials, teachers, professors, representatives of business and industry, and others, will participate in programs which include all-day sessions such as that scheduled at the Indiana-Purdue Campus at Fort Wayne.

Locally, Frank Seehler, president of Seehler's Pickles, will appear on a closed TV circuit program taped and recorded at DeKalb Central High School for presentation at that school. His presentation is one of four concerning private industry and its anti-pollution efforts in DeKalb County.

Another participant during the day will be T. E. Haberkorn, Jr., of Saint Joe who will appear during a solid-waste segment of the day's program at Fort Wayne. Representing the local town board as well as private interests, the local editor will be one of three discussants during the 4:30-5:45 p.m. segment. The other two discussants, assisting a panel of five, include Harry Curtis, president of C&C Construction Company, and Robert Dahman, Sanitation Director of the Fort Wayne Board of Public Works.

The Fort Wayne program will begin at 9:30 a.m., with the final segment of the day-long meeting to begin at 9:30 p.m.

Included on the list of participants are Harold Zeis, mayor of Fort Wayne; Allen Bloom, state senator; Philip Gutman, state senator; J. Edward Roush, attorney and former Congressman; Vance Hartke, U.S. Senator; E. Ross Adair, Congressman; Floyd Coleman, state representative; and many other names known to this area.

The meeting will be held in the student lounge, to the left as one enters the main door of the Fort Wayne campus. The public is invited to attend.

Nigel F. B. Cook, lecturer in economics at the Fort Wayne campus, is the coordinator of the Fort Wayne program.

The program will be:

9:30-10:30—Introduction
10:30-11:30—Legal Aspects of Pollution
11:30-12:30—Radiation, Thermal and Noise Pollution
12:30-1:00—George Lowe, Executive Coordinator of Environmental Education Studies Staff, Department of HEW

PAP SMEARS—What They Are And What They Mean

Q. The Cancer Society and others urge annual physical examinations for all, and Pap Smears for women. Why is this important when I feel well?

A. Many illnesses, including cancer, often begin with only minor symptoms that a patient often does not recognize. Most illnesses are easily cured or treated if they are caught early. A regular examination gives the physician a record of your health and therefore a better basis for comparison when what seems to be a minor change occurs. Cancer and other conditions can and do develop while the patient feels normal. It is better to catch any illness early, rather than to wait for pain or other serious problems. This is the reason an annual physical examination is so important.

Q. But what about a Pap Smear for women? What is it and why is it given?

A. It is a type of cell examination which can be done simply, painlessly and inexpensively in a doctor's office. Cells which have been normally sloughed off the surfaces of the cervix are collected and prepared on a slide for microscopic study as to the nature of the cells. A pathologist can determine if cancer cells are present, and if detected at an early stage, cervical cancer is practically 100% curable. The test should be given at least at annual intervals.

Q. Will a doctor automatically give a Pap Smear to every woman coming in his office?

A. This is a matter that depends entirely on the individual physician. A growing number of physicians automatically give Pap Smears at the time of the annual examination, or suggest that one be given at annual intervals. However, some do not. It would be wise to ask your physician, if you have never had one or if your last was more than two years ago, to give you one now. April is Cancer Crusade Month. Why not begin this annual examination this month?

Q. I am a healthy woman of 30. Is it necessary that I have a Pap Test?

A. Your family doctor would probably prefer to see your mother, since as women get older, the possibility of cancer increases. However, women of 30 can and do develop cervical cancer. Begin the test now and make it a habit for life.

Q. Can a Pap Smear find cancer any place other than in the cervix?

A. This technique which is simply collecting cells exfoliated or dropped off in a part of the body is being used to some extent to check for oral cancer and stomach cancer. However, the usual purpose of the Pap Smear is to check for early cancer of the cervix.

Q. What does it mean when my physician tells me my Pap Smear was Group I?

A. It means you are in fine shape as far as this particular exam is concerned. The laboratory reports list five different categories or groupings for the pathological findings, as follows:

Group or Class I—absence of atypical or abnormal cells. Negative.

Group II—atypical cells present, but without abnormal features. Negative.

Group III—cells with abnormal features, suggestive but not conclusive for malignancy. Suspicious.

Group IV—cells and cell clusters fairly conclusive for malignancy. Positive.

Group V—cells and cell clusters conclusive for malignancy. Positive.

Q. If a Pap Smear shows something suspicious, what is the next step?

A. If your physician feels your circumstances warrant, the usual next step would be a simple surgical procedure which involves taking bits of tissue from the cervix itself for further microscopic study. This process of removing and examining tissue from a living body is known as a biopsy. It is the only certain method of diagnosing cancer. It may be, of course, that your physician will only want you back for another such test in three months, as a suspicious smear does not indicate cancer is present. It only means that the pathologist noticed something that should be watched. Later, if any serious problem develops, the doctor will be in a position to act swiftly.

Q. Are Pap Smears necessary after a total hysterectomy?

A. If the hysterectomy was total, then there is no need for a Pap Smear. However, if it was a partial hysterectomy, then it is necessary to have an annual smear. If there is any doubt, ask your physician.

The DeKalb Cancer Association is here to help YOU. Please let us know when we are needed. In the Riverdale area, call Mrs. Forrest Bevington at 337-3142.

R.H.C.
—Mrs. John Crothers, Reporter

The Rural Housewives Club was entertained at the home of Sarah Amstuts April 7. Marie Ward, the president, opened the meeting with a verse on "Middle Ground."

Ella Crothers had the opening number. She read "America, the Blest" and a humorous account, "The Store Nut."

A short business meeting followed. "The Thoughts For Today" were read from the club books with April poetry as the theme. Nine members answered roll call with "Women In the News."

Ines Smith had a special on the care and repair of antiques.

Ella Crothers is scheduled to have the May meeting.

We were happy to have Harriett Hood back from a winter holiday in Florida. A friendship letter was sent to Grace Laub, our shutin member.

After lunch, everyone enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Amstuts' hobby, collecting and polishing stones.

"That question has a double meaning!" you protest. Yes, it has. Either you're letting life carry you along its bumpy road, just shrugging your shoulders and "making the best of it" . . . or you've discovered the secret of making the BEST of life by choosing God's way and letting Him do the steering.

It isn't really a secret. Anyone can find it if he searches with complete sincerity. Through prayer, through regular church attendance, through Bible reading, the answers will come if we persevere. Gradually we will accept God's plan for us and understand the full, triumphant meaning of the words of Jesus: "Nothing shall by any means hurt you."

There is no voyage of discovery more exciting or challenging than this one. And our God-guided efforts will bring us to the BEST of life . . . a reward greater than any worldly goal we could name.

Tax Statements Delayed

Due to a delay in the mailing of tax statements from the county treasurer's office, DeKalb County taxpayers can hold off in their payment of property taxes.

County Treasurer Charles Farrington advises that statements must be mailed to all taxpayers before payments can be accepted. It is certain that this cannot be accomplished before the May 4 deadline for paying such taxes.

Therefore, a new deadline date will be set and this date will be given to taxpayers with the mailing of the tax forms.

Taxpayers are asked not to come to the treasurer's office to pay their taxes until they have received their official statement.

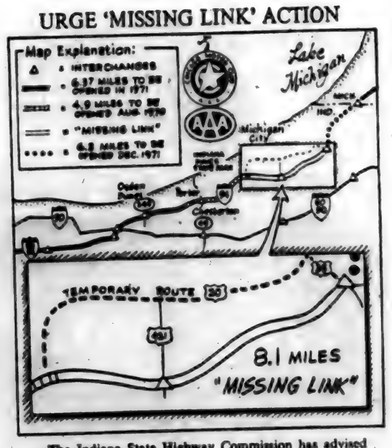
URGE 'MISSING LINK' ACTION



The Indiana State Highway Commission has advised the Chicago Motor Club-AAA that it has three major Interstate Projects as priority projects—I-64 in downstate Indiana—Inner beltway around Indianapolis—and I-94 in Northern Indiana. However, the Commission says, it does not have sufficient funds to put all of these under contract in 1970.

The Chicago Motor Club-AAA, at its recent Northwest Indiana Area Council meeting, encouraged all Northern Indiana highway-users to contact their State Legislators and the Highway Commission office in Indianapolis, urging that the 8.1 mile "missing link" portion of I-94 be given priority and placed under contract this year. The Motor Club points out that completion of I-94 has been delayed for more than 20 years and that the traffic deaths and accident injuries in Northern Indiana could be significantly reduced upon completion of this vital freeway.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

There's more to that accident that Jay Loy was in a couple of weeks ago than was publicized.

Betty Brown tipped me off last week end that Ralphine Robinson was responsible for saving the life of one of the Ohio men in the other car. He was bleeding profusely and Ralphine told him he'd better sit down so she could do something about his cut head. The attending doctor is reported to have said later at the hospital that a cut artery could have caused the man's death if Ralphine had not taken over.

When I confronted her with the above for verification, she humbly pointed out that husband Joe, Harold and Mose Yeiser, Andy Monroe and Mel Hershberger were also involved, and that a deputy sheriff complimented the whole group on their teamwork in the emergency.

Another man in the Ohio car required some 80 stitches in his face.

Credit Ralphine with one saved life and the others also with cool heads under fire.

—And you might ask Mose about some interesting sidelights.

Last week Bonnie Hewitt was in the restaurant with her folks having a sandwich—she thought. June Ulrich brought the plates with the food and headed back toward the kitchen when Bonnie said, "Hey, what kind of sandwich is this?" She had opened the bun and found onion—but no tenderloin. June checked in the kitchen and, sure enough, there was the meat still in the kitchen.

But you can't blame June too much for what happened. She's had plenty on her mind. She, her sister Donzella Graham, and her brother Delmar Shumaker of Lima, Ohio, have been taking turns caring for the trio's mother, Emma Shumaker, who will be 90 in July.

Mrs. Shumaker submitted to surgery almost two years ago, contracted pneumonia and was considered beyond recovery. But three weeks later, she walked out of the hospital. Since that time, however, she has suffered numerous strokes, requiring the care given by June, Donnie and Delmar. It's a fine story of dedication to one's parents by these three people and their families.

So, when June slipped up last week on Bonnie's sandwich, it was understandable, under the circumstances.

Do you have odd telephone conversations sometimes with someone you don't know? We do.

Last week Mark answered the phone, using the technique he learned from the Lyan Lakes. He answered the ring: "Haberkorns —Mark speaking."

He listened, got a puzzled look, then hung up, saying, "Mommie, I said, 'Haberkorns—Mark speaking,' and the lady said, 'Well, you didn't have to say that!'—and hung up."

Another time last week, Phil answered. A girl's or woman's voice asked for Carol. He said, "You have the wrong number."

She said—and she was mad—"Well, if it's the wrong number, why'd you answer!"

That's as bad as the one where the guy answers the phone in the middle of the night, the voice says I'm sorry to bother you at this time of night and the guy says that's o.k. I had to answer the phone anyhow.

From Your Cancer Association- -

(Published as a public service by this newspaper, in cooperation with the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc.)
—by Mrs. Roy Williams

Q. We hear a great deal about the seven danger signals of cancer. What are they?

A. The seven warning signals are: (1) unusual bleeding or discharge; (2) a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere; (3) a sore that does not heal; (4) change in bowel or bladder habits; (5) hoarseness or cough; (6) indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; and (7) change in a wart or mole.

Q. If one of the cancer signs develops, is it necessary to go to a doctor right away?

A. Yes. Delay in diagnosis and treatment is the worst enemy standing in the way of possible cure. Cancer warning signs do not always mean cancer, but could be any one of many kinds of illness. Don't try to diagnose yourself. See a physician at once.

Unfortunately, one rather unexpected and dismal side-effect of the publicity given the cancer danger signals has been a tendency on the part of some people to either panic or become thoroughly discouraged on discovering what they think is cancer. Consequently, they ignore the symptom in the hope it will go away, or refuse to seek medical help, thinking it is no use.

Q. What types of cancer are cureable?

A. Most types of cancer are cureable if detected early. When they are detected early, the chances of cure for a few types of cancer are: Skin 93%, Uterus 85%, Breast 82%, Colon 68%, Prostate 54% and Lungs 17%. These rates decrease when detection is late.

Q. I have had a discussion with friends and it was suggested that cancer is a disease related to civilization. Is it correct that it would not be found in primitive times?

A. Cancer of the breast and other sites have been accurately described since the dawn of history. Hippocrates, the Greek doctor, accurately described cancer of the breast, rectum, stomach and skin some 400 years before Christ. Several Egyptian mummies are known with bone changes indicating presence of cancer. This, of course, does not change the fact that some cancers are related to such things as smoking and air pollution.

Q. How is air pollution related to cancer?

A. It is widely believed that the higher cancer death rates in urban areas are at least partly due to air pollution, but further studies are needed to settle the question. We do know that the atmosphere of all large cities and many adjoining areas is polluted by industrial smoke and fumes, automobile exhaust, combustion products from home heating and the like. Polluted air often contains chemicals known to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

Q. Can emotional strain or physicial injuries cause cancer?

A. The appearance of cancer soon after severe emotional strain or mental illness has often been reported but seems to be entirely by chance. There is no acceptable evidence that mental distress ever causes cancer.

The role of injury in producing cancer is not entirely settled, but most researchers agree that if cancer is discovered soon after an injury, attention has probably only been directed to a pre-existing tumor. It is also generally agreed that chronic or repeated injury to the same tissue probably does not produce cancer under ordinary circumstances.

Q. It has been reported that cancer is the second leading cause of death. How has this changed over the years?

A. In 1900 cancer was the eighth leading cause of death. Influenza and pneumonia combined were the leading causes, with tuberculosis in second place. This does not necessarily mean that the incidence of cancer has increased so drastically, as cures and controls have been found for a number of diseases which, in former years, caused thousands of deaths.

Q. Will our children live to see a cure for cancer?

A. There can be no positive answer to this question, although it is certainly the hope of everyone involved in cancer research and cancer conrol programs that the day a cure or control for cancer is available is not too far off.

The DeKalb Cancer Association is here to help YOU; Please let us know when we are needed. In the Riverdale area, call Mrs. Forrest Bevington at 337-3142.

Ground Broken For New Building

While there will be many others involved in the construction of the Spencerville Community Club's new building before too many months pass, the above three men began the actual physical labor Wednesday, April 8, 1970, at the club site. Bud Vendreley and Jim Dwyer of Spencerville and Ben Garman of Brooks Construction Company, Fort Wayne, are pictured above as they began grading for the new building.

Mr. Garman checks with the two local men, who manned the transit, to see that grade lines are being followed.

Age Of Vulgarity

There is nothing more disappointing than the dissipation in human life characterized by the abuse of body and mind. We are rightly concerned about drug abuse today; we should also be concerned about speech abuse.

It is one of those old fashioned fuddie-duddie traits, I know, but I feel nothing but sadness when I hear persistent cursing, swearing, profanity and obscenity to the extent that it is heard today. True, there has always been the inclination to resort to such language since the beginning of time; "mantalk" has been a fact of life since life began. But today, there seems to be less shame felt by both men and women in the choice of language they use than there has been for some time. I suppose the emphasis on "civil" and "human" rights has prompted some people to let loose with the tongue any way they please, justifying their language with "I have a right to talk any way I want to."

But do they?

Reason all you want to on the theory that the individual has the right to make up his own mind and everyone else leave him alone and not exercise judgment on him. It still remains a historical fact that unrestrained freedom does not build character, does not build society; rather, it tears it down. This holds true for the use of language as well as for everything else.

Foul language is a sign of weak character, I was told many years ago. They didn't necessarily mean that the person using foul language is absolutely "no good." What was meant was that the use of foul language indicated an inability to cope with a situation; momentarily, the person lost his stability of thought, his common sense, his reason—his "cool" as the moderns put it.

A disappointing aspect of this matter of foul language is that today men for the most part do not particularly look to see if women are present when they use crude language. But even more disappointing is a woman's use of foul language. Such use destroys that delicateness, that softness, that purity, that wholesomeness, that semi-holy aura of womanhood that is so essential to any civilization to maintain any sort of balance in that society. Women today who actively seek "equality" do not realize that, instead of building themselves up, they are tearing themselves down. Women AREN'T the equal of men; and men aren't the equal of women. They are different; they were made that way. (Viva la difference, as someone has said.) And that difference includes the manner of speaking.

Isn't it strange? Today more people have more things than they ever did before in this country, despite all the poverty talk and efforts toward bigger welfare programs. We have more money going for education than ever before, despite the teachers' cry of shortchanging education. There are more opportunities than ever before for everyone, despite the continuing holler from certain negroes to the contrary. And what do we do? We paint four-letter words on signs and carry them around in public protest movements instituted to "improve" the world! We see and hear "intellectual" personalities on TV talk shows, and what do they do, these people of supposed great motivation? They use language that abuses the ears of viewers. Or there is a "beep" to blot out their profanity and obscenity; but you can read their lips. Learned, cultured, intellectual, intelligent educated people they consider themselves. In my book they are barbarians, obsessed by their own ability to display boldness. Some of them claim to be sensitive to the needs of mankind. Educated persons using profanity or obscenity in presenting their views would seem sensitive only to their own thoughts. They profane the word "freedom" by the very manner in which they fail to restrain themselves in their use of the common tongue.

An occasional cuss word or a little swearing has its place in human life. It's like a safety valve sometimes, helping to let off steam. However, safety valves are properly seldom used, only in extreme instances. If they pop too often, there is something out of adjustment. Today, in the matter of profanity and obscenity, there is something drastically out of adjustment in our society. That something is "lack of respect for others" that has come with the emphasis on individual freedom. We'll get back in adjustment when you can go anywhere, in any public place, and be confident that men will watch their language, whether or not there are ladies present, but particularly when there are ladies present—and when young men stop resorting to crude language in their normal conversations in public. Such language is far from an indication of manliness. One thing seems to have been forgotten by everyone somewhere along the line—that cuss words have their greatest impact the less they are used!

The more we have, the more we hold in contempt—or so it seems. The crude language, the obscenity in spoken and written word as prevails today are an indication of a decline in American culture. Individually, it means we have less respect for one another.

And then we ask, "What's wrong with us?"

The first answer is: watch your language!

Magnificent tapestries, sometimes taking years to complete, decorated the walls of many homes and churches in the Middle Ages. Woven with richly colored strands of silk and wool, they often pictured scenes from the Bible. To create a beautiful tapestry required patience . . . skill . . . devotion.

Today each of us weaves a tapestry — the fabric of our lives. We sit at a loom, wondering whether the pattern of our lives will be of bright rose, green or golden threads, or whether the events will show as somber, dark colors.

A weaver in the Middle Ages worked on the reverse side of his tapestry. By looking up at a mirror, he could see how the entire design looked on the right side.

When we look up to God in worship, we can see with clarity the pattern of our lives. Attend the church of your choice for perspective on your life's tapestry.

The first place team was from the FFA chapter at DeKalb Central. The team includes Omer Steury, Ralph Seiler, Rick Woolbeking and Frank Walker. The coach is Ed Whittington.

An Eastside FFA team placed second and was coached by Russell Guinther. Members are Rick Fuller, Fred Surfus, Larry Hullinger and Craig Smith.

These two teams, plus individual high scorers Kelly Carnahan and Keith Henderson of Eastside, will represent DeKalb County at the Area Dairy Judging Contest April 25.

CHARYL SUE MOORE

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Moore of Spencerville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Charyl Sue, to Dennis Lee Zeisloft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Zeisloft of R1 Auburn.

Miss Moore is a senior at Eastside High School. Mr. Zeisloft is a 1968 graduate of Eastside and is currently employed at the B.F. Goodrich Company.

The couple plan to be married Saturday, June 6.

100 Pints Sought At Bloodmobile

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its appearance in the Riverdale community Tuesday, May 12, 1970. Blood donations will be made in the Riverdale Cafetorium.

To accommodate those who are employed elsewhere and do not get home until late afternoon, the Bloodmobile will remain at the cafetorium until 6:00 p.m. Donors will be accepted starting at 1:00 p.m. that day.

Mrs. Michael Hicov is serving as general chairman again this year and has set a goal of 100 pints for the community. Her efforts in the past has fallen just shy of that mark, and she hopes that community donors will cooperate in reaching it. Recent appearances of the Bloodmobile in other areas of the county indicate a lack of response by the public.

Blood collected from the various communities not only assures a ready supply but also replaces blood required by patients from those areas in the past.

Transportation and babysitting can be arranged to accommodate Riverdale parents.

Mrs. Hicov reminds would-be donors that a medical history of malaria or hepatitis disqualifies a donor.

Cards are being sent to prospective donors and telephone calls are also being utilized in striving for the 100-pint goal. An appointment can be made for the convenience of donors, or they may just drop in at the Bloodmobile at their convenience during the 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. hours.

Around The Town.....

with the Editor

I'm going to take up space in this column this week in a somewhat different manner as compared to the usual. This is because I want more than just a "news report" effect concerning a school activity and the efforts of a couple of our Riverdale teachers. Since good reporting is supposed to be unbiased and without opinion, this column will serve the purpose - because I can say what I want to!

My enthusiasm is due to the recent Arbor Day program held at Riverdale by the fourth grade classes. I was pleasantly and happily impressed by the conduct of the students when they participated in the observance; I saw no horsepuay, no fooling around. They were attentive, probably reflecting the influence which Donna Jewel, one of the fourth grade teachers, has had upon the students.

Mrs. Jewel, along with Elaine Bereaw, the other half of the fourth grade teaching staff, were responsible for setting up the Arbor Day observance April 17 (it was a week late due to difficulty in finding out the proper date). The impressive program included a formal ceremony with the presentation of the American and state flags, a history of Arbor Day presented by students, and other pertinent information.

Mrs. Jewel has been responsible for other activities which develop the kids' appreciation for people and things about them. One of the activities, I am told, was recognition of Riverdale's cafeteria staff with ribbons and a sign declaring them the best cooks in the county.

I rode down to school and took the accompanying photos. And let me tell you, when I rode away after observing the major portion of the program and the way those teachers and students participated in just a little thing like planting a tree, I felt GOOD.

—We have a Jewel among jewels at Riverdale!

Harold Kagey at left discusses the selection of a proper location for a tree at the Riverdale school grounds with Riverdale Principal George Rader.

Mr. Kagey then prepared the ground for planting of the tulip tree which he donated to the fourth grade class activity. He owns and operates Hart's Nursery east of Saint Joe on SR101.

Dick Crow passes the word along, in behalf of the trustees and assessors, that owners of cars, pickup campers, boats, motors and dogs who have not been assessed for the above items are themselves responsible for their assessment. It is a public responsibility to get in touch with the trustee to be assessed.

Dick will be at the Rainbow Farm Center all day Saturday for the convenience of Concord Township residents.

Got a letter from Roger Reinhart from out California way, and he suggests the possibility of urethane foam to cover the Spencerville covered bridge roof as an inexpensive lightweight solution to the problem.

The Picture We Promised----

Kathy Prosser, second from left above, receives an autographed copy of "Escape From Corregidor" by Governor Edgar D. Whitcomb from Indiana State Police Trooper Mike Colgate. The presentation was made April 14 at the Riverdale School. Also pictured above are Blanche Middaugh, Kathy's sixth grade teacher, Wray Dunson, teacher of the other sixth grade class at Riverdale, and Principal George Rader at far right. Kathy received the award in recognition of her entry in the Governor's contest which asked students to write and tell him what they like about Indiana. Kathy had one of the winning entries.

With a speaker's table and public address system in place, the program began with presentation of the American flag.

Following a portion of the Arbor Day program, students took turns in throwing a shovel of dirt to plant the tree. Kitty Bowser takes her turn above as Mr. Kagey steadies the tree.

Mrs. Bereaw at left and Mrs. Jewel take their turn in throwing a shovel full of dirt into the hol. (Photos courtesy Chaney's Restaurant, Brown Furniture & Hardware and Sechler's Pickles.)

Civilized Men - ?

With strikes now reaching into the homes of those not directly involved in labor disputes, the time is fact approaching, if it is not already here, when a long, hard look must be taken at the total effects of work stoppages. Ultimately, the question must be answered: does ANYONE have the "right" to strike and interfere with the everyday existence of others?

The chaotic conditions which now exist between labor and the general public (some of whom are the same people!) prompt the need for every American citizen to examine his own ambitions and motivations, and the methods by which he follows them. Particularly involved are those who must align themselves with organized labor groups whose leadership is perpetually seeking more benefits. One of these days "the silent majority" in organized labor must face the fact that strikes seldom are beneficial to anyone. Statistics show that the purchasing power of today's average worker is dropping, even with the raises that are gained. It is time for the average worker to challenge his leadership for its "gimme" approach and consider the truth—that wage increases, sought on the grounds of cost-of-living increases, may themselves be the reason for increased costs of living.

Basic to the present situation is the question of one's right to inconvenience others, to the point of jeopardizing the national safety and solvency. The postal workers, as public employees, did not have the right to strike. But they did and no one is being punished. Truckers are now on strike, and others are being thrown out of work. Guns are being used to enforce the truck strike. Imagine. An American citizen cannot follow his profession without danger to his life, should his profession be in the trucking field. What has happened to us?

The fruits of liberalism are coming to light in American society. Civil and human rights emphasis has brought a situation where no one feels protected. Courts are letting criminals off scot-free, or with light sentences. Students are being allowed to destroy educational facilities and generally be left alone without punishment. Public workers are denying American citizens the service for which the public is paying. Everywhere, people are saying, "I have a right to thus and so," and proceed to follow their own desires and ambitions without regard for others.

The liberal says this is freedom.

Is it?

'Litter' Reflects Humanity

One of the significant weaknesses in our environmental welfare is that related to "litter." But we may be missing the point in our present efforts to clean everything up. That point is: litter is not the fault of litter; it is the fault of the human being who has finished using the object which becomes "litter" when thrown away.

It is significant that many of the students calling for environmental reforms today are those long-haired individuals in sometimes ragged and unkempt clothes who themselves are a form of litter in our society. They may not like the comparison, but when the accepted dress for a gathering of people includes neatness, the sloppy appearance of many moderns detracts from the total appearance of the group; their appearance "litters" the group. And these same people are responsible for much of the littering that goes on at college campuses. These characters are the ones who fight "the establishment" which tries to maintain certain rules, including those governing the appearance of the campus itself. But because legitimate authority declares rules, the revolutionary element disobeys in contempt, even in the matter of litter.

The littered appearance of the main campus of Indiana University at Bloomington for at least the past two years is the direct result of the disruptive efforts of the "hippie" and-or revolutionary element which seizes upon every opportunity to criticize adults, university administration, the past, and so on—to live as "opposites." Their emphasis on personal freedom serves as a temptation to others to "do your own thing" as today's popular saying goes, even when it comes to throwing away a bottle or a candy wrapper—anything, just to oppose what is "normal."

This doesn't mean that adults are faultless in the matter of litter. Far from it. But if the proportion of young people in our total population is growing larger all the time, as some keep telling us, then the young people must be prepared to accept the fact that their larger numbers have something to do with our national physical appearance; they should look to themselves for a great share of the fault, and police their own numbers in their idealistic pursuits in our environmental problems.

What it all gets down to basically is this. Cleanup of litter is fine; community and organizational efforts to remove unsightly waste from streets, highways, yards, etc., are a good thing. But the real culprit is the human being involved, not the beer bottle or the throw away pop bottle or can, or the candy or gum wrapper.

There wouldn't be any litter of people used trash cans and waste baskets, if they refrained from just giving stuff a toss, if they stooped to pick up that piece of paper or empty bottle or bottle cap or what have you and carried to a trash can or waste basket.

It is, as usual, a matter of self-discipline.

—But that's a dirty word nowadays, isn't it.

Play Review

—by Caroline Smith, sophomore

I enjoyed the senior class play very much. I thought it was light-hearted, funny, entertaining and it even threw in a moral of sorts.

The actors and actresses were very convincing in their roles. They all seemed to fit their parts very well. They put exhuberance and life into them with their actions, inflections and facial expressions. They continued acting all the time they were on stage even when not involved. The play had a "natural" effect about it.

The set and props made the stage actually look like a living room of a house.

The lighting effect brought across well the change from reality to a dream and back to reality.

The makeup was done very well. Instead of looking made-up, they looked natural under the lights.

The direction was excellent because the play went easily and naturally. It showed the results of teamwork and much practice.

The audience was laughing throughout the play and gave much praise to the production. Everyone was thoroughly entertained. The whole production was a success.

SAINT JOE VALLEY

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Extension Club met at the home of Myrtle Pugsley April 17, 1970.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Doris Yeiser, with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Pat Roberts. Her text was read from Psalms 37:1-7.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. The song, "In the Gloaming," has been with us for many years, and is still a much loved song by many people.

Roll call was answered by 10 members with "The kind of flower I'd like to have." Next meeting is our annual spring flower exchange and we hope all will receive the favorite flower.

Secretary's report was given and stood approved as read.

The president then reminded us of the County Rummage Sale to be held April 23-24. Also a special meeting on the use of drugs will be held at the court house April 27, 1970, at 7:30 p. m. All who can should attend this meeting.

Eva Clauser reported on the Hobby Shop she had attended and she brought some of the hobbies to our meeting.

The meeting was then closed with the club prayer song, after which some time was spent making straw flowers.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and a pleasant social hour was spent over the coffee cups.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 192
—LuAnne Hook, Reporter

Girl Scout Troop 192 had its regular meeting April 13. Skits were performed about the use and purpose of the Juliett Low Friendship Fund. It's a fund developed to help troops get back on their feet after something has happened.

A staff member from Camp McMillen came and discussed the special programs offered to Cadettes this summer. The one that interested us most was the canoeing unit. In this unit we would learn the correct way to handle a canoe and plan an all-day trip and camp somewhere along the way.

As most of you know that we sponsored a record hop and it was a big success. All we can say is thanks for coming and we hope you had as much fun as we did.

Seven girls have just become registered Red Cross members. They are Theresa Kern, Anita Inlow, Rita Fish, Debbie Culbertson, Robin Inlow, Cindy Bevington and LuAnne Hook. We started the course of First Aid last May, finished it in September and took the test recently.

DECODING THE DISTORTED NEWS

by Vant Neff

The Humphrey hecklers numbered only 250 in an audience of 5000 at that disastrously aborted foreign policy speech the former Vice President attempted to deliver at the University of Massachusetts. Question #1: If only a handful of young radicals are contemptuous, vulgar, name-calling rowdies, why is it that their activities rate all the headlines in the news? Question #2: What's wrong with all the others who sat quiet as clams without attempting to toss the troublemakers out on their ears?

The fatal fire that raged through the home for the Jewish aged in Munich recently was appalling. The elderly and infirm victims had little chance for survival. But is it mere coincidence that we hear more and more of this sort of thing—fires, bombings, vandalism—desecration of holy objects and places—all seemingly without connection but unquestionably way out of proportion to the number of general disasters throughout the world? We will always have extremists and fanatics in our midst, but hasn't the world had its fill of religious persecution, especially when it is apparently directed against a people who have paid, and paid dearly throughout the centuries?

The long arm of the union czar, it seems, reaches beyond that of the law. Right into the till, in fact. Jimmy Hoffa, head of the reportedly racketeer-ridden Teamsters' Union, who is serving time in a federal penitentiary, received expense money from the union in 1969. I wonder what he accomplished for his "boys" from his prison cell that won him the right to any of the money, which is clipped from their pay envelopes every week?

Tucked away on a back page of a newspaper I came across a small news item extolling a young American for his efforts in organizing the Decency Rally in Miami's Orange Bowl. Mike Levesque, 18, had the unique honor of being the youngest person ever to receive the George Washington Award from the Freedoms Foundation. This coveted gold medal, and accompanying $5,000 check, is bestowed for helping people to better understand the American way of life. On the same day, however, the main pages and headlines of the same newspaper were blanketed with stories and pictures of the anti-American antics of some of our young dissenters, the ruthless bombing of the home of the distinguished judge presiding over the Black Panther trial in New York City, the murder of 47 innocent victims in an Arab terrorist plane bombing and the outright condemnation of government plans by a hypercritical union czar. Noting the vast coverage given to these disruptive events compared to the brief, almost-hidden account of young Mr. Levesque's rather extraordinary achievement in patriotism only confirmed my belief that far too much of our news reporting is devoted to the sensational. To my way of thinking, it habitually glamorizes and glorifies, under the guise of "liberalism", the deeds of bearded, shaggy-maned hippies, yippies, loud-mouthed dissidents, Mafia characters and other destructive elements in our society and glosses over the comparatively tame doings of the "silent majority" who remain loyal, patriotic and sincere. From one man's corner, Mike, congratulations!

It would be good to be able to report that the heyday of the union kingpin, the "big man" whose every word, wanton or otherwise, is law, is now over. Unfortunately, it's far from true, even though one notorious fellow who always appeared to be side-stepping the law is behind bars. Still another has been publicly labelled by his own people as a "tyrant" and an "embezzler of union funds". And who's to blame for the willful murder of defeated union presidency candidate Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter? A federal grand jury contends that a union fund was actually maintained for the express purpose of killing the Yablonskis, and now five union-connected people are under indictment for their murder. It is unusual for a power-hungry money-mad union boss to reach income heights of close to $100,000 a year, plus all the plums that go with it. (It was recently discovered that the United Mine Workers had $72,000,000 cached away in a checking account.) More time and effort seems to be spent in feathering the fat bosses' own nests than in working for their "boys". Is this the kind of leadership our labor unions should have? With such self-centered, "the-hell-with-everyone-else" attitude, it's any wonder that our country is victimized by one crippling strike after another?

Has it occurred to anyone to ask why France saw fit to sell 100 Mirage supersonic jet planes to Libya—actually a "front" buying agent" for Egypt—but unanimously refuses to deliver the 50 fighter planes Israel has bought and paid for? They attempt to hide the "reason" in a tissue of double talk. The French do not hesitate to send their arms all over the world. It is France who actually fuels the fighting all over the map, not only in the Middle East, but in Viet Nam, the Caribbean, Africa, and points north, south, east and west. The Communists are dedicated to world turmoil, yet the clever, "neutral" French sell out democracies for profit.

Further proof of the innate shrewdness of the Japanese industrialists: that nation's steel producers admit that during 1969 they exceeded their self-imposed export quota to the United States by 2%. (Other informed sources, by the way, estimate the figure in excess of 8%). While at first thought it might seem peculiar that Japan, which has virtually no capacity for mining, could possibly offer steel mill products on the international market, you should realize that the Japanese buy scrap metal from the United States, convert it, and re-sell it to us. If you are puzzled at the idea of the United States, a prime mining country, purchasing approximately 6 million net tons of steel products from just this one foreign competitor annually, remember that two-thirds of the cost of an average ton of American steel goes for labor—workers' wages—and that is why imports appear as such an attractive buy. Isn't this a clear-cut case of the shortsightedness of our steel workers who are actually pricing themselves and their country right out of all markets?

From Your Cancer Association- -

(Published as a public service by this newspaper, in cooperation with the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc.)
—by Mrs. Roy Williams

Q. Does cancer run in families?

A. Cancer is a common disease, and some "clustering" of cases in families will occur by chance alone. The question is whether clustering may exceed chance occurrences. Scientists have not been able to show any significant family clustering for most kinds of cancer. One exception is a rare cancer of the eye, retinoblastoma. Judging by the limited data available, scientists believe that relatives of patients with cancers of the stomach, female breast or colon and rectum run an increased risk of developing these cancers. But they do not know whether such family clustering is due to inherited characteristics or to environmental factors, such as diet or occupation, which may continue unchanged from one generation to the next.

Q. How does cancer occurrence vary with age and sex?

A. For men and women, the incidence of all cancers combined rises steadily from childhood to the end of life. Between the ages of 30 and 60, more women than men develop cancer because of the high incidence of cancers of the female breast and reproductive system. After age 60, overall cancer incidence is higher for men.

Q. Is smoking a pipe as dangerous as smoking cigarettes, in regard to lung cancer?

A. Not as a rule. Pipe, and for that matter, cigar smokers do not inhale. Therefore, the cancer-causing substances are not deposited in the lungs. However, if pipe smoke is inhaled, then the danger of lung cancer is present.

Q. What careers are open to young people who are interested in science and particularly cancer, but do not wish to study medicine?

A. A great variety of choice is open to anyone interested in cancer control. The greatest single problem facing research institutions today is lack of trained personnel to work with the researcher. Biologists, chemists, physicists, mathematicians, computer operators, all are badly needed. Others needed include social workers, animal keepers, clerical help.

Q. Is leukemia a children's disease?

A. Leukemia can occur at almost any age. Generally, children are affected by acute leukemia while chronic is a condition of older people. The diagnosis of chronic leukemia in an older person is not the same type of serious problem that childhood leukemia is, as it is usually controllable and is not fatal.

Q. Do women get lung cancer?

A. Yes. As the rate of smoking women increases, so is there an increasing rate for female deaths due to lung cancer.

Q. What are cobalt treatments and how do they affect the cancer patient?

A. The purpose of cobalt is to arrest the growth of the cancer, or hopefully, to kill any cancer cells present. The treatment is also used to make the patient more comfortable and prolong his life. Occasionally, the patient will experience unpleasant side effects, but many have none.

Q. What is chemotherapy?

A. Chemotherapy is treatment of cancer with hormones and chemicals. To date, this has been useful as a palliative for pain and in arresting some types of the disease.

This and three previous articles published in April have been presented by the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc. It is hoped that questions about the organization have been answered satisfactorily, and also that useful information about cancer has been given to the reader.

For further medical information, it is wisest to consult a physician. But for any information regarding the Cancer Association, contact Mrs. Forrest Bevington at 337-3142.

THE NEWS April 30, 1970

FARM BUREAU CONTEST
—Mazie Myers, Reporter

The Farm Bureau sponsored Amateur Contest was well attended Tuesday evening, April 16, in the assembly room of the courthouse in Auburn.

Out of the eight units, seven had amateur representatives present, and the judge was selected from the eighth unit, Mrs. Berniece Wilder of Tri Township.

Mrs. Helen Wagner of Jackson Township was the song leader with Mrs. Berniece Friend playing the piano.

Merle Wagner gave devotions, reading from the 12th chapter of Matthew. He talked on faith and the things Jesus did, especially about His feeding of the 4000 people. He closed with prayer, after which a few moments of silent prayer were offered for the astronauts.

Adeline Stucky from the 4 T's was to have been the program master of ceremonies. But due to the death of her mother, Farm Bureau Woman Leader Edna Perkins presided for her.

The winners of the amateur contest were:

First place—a vocal duet by Harriott Hertz from Fairfield and Cindy Scattergood from Richland.

Second place—piano solo by Brenda Armstrong from Wilmington-Stafford.

Third place—dance number by Julie Knox of Franklin-Troy.

Others who were given awards were Joyce Hook, Brenda Grabill, Julia Armstrong, Keith Watson and Ethan Myers.

Special entertainment was given by Arlo King from Smithfield Township. He played a trombone solo. Ann and Julie Knox from Franklin-Troy did several acrobatic dance numbers.

The springtime decorations were done by Richland Township. The meeting closed with refreshments served by Wilmington-Stafford Township.

COUNTRY COUSINS 4-H CLUB
—Cathy Kern, Reporter

The April meeting of the Country Cousins 4-H Club was called to order at 7:15 Tuesday, April 14. Leota Curie led the pledges and devotions. 14 girls answered roll call. Lucinda Bevington gave the secretary's report and it was approved. We have $4.00 in dues.

The old business included the paper drive held April 25.

The new business consisted of a discussion on whether or not to have an I&M lady come and tell us how to work and clean kitchen appliances. A Junior Leader meeting was held April 15.

A health and safety report was given by Nancy Helbert on broken backs. The songs were led by Anna Collins.

We had recreation and Yvonne Miller, our hostess, gave a demonstration on potato salad.

The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments served.

youth- by the drawerful

In a nation as big as ours there is always a tendency to overlook the individual and to think only of groups. Youth gets the brunt of this generalizing.

Many of our boys and girls are delinquent. But some folks would have us believe that every child is a potential delinquent.

Time we realized that children aren't chicks! They don't grow up by the drawerful to have the same characteristics and habits.

Children respond to love, parental example, religious guidance. They possess an ever-increasing aptitude for responsibility, trust, and faith.

Most of our boys and girls will grow up to assume their rightful place in an orderly, Christian society. Some will populate our jails. But the destiny of the individual youth is not a matter of chance and percentage . . .

It is determined primarily by the conscientiousness of loving parents, and by the persistency with which his natural religious interests are cultivated.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

On Friday, April 10, 1970, the Ladies Literary Club held their Gentlemen's Evening at Richard's Restaurant in Auburn. 25 members and guests were present. Guests other than the husbands of members were Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gerig of Auburn and Miss Mary Jane Baker.

After grace by Mrs. Harold Hamman, a bountiful meal was enjoyed at tables decorated with the club colors and a centerpiece of red carnations.

Following the dinner meeting, guests were introduced by the members and Mrs. Roy Baker introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Gerig. He told of his trip to Alaska last summer and his experiences as a member of the businessmen who travel abroad doing a business survey. A beautiful motion picture was shown of Ireland as he had seen it on his tour there.

The committee for the evening was Mrs. Roy Baker, Mrs. Maurice Kline and Mrs. Robert Musser.

The final meeting of the club year was held at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser April 15 at 7:30 p.m. The collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison and the business meeting was held.

It was with deep regret the club accepted the resignations of Mrs. Walter Reinhart and Mrs. Wayne Slater. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser was elected to the office of corresponding secretary due to the change in membership. The yearly reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved.

The following committee was appointed to serve on the mothers' banquet meeting: Mrs. Carl Carpenter, Mrs. Russell Snyder and Mrs. Carl Perkins.

The program for the evening was a panel discussion on pollution moderated by Mrs. Hamman. Topics covered were types, causes and remedies and was most stimulating.

After adjournment the hostess served refreshments.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

HOME CARE OF THE SICK

MOST illnesses are minor, so most ill persons are cared for in the home. Do you know how to care for a sick member of your family?

First of all call a doctor if the illness appears to be serious, if it is prolonged or if you feel unable to furnish the care needed. Be cheerful and sympathetic with the sick person. Keep everything scrupulously clean, especially your hands, not only to protect the ill person but other members of the family as well.

Under no circumstances should you try to diagnose the illness yourself, nor should you prescribe medications. If you call a doctor, write down his instructions for care and medication so that details won't be forgotten. Don't use laxatives and enemas except on the advice of a physician.

Try to provide a sickroom that is as pleasant as possible. Pleasant, protective surroundings will often speed recovery. The sickroom should provide maximum privacy, and other family members should stay out of the room when not needed.

Provide the patient with adequate fresh air but don't expose him to drafts. Keep the temperature of the sickroom at a constant, comfortable level although you may lower the temperature slightly at night.

If the patient indicates a sensitivity to light, regulate the window shades or shutters accordingly. If the illness becomes a lengthy one, ask your doctor for further advice on how to maintain an adequate sickroom.

The Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom

Economic ignorance and failure to exercise the responsibilities of citizenship will weaken and ultimately destroy those individual freedoms and opportunities which are the historic pillars of our representative Constitutional Republic.

Economic ignorance is the Achilles' heel of self-government. It's the reason why economic freedom—which in our country has already delivered what Marxism can only promise—is threatened by the increased acceptance of sophisticated fallacies which most people are unable to analyze and expose. This dangerous condition can only be righted by education that DOES expose these fallacies.

For many years there was no way to accomplish this. Mass education that requires studious application is simply not practical. To be effective (and quickly communicable) this new knowledge must be built upon the rearrangement of existing knowledge, which might be called plain common sense. That's where "The Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom" is most valuable.

This document is the distillation of many years of research. There are no new theories. There is nothing that is not known to every normal person; nothing that requires "expert corroboration." Relying as it does upon interpreting knowledge you already have, it amounts to almost instant learning.

The result; therefore, is a set of facts you know to be true and against which you can test any contrary theory. As you read "The Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom" you will readily grasp their application to any economic situation—your own, your government's, the world's.

1. Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere or go nowhere, nor can it be free; everything in our economic life has a source, a destination and a cost that must be paid.

2. Government is never a source of goods. Everything produced is produced by the people, and everything that government gives to the people, it must first take from the people.

3. The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more than it has thus received, that extra unearned money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and, when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings and insurance.

4. In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security; if there are no customers, there can be no payroll and no jobs.

5. Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when he cooperates with management in doing the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only in a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

6. Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increases, without corresponding increases in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors: 1) natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditure of 2) human energy (both muscular and mental), with the aid of 3) tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase without limit, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the temporary self-denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

10. The productivity of the tools—that is, the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use—has always been highest in a competitive society in which the economic decisions are made by millions of progress-seeking individuals, rather than in a state-planned society in which those decisions are made by a handful of all-powerful people, regardless of how well-meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be.

A candidate's views:

Until this nation or any nation is guided by men guided by God, it can't thrive. Neither can it hope to long survive.

When government assumes the responsibility intended by the Almighty to be individual, that nation is doomed in conflict with God.

Thrift has become vice and poverty a virtue. Many are on Medicaid who use their color TV crate for a baby crib and have no garage because their car is too big for the old garage.

Some enjoy the poverty platter when both parents and one son are working with two other children in school. Billions are bled from the thrifty and used to support the lazy who are defined as poor. The "drones" are organized under the poverty banner and threaten to defeat at the polls those who oppose their greedy grabs for support to make their drones society even stronger by electing cheap politicians who promise to support their S.F.N. programs.

How can the drones dupe the workers into subsidizing their laziness? Perhaps the workers think they may join the drones and enjoy the S.F.N.? We'd better keep getting our hands dirty working and eat, than to be able to keep our hands clean (being lazy) and starve.

Our Santa Claus government must realize that thrift and hard work is the way to become a "have," and that the "have nots" beget more of their kind because that makes their "have nots" political strength stronger.

Besides, begetting is more fun that getting by working, and your hands may look cleaner and your vote still counts.

Pockets of "poverty" where families lived without electric lights, central heat, or running water produced Abe Lincoln, and it's about to produce me.

Working to grow groceries should be no disgrace and would solve much of our so-called poverty. Drone-producing indolence thrives because their vote counts and they demand S.F.N. (Something For Nothing) legislation or else! God please help us!

Floyd B. Coleman, M.D.

We hear lots these days about the rising costs of medical care and how greedy M.D.'s are grabbing too big a slice of the Medicare and Medicaid cake which was half-baked and ready to serve before any M.D. was ever invited or agreed to participate in the feast.

It seems regretable that all involved in providing health services, e.g., private doctors, nurses, hospitals, nursing homes and pharmacies, should all be hung up together to die by one rope—Title XIX Medicaid tailored and enforced by legislative branches of our federal government composed of 55% to 70% respectively judiciary viewpoint (U.S. Senate from Indiana is 100% judiciary view).

Federal intervention in the private affairs of health care via Title XIX Medicaid is the last step before complete and total socialization of all health care in the U.S. This wicked law should be replaced before it leads us to the end of the road of our incentive-oriented society as it did England. (Eye witness)

Speaking of fees, there are still some M.D.'s around who work long and hard out of compassion with little regard for fees. But wouldn't it be nice to slice and eat that $837,000 cake half-baked and served by the judiciary to the judiciary out of the pockets of the taxpayers for the smooth settlement of the Marion County M.T.A. inheritance tax hassle. Sounds like those of the judiciary viewpoint could stand a change of views or perhaps we don't really need the legislative and/or executive branches of government?

He who relinquishes responsibility assigned by the Almighty shall die without privilege—a slave! Government has no legitimate responsibility assuming ours.

Floyd B. Coleman, M.D.

With the announcement by Dr. Floyd B. Coleman of Waterloo that he is a candidate for the nomination for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket, a challenge was issued by Democrat candidate Russell Kelham concerning Dr. Coleman's present responsibilities as joint state representative, his candidacy for re-nomination for that office and his latest announcement regarding the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Vance Hartke. Dr. Coleman's reply was as follows:

"Wanted: men in politics who aren't for sale nor hire, who are turned in or turned off, who never deliberately separate responsibility and privilege, who know that freedom is the result of responsibility without which we become slaves, who are willing to pay the price of privilege, who recognize the source of wisdom and who desire it only to help others, who know that man wasn't built to go his own way alone, who know without vision that people perish, who respect and love others because of their respect and love for God, who know that peace is a result of thanks and doing right through wisdom the gift of our Great Giver.

"Let this candidate ask me to resign my responsibility to him and I'll gladly accept another challenge.

"This is my answer to my alleged fall opponent who demands publicly that I resign now as State Representative, But he who refuses responsibility resigns freedom."

"He who shuns responsibility shall die without privilege.....a slave." - Dr. Floyd B. Coleman

WITH THE EDITOR

I was among the many cars looking for a parking place Saturday morning at Auburn, circling the court house for an open space so I could file a mortgage exemption. Auburn is really a busy metropolis Saturdays; parking is a problem. So is paying a parking fine.

As I pulled up in the line of three or four cars waiting for the red light on the south side of the court house, a sweet young thing with one of the cutest and swingiest red mini's you ever saw, and one of those floppy-brimmed hats, the picture of appealing femininity, jumped out of the passenger side of the car ahead of me and flitted over to the yellow box on a parking meter in which you can deposit your parking fine envelope. Evidently she and her young lady driver companion had transgressed the law, got a parking ticket and here was an opportunity during the red light to take care of the fine.

But it wasn't that simple. The trouble was the little envelope just wouldn't go into the slot for some reason, and this sweet young thing with one of the cutest and swingiest red mini's you ever saw, and one of those floppy-brimmed hats, the picture of appealing femininity, began to panic. She glanced up at the red light as she frantically pushed and squeezed—but the envelope just wouldn't go in.

The other young lady was getting panicky, too, when she saw the situation, glancing back at me like, "What am I gona do?—the light's changing!"

When the sweet young thing in one of the cutest and swingiest red mini's you ever saw, and one of those floppy-brimmed hats, the picture of appealing femininity, saw what was happening, she gave up on the attempt to get the envelope into the box. As this sweet young thing with one of the cutest and swingiest red mini's you ever saw, and one of those floppy-brimmed hats, the picture of appealing femininity, turned to scamper back to her car, she muttered one word which I could not hear but it was a good lip-reader. It began with "s".

I was shattered—along with the picture of appealing femininity. But after quick deliberation—as she came into full view scampering to her car—and a second l- k— — —

Ron Thomas, Nick Brown's friendly and witty first trick bartender, is quite the character. You never know what to expect from him.

A couple of Saturdays ago I was in Dave the Barber's chair while a couple of other customers waited. In walks Ron and we all go through the customary greetings and shoot the breeze for a while. As we converse, Ron looks out the big window which gives a full view of the Lay residence. Ron gets up, commenting something about there's Jay and somebody else looking at Jay's damaged yellow Camare. (Not only had Jay been in an auto accident with the car, he also had the misfortune to fell part of a tree onto the car before the accident, smashing the windshield. Jay was doing some tree trimming at his place.)

Ron walks to the door of the barber shop, opens it, and in a voice that you couldn't help hearing for two blocks, bellers, "TIM-BER-R-R!"

We broke up.

Wirt Fairman of Fort Wayne sends word of a Swap Meet and Antique Car show to be held Sunday, May 17, in the City Parking Garage at Clinton and Washington in Fort Wayne.

A 1931 Model A Ford rumble seat coupe will be given away. And they expect 75 to 100 antique cars to be displayed, some dating back to 1904.

The event began in 1966 and was held at the Washington Township firehouse. For the last five years it has been in the City Parking Garage.

The show is sponsored by the Historical Automobile Association of Northeastern Indiana. It now numbers 300 in membership after a charter membership of 30 people.

The all-day event gives the opportunity to buy, sell or swap old auto items and cars, brass lamps, horns, sales catalogs, owner and shop manuals, old automotive toys, hub caps, vintage wearing apparel, license plates, etc.

The food concession with hot food and home baked pastries has a reputation as well known as the swap show itself.

Admission is $1.00 and includes a chance on the Model A. Dealer space is $2.00. Jim Steeves at 1908 Lower Huntington Road is the man to contact for space.

Sounds interesting.

Charlie Farrington, our smiling county treasurer, passes along the word that the spring deadline for taxes has been extended to June 15.

100 Pints Sought At Bloodmobile

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its appearance in the Riverdale community Tuesday, May 12, 1970. Blood donations will be made in the Riverdale Cafetorium.

To accommodate those who are employed elsewhere and do not get home until late afternoon, the Bloodmobile will remain at the cafetorium until 6:00 p.m. Donors will be accepted starting at 1:00 p.m. that day.

Mrs. Michael Hicov is serving as general chairman again this year and has set a goal of 100 pints for the community. Her efforts in the past have fallen just shy of that mark, and she hopes that community donors will cooperate in reaching it. Recent appearances of the Bloodmobile in other areas of the county indicate a lack of response by the public.

Blood collected from the various communities not only assures a ready supply but also replaces blood required by patients from those areas in the past.

Transportation and babysitting can be arranged to accommodate Riverdale parents.

Mrs. Hicov reminds would-be donors that a medical history of malaria or hepatitis disqualifies a donor.

Cards are being sent to prospective donors and telephone calls are also being utilized in striving for the 100-pint goal. An appointment can be made for the convenience of donors, or they may just drop in at the Bloodmobile at their convenience during the 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. hours.

Pickle Factory Controls Pollution With $15,000 System; Additions Planned

(Frank Sechler participated in an "Earth Day" environmental program at DeKalb Central High School April 22. One of four industries from DeKalb County on the program, Mr. Sechler gave the following description of the local pickle processing plant's efforts to protect our natural resources.)

Our pollution control planning with the State Board of Health began in the spring of 1966.

At that time we were dumping untreated plant waste into the Hindman Ditch which ran three-quarters of a mile to Bear Creek which then ran another mile to the St. Joe River.

The waste water consisted principally of chlorides (salt) and food solids such as fine relish, dices and slices of pickles which were spilled onto the floor and washed into the sewers at cleanup time.

The items mentioned, in their decomposition in the streams, require oxygen and this is what makes them a pollutant. Other items causing an oxygen demand are the sugar syrup spilled and the vinegar which are washed down the drain and into the stream.

In one sense of the word, none of the items causing us to pollute are actually obnoxious items—I refer to the pieces of pickles, sugar, salt and vinegar spilled. However, in the ultimate breakdown in the stream, they do pollute because of the oxygen demanded in this process.

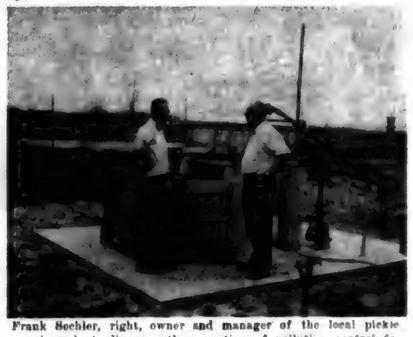
With this problem to solve, the plan finally accepted by the Indiana State Board of Health was to construct a holding lagoon into which the waste from the plant would be discharged. In the holding lagoon, the solids break down and the air currents help to replenish the oxygen. However, we have added aeration equipment which aids this process.

Around January 1 of each year, we are advised by letter that we can start discharging the lagoon at a controlled rate.

During this period the streams are usually at their maximum depth and the oxygen demand is at the lowest level.

However, we must monitor the Hindman Ditch for dissolved oxygen and monitor the river for chlorides. It has been quite easy to take care of our total plant effluent and stay well within the minimum standards for dissolved oxygen and chlorides.

We have run into odor problems in the late summer in our lagoon. We are currently completing the installation of a vibrating sewage screen which will remove the solids before they get to the lagoon.



Frank Sechler, right, owner and manager of the local pickle processing plant, discusses the operation of pollution control facilities with Donnie Sechler, who is licensed by the State Board of Health as an operator of pollution control systems. The unit in the center of the photo is the separator which removes solids from waste material piped from the processing plant. The remaining liquid drains into the lagoon seen in the background.

The one acre square lagoon at Sechler's, used for waste treatment before draining into the St. Joe River, holds approximately two million gallons. It is 8 to 9 feet in depth.

Another program for odor control is the installation of equipment to re-use vinegar from the processed pickles. This will eliminate, in a year's time, a considerable amount of oxygen-demanding material going into the stream.

Along this same line, we are exercising more care with process equipment, especially packing equipment, to eliminate as much as possible the spillage and waste of sugar syrups.

Hopefully, by eliminating all solids going to the lagoon as well as much of the vinegar and sugar, we will get the odor under control with the building up of the oxygen level in the lagoon itself.

Another major project we accomplished was to completely encircle our tank farm (consisting of approximately 125 tanks) with an underground tile system to catch any spillage of concentrated brine in this area. This brine then can be separated from the waste going to the lagoon, stored separately in vats, and let out at a controlled rate also at periods of high water. The purpose of this arrangement is to eliminate the possibility of chloride contamination of underground water supplies.

We estimate our costs to date in our pollution control facilities at $15,000. This includes the lagoon, equipment and labor.

We anticipate additional expenditures in the next few years to expand our facilities, add standby equipment and improve some of the existing facilities.

Litter Crews Get Over 9,000 Pieces

Charles Street of Saint Joe had the nearest guess to the correct number of pieces of litter picked up Saturday by a crew of boys from the Junior League. A total of 9,279 pieces of litter was collected, with Mr. Street's pre-pickup guess being 8,540.

Forrest Bevington and Lee Carper led two groups of boys in the pickup campaign at Saint Joe and Spencerville. Mr. Bevington's group covered State Road 1 from Saint Joe to State Road 8. Mr. Carper's group covered road right-of-ways in the Spencerville community.

The results were much less than anticipated, with adult truck drivers lacking in number. Last year seven trucks and crews of boys picked up around 37,000 pieces of litter. Nevertheless, this year's project was worthwhile as an example in the anti-litter campaign.

SCHOOL NEWS

Remedial reading and arithmetic will be taught again this summer at both the Riverdale and Butler elementary schools.

Classes will begin Tuesday, June 9, and conclude Friday, July 31. The program is for students in grades 1-8 and will run from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Bus transportation will be provided for students residing outside of town. Letters are now being sent to parents of children who would profit academically from the program.

Monday, June 8, is orientation day for teachers and aides.

The program is under the sponsorship of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, P.L. 89-10.

The annual Eastside High School Panorama will be presented by the Music Department Friday and Saturday, May 15 and 16, at 8:00 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The master of ceremonies will be Gerald Murphy, and a special guest playing guitar accompaniments will be Russell Heffley, kindergarten teacher at the Butler Elementary School.

The program will feature the combined junior high bands of both Riverdale and Butler elementary schools. Also performing in the instrumental portion of the program will be the concert band.

The Concert Choir and Swing Choir will present a program of modern ballads with instrumental accompaniment. Piano accompanist will be Larry Hart. Rod Alwood will play drums and bass guitar.

Admission for adults will be $1.00 and for students 50 cents. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from band and choir members.

Eastside's annual All-Sports Banquet will be held Thursday, May 14, in the Butler Elementary Cafetorium starting at 6:30 p.m.

The banquet is held for all boy and girl athletes, managers, cheerleaders, coaches, parents of athletes and other involved personnel in the entire school community in grades 7-12. The banquet will be sponsored by the Butler Rotary Club and the Eastside High School Athletic Department.

Meat, bread, butter and drink will be furnished. All parents and others should carry-in deserts, vegetables, salads, etc. All attending must bring table service.

The speaker for the evening will be Phil N. Eskew, commissioner of the Indiana High School Athletic Association.

DeKalb Central High School's Fine Arts Department will present its third annual "Fine Arts Festival" Monday, May 11, through Thursday, May 14. Instrumental and vocal concerts and a display of student art work will highlight the week.

The Freshman Band will begin the festival with a concert Monday, May 11, at 8:00 p.m. The band will be directed by Miss Imogene Mavis.

Tuesday, May 12, at 8:00 p.m., a concert will be played by DeKalb's Concert and Symphonic bands. The director is Richard Norris.

Mrs. Mildred Hansen will direct the chorus in a concert to be presented Thursday, May 14, also at 8:00 p.m.

Each program will be presented in the high school auditorium.

Student art work will be on display during the three days in the lower gymnasium from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. Work will be displayed by students studying under Miss Mabel Bovington, Mrs. Hansen, W. Grey Stone and Mrs. Marcelle Voss.

There is no admission fee.

CC Benefit Show

A fund-raising benefit program for the Spencerville Community Club's building project will be given this Saturday evening, May 9.

"Fred Miller and the Ramblers" will present a two-hour country and western show in the Eastside gym from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students under 12.

The public is invited to attend.

Boy Scouts

On April 11, Boy Scouts of Northeastern Indiana were given a chance to exhibit their skills and handicraft at the coliseum in Fort Wayne. It was an all-day affair, using the entire building and midway section of the east parking lot.

Troop 172 of Spencerville had its exhibit on the midway at the east exit of the building. The boys built up a false front building which had the appearance of destruction by an internal explosion. The broken windows, the shutters hanging awry and the door ajar made the setting very realistic.

All through the day, at approximately 15-minute intervals, the boys would go through the routine of rescuing a victim of the explosion and administer emergency first-aid. First a homemade cannon was fired to gain the attention of the crowd and to simulate an explosion. Then the Scouts would rush up, carry out the victim, apply mouth to mouth resuscitation, treat him for shock and bandage the various injuries he had received.

While the victim was being treated, another Scout put in a call for a doctor. The scene ended with the arrival of the doctor who checked out the victim and the treatment he had received.

The wounds of the victim were made up to appear very realistic, using simulated blood over what appeared to be deep gashes in the victim which were built up with wax. This was very effective. In fact, a few young women were visibly shaken by the effect of what appeared to be real blood and wounds.

Unfortunately, it began to rain late in the afternoon and the exhibits on the midway were forced to close down.

The participants were Eric Jacobson, Jerry Markle, Don Shilling, Jack Allen, Loren Fisher, George and Leo Carper, Tim and Tom Hollabaugh, Roger Watson, Raymond Drake, Dick Kagey, Tom Dwyer and Rick Chappel.

The boys were directed and assisted by Richard Drake, Scoutmaster, and Wayne Koch, assistant Scoutmaster.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Marie Myers, Reporter

Floyd Pfierman, chairman, called the Farm Bureau Board of Directors meeting to order Monday evening, April 27, at the Farm Bureau Insurance Building.

Paul Brenneman gave devotions, reading from Acts. He then compared Jesus' trial and Peter's trial and found they were quite similar in a number of ways. The pledge to the flag was read by all.

Mr. Pfierman read a letter of thanks from Gene Wilson, WKJG Editor, for Farm Bureau's participation in the FFA TV quiz program.

Edna Perkins, Woman's Leader, handed out packages of zinnia seeds to the unit leaders. She also told of the Farm Bureau Pet & Hobby Poster Contest ending July 12. The poster size is 14x22 with a 3-inch margin. The age limits are one to ten years old. The topic is "Home, Farm and Road Safety."

Ladies were reminded of the District II Farm Bureau Women's Seminar May 11 at the Heritage House in Fort Wayne. Registration is at 9:00 a.m.

Velda Erwin will have devotions in May.

The red rose decorating the notebook paper is a little lopsided, and the spelling is awful. But what a wealth of love went into the message. I know, because I was the little girl who made it.

Now it's my little girl who struggles with pen and [illegible] a card of love for me.

And as I watch her I think of Mama — sliding down the back hill with us in Daddy's worn-out knickers, kneeling with us as she heard our prayers, singing sweetly Sunday mornings as she stood between us in the family pew. I remember her joy in life, the way her Christian faith glowed in everything she said and did.

Do you wonder that our church is a continuing source of joy and strength for me and my family?

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, May 14, 1970 — NUMBER 20

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A dog with distemper was taken to the Fort Wayne Humane Society last week by Roger Stedgel, local dog warden. The animal had been confined at Saint Joe previously, thus necessitating a disinfecting operation in the local kennels.

The incident points out the danger to dogs allowed to wander as they please by owners residing within the town limits. It has been a thankless job for the local dog warden on many occasions in attempting to uphold the dictates of the local ordinance covering stray dogs.

Some local residents seem to regard the dog ordinance as a "declaration of independence," in a way expressing what they believe to be their rights, but disregarding the purpose of the dog ordinance: to protect not only people and property but also the dogs themselves.

Distemper is very contagious, an extreme hazard to dogs coming close to infected dogs. Any owner who knowingly allows his dog to run loose is not only thumbing his nose at the dog warden and the town board—he is also saying to his neighbor, to his community, and to his dog, "I don't give a hoot about your safety."

If you notice your dog with an unusual discharge from nose and eyes, get him to a veterinarian at once. There was a loose dog with distemper in Saint Joe a couple of weeks ago and it could very easily have passed it around.

There are some interesting sidelights to the appearance of the Bloodmobile this week.

—Carol Seiler was the first to start through the various stations, got sent back for some extra nourishment (hadn't eaten anything that day—got to watch the figure, you know), then continued on through with her donation of a pint of blood.

—John Shull started through the process, got an emergency call from home (one of the kids got hurt with a power saw), then came back to give his pint.

—the feminine charms of Maggie Cook brought a donor all the way from Auburn. Dave Turner is a grocery clerk at Auburn. He was invited by Maggie (who was on the recruiting committee) to come to Riverdale's donor day—and he did!

—leftovers from the Bloodmobile include boys jackets, a lady's blue sweater and a coat (ha—fooled ya.) Call Delores Hicov if you're missing any of 'em.

Abie McCann and Mel Hershberger got out the fogging truck Monday night and gave the town a good going-over. The air was still and the fog hung down. But wouldn't you know it—the rains came and nullified the effort.

Last year the same thing happened more than once—get a good fogging—and get rain.

RIVERDALE MENU

Tuesday—hamburger and spaghetti, lettuce salad, peaches.

Wednesday—beef stew, cole slaw, applesauce.

Thursday—sloppy joe sandwich, green beans, Riverdale dessert, cookie.

H. L. McMaken Guides KP Efforts In Battle Against Cystic Fibrosis

H. L. McMaken of Saint Joe is shown above as he applies (vinyl) covering to a headrest which is then mounted on a table and treatment table. The work is done in Mr. McMaken's garage workshop as a project of the Knights of Pythias Lodge

While the diseases of mankind are fought in medical laboratories, through research dedicated to treatment, cure and prevention, other efforts are made, often times unheralded, by "just plain people" to assist those who may be afflicted.

One instance of such involvement is evident in this community. H. L. McMaken of Saint Joe is actively involved in the program to fight cystic fibrosis, a child disease which affects one out of every 1,000 babies.

The cystic fibrosis program is a project of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Auburn and, as a member of that group, Mr. McMaken has actively led a program of construction of tables used in treating children afflicted with the disease.

The project began in 1968, a do-it-yourself effort carried on in Mr. McMaken's workshop. The padded "fit" tables with head rests are manufactured "from scratch" by KP members who donate their time and talents in behalf of cystic fibrosis patients.

Mr. McMaken now serves as one of five members of a state committee on cystic fibrosis, and is on the Fort Wayne KP Chapter Board dedicated to similar efforts.

There are now two KP lodges in the state participating in the project of building tables, Auburn and Frankton. The local unit has provided 12 tables for Fort Wayne, 18 for Auburn and 12 now under construction for use in other communities. Tables have been privided for patients in other cities including Elkhart, Indianapolis, Angola and Churubusco.

Those who take for granted the simple and natural act of breathing will never fully comprehend the pain and effort many CF youngsters endure merely to fill their lungs with air. It is not easy to visualize the heartache, anxiety and expense for costly equipment which must be faced by the families of these children. This tragic disease attacks respiratory and digestive systems and threatens almost as many young lives as cancer and many more than polio, diabetes and rheumatic fever.

WHAT IS CYSTIC FIBROSIS?

CF is an inherited disease of children and adolescents which affects the exocrine, or externally secreting, glands of the body. These are glands which discharge their secretions onto the skin (sweat glands), or into organs which connect to the outside of the body (lungs, intestines, etc.), either directly or through special ducts or openings. In CF the mucus-producing glands do not yield their normal, clear, free-flowing fluid. Instead, they ooze an abnormal, thick, sticky mucus which tends to clog up and block the ducts. This thick mucus accumulates in various parts of the body and interferes with normal body functions, such as breathing and digestion.

The mucus-producing glands are not the only ones affected. Another basic abnormality is found in the glands which secrete sweat, saliva and tears. In the CF victim the secretions of these glands usually contain an excessive amount of salt.

WHO HAS IT?

Cystic fibrosis is basically a childhood disease, for only in recent years has a victim had any chance of reaching adulthood. It is equally common among boys and girls.

People with CF were born with it. The disease is inherited from parents who "carry" the trait. Such a carrier can pass this trait to his children, but does not necessarily show any symptoms himself. It is not an infectious disease and cannot be caught from or given to others by contact.

When only one of the parents is a carrier, their children will not inherit the disease (though some of them, in turn, may be born carriers). However, if both parents are carriers, chances are that some of their offspring will have CF. In families where one child is already affected, the chances soar to one-in-four that later offspring will also have the disease.

Children and adults who are symptom-free carriers of this disease also have an abnormality in their sweat secretion. This has led scientists to believe that many adults with lung and intestinal symptoms not attributed to CF may actually have the disease in a partial form.

HOW PREVALENT IS IT?

CF is now thought to be one of the most common health menaces of childhood, and it is one of the most serious. As a cause of death in children, it claims far more victims than do some of the better-known maladies, such as rheumatic fever, diabetes and poliomyelitis.

Although recognized as a separate disease only since 1938, CF is now being diagnosed with increasing frequency throughout the world. In the United States it is estimated that anywhere from two to five percent of the population may be carriers. Approximately one of every 1,000 to 2,000 newborns is afflicted with the disease. Negroes are affected less frequently and there have been only a few cases among the Oriental races.

WHAT ARE ITS SYMPTOMS?

The major symptoms, almost always apparent within the first few months of life, result from the sticky mucus secretions interfering with breathing, digestion or both. About 10 percent of CF patients are born with their intestinal tract obstructed by an accumulation of abnormal, thickened meconium (a mucus like substance present to some degree in all newborns, but evacuated by a healthy child within a few days following birth). This abnormal condition in the CF victim proves fatal unless recognized promptly and corrected by surgery.

HOW DO YOU TREAT IT?

The severity of the respiratory condition usually determines the fate of CF patients; consequently, treatment of this symptom is the most important part of therapy. This treatment is very often long and expensive. It usually consists of the use of a variety of antibiotics to combat lung infections, as well as physical therapy and aerosol or postural drainage methods to help remove mucus from the lungs. It is in such treatment that the tables made by Mr. McMaken and fellow KP members come into use.

A controlled diet is also necessary in treatment of symptoms.

When the lights are on in the garage-workshop at the McMaken residence, the owner may be busy at saw-sharpening or some other repair work. But there is almost an even chance that he will be also working on the CF treatment tables. Whatever the case may be, there is always a chance to learn about the CF gram by stopping in for a visit and an inspection of the design and construction of the tables.

Civic groups and other community organizations desiring information concerning cystic fibrosis can contact Mr. McMaken for a program including a film.

Mr. McMaken and his fellow KP members are an outstanding example of brotherhood, of those who silently serve.

The Need To 'Back Off'

Whenever you say something critical of unionism as it functions today at the national level, you are considered "against" labor. Try to explain that you mean the abuses in unionism and you are fighting a losing battle.

Yet the same people are among the first to wave a flag when it comes to patriotic declarations about individual freedom, individual initiative, individual rights, and so on. What makes everyone so afraid of practicing what they preach?

Workers do need protective organizations, they do need some sort of bargaining power. But unionism as it exists today, the big unions whose wage demands reach right down into every American home, takes away individual freedom, individual initiative, individual rights.

Several times I have heard members of organized labor make the remark, during a strike, that they would just as soon be working as be off work and that most other workers felt the same way. They know that strikes have generally brought them little if any return, by the time they figure lost time in a work stoppage.

Our biggest problem as far as money is concerned is its decreasing value. Strikes are being called to seek pay increases to cover the increase in the cost of living. What is forgotten is that the fringe benefits, which have been gained over the years and which are constantly expanding (for the big unions primarily, that is) have a monetary value which is paid for by the income of the company or industry hiring labor. And it is an economic truth that when money paid for a service exceeds the value of the service performed, the cost of the product goes up and inflation begins. Then someone else must adjust their income upward, then the first must adjust again, and the spiral is begun.

While it is true that organized labor totally is not responsible for inflation, it is true that the big unions in this country, under leadership which keeps itself in office by constant agitation for more cash and fringe benefits for its members, have a basic responsibility for the precarious financial position we find ourselves in at this time. Their bigness affects the entire nation.

Can you imagine how essential labor leaders would be if the average worker were heard to say, "I'm satisfied—let's stand pat for a while"? Union leadership says its members can vote on what action is to be taken, but from what I have heard in person, the average member is just going along with what a comparative few are actively seeking.

What a God-send it would be if union leadership in the major industries recommended renewal of contracts at the same terms as currently exist, for a starter, then did some policing in its ranks for the sake of production efficiency. What a breakthrough for the fight against inflation if unionism generally exercised common sense and backed off in future contractual deliberations before the goose that lays the golden egg collapses.

As an example to set, our Congress should rescind its recent self-voted and gigantic pay raise.

In both cases, if those involved are truly concerned for the economic welfare of themselves and others, it is not too much to expect such moves. But when you get right down to it, it is, unfortunately, expecting too much.

—unless the average union member and the average citizen begins to stand on his own two feet and let his thoughts be known in a reasonable manner. The ballot is the strongest weapon needed.

Stephen Cole, Ann Washler Are Top Students

Stephen Cole and Ann Washler have been announced as the valedictorian and salutatorian of the Class of 1970 of Eastside High School. Principal Robert Williams announced that Steve attained his honor by virtue of a 3.822 scholastic average, while Ann received her honor with a 3.771 average.

Steve is the son of Superintendent and Mrs. Keneth Cole of 320 North Broadway in Butler. He has pursued an academic course of study in preparation for Indiana University's premedical program. In high school he majored in social studies, English, French, science and mathematics. He was active in the National Honor Society, French Club and Lettermen's club. In addition, he has participated in 13 athletic seasons (basketball 4, track 4, football 3 and baseball 2), and is the holder of the school record in the shot put. He is a member of the United Methodist Church of Butler and has been active in Scouting.

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Washler of R1 Butler. Mr. Washler is president of the local school board.

The salutatorian has also pursued an academic curriculum in preparation for a career in education. Ann has majored in English, social studies, Spanish, music, mathematics and science. She has been active in the National Honor Society, Spanish Club and band, and is vice-president of the Future Teachers of America. She has been an active participant in area and state music competition in both piano and saxophone. She is a member of the Newville Church of Christ.

Mr. Williams noted that further recognition would be given the two students at the forthcoming School Awards Day set for Friday, May 22, and at Baccalaureate and Commencement ceremonies Sunday, May 24.

Cub Scouts Plan Pack Activities

Cub Scout activities have been announced for the summer months, following a planning meeting held Tuesday evening.

Chairman Roy Bissell has announced that the monthly Pack Meeting will be held next Thursday evening, May 21, at 7:30 p. m. at the Spencerville United Methodist Church. The theme for the month is "Mother Nature's Backyard."

A paper drive will be held this coming Saturday, May 16, from 9:00 a.m. until noon. Anyone with papers and-or magazines to donate may call Roy Bissell for Spencerville pickup at 337-3157; Ted Haberkorn for Saint Joe pickup at 337-2252; or Larry Emeshiser for rural pickup at 238-4292.

Saturday, May 23, will be "Cub Day" from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Wayne Koch woods west of Spencerville on County Road 68. The cost for Cub Scouts will be 50 cents for two meals. Cubs should bring plate and spoon and wear old clothes.

The Pack Meeting for June will be in the form of a trail hike and picnic at Pokagon State Park, with family participation planned. The theme for the month is "Olympics" and appropriate games are planned, in addition to the trail hike and swimming.

The July Pack Meeting will be a Fishing Derby for Cubs and Dads. Ribbons will be awarded for fish caught during the day in the St. Joseph River in this area by Cub-Dad combinations. A family carry-in supper will climax the day at the Spencerville covered bridge.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB
—Ella Crothers, Reporter

The R.H.C. met at the home of Mrs. John Crothers. Mrs. Marie Ward presided and opened the meeting with "A Mother's Prayer." Elizabeth Hart read "Parable of a Mother," a very touching story of a mother's life.

The roll call, "That was the end of a perfect day," was answered by all members.

A short business meeting was held during which plans were made for the annual anniversary dinner to be held at Heritage House in Fort Wayne with hostesses Flossie Rediger, Berniece Wilder and Ellen Hart on June 2.

"Thoughts For Today" were read and Harriett Hood gave special numbers. She gave the origin of Mother's Day in 1908, later to be a special holiday set aside by Congress in 1914. She also read "To My Mother," "A True Story" and "God's Mother."

The hostess served lunch and a good time was enjoyed over the coffee cups.

OVER THE TOP

Eddie and Jake have been buddies since they could toddle. Together they hiked, fished, argued and leap-frogged the years away. If they weren't at our house, they were at Eddie's. Sundays, Eddie came along to church with us.

They did everything together, dated, played football, went to college. When they joined the Army, they went together.

Jake is coming home next week, but not Eddie. His mother cried his last letter over today. We cried together.

"Dear Mom," Eddie wrote, "Things are pretty bad. I'm glad Jake is here. We talk about home, about God, too. I know you and Dad never cared about church and all, but I think you'll be glad to know I've learned a lot about God from Jake. Whatever happens, I feel close to Him. I'm not scared."

Faith in God is your child's heritage. Take him to church today.

WITH THE EDITOR

The editor's gone beatnik!

That's what some folks have been saying and thinking since I haven't shaved since May 9. It's interesting to see some of the reactions the start of a beard brings. some people even talk to me differently—that plus the funny looks.

Laura Schendel looked at me last Saturday, turned and walk ed away moaning, "Oh h h h, that loss it!"

Steve Bevington's eyes got big and he asked, "Gee are you growing a beard?"

Many other comments were about dull razor blades, etc.

Esther just looks disgusted and sleeps on the couch.

Why did I do it? I don't know but like everybody else nowadays, I've got a RIGHT to!

It's great to see organizations pumping in with benefit efforts to help the Spencerville Com munity Club raise money for its new building. But sometimes I get a little disappointed and perplexed--wondering why no body or no bodies have done the same thing to get The Saint Joe News off the hook for attor ney fees still owed on the school fight. The debt was incurred at the urging of and in behalf of most of the same people who now have worked to help the community club.

It kinda makes this one wonder.

Memorial Day Program Planned

The Memorial Day observance in Saint Joe has been turned over to the various Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations in the community. The annual event will be held Saturday, May 30.

Plans call for the traditional observance of the holiday. A parade will form at the Legion home at 1:00 p.m. An appropri ate program will follow the march to the cemetery.

All Boy Scout and Girl Scout groups are urged and invited to participate in the program un der the chairmanship of Frank Siechler.

Benefit Barbecue

The Saint Joe Conservation Club will hold a benefit chicken barbecue next month for the Spencerville Community Club's building program.

The barbecue will be held Fri day, June 19, starting at 5:00 p. m. at the conservation grounds just west of Saint Joe.

The prices will be $1.50 for a half chicken and 75 cents for a fourth chicken. Potato salad, tossed salad, bread and butter and beverage complete the din ner. Pie will be extra.

NORRIS CHAPEL CANTATA

The Norris Chapel United Methodist Church choir will pre sent the missionary cantata en titled, "The Last Commandment," Sunday, May 24, during the wor ship hour at 10:45 a.m. This can tata is based on the ministry of Jesus Christ during the 40 days between His resurrection and as cension, presented by songs and hymns with Scripture narration by Beverly Martin.

Members of the choir are Pat and Don Korff, Gene and Jean Warstler, Nancy and Becky Haines, Ruth and Rosemary Cul ler, Wayne and Glen Myers, Mar tha Albert, Dale Parkison, Larry Heffley, Marjorie Zeisloft and Mary Kay Hursh.

Phyllis Myers will accompany the choir at the piano.

The cantata will include solos and duets by members of the choir.

The public is invited to attend the worship service.

Many People, Much Time Needed To Fulfill Needs Of Bloodmobile; 70 Give Pint

70 persons donated a pint of blood Tuesday of last week at the annual appearance of the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the Riverdale cafetorium.

93 persons were scheduled in advance for the Bloodmobile with 78 showing up. With walk in donors added to the sched uled list, the 70 pints were ach ieved. 11 persons were rejected, according to general chairman Delores Hicov, due primarily to low iron content in the would be donor's blood.

Of particular encouragement to the effort was the donation of blood by teenagers and young people in the community. They included Kathy Hudson, Kathy Mumma, Diane Rucker, Dennis Koenemann, Mike Storer, Dale Harter, Jodie Johnston, Randy Staley, Rozie Storer, Cheryl Gra ber, Steve Wilson and Ralph Rugman.

Irene Inlow and Dallas Zim merman became two-gallon don ors with their pint donations this week. Those who became one-gallon donors were Lois Strong and Pete Storer.

Mrs. Hicov expressed deep gra titude for the cooperation ex tended by so many people in carrying out the Bloodmobile ap pearance. The list of helpers in cludes the following:

Riverdale principal George Rader and school secretary Loretta Musser were invaluable in assist ing with set-up operations and transmitting telephone messages during the afternoon. Dr. Stan ley Greenberg of Garrett and the half dozen nurses who man the Bloodmobile on all its visits, plus the van driver, completed the list of persons who helped.

The Riverdale cafeteria cooks and custodian Ray Singer coop erated in quickly emptying the cafetorium following the regular serving of student lunches at noon. The Bloodmobile was pre pared for donors before the offi cial opening time of 1:00 p.m., as a result.

The efforts of many people are necessary in setting up and conducting a Bloodmobile visit to Riverdale. Above, the nurses who regularly administer Bloodmobile visits in various communities are shown as they arrange equipment. Rush Holtzburg, of Saint Joe is also shown assisting in setting up the equipment.

The first four to go through the Bloodmobile last week were Carol Seiler (who had just vacated the partially viewed chair at right), Dale "Mooch" Harter, Roger Hugwood and Leo Carper, shown above at right, right to left. Registrars in the photo in clude from left to right, Esther Haberkorn, April Davis, Diane Tuscan and Marcelle Storer.

Late afternoon at the Bloodmobile showed several donors in the process of giving a pint of blood for the blood bank.

A Good Man Defeated

An interesting result came in the recent primary election in the DeKalb County Central United School District. The man who had served for a year as president of the board of education in that district sought election for a full term. He had been appointed to the board two years ago by the other four board members to complete the term of a member who resigned. The other four thought enough of this appointee that they made him president last year.

You would normally expect to see such a candidate get elected. But such was not the case. Due to a reported "whisper campaign", Norman "Buck" Ritenour was defeated in no uncertain terms. The reported reasons included resentment against alleged secrecy concerning the functioning of the school board and objection to a proposed junior high school building program.

While I have known "Buck" personally for many years, I have not had much close personal or business contact with him. However, I have noticed that, as one of the guiding forces in the operation of Universal Tool & Stamping Company at Butler, he seems to have established a good record in business management and in employer-employee relations. He has edited a small "newspaper" for Universal for some time, and the content of his editorial comments indicates a reasonable and reasoning mind. While Universal has not been without labor relations problems, it still appears that the firm has established itself in the minds of its employees as fair and sympathetic towards those employees. "Buck" has been a part of that good relationship.

The defeat of such a candidate in a school board election for the reasons reported indicate that this is a classic example of voters being railroaded into action without stopping to consider the facts. For instance, one member out of five on their school board cannot be solely responsible for the secrecy which was alleged, even if that one member is president of the board. He can be outvoted, four to one. In addition, there are others who administer school affairs, not just the school board.

If there was anyone hollering about secrecy in the last year about the school boards in both the central and eastern school districts of DeKalb County, it was yours truly. But I don't hold "Buck" responsible for the unfavorable circumstances. If there has been secrecy in the central district, others must shoulder the blame, not just one man. But the voters in that school district took their resentment out on him and he was defeated.

An indication of the character of the man came out in the last week or so when he, the defeated candidate, came out publicly in a letter to the editor of the county daily to defend the other board members against the criticism which had been directed toward the board in recent weeks. The one who should be defended was defending others.

What really hurts, though, is the fact that within the last year the group of "troublemakers" in the eastern district was trying to overcome the very thing which the central district's anti-Ritenour voters voice as one of the prime reasons—the lack of public information. But there was little response to the "troublemakers' " efforts from central patrons. High taxes and high construction costs are other reasons for the recent vote of resentment against "Buck"—and this is exactly what the eastern "troublemakers" were trying to point out within the last year. (If you have a copy of the Nelson Grills brief, you might frame it as a keepsake for the years to come!)

While these comments are not intended to reflect upon the men who were elected to the central board in the primary, the total circumstances suggest that the voters of the central district bit off their nose to spite their face.

$3500 Needed For Protest Expenses

Since the last time a report was published concerning voluntary donations to help pay expenses for legal fees incurred by the citizens group in the local school district, such efforts ended as of last fall, the following donations have been received:

Bob Heibert $5.00.
Norman Rinard $10.00.
Ivan Brown (monthly pledge) $25.00.
Lavon Hart (monthly pledge) $5.00.
Lynn Lake $20.00.
Keith Ulm $18.00.
Margaret Drerup $5.00.
Lavon Hart (monthly pledge) $5.00.

The total received thus far since the group's efforts ended last fall is $948.00. The goal is $3,500.00.

Donations may be given to Ivan Brown, Connie Hollabaugh, Harold Kagey, Dick and Paula Roberts, Lora Hart, Forrest and Betty Bevington, Vic Timmerman and Lavon Boylan. They may also be sent to the News Office. Checks should be made out to "Nelson Grills Fund."

Dear Sir:

After spending eight (8) months over here I'd like to hear from my school chums. I've met Larry Kinsey over here and found that there are a lot of men serving over here from St. Joe and Butler. I've got a leave for September for the Auburn fair but right now I'm on alert orders for Viet Nam if and when I do go is yet to be seen. As you probably heard the big red one is in Europe now. Well I feel sorry for the men that they left over in Nam you see they brought the division back and left the men over there. This I think is more for the publics benefit so that a fuss won't be made for troop pull out in Nam. I know that there's one heck of a lot of friends in Nam and if and when you have time you could run a block on the names and places where you could write to these men. I've lost contact of these men and do not know where I could write to so that I can find out. These last months I've been Company Clerk over here and today I thought that I'd take time to write since its pretty boring setting behind a desk. Well I want to thank you for the time you've given me by reading this and the best of luck on your future issues.

Sincerely,
Tony Hopkins

NEWVILLE COUNTRY COUSINS 4-H CLUB
—Cathy Kern, Reporter

At 7:00 p.m., May 12, Joan Prosser called the meeting, held at the home of Diann Casebere, to order.

The pledge to the American flag and the 4-H pledge were led by Cathy Kern. Leota Curie gave devotions and the roll call was read by Veredith Keller. Secretary's report was read and approved and the treasurer's report was presented.

Old business included the issue of a money-making project. A committee was arranged to decide upon what to do. This committee consisted of Cathy Kern, Anna Collins, Leota Curie, Yvonne Miller and Diann Casebere.

June 9, a 4-H member from Garrett is traveling to the I&M building in Butler to put on a program for the Country Cousins, their mothers and the Friendship Jamboree Club and their mothers. Anna Collins and Joan Prosser will present demonstrations.

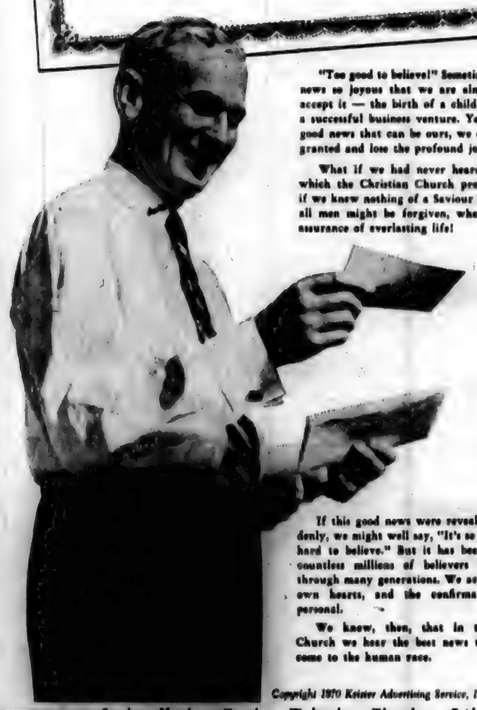
Clara Brattain To Retire After 19 Years

Clara Brattain, who has been an integral part of the cafeteria staff in this community for 19 years, will retire this year but not without appropriate recognition of her service to the community. The faculty at Riverdale helped to stage a surprise party for Mrs. Brattain last week planned by the other members of the cafeteria staff. In the photo above are, left to right, Jean Shockley, Mrs. Brattain, Joan Moore pinning a corsage on the honored guest, and Leila Moore, the four constituting the Riverdale staff.

GOOD NEWS



"Too good to believe!" Sometimes we receive news so joyous that we are almost afraid to accept it — the birth of a child, a crisis past, a successful business venture. Yet the greatest good news that can be ours, we often take for granted and lose the profound joy of it.

What if we had never heard the message which the Christian Church proclaims? What if we knew nothing of a Saviour who died that all men might be forgiven, who gives us the assurance of everlasting life!

If this good news were revealed to us suddenly, we might well say, "It's so good that it's hard to believe." But it has been verified by countless millions of believers in all lands, through many generations. We accept it in our own hearts, and the confirmation becomes personal.

We know, then, that in the Christian Church we hear the best news that has ever come to the human race.

Merwin Place lends his poetic talents to the observance of Memorial Day with the following composition:

Decoration Day

This is May the thirtieth,
And it is Decoration Day,
Then to our war dead,
Our respects we pay.

They left their father and mother,
Their sweetheart and friend,
That our United States freedom
They all could defend.

Today memorial songs will be sung,
And many addresses made,
And on the graves of our war dead,
Many flowers will be laid.

Dear Lord, we sure hope
You may hasten the day
When our dear boys at home
With their parents may stay.

I thought I would drop you a line to let you know that we will be leaving Washington, D. C. in two months, that is, shortly after being here three years. We will be going to Hawaii where I will be stationed on the Staff of Commander in Chief, Pacific. We are really looking forward to our tour in Hawaii after our tour of duty here in Washington, D. C.

I will either write or stop by on our way to California and give you our change of address, so we can continue receiving the "News."

I was reading the senior class play review last week, the mail is slow out here, and I thought you may be interested to know that our Junior Class presented "Rest Assured" in April, 1955. Enclosed is an old program of the play.

See you soon,
Don Baker

Included with the letter was the play program from 1955, naming the following as members of the cast: Marvin Dowden, Kathleen Anthony, Andrea Carr, Gladys Rose, Fietta Griggs, Larry Emenhiser, Tom Hart, Doris Kruse, Jerry Flesher, Mary Beckman, Donald Baker, Barbara Schaftner, Paul Easley, Philip Washler, Shelby Smith.

One of the unheralded tasks associated with the observance of Memorial Day is the placing of American flags on the graves of veterans of conflicts in which the United States has participated. Harvey Hull of Saint Joe has been solely responsible for many years in seeing to it that the flags are properly placed.

This year, however, he is physically unable to get about as before, so Leon Koos and Frank Chew took Wednesday morning of this week to visit the various cemeteries and placed the following numbers of flags: Wartenbee 5, Krafft 1, Newville 144, Alten 36, Jenkins 7, Moor's 2, Bear Creek 3, and Watson 5.

Paul Moore and Mr. Hull will place some 60 flags in Riverside Cemetery at Saint Joe in time for Saturday's Memorial Day observance while Dr. C. R. Baumgartner and Merl Furnish of Spencerville will place 84 flags in White City Cemetery.

A total of 347 flags will mark veterans' graves for Saturday's observance.

Memorial Day Program Planned

The Memorial Day observance in Saint Joe has been turned over to the various Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations in the community. The annual event will be held Saturday, May 30.

Plans call for the traditional observance of the holiday. A parade will form at the Legion home at 1:00 p.m. An appropriate program will follow the march to the cemetery.

All Boy Scout and Girl Scout groups are urged and invited to participate in the program under the chairmanship of Frank Seehler.

Church League Starts Monday

Saint Joe Church League softball activity gets underway Monday when the Saint Joe-Newville Church of Christ combination faces Coburntown II at the local softball diamond at 8:15 p.m.

Eight teams are tentatively set to participate in the slow-pitch league, the same teams which participated last year. They include two teams from Coburn Corners Church of Christ, the Saint Joe-Newville Church of Christ combination, the Mt. Pleasant-Newville United Methodist combination, the Concord United Methodist-Butler Lutheran combination, Norris Chapel United Methodist, Hicksville Church of Christ and the Lutherans.

Next week's tentative schedule is as follows:

Monday, June 1—Saint Joe-Newville CC vs. Coburntown II (umpires Norris Chapel).

Tuesday—Norris Chapel UM vs. Hicksville CC (umpires Mt. Pleasant-Newville U.M.).

Wednesday—Mt. Pleasant-Newville U.M. vs. Concord-Butler (umpires Saint Joe-Newville CC).

Thursday—Saint Joe-Newville CC vs. Norris Chapel U.M. (umpires Lutherans).

Friday—Lutherans vs. Coburntown I (umpires Hicksville).

At a league meeting last week, it was voted to raise the entry fee to $35.00, inasmuch as the old fee of $25.00 was inadequate to cover periodic maintainance and repair expenses.

Also, the minimum age for umpires to be furnished by each team during the season was raised from 14 to 16 years.

The group discussed the need for a drinking fountain at the local diamond with the matter to be investigated further. The need for borrowed or new picket foncing for a "home-run fence" was noted. This matter is to be investigated further.

Officers elected are:

Ted Haberkorn, president.
Keith Culler, vice-president.
Lavon Hart, secretary-treasurer.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Katheryn Krieg, Reporter

The Newville Township Homemakers Club met May 13 in the Newville United Methodist Church basement. Ladies of the Franklin Township club were guests. Hostesses were Lucile Nelson and Bernice Miller. Partners were selected by matching dress material swatches, prepared by Lucile.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Zella Collins, who welcomed guests and led the group in repeating the club collect. Elva Hook read devotional selections from Proverbs 31, origin of Mother's Day observance, poem "Our Love," followed by prayer. All sang a parody entitled, "O Motherhood, the Beautiful." Elva conducted a floral memorial to departed members and read "Portrait of Mother."

Selections sung from old-time favorites song sheet were enjoyed, prepared by Dorine Singer who accompanied on the accordion. During roll call 22 members introduced their respective partners of Franklin Township. "Happy Birthday" was sung to all having May birthdays.

The president read a report of council meeting, coming lesson topics and dates of interest to remember. Craft articles, taught at the recent craft school, were on display.

During the social period, Velma Zion, Dorine Singer and Katheryn Krieg conducted contests, a skit and book-tube race.

Steps Taken To Improve Fogging

With one of the worst years experienced in mosquito control, the local town board is taking steps to gain more effective use of the summer fogging project which is now supervised by Donald McCann and Mel Hershberger.

The overwhelming number of mosquitoes this spring is being felt not only by those near the St. Joseph River but also by the rural community as well. Farmers from widespread areas report more mosquitoes this year than ever before.

Saint Joe's fogging program has been hampered by frequent rains the past two years. But the ineffectiveness has also been attributed to deterioration of the insecticide itself. Investigation of the matter with the cooperation of county agent Michael Jewett and Purdue entomologist Darry Sanders, revealed a comparatively short "shelf life" of malathion compound used by the local fogging unit.

A new supply of materials is being obtained for future foggings in Saint Joe. If continued ineffectiveness is noted, two other possibilities will be tried to seek more lasting results.

Years ago the mosquito control program was based on the spreading of oil on ponds and pools along the river's edge in the spring to kill mosquito larvae. When a fogger was purchased by the town, the results were so positive as to remove the need for any other control methods; fogging eliminated the mosquito problem.

Two years ago the fogger was no longer usable or repairable. The cost of a new unit, ranging from $400 up to $2,000, prompted Mr. McCann to "rig" the town's old fire truck with a system utilizing the exhaust manifold to create a fog. This method has been used for the past two years.

Although the larva-control method is highly recommended as a basis for mosquito control, it is hoped that the additional labor and cost involved can be eliminated with effective fogging hopefully to be achieved through fresh materials, if not then with changed fogging formula.

Whatever the results, they're really biting this year!

P.S. - to last week's dissertation

It is rather amusing—but not at all funny. Less than a year ago, the central board disassociated itself on two separate occasions from any movement to jointly consider the situation facing the central and eastern districts—they had no problems, they were proceeding smoothly, they didn't want to get into any fights. Since that time, this "ideal" school district has: (1) lost its head basketball coach because he won two sectionals but didn't win a regional!; bowed to an unofficial remonstrance against construction of a new junior high school complex!; kicked out the president of the school board in an election because of board "faults"!; and, fostered rumors of additional shakeups in the school administration!

—And THEY said WE were bickering!

This illustrates what can happen when too much pride and boastfulness blind people to the point of ignoring others. (It happened to the Cubs, too, last year!)

Others say. . . .

PSYCHEDELIRIUM TREMENS

—Jane Goodsell, as appeared in "Lutheran Witness Reporter" and submitted by Mrs. Edward H. Hauke of Fort Wayne.

Remember when HIPPIE meant big in the hips—And a TRIP involved travel in cars, planes and ships?—When POT was a vessel for cooking things in—And HOOKED was what Grandmother's rug might have been?—When FIX was a verb that meant mend or repair?—And BEEN meant simply existing somewhere?—When NEAT meant well organized, tidy and clean—and GRASS was a ground cover, normally green —When lights and not people were SWITCHED ON and OFF—And the PILL might have been what you took for a cough?—When CAMP meant to quarter outdoors in a tent—And POP was what the weasel went?—When GROOVY meant furrowed with channels and hollows—And BIRDS were winged creatures, like robins and swallows?—When FUZZ was a substance that's fluffy like lint?—And BREAD came from bakeries, not from the mint?—When COOL was a temperature not quite warm?—When ROLL meant a bun, and ROCK was a stone—And HANG-UP was something you did to a phone—When CHICKEN meant poultry, and RAG meant sack—And JUNK trashing cast-offs and old bric-a-brac?—When JAM was preserves that you spread on your bread—And CRAZY meant balmy, not right in the head?—When CAT was a feline, a kitten grown up—And TEA was a liquid you drank from a cup?—When SWINGER was someone who swung in a swing—And a PAD was a soft sort of cushiony thing —When WAY OUT meant distant and far, far away—And a man couldn't sue you for calling him GAY?—When DIG meant to shovel and spade in the dirt—And PUT-ON was what you would do with a shirt?—When TOUGH described meat too unyielding to chew—And MAKING THE SCENE was a rude thing to do?—Words once sensible, sober and serious—Are making the FREAK SCENE like PSYCHEDELIRIOUS—It's GROOVY, MAN, GROOVY, but English it's not—Methinks that the language has gone straight to POT.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT?

One of the most widely read books of all time is "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Written in 1788 by Edward Gibbon it sets forth five basic reasons why that great civilization withered and died. These were:

* The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society.
* Higher and higher taxes; the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.
* The mad craze for pleasure; sports becoming every year more exciting, more brutal, more immoral.
* The building of great armaments when the real enemy was within—the decay of individual responsibility.
* The decay of religion; faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, losing power to guide the people.

The oft-heard warning that "history repeats itself" has an ominous meaning in the light of the above.

Lions Club

by Frank Ammons

President Harold Curie presented two pins as awards to two members, one to Lavon Hart for signing up Larry Smith and one to James Kline for signing up John Mason. Most organizations have members invite prospects then if there is any accepting or rejecting to do they do it later but not so in the Lions Club. We vote on the prospect first then have our member invite the prospect. Actually we need a few more members and it wouldn't hurt if some of you men would just hint to a member that you just might like to be a Lion and then wait and see what might happen.

Curie also made a few announcements. Debbie Keller and Janelle Moore will represent the Eastside Spanish Club as exchange students to Mexico. We will make a small contribution to help pay their expenses.

Joe Smith is in the hospital as a result of an old back injury.

Cliff Billow and Walter Morr represented our club at the state convention at Lafayette May 15, 16 and 17.

Willard Hurni gave a three-minute talk on procuring supplies at the national headquarters at Chicago. Supply sales amounted to 1½ million last year and Willard says "that would buy a lot of pins, stickers, badges, etc."

Lions International is a member agency of CARE International. Russ Ferguson, who is district 25B CARE chairman, gave a talk and showed slides of the activities of CARE. He reported that our district has contributed $1,300.00 to date with more coming in on our project which is a school building and equipment for a village in British Honduras. The villagers will do all of the work; CARE buys materials for wholesale or factory cost, U.S. dollars go a long way in Honduras so the building will cost only $1,125.00. He mentioned that Honduras has a compulsory education law but that only about one-half of the children go to school because many communities have no school buildings, no equipment and no money to hire teachers. The slides showed pictures of this project and also all sorts of other CARE projects.

P.S. Wish we could build a school building that would satisfy our people for $1,125.00. The building he showed might do for a garage for one of our buses.

The St. Joe Lions Club met May 25 at 6:30 p.m. at the Spencerville Methodist Church with 26 members present.

Franklin Sechler gave a short talk on citizenship and patriotism. Then he advertised the services at the Cheesetown Cemetery and at the St. Joe Cemetery. He thinks that we don't have to be a veteran, a D. A. R. member, or a politician to show by our presence that we are good citizens, but he does think that considering the way those college demonstrators are carrying on, we should turn out and show where we stand. What really got him all steamed up was a panel discussion by three coeds that he heard while he was at a convention at Indiana University. It seems that this one coed was advocating everything communistic, running down the U. S. government and preferring to hear about U. S. soldiers killed rather than Viet Cong. When he and some others got her cornered by asking questions, she began showing by what she said and how she said it that she was not a good citizen. Moreover, some of the words she used were so bad that Franklin wouldn't repeat them. I get the idea that Franklin didn't consider her a lady.

President Curie reported that there would be a training session June 9th at 7:30 p.m. at the DeKalb Central High School for all newly elected officers. That is for Lion Joe Smith is home from the hospital. all newly elected officers.

Recreation director Forrest Bevington reported that things are shaping up very well.

Scout Committeeman Harold Kagey left early to check up on the Scouts and their cemetery mowing project.

Walter Morr reported that the State Convention was a big success. They had a fine colorful parade, good speakers, and the $6.00 banquet was a success except that the food was cooked the day before.

President Curie then announced, "Lion Larry Smith will now introduce the speaker of the evening."

Then Larry Smith, who is pastor of the Coburntown Church of Christ, rose and said, "I would like to introduce Commissioner Frank Laub."

Then Lion Frank Laub rose and said, "I will do with my speech like the preachers do with their sermons. I will divide it into three parts: first, politics; second, duties of commissioners; and third, roads."

He also gave us some good political advice by saying, "If you want to go places in politics you should run and get elected as Sheriff, because Sheriffs seem to become more popular as time goes along, and don't do as I did and get to be a county commissioner." He then gave us an example by telling about one group of people petitioning for a ditch and then another group remonstrating; then the Commissioners have to decide, and this decision loses them half of their friends in that community.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your past printings of a few of my letters. Since I've been in the U. S. Senate race to replace Rupert, I've learned many things to write, but have had less time each day to write. Been spending so much time on the killer highways lately trying to be seen and heard, but am grateful for an appointment (when it can be luckily arranged) where I can fly a rented or borrowed plane (can't afford my own). Almost wish I'd kept my old Volkswagen to save gas expenses incurred on this campaign, but back when I got paid for listenin' as an MD, I thought I could afford to drive a Ford. Now it looks like I'll have to do most of my traveling by hitchhiking if it's too far for a walk or a bike. I've had several offers from strangers and friends to be my campaign manager, but they want thousands of dollars just to tell me how to win.

I phoned the county chairman and delegates from my former home county, where I farmed four years (1936-40) and where I thought I had a couple of friends through my relatives, but found the county chairman runs the license branch and seemed fearful of a purge if found friendly toward me and even then the delegates, 90% told me yeth were for Roudy bush. I've been trying to say our U. S. Senate needs a doctor, but so far they don't listen, or just laugh at me.

I've been doing silly things lately just to get someone to listen and look at me as a serious dark horse and buggy doctor candidate: trying to sell my brochures at 24 cents each and offering to repurchase them at 48 each; trying to pay my filing fee in 480 lbs. of nickles, dimes, and quarters guarded by "Old Glory Pumpkin," a borrowed dog; painting my nearly worn out Ford with white letters on behalf of the first M. D. ever to seek to learn and serve in our U. S. Senate and after spending $7,000 of borrowed money plus whatever I could afford, I still have a total count of only one or two delegates committed to me, counting the proxie I have to give away as an elected delegate.

I sure felt like a mole at the Port Wayne Gridiron where I was able to sneak in on a complimentary ticket (thanks to my three friends). I asked to buy a ticket and my three friends apparently felt sorry for me and gave me one. I did wonder how it felt to get roasted like my opponents did; what is nice to be somebody or do something great enough to be noticed at events like that.

Perhaps I could be a Senator just for experience and no pay, but even then the organized whine would probably say "he ought to know his own worth."

It's sorta depressing to go this lonesome road alone, but it seems if I do get any delegates to like me or look and listen to me it may be just out of pity, and what a pity to have to try to win that way.

I do hate for us to risk that Good House Bush where he's already a good wheel for a possible replacement of Rupert V. this fall midst a divided party. Perhaps my chances would double just to try to run as an independent, but I'd rather promise to support the June 18th convention nominee, if only that would allow a country doctor a little chance.

If any news media can give me and the ten pillars of economic wisdom and the liberty amendments, which I endorse, any good free publicity I'll be grateful, 'cause I sure can't afford to buy any now.

Thanks.

Did you know-

—that an apparent misunderstanding about mowing arrangements for White City Cemetery seems to have some Spencerville residents alarmed and upset. It is reported that the Boy Scouts are responsible for mowing the cemetery, but only for the specified number of seven cuttings. Plans to spread these cuttings through the spring and summer were thrown out of kilter by the great amount of rain this spring, resulting in an exceptionally fast growth of the grass. There has been no negligence, just the weatherman making things grow too fast for the mowers' plans.

—that an unsuccessful attempt at a break-in at the pickle factory was reported to the sheriff Monday, discovered by Cy Kline.

—that this column failed to report recently the daytime breakins and thefts at the residences of Frank Laub, Don Keller, and Gale Bowser.

—that the DeKalb County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office has mailed the first batch of data sheets to New Orleans for computer processing of 1970 farm program payments to local producers. County ASCS Committee Chairman Max Heffley reports that certification had been received from 135 county farmers as of May 22, and their papers had been sent on for entry into computers to help assure early program payments. These will be made to farmers as soon after July 15 as possible, and all are expected to be completed by the end of August. About 1665 producers in DeKalb County are expected to certify compliance with 1970 farm program provisions in order to earn program payments.

—that Cereal Leaf Beetle Field Day will be held at the Prairie Heights School Farm on Tuesday afternoon, June 2, 1970. All farm operators and agri-businessmen in Northeastern Indiana are urged to attend this event starting at 1:30 p.m. Prairie Heights School is located on U. S. President Fights Drug Abuse

As a part of the stepped-up Federal effort against drug abuse announced by President Nixon earlier this year, a new publication has been prepared presenting the latest scientific answers to some of the most frequently asked questions about drug abuse.

The 42-page booklet is being made widely available through the National Clearinghouse for Drug Abuse Information, which was also established to aid the invigorated attack on the drug problem.

A letter from President Nixon as an introduction to the booklet highlights the reasons for its issuance, and other important points:

"Drug misuse is a growing national problem. Hundreds of thousands of Americans—young and old alike—endanger their health through the inappropriate use of drugs of all kinds. More than 100,000 of these Americans lead totally unproductive lives because of their addiction to narcotics," the President said.

"The blight of illegal drug traffic—the lives it ruins and the lives it takes—is a serious concern for every American.

"For the first time, all of the concerned Federal agencies and departments have pooled their knowledge to produce a single source book on the national drug problem. The answers are based on the latest research findings of the National Institute of Mental Health and are presented in accord with the policies and programs of the Defense Department; the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; the Department of Justice; the Department of Labor; and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Runs As Independent

Included in the names to appear on the General Ballot for the November 3 election next fall will be Marguerite A. Smith of Garrett who has been certified by the Indiana Secretary of State as an independent candidate for DeKalb-Steuben Joint Representative to the State Legislature.

Mrs. Smith is the wife of Buford C. Smith and a lifelong resident of Garrett. They are the parents of three children, Aaron D., a geologist residing at Ottawa, Illinois, Mrs. Stephanie King of Fort Wayne, and Melanie Ann who is a sophomore at Indiana University in Bloomington.

Mrs. Smith is completing six years as a school board member from the Garrett-Keyser-Butler School District and serves as president of the board. Elected in 1964, she became the first woman to serve on a board of education in DeKalb County.

Since school boards are elected on a non-partisan ballot, it was important that she seek candidacy on the November ballot as an independent, Mrs. Smith stated last week. She recognizes that such election would be more difficult, but accepts the challenge.

Mrs. Smith said, "Fully realizing we are traditionally a two-party nation and people join sides oftentimes without evaluating a candidate, I want to present issues which will cause the electorate to think carefully before pulling the lever in November.

"I have no organization of committee workers such as the Democrats and Republicans possess, nor do I intend to establish any as such. I ask only that you consider issues. If you believe and agree with me, support me and promote me as you move among your friends and neighbors. If you disagree, vote against me, but vote! Don't vote with party prejudice; vote with conviction!

"I have found objectionable to read about the enormous sums of money candidates spend to obtain office. The incumbent Democratic [illegible] spent $4,664 in 1968 elections for this office. Do we as voters demand this?

"I shall begin my campaign on Independence Day. Throughout the summer months I hope to meet many of you within the DeKalb-Steuben area and listen to your interests."

SPENCER TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met May 12 at noon in the home of Marvel Kessler who served a delicious luncheon of three-decker sandwiches with potato chips, assorted relishes with coffee and cake with whipped cream topping for dessert.

After the luncheon, the president, Mrs. Inez Smith, called the meeting to order. She asked for the reading of the roll-call. Devotions were given by Mrs. Marie Ward. For the craft lesson, Mrs. Berniece Wilder showed many interesting articles from Mexico. These had been brought back by her daughter who recently returned from a trip to that country.

Information was given about the upcoming style show and several members agreed to place entries.

A motion was passed that the club contribute to the fund to be used for winners' prizes for the style show.

Roll call was answered by the eight members present: Mrs. Maurice (Inez) Smith, Mrs. Andrew (Marie) Ward, Mrs. Frank (Sarah) Amstutz, Mrs. Lehr (Berniece) Wilder, Helen Lohse, Marvel Kessler, Mary Rutherford and Ida Reed.

The June 9 meeting will be held at the home of Helen Lohse.

Money, money, money. Sometimes it seems that all people talk about is money. Some hoard it, others let it slip through their fingers. But, whether spender or saver, no one is unmindful of it.

Sometimes it seems as though even in church we hear too much about money. Isn't that the one place where money shouldn't be mentioned at all? No.

It isn't money that is at fault, but our attitude toward it. In earlier times, we gave of our services, trading one thing for another. Today we use money as a medium of exchange. It is the spirit in our use of that exchange, in both our spending and saving, that counts.

So, give to the church of your choice. Give generously, if you can. But even if you can't give — go.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

Donald Kinsey Resigns Town Clerk Post

Donald Kinsey, who has served as clerk-treasurer for the town of Saint Joe for the past two and one half years, submitted his resignation to the town board at Monday's session. The resignation was accepted reluctantly by Board and Mrs. Jack Frank was appointed to serve the remainder of Mr. Kinsey's term. He was elected to office in 1969.

Other business at the meeting included discussion of a water service problem on Hart Street involving three properties. The matter is still under investigation due to the apparent lack of written records for the water works.

A discussion was held concerning reported unsanitary conditions at a local residence, with the president of the board directed to investigate further in cooperation with the county health officer, Dr. E. E. Rogers.

A general discussion of town affairs was held, with no other action being taken.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town: DeKalb County Farm Bureau, supplies $8.47; Brown Furniture & Hardware, supplies 22.27; Hixson Sand & Gravel, asphalt 72.00; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash pickup 240.00; Standard Oil Company, mosquito control 47.40; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, street lights 233.98; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and repairs 21.52; Richard Musser, mow cemetery 5 cuttings 200.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 140.00.

Former Resident Dies

Max Dressel, 58, died unexpectedly at his home in Sarasota, Florida, Saturday, May 23, of a heart attack. He lived for the past six years in Florida.

Mr. Dressel graduated from Milford High School in 1928. He resided in Saint Joe from 1932 to 1942, where he was employed by the B&O Railroad.

He served in World War II from 1941 to 1945 with the 94th Combat Engineers in the European theater. During this period he was awarded five combat stars and was honorably discharged in 1945 with the rank of sergeant.

Survivors include the wife, Nancy; his mother, Mrs. Vera Dressel of Napoleon, Ohio; and three sisters, Mrs. Carleton (Gladys) Shull of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Jack (Mary) McBride and Mrs. Lloyd (Ida) Austermiller of Napoleon.

Program Honors War Dead

Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, along with a group of youngsters from the Riverdale community, assisted above as American flags were distributed to the group by adult leaders. In charge of the Memorial Day observance was Frank Sechler, local Scoutmaster, shown at left center, above.

The march to the cemetery ended with a unit of the local fire department, but not before the smallest fry in the parade, accompanied by Mystery Mother and two brothers. Numerous inquiries by The News failed to bring their identity. Who are they???

Forrest Bevington is shown above at right as he conducted an appropriate program at Riverside Cemetery following the parade.

Benefit Barbecue

The Saint Joe Conservation Club will hold a benefit chicken barbecue on Saturday, June 6, beginning at 5:00 p.m. The proceeds from the event will be used to help defray the cost of the club's annual Fourth of July fireworks display.

Tickets are available from any club member and will be sold at the door on the day of the barbecue.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Yesterday I received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service informing me that I owed them $1,000 in back taxes. I have been employed at the same job for the last 15 years.

Our family has always been proud of the fact that we have never had to ask for welfare or any other kind of assistance.

Sincerely,
Norma Ray Brown

Historic Papers Available At Library

—from the Waterloo Public Library

Many requests have come lately for facts on family histories. The Waterloo Press newspapers are the oldest consecutive periodical of DeKalb County. Many facts and interesting items are printed in these papers that can not be found elsewhere.

The former bound volumes of the newspapers had previously been in the County Recorder's Office, but through the interest and effort of Mr. Cecil Fischer, Grant Township resident, these many volumes were brought to the Waterloo-Grant Township Library for preservation. These volumes were stored until recently when it was decided they should be microfilmed. A few of the volumes were missing and were supplied through the courtesy of the Waterloo Press Office.

The monument at Riverside Cemetery, erected in honor of Civil War dead by the Saint Joe community in 1909, towers above Lehr Wilder whose speech at the Memorial Day ceremony served as a monument dedicated to the memory of all who have died for their country in all conflicts. Mr. Wilder pointed out the similarity between conditions existing in the United States today and the method of attack upon a free society explained in Communistic writings. He warned that those who misuse the freedoms which this nation provides are helping to destroy the nation's internal strength.

Memorial Day - What For?

The parental and grandparental generations of today are concerned about the lack of public response such as was evident last Saturday when the local Memorial Day observance brought out less than 50 persons, other than the young people and adult leaders who led the observance. There would seem to be several factors contributing to the growing lack of interest in such ceremonies.

The primary reason might be the fact that many people take advantage of the patriotic holidays to travel and to visit outside their home area. The "500", the lakes, and so on, draw many people away from home. Can you blame them for wanting to do something different? In addition, many good citizens apparently have demanded long holiday week ends, since legislation has now established Monday legal holidays, a climax to the trend to make patriotic dates into short vacations rather than appropriate patriotic observances. Is it any wonder that Americans are forgetting the meaning of historic dates, when the appeal of a holiday is for fun?

Ease of travel is another factor in dwindling numbers at patriotic observances, although the same ease of travel was responsible for the presence of former residents of this community who came back for Memorial Day, as they have for years. Not only are adults able to go farther faster nowadays, the younger generation has the same convenience. Teenagers have cars nowadays; they didn't in days gone by. With the freedom that has come their way, there is little to stand in their way from "taking off" where and when they want to. Who wants to hang around for some boring ceremony; it doesn't mean anything!

It doesn't mean anything? Are our schools part of the failure to teach an appreciation for this country, or the textbooks used in our schools? Can we teach fear of war when we fail to teach appropriate dates connected with the devastation of life and property?

Why should "Armistice Day" become "Veterans' Day" and thus lose the association of war's destruction with the relief at a war's end? Why totally ignore the cessation date of the second world conflict?

Then, too, there has been the fairly recent intimidation of the older generation by certain elements of the younger generation, ridiculing the idea of patriotism and love of one's country. There can't help but be some effect on young people when from within their own ranks they hear criticism made and questions raised as to whether or not physical conflict is an admirable and necessary element in a nation's existence. When such doubts are raised, there is bound to be a reluctance to participate in memorial observances, even when there are relatives of these same young people who have died in serving their country or who have been subjected to the dangers of physical combat.

It was disappointing, to be sure, to see so few people at the local cemetery last Saturday afternoon. But history has always recorded that affluency brings apathy, and apathy is a sign of a lack of appreciation and-or self-satisfaction. What a contradiction—we work, struggle sometimes, to improve ourselves. Having then bettered ourselves, we then cease to recognize—and protect — those things which helped us improve.

Patriotic observances are by no means a declaration of perfection, a proclamation of "look how good we are." Rather, they are a recognition of the efforts of those who have given themselves in the interest of their country and the people in it. Those Americans who today trample their country's flag, who carry a foreign flag to show contempt for the failures of which this nation has been guilty, have missed the point completely. In their zeal to right certain wrongs, these destructive dissenters have forgotten that it is the United States of America which has been the backbone of the freedom movement for nearly two hundred years. Such an infant nation is bound to make mistakes, but at least the majority of the mistakes have been in working towards a goal. Those who today criticize this nation, those in both the secular and the religious worlds, are inclined to emphasize our nation's mistakes and give little credit for its successes. As a result, there is little hope for greater patriotic observances when people are harranged into a feeling of guilt and self-condemnation relative to this country's military activities. The destructive dissenters forget the most important factor of all: they have the opportunity to dissent because of the very thing they condemn—American military strength, established basically to protect their freedom to dissent!

Once again self-discipline is at the core of the problem. Many of our ills are overcome when we individually make ourselves do something that OUGHT to be done in the face of the temptation to do something we'd RATHER do. The indication in recent years is that, in the observance of patriotic holidays, people of all ages—not just the younger generation—are doing what they would rather do. Such self-indulgence ultimately brings troubled times when a people stop short and start asking themselves, "Gee, what is it we DO stand for?—and where did it come from????"

We haven't reached that point yet, but we're getting close.

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stilled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guidance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son!

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, June 11, 1970 — NUMBER 24

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Did you know that I occasionally swipe news items from Larry Smith's "Coburn Corners Candle?" Several are in this week's paper.

Remember years ago? ---when there was a separate column of Coburntown items—and Newville —and Spencerville, because some readers were interested enough in the home town paper to take time to jot down items as they came to their attention and to send them in.

—Those were the good old days.

Ray and Nellie Moore were at the Baker auction last Saturday, arriving when the sale was in the middle of the antique items. Ray handed over some subscription money, then commented that they didn't get the paper until too late to come to the funeral of Mrs. Hurni. Ray wants people to know that he still remembers the neighbors' help, including that of the late Dessie Hurni, when he was seriously ill several years ago. Ray says, "That was a good neighborhood."

The Moores left Saint Joe in 1958 and now reside at Holgate. He's been with the B&O 42 years.

Janice Hollabaugh called, then Jeri Sechler cornered me last week end, to identify the "Mystery Mother" in one of the photos last week. Later Mrs. C. B. Hathaway, Sr., of Butler also called to identify daughter-in-law Carol (Mrs. C. B., Jr.) Hathaway of Auburn. The Hathaway family was present en masse at our Memorial Day observance, with seven kids in the parade and a little one staying in the car.

In that photo last week were Richard, 4, Carol's son; Peter, 2, a nephew (son of Dr. Bill); and Bill, 10, also Carol's son.

Hathaways also came from Lansing and Cleveland, with Dr. H. B. Hathaway and son Melvin visible in another of last week's photos.

A pair of glasses was found last week in back of Hewitts' barn. They look like they would fit a youngster. The owner can claim them at the News Office.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Extension Club met at the home of Emma Strombeck May 15, 1970, with seven members attending.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Doris Yeiser. She read the official Indiana poem.

Devotions were given by Myrtle Pugsley who read from the 55th chapter of Isaiah, where we heard again that we were God's people for He said, "Thou art my people."

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. It was an old song sung a lot by the Negro people, "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

The president reported on the Council meeting she had attended. She reminded us that there would be another Rummage Sale in July. She also read the outline of our program for next year.

The secretary's report was given by Eva Clauser and stood approved as read.

Under New Business, we talked of a trip to hobby shops on our July meeting date. A motion was made by Pat Roberts, seconded by Myrtle Pugsley, that we use that date for the trip and dinner. The motion carried.

A lovely letter was read from our faithful member, Gertrude Borthwick, who is ill. We were all so glad to hear from her, for she is so missed from our meetings. When things came up we didn't quite understand, Gertrude could always set us on the right track again. We all hope good health will return to her so she can share in our meetings again.

The meeting closed with the Club Collect and we had our annual flower exchange.

The hostess then served a delicious lunch and many things were discussed around that well filled table.

Swim Dates Changed

Due to an unexpected change in plans by the swimming pool at Auburn, the schedule for Riverdale swimmers has been changed, according to recreation director Forrest Bevington.

Originally set to begin Monday, June 22, the two-week swimming session will begin instead Monday, June 29, and continue through Friday, July 10.

Bus pickup times will remain the same: Newville at 8:00 a.m., Saint Joe at 8:15 a.m., and Spencerville at 8:30 a.m.

UM Bible School Starts Monday

For the first time, there will be Vacation Bible School classes at Spencerville United Methodist Church for every member of the family and every person of any age. V. B. S. will be held each weekday evening from 7:00 to 8:45. Classes start June 15 and continue through June 26. Advance registration will be very helpful in order to have enough material for each person without ordering an excess. Only 10 percent of unused material can be returned to the supply house.

Adult Study, "The Christian Home" — Rose Anthony, leader.

Youth (high school) — Lois and Lynn Fisher.

Junior Youth (7th and 8th)—Pat and Bob Melchi.

Juniors (5th and 6th) — Margaret Jacobson and Nancy McNabb.

Primary (3rd and 4th) — Corinne Ramey and Mary Rutherford.

Primary (1st and 2nd) — Jean Blasell and Betty Rediger.

Kindergarten — Evelyn Watson and Ann Timmerman.

Nursery (ages 3 and 4) — Jane Studebaker and Maxine Studebaker.

Tie a balloon on your handle bars, or a ribbon on your pet, and come join the annual Vacation Bible School Parade! To be held this year on Registration Night, the parade will assemble at the church, and after travelling the parade route back to the church, there will be registration of all classes for V. B. S. starting June 15. The parade and registration will be held on Wednesday, June 10, at 7:00 p.m. Refreshments will be served along with registration.

The expense of all supplies has increased this year, so it will be very helpful if payment of $1.00 per child or $2.00 per family can be made at the time of registration. Cost of adult class will depend on whether each individual wishes to own a copy of the study book.

—that Harold and Alice Kagey and family left for a short vacation in Canada last Thursday.

—that they're at it again—the people in Homer, Indiana, who each year stage one of the finest Arts & Crafts Festivals in the midwest. Committees and participants are hard at work to make sure that the low keyed, leisurely paced event will be just as enjoyable to visitors this June 20th and 21st as it was last. Based on three years' performance, more than 15,000 persons will visit the small Rush County village on Indiana 44 to see the artistic offerings of the residents and their county neighbors.

He formerly served as minister for the Coburn Corners Church.

—that a seemingly harmless substance has become a serious, even fatal, problem in our national parks. As a result, the Chicago Motor Club-AAA cautions you to exercise care when using Polaroid film on your vacation. The film scraps contain a residue of developing emulsion which has proven to be a killer of fish and wildlife. According to the National Park Service, as many as 400 hoofed animals died last year as a result of eating the highly toxic substance on film scraps discarded by tourists. The scraps also blow into streams and lakes and poison fish. In addition, park officials report that the photographers' habit of using monuments as platforms for applying the special solution for coating and preserving the print has left its mark. The solution dries into a rusty-colored stain which cannot be removed from the stone. The Chicago Motor Club-AAA urges you to carry a plastic litter bag with you as a safe depository for potentially harmful film scraps.

—that the Newsman Quartet from Markle, Indiana, will come to Saint Joe Church of Christ June 21 for the evening services at 7:30 p.m. The community is invited to attend and hear their message in song accompanied by their guitars for the "new sound."

When a candidate makes such statement the clerk will give him a certificate showing the filing of the report. The statement is a public record and must be kept for three years.

—that patrons at the Enchanted Hills Playhouse, Syracuse, Ind., this summer season will be treated to a new "total entertainment" idea when the well-known summer theatre opens its third season on June 24. In addition to the finest professional theatre entertainment in the area, the Playhouse will offer a "picnic-buffet" each evening for playgoers. The opening night performance of "I Do! Graduation Rites Should Be Respected by S. I. Hayakawa, Professor of English and Speech, San Francisco State College.

Reprinted from the Fort Wayne, Ind., "News-Sentinel."

What's happening to graduation ceremonies at your college or the college your children go to? Here is a circular we found in faculty mailboxes at San Francisco State College less than two weeks before commencement:

"If you're participating in the June commencement...in such times of protest and social upheaval as we find ourselves, it seems inappropriate almost to the point of travesty to hold graduation as usual this year...

"The rental of academic regalia for the occasion is a matter of custom rather than a legal requirement for members of the academic profession.

"With this in mind we would like to propose that members of the faculty who would rather contribute their rental fees to the political campaigns of peace candidates...or bail monies or legal defense funds, or any other cause that appeals to our burdened consciences, should cancel their orders for regalia and appear at the Commencement exercises in civilian clothes.

"Arm bands stenciled 'Gowns for Peace' will be distributed at the staging area for the academic procession, and will underline the fact that this is a positive gesture in our 'no business as usual' campaign for this academic year."

The circular was signed by ten professors, eight in literary departments, two in the social sciences.

I immediately drafted a reply, submitted it to my colleagues in the administration (vice-presidents and deans) for revision and approval. The final version, signed by all of us except the dean of humanities, was placed in faculty mailboxes two days later:

"We have received your announcement urging your colleagues to cancel orders for academic regalia in order to use the money for political purpose. That of course is your right.

"We would, however, urge those who follow your suggestion to stay away from the Commencement exercises rather than attend in ordinary clothing.

"Commencement is for our students and, even more importantly, for their parents and families. In a college such as ours, people have made great sacrifices to get their degrees. Commencement, therefore, is a culminating point in the lives of many people who are celebrating the fact that for the first time in the history of their families they have a college graduate.

"It takes only a little imagination to understand what this Commencement ritual means to the majority of our students and their families...if you wish your own ideas and feelings to be respected, we hope you would also respect a ceremony that has deep human significance to so many people.

"This suggestion in no way should be interpreted that one should not make whatever contribution he wishes to whatever cause he feels important, but is only to indicate — in thinking of contributions and sacrifices to be made — that the entire spectrum of student and faculty interests should be taken into consideration."

Of course the cap and gown ritual is boring to some students and many faculty, who would just as soon stay away. However, it is one thing to stay away and quite another to try to alter or make a mockery of the ceremony.

A young poet in the English department came to my office a day or two later to offer his theory as to why some teachers are addicted to demonstrations and strikes. "They have lost their faith in words," he said. "They no longer believe in poetry."

"Of course!" I thought. And what he said is true not only of English teachers but also of other professors: social scientists and philosophers who no longer believe in thought; rhetoricians who no longer believe in persuasion. Despairing both of poetry and reason they join with radical students to picket and disrupt. Down with business as usual!

But the usual business of professors is not something to be laid aside casually like a game of Chinese checkers. The usual business of professors in a free society is the unusual business of conducting an unfettered life of the mind.

To subordinate education to political propaganda is central to totalitarianism. The Nazis did it in their time. The Communists do it still. In their intellectual arrogance a small but vocal minority of professors wants to go the same route.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A timely editorial, "Memorial Day - What For?" in your issue of June 4th.

Congratulations! You said it for me, and well.

Lee O. Tustison
Defiance, Ohio

To blame guns for crime is like blaming matches for arson, automobiles for the drunken driving, or knitting needles for criminal abortions. How would you like a law to register matches in order to control the arsonist? We already register automobiles, but criminals still use them. Registration of guns and legislative gun controls permit only criminals to have guns; for if they register theirs it would be self-incriminating. How about registering criminals instead of guns? How about U. S. Silent Complacent Majority having a voice in gun control legislation? Why not try blaming the malignant metatistic judiciary viewpoint which controls 70% of the U. S. Senate and 100% of the U. S. Senate of Indiana? I'd like to debate this gun control legislation with attorney Rupert V. What's-his-name from southern Indiana misfitted in D. C., who's trying for retirement at the expense of U. S. taxpayrs' lean pocketbooks. Or maybe he'd debate the advantage vs. disadvantage of Medicaid, which he endorses. (And I never made a nickle talking either.) Answer me, Rupert!

We must demand an end to federal mandated intervention in the private affairs of our lives. Our Constitution guarantees U. S. citizens the right to keep and bear arms. How about blaming the criminal for crime and let U. S. keep and maintain our God-given rights. Let mandatory punishment help control criminals and prima facie be allowable evidence. The use and abuse of guns by criminals must be stopped instead of legislating against law abiding, tax paying, honest, upright citizens who happen to be sportsmen and gun lovers. How about replacing Rupert V., pro-no gun attorney, with a horse and buggy doctor for a change. He who forfeits responsibility shall die without privilege—a slave. So it's your turn now.

P.S. If this nation or any nation survives and thrives, it must be guided by men guided by God. It's time for further changes. How about a right turn—it's safer.

The Heartbeat

of DeKalb Memorial Hospital
By Ginny Nixon

The health field, as all of you know, is wide open today for anyone who shares that special kind of caring for his fellow men. Each year the demand for health services increases both nationally and right here in DeKalb County. Doctors, nurses, dentists, health educators, veterinarians are familiar health professions, and there are a hundred more—all in demand.

With this thought in mind, and with the hope of keeping our talented young people in our area, the DeKalb Memorial Hospital Guild set up a health careers loan program.

The fund is maintained through $100 donations by local women. This donation entitles them to become life members of the Guild, and they can choose whether or not to participate in its activities.

To date, there are 39 life members. Five local students have been or are being helped by the fund. Normally the money provides for tuition and books. Recipients repay the loan, interest free, over a two year period. Repayment makes it possible to help others. If a recipient returns to DeKalb Memorial, he only repays half, so he is encouraged to return. Three of the five have returned. This helps our hospital maintain its standard of qualified, interested employees, and the whole community benefits from this.

Nearly all the fund money is now in use, so the fund is quite low. The committee has a very deserving applicant they wish to help, but are unable to do so. Your support would be much appreciated.

Those serving on the Guild's loan committee are: Mrs. Evered Rogers and Mrs. Marshall Link of Auburn, Mrs. Charles Overmeyer of Waterloo, and Mrs. Forrest Bevington of Saint Joe.

The Curiosity Shop, on the corner of East 9th and Union Streets, wishes to announce the biggest bargain sale possible. All next week their already low prices will be cut in half for everything in the shop! This includes toys, books, cookware, and clothing for the whole family. The shop will be open Wednesday 10:00 until 1:30, Friday all day, and Saturday 10:00 to 1:30. After shopping hours Saturday, the shop will close for the summer until mid-August.

DeKalb Memorial has once again been honored as the birthplace of twins. They are Kimberly Sue and Kamala Kay Dietrich. Their parents are Richard and Jama Dietrich, Jackson Street, Auburn. The report is that all are doing fine and are keeping busy. Rumor has it that there are a lot of changes taking place (the pun is intended) at their house.

THE DOOR through which hundreds of laughing brides and grooms have made their exit in a shower of rice.

THE DOOR through which a thousand babies have been brought for holy baptism.

THE DOOR through which tens of thousands have entered to worship God and left to serve mankind.

THE DOOR which opens and closes countless times — always leaving its mark on the souls of men and women.

Today before THE DOOR boy meets girl. No better time. No better place.

Will their friendship blossom into love? Will they one day share that shower of rice — and bring their own child to the font?

THE DOOR cannot answer such questions.

But THE DOOR can open for them, as it does for all men, the Way to God's blessing in our dreams and our hopes.

Tourists Call Meramec Caverns 'The Greatest Show Under Earth'

There is always something new at Meramec Caverns, located on U. S. 66, Stanton, Mo. Despite the fact it's 100,000,000 years old, the cave comes up with more interesting sidelights than a Broadway show.

Tourists call it, "The Greatest Show Under Earth," and Lester B. Dill, cave director, is always coming up with new things for the underground emporium, which Jesse James used as a hideout during the 1870's.

Getting a big laugh from visitors is the gigantic sign in front reading: "This cave is for mature and immature audiences."

Here is shapely Margaret Kay resting on formation at the world's only five story cave. Mother Nature keeps the cave at a constant 60 degree temperature.

Dill has installed an electrical system which is more streamlined than most towns and many cities around the nation.

Over 15,000,000 tourists have been put underground by Dill and he proudly states that he brought each back alive.

An innovation at cave is Civil Defense stocking it with 22 tons of supplies which can be used in case of national emergency.

Located 55 miles southwest of St. Louis, Meramec Caverns is specially lighted to cater to photography fans. Trained rangers conduct tours all day and in order to prevent any congestion, paths have been constructed separating the incoming tourists from the outgoing. Metal rails make it simple for tourists to go through the cave.

Dill opened the cave in 1935 and has made it into the world's most successful privately owned cave.

New Appliance Ends Kitchen Clutter

Designed to compact a week's worth of trash for the average family into a neat little bag, this new household aid eliminates the daily trips to the garbage can. Homemakers who have tested the trash masher claim it makes the kitchen seem cleaner and more orderly because much of the usual clutter has been eliminated. The bulk of trash which ordinarily would fill more than four garbage cans has been reduced to about one.

Bottles, cartons, food wastes and aerosol cans are placed into the waste drawer, it's closed and automatically two sprays of odor killer solution are injected. Two thousand pounds of pressure compacts the contents in 60 seconds. When the heavy duty plastic bag is finally full, it's easily removed to carry out.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted:

Thought mebby you would like a little Father's Day poem I wrote in memory of my father.

My Daddy

The baby called him Da! Da!
Brother called him Dad,
Sister called him Father,
And I was his little lad.

No matter what we called him,
He always wore a smile,
He was a real father,
And didn't care much for style.

While sitting at the table,
He always said a prayer;
That God would guide us,
And keep us in his care.

Now he is gone, before us;
His care on Earth did end;
He surely went to Heaven,
For Jesus was his friend.

Kruse Credentials 'Earned'

(The following was prepared for presentation to delegates attending the Indiana Republican State Convention to be held Thursday of this week at Indianapolis.)

State Senator Dean V. Kruse is one of the most dedicated workers for the Republican Party I have ever met. He is every inch a man when it comes to loyal support of those to whom he has a commitment, either in upholding Republican philosophy or those who serve in public office. The basic strength of the party comes from such dedication.

Area Republicans have watched his political career with great interest for nine years. He surprised many of us when he was elected precinct committeeman and county chairman when only 22 years old, both in heated contests. He thus became the youngest county chairman in the United States at that time.

He took a county which had a majority of Democrats and, under his leadership, then captured every office except the county judgeship. Being a grass roots organizational man who believes the strength of the party is with the precinct committeemen, Dean has even captured 12 of the 14 township trustees in his county when 10 of 14 were Democrat when he took over. DeKalb County's Republican Party was strengthened because Dean challenged people to become involved. They answered the challenge and have worked for him ever since.

Dean Kruse's youthful enthusiasm, coupled with his conservative outlook, have combined to make his home county known throughout the state for its political enthusiasm. The successful rallies held in DeKalb County, even in "off" years, attest to the spirit fostered by this earnest party worker. You may not always agree with him, but somehow his enthusiasm is infectious. And, if there is a job to be done, Dean does his utmost to see that it is done.

In 1966 Dean Kruse did something everyone said was virtually impossible. The 1965 reapportionment plan for the Indiana State Legislature put DeKalb County and Adams County, with populations of approximately 30,000 each, in combination with the large metropolitan county of Allen, including the city of Fort Wayne. Dean complained that this wasn't right and felt that his county should have some representation.

He filed for State Senator and, against great odds, surprised everyone by carrying all three counties over an incumbent State Representative running for State Senator. This was the first known instance of a candidate living outside Allen County elected to represent that county. To make it even more impressive, Dean became the youngest State Senator ever elected in Indiana.

He then became a member of the National Electoral College and voted for President Nixon.

In 1969 Dean Kruse became chairman of the Fourth District Republican Committee and a member of the state committee. This is where Dean ran into difficulty. He felt that the Indiana Republican State Committee should support the Governor. Under pressure from the metropolitan area to change his position, Dean held his ground and ran for renomination for the office of State Senator. The conflict of views influenced voters in the Fort Wayne area to override Dean's majority vote in the smaller counties and he lost his bid for renomination last month, amid some indications of alleged irregularities in the mechanics of setting up the voting process. Legal counsel told Dean he had a case, but the young Republican worker preferred to avoid any action that would hurt the party; he would wait for another day.

The respect felt for Dean by fellow Republicans was shown in the fact that he was re-elected Fourth District chairman, even after his defeat for renomination for State Senator. And it is to his credit that, rather than withdraw completely after a bitter primary defeat, Dean instead has continued his efforts for the party.

Now, today, "another day" has come for Dean Kruse. Those of us who have worked with and for him in the past several years know that he would give every ounce of political blood he has for the Republican Party. He has earned his credentials to become the 1970 Republican nominee for Secretary of State.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met at the Spencerville United Methodist Church Monday evening, June 8, with 26 men present. This is about our average attendance for the year, 79 percent. Gene Casebere gave a 3 minute talk on thanks to Lionism. Gene said, "You should always thank your speaker, your committees, your ladies, and the people who patronize your projects because you wouldn't get to first base without them."

President Harold Curie reported that a Butler club would hold an ice cream social at the Maxton Park in Butler Friday, June 12 as a benefit for our local community club.

Curie also presented 23 pins to 23 members for perfect attendance last year.

Karl Hart, Andy Crow, and Lavon Hart presented an enlarged picture of their recommendation for the arrangement for our county fair stand. President Curie then appointed Clifford Billow, Willard Hurni, Walter Morr, Karl Hart, and Lavon Hart to improve on the details of the plan and to get started on the actual construction of the stand and tent.

Our last meeting before the summer vacation will be Ladies' Night and the installation of new officers, with Ralph Keeler and Willard Maxwell in charge of all arrangements.

Richard Crow then introduced Mike Jewett, our Dekalb County Agriculture Agent, who spoke on the subject, "How Our Extension Program has Changed."

He reported that the extension work began in 1911, but it did not become common till about 1920. At first the County Agents' job was advisor in agriculture, with 4H club work thrown in for good measure, and if he and his county were really lucky they might get a Home Demonstration Agent. At first they limited 4H work and Home Demonstration Clubs to just farm boys and farmers' wives. Later, because of the needs of non-farm boys and women, they began expanding their membership. Now it is common to have a County Agent, a Home Demonstration Agent, and a 4H Director for each county. They are working on a plan to make the special skills from 9 counties available to all of the 9 counties. If this plan is approved, you can continue calling on our Mr. Jewett as before, but he can call in specialists for special programs, requests, or problems. His specialty would be field crops and he would be assigned to 5 counties. This would be like an old time threshing ring, where those county agents would exchange with each other, or you might compare to a local practitioner getting a specialist's services for you for free.

Ann Wolkenhauer is a German exchange student at Eastside, a guest of the William Mann family of Butler, and is a grade A and B senior. She is a likeable person, friendly, good natured, nice appearing, has a sense of humor, and speaks good English.

Well, on some words you can detect some German accent, but her grammar is good and she never gets the verb ahead of the noun.

She recently showed slide pictures and told the Lions Club about her home town of Celle, which is a medium sized town with a population of about 8000.

In a way, Celle is just an ordinary town because it has stores, factories, modern facilities such as coal, oil, gas and electric centralized heating. But in another way, it is a tourist city, because the exteriors of the homes, churches, etc. are maintained as they were originally, and many sections of the town are solid with 16th century buildings. They have some cobblestone streets, a medieval castle, purple heather pasture land at the edge of town complete with flocks of sheep attended by shepherds.

Ann had a good set of slides which showed 16th century 3 story and attic houses topped with red tile roofs which rise right from the edge of the sidewalks. The houses are well kept, painted as they were originally. The doors, halls, and stairways are narrow, and it is a common practice to hoist furniture up on the outside and put it in through the windows. Second floor window boxes with colorful flowers are everywhere. We have row houses in many of the older sections of our eastern towns, but these German row houses are different, they seem to harmonize better.

Ann says, "The streets are narrow and many people get traffic tickets, especially on the one-way streets. One church is painted pink, but it is a very pretty pink."

The castle is complete, even to having part of the moat as it was originally. The German Count and his French Countess are long since gone, and the castle is now used as an administration building. She showed a picture of the old pillory; that was a sort of iron collar that in the old days the officers would fasten around the offender's neck for two or four hours, as the case might be. Then the villagers were free to throw tomatoes, eggs, or such things at the culprit.

At this Gene Casebere began to snicker, and I'll bet he was thinking of throwing tomatoes at some of his friends.

Ann said, "Over there we have four years in elementary school and nine years in high school, and in the last three years we are a junior for one year and a senior for two years." All high school students must take at least two foreign languages, so she took three, Spanish, English, and French.

Someone asked, When you talk English, do you think first in German, then translate it to English?"

Ann replied, "When I talk in English I think in English, but sometimes even here in Butler, when I dream, I dream in German."

Ann hopes to come back to the U.S. and take at least one more year of college before she begins her career as an English teacher.

Our rates are very competitive. Remember, you may never know or it will be too late when you find out just how much a so-called cut-rate auctioneer really cost you. Do the sensible thing, find out for yourself as to possible prices and rates.
Use the Kruse Auction Plan—specified date—high prices—good when sure sale is needed soon. Ideal for estates—change or quitting business or farming, also where division of property is necessary. LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

EHS District Qualifies For Poverty Funds

The DeKalb County Eastern Community School District has been allocated $26,797 from the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Richard D. Wells, which means additional or expanded instructional and health services for children of low-income families. Local Superintendent Kenneth L. Cole and Federal Projects Director Robert Pleunik have worked with Wayne Monson, ESEA-Title I Consultant, planning the distribution of federal funds made available through the OSPI Division of Federal Projects.

Mr. Cole and Mr. Pleunik learned a few weeks ago that the school district's application for funds under Title I, Elementary and Secondary Education Act, has been approved by State Superintendent Wells. The amount allocated is based on the number of low-income families living within the school corporation's boundaries. Approximately 160 children from these families will be served in the two participating schools, Butler Elementary and Riverdale Elementary Schools. These programs provide each child chances for increased learning in the classroom.

Teachers and teacher aides have been hired and assigned to schools where federally-funded programs will be conducted. Teacher aides assume some of the non-teaching tasks, such as taking attendance, keeping order, and setting up equipment. By performing these routine tasks, the aide is freeing the teacher to direct his attention to students who require individual instruction.

Ideal Gift For Summer Grooming

Coming is the second busiest gift time of the year, graduations, weddings, and showers all seem to come at once and you, of course, will be searching for the perfect gift.

Look no further. The answer to all your gift problems, for the feminine half at least, could be a ladies electric shaver.

With summer just around the corner, slacks are being shed in favor of bermuda shorts and bathing suits. Leg grooming will again be a major concern with most women.

What could be a more timely and appropriate gift than an electric shaver to keep legs smooth and pretty during the summer months and the rest of the year too. Any woman will love the ease and comfort of shaving with an electric shaver that makes cuts, nicks, and scrapes a thing of the past.

Many models are available in cord or cordless, single or double edge combs, and with an "on-off" switch.

One such shaver even has a built-in light to spotlight trouble spots often missed. This newest model has a specially designed cutting head that shaves 30% closer than older models, without loss of comfort.

What woman wouldn't love a gift that makes personal grooming such a pleasure?

Sole Power!

These young Americans are being joined by hundreds of thousands of older teenagers who will be walking ten million miles this month to raise funds for self-help projects to alleviate hunger and malnutrition both here and abroad. These walks, the major activity of National Freedom From Hunger Month, are sponsored by the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, which works in cooperation with the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, as well as with self-help programs in the United States.

Last year alone, American youth raised close to a million dollars to fight hunger. This year's goal is $1,500,000. Most walkers are concerned high school students who, with the help of the Foundation's Washington headquarters, organize and direct their area's "walk" — typically a 10-mile route. They obtain pledges from parents, neighbors and other public spirited citizens for each mile walked. Some walkers have raised as much as $500.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Phil and I were really moving our tails around the shop last week, and the other members of the family did some fast folding. We ran off 5,000 four-page campaign newspapers for Dean Kruse for the GOP convention last Thursday, and also got off the regular issue of this paper, all before I left for Indianapolis Wednesday afternoon.

This was the first time I participated in a political convention, and it is both boring and interesting. In some respects there is mass confusion, but everything seems to get taken care of eventually. No one seemed to expect a short session, but the first ballot gave the needed majority to candidates for offices where there was a race.

I had been warned that the Fairgrounds Coliseum would be a hot box for the convention, but the weatherman backed off just enough to make it bearable, although it was still plenty warm.

I wore walking shorts for the day and felt out of place, not seeing any other males wearing similar attire. But three or four people made the remark during the day that "you're the only one dressed sensibly" and removed my slight embarrasement along that line.

There is none of the dragging procedure at a state convention that you see at a national convention. Nominations are already in, so there is no need for nominating speeches and the seconding speeches allowed nationally. This streamlines the state convention, although there are still the usual items of protocol, such as introduction of dignitaries that gets long enough to make you wonder if they're going to name every person in the building.

There was one magic word at the convention—"Trudy." The GOP incumbent for state auditor is a cute package of dynamite whose good looks are matched by her sharp tongue to make her a "natural" in combatting the influence of the opposition party. Trudy Staby Etherton is only five-feet-two if she's that much, but she's as rousing a campaigner as any male in the party, and pulls no punches especially when she's giving her support to the effort to unseat Senator Vance aHrtke. It's impossible to say anything against her—and live! She's that popular.

It's debatable whether or not the hospitality rooms, open before the official convention, do any candidate any good or any harm. The ninth floor of the Hilton Hotel opened onto a patio with a pool. Most candidates had a room on that floor, one right next to the other, and you could sig-zag in one door, out to the patio, in the next door, out to the patio, right down the line. Perhaps the most good is the chance to relax and have a little fun, to go along with the sometimes tiring business session of the convention. In a way the hospitality room bit seems sort of ridiculous, an expenditure to the candidates which is abused by many. As soon as food is placed on the tables, delegates move in like vultures and clean the plates in a few minutes. But I guess it's all part of the game.

On the way back, I was impressed by the restful appearance of the countryside on State Road 236, cutting over from 37 to I-69. It's pretty country.

—And I got 30 m.p.g. in the VW squareback, driving 60 to 69 all the way.

Bridge Closed For Repairs

Frank Laub of Spencer Township, chairman of the county commissioners, reported this week that the Hadsell Bridge east of Saint Joe, crossing the Saint Joseph River, has been closed for repairs.

The old steel structure was found to have about ten rusty I-beams and deteriorated flooring. Repair costs have been estimated at $6,500 and a request for that amount is to be made to the county council.

Mr. Laub estimated that five or six weeks will be required to make the necessary repairs. In the meantime, the bridge is closed to traffic.

Mr. Laub also reported that the county commissioners are re-advertising for bids for a new roof for the Spencerville covered bridge, with wood shingles now to be used for the repairs.

Swim Dates Changed

Due to an unexpected change in plans by the swimming pool at Auburn, the schedule for Riverdale swimmers has been changed, according to recreation director Forrest Bevington.

Originally set to begin Monday, June 22, the two-week swimming session will begin instead Monday, June 29, and continue through Friday, July 10.

Bus pickup times will remain the same: Newville at 8:00 a.m., Saint Joe at 8:15 a.m., and Spencerville at 8:30 a.m.

Sen. Kruse Invited To White House Special Briefing In July

Dean Kruse has received a letter from Secretary of State William P. Rogers, summoning him to appear in Washington on July 13 and 14 for a special briefing in the White House.

Secretary Rogers is a member of President Nixon's Cabinet and the National Security Council. He is a close advisor to the President, and is known worldwide because of his service during the Eisenhower Administration. The Nixon Administration has been seeking out young political leaders throughout the nation, and Dean Kruse has been chosen for Indiana.

Secretary of State Rogers' letter stated that officers of the Department of State, Agency for International Development, and Department of Defense are all scheduled to participate in the two-day program. The sessions will discuss: the foreign policy making progress; an overall view of Asia and Cambodia; the evolving Middle East situation; Europe in the '70s; economic aspect of foreign policy; and the Communist threat. The information sheet stated that some of the briefings would be confidential, but most would be able to be revealed when they return home.

The Secretary of State has also invited Senator Kruse to Washington to a diplomat and executive dinner reception on the evening of July 13.

The summons stated that Dean Kruse was chosen because he had been called to their attention as one of the outstanding young political leaders in the nation. Kruse was DeKalb County Republican Chairman at the age of 22, making him the youngest in the nation at that time. He then was elected as the youngest State Senator in the history of Indiana, breaking the record held by former U. S. Senator William Jenner, who was a State Senator at 26 years of age. Kruse was elected Fourth Congressional District Chairman last year at the age of 27, the youngest in the nation. Kruse was beaten in the primary as State Senator, but held his District Chairman seat against the powerful Fort Wayne political machine, making him the youngest in the nation to sit on a State Central Committee. Since that time Kruse has become one of Governor Whitcomb's closest friends.

In receiving his personal notice from Secretary Rogers, Kruse stated, "This is indeed the highest honor bestowed on me in my life. I shall never forget it." Kruse said that it was his plan to take his wife and son with him to Washington. He also stated, "I know this would have been impossible for me to receive if it wasn't for all the wonderful people of DeKalb County and the Fourth Congressional District placing their confidence in me."

Dean recently lost the Indiana Secretary of State nomination to incumbent William Salin. When entering the contest, Kruse said, "I know I'm going to lose, but I have been told that it is necessary for me to have a convention experience this year if I am to become an effective political leader." Although having campaigned for the nomination only three days, Kruse received a remarkable 743 votes at the state convention.

ST. JOE VALLEY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The St. Joe Valley Homemakers Club met at the home of Eva Clauser June 10, 1970.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Doris Yeiser, with the reciting of the Club Collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Myrtle Pugsley, reading from Luke 24. She ended devotions with a prayer.

Eva Clauser gave the history of the song of the month, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." It was written by a minister in 1872, and has lived through the years to remain a favorite song of many people.

Roll call was answered with "my favorite rose." Everyone liked all roses, but the Peace Rose led all the rest.

The secretary's report was read by Eva Clauser and was accepted as read.

It was decided that we meet at Doris Yeiser's for our July meeting. After a short business meeting, we will go to the Heritage House in Fort Wayne for dinner, the guests of our faithful member, Gertrude Borthwick. The afternoon will be spent at Franks Nursery and other places of interest. Eva Clauser and Pat Roberts will be the drivers.

Doris Yeiser reported on the meetings she attended at Purdue University for several days. She also reminded us of the Rummage Sale to be held in July.

Eva Clauser and Pat Roberts reported on the meeting on allergies they attended in Auburn.

The meeting was closed with the Club Creed and all retired to their homes, much happier for the fellowship we shared that day.

—that Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Morgan and David, Jonathan, Laura and Margery Ann of Hopwood, Pennsylvania, came last week end to visit her parents, the M. H. Hollabaughs, and to attend the wedding of Mrs. Morgan's brother, Jim.

This isn't exactly a "power plant," but it does illustrate the fact that in most American homes, the number of electrical gadgets and appliances grows by about six new items each year. It's not surprising when you stop to consider how versatile and capable electricity is . . . It can do just about anything from home heating to brushing teeth . . . and costs so little to use. Nothing you can buy gives you more value per dollar than your electric service.

WHITE HOUSE PLANS — WHERE THEY STAND
(from "U. S. News World Report")

Welfare Overhaul: Outlook clouded, with Senate expected to pass more liberal program of guaranteed minimum family income than President requested.

Postal Rates: Good chance for 5-cent stamp on letters.

Postal Reform: Major reorganization of Post Office likely.

Fighting Crime: Crackdown on organized crime stalled in Congress.

ABM: Odds are against further expansion of Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

Social Security: Automatic cost of living boosts in pensions in for tough going; Congress expected to vote straight benefit hike, other changes generally more liberal than President opposed.

Transportation Strikes: No action likely this year on proposal for settlement of strikes through binding arbitration.

Drug Abuse: Prospects bright for stiffer penalties for traffickers in drugs, lighter penalties for users.

18 Year Old Vote: Voting age likely to be lowered by simple law, rather than constitutional amendment favored by Nixon.

Electoral College: Direct election of U. S. Presidents is running into trouble.

Airports: Trust fund for airport development, financed by taxes on airway users, seems certain to pass Congress.

Mass Transit: Federal guarantees to cities on long-term financing to modernize subway and bus lines likely to be voted.

War On Hunger: Excellent chance for vast expansion of federal food programs.

Jobless Insurance: Approval all but certain for extending coverage to 4 million new workers, providing longer benefits during periods of high unemployment.

Revenue Sharing with States: Prospects poor.

Air Pollution: Federal regulation of gasoline and additives doubtful, but tighter testing of auto exhausts may be approved.

Water Pollution: Long-range program of federal aid for local sewage treatment plants delayed until 1971.

yours is the hand that lights your child's face

We've heard so much about the effects of insecurity on the life of a child! It seems urgent to find a picture of security . . . that elusive ideal that parents want to provide but can never be sure they have.

Notice the importance of the light in our picture. It doesn't really come from that fatherly hand. Someone else has provided the light which links father and son. The father merely stood in that light . . . and held his son's hand!

Sunday — Father's Day — in hundreds of thousands of churches, earnest fathers will stand in the Light. With their sons they'll worship God . . . experience again the spiritual understanding of life. See the brightness of that true security reflected in youthful eyes.

Wednesday—Mt. Pleasant-Newville vs. Saint Joe-Newville Church of Christ (umps Hicksville).

Thursday—Hicksville vs. Coburntown I (umps Coburntown I).

Friday—open date for make-ups.

(End of first half)

Three teams are at the top of the Saint Joe Church League standings through Wednesday morning with only one loss each. They are Saint Joe-Newville Churches of Christ, Norris Chapel United Methodist, and Mt. Pleasant-Newville United Methodist. Norris Chapel has five victories, while the other two have won four apiece.

The league has offered a variety of scores, running from lop-sided runaway games to close one-run contests. The slow pitch used in the league appears to be a setup for batters, but there are times when the pitchers' spin balls are as effective as the major leagues' blazing fast-ballers. The home run fence adds some spice and glamour to the game, as well as some demoralizing moments for pitchers. Many spectacular catches have been made at the fence in games so far to offset the other long blasts that have carried past the barrier.

The standings through June 30:

Norris Chapel	5	1
Mt. Pleasant-Newville	4	1
St. Joe-Newville	4	1
Lutherans	3	2

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, July 2, 1970 — NUMBER 27

From the editor's desk. . . .

Have We Lost Something?

The observance this week end of the birthday of the United States of America, born as a free and independent nation on July 4, 1776, ought to serve as a reminder that in just a few short years this country will reach its 200th anniversary. It is not too early to begin thinking about such a memorable date, to plan proper and appropriate recognition when the time comes. Looking ahead ought not, however, deter us in our observance this year and every year of our country's birth.

One of the things I miss, and have missed for several years, is the privilege of shooting firecrackers to help celebrate the Fourth of July. Yes, there have been people injured by the use of fireworks in the past. But people are injured by the use - and misuse - of just about everything. But we don't outlaw everything!

I wonder if we are better off today than we were when I was a kid. Today, when you hear a firecracker shot off, it means someone is breaking the law. Isn't that strange? An act which we have traditionally associated with the observance of perhaps our nation's greatest holiday is now regarded as unlawful.

It makes one wonder if the law was intended to protect our citizens - or if perhaps good intentions were used by others to promote a subtle and subversive effort to lessen the feeling of national pride, even to destroy the unity created by universal participation in a national holiday. Don't laugh; remember there are those in our midst today, and actively so, who stomp on our flag, who burn their draft cards, who resort to physical force and violence to divide us, to destroy what they sneeringly refer to as "nationalism." Patriotism to them is a bad word.

I can remember "the good old days" when Dad bought freworks, small and medium size for the most part (I dreaded the big crackers, they scared me to death and still do!). We had a small iron cannon with a rubber ball or a golf ball, and we shot the ball in the air in the middle of the street on the Fourth of July, then tried to catch it when it came down. There were cracks and bangs all over town, but we didn't mind because it was the Fourth of July.

Though Dad supervised much of the fun with the firecrackers, we had also been instructed on what to do and what not to do when we handled fireworks ourselves. We had been told of the danger of short fuses, of the foolish idea of trying to hold a firecracker and let it go off in your fingers, of the way to make comparatively harmless "fitzers" for a change of pace. We were allowed to shoot firecrackers ourselves. We were not hampered by parental supervision which said "no" as well as "yes." We were helped. We had fun!

Look how we have changed. Now we have no tolerance of the noise, if there is any noise - and there usually is SOME shooting of firecrackers going on spasmodically. Instead, we mumble a curse, mild or otherwise, or we give a dirty look. But most damaging of all, those young people who do nowadays set off illegal fireworks often do so in a dangerous manner, dangerous to others. Cherry bombs can be slammed down from a car; they're good "getaway" fireworks. Or lighted firecrackers are tossed from a car in proximity to others in an act of "showing off."

The situation serves to point out that, in seeking to protect, we may sometimes do more damage of another nature than we realize. Dad protected us in our family; he didn't deprive us. The same cannot be said about the observance of our national birthday and our laws governing firecrackers.

Better off without fireworks? I wonder. I think we're missing something.

Scouts Plan Trip

by Wayne Koch P.

Two Boy Scout Troops, 172 from Spencerville and 177 from Auburn, are going to take a trip into the back country of Ontario, Canada.

They will travel in two converted school buses to the end of the road, then portage and hike on in beyond civilization to their destination in the Halburton Highlands, north of Blind River, Ontario.

This a semi mountainous country of sheer rock ridges, small mountains, crystal clear lakes, and unspoiled timbered scenic beauty.

A program for scout advancement has been planned for each day, but plenty of time will be allowed for recreation such as fishing, canoeing, swimming, exploring, photography, and hiking.

One of the features of the trip will be a two day canoeing and hiking trip under survival conditions. The boys will be taught how to survive on the land alone. There will be no rations; they will exist on edible plants, berries, fish, frogs, and anything else available. They will learn that if you know plant and animal life, you needn't starve in the wilderness.

A full blooded Indian Chief will visit the camp, and an Indian Guide will be in camp at times. A forest ranger will periodically check our camp also.

A Boy Scout Troop of Canadians will be camping with us. This is a bilingual group, which should make conversation interesting. Some of the boys are French, some English and Scot, and some are Indian.

A motion picture will be made of this trip, which we will be glad to show any interested group.

This trip was originally planned for Spencerville Troop 172 by Richard Drake and Wayne Koch, but it was soon apparent that the cost could be lessened with a larger group. Auburn Troop 177 became interested, and then were included in the plans.

There will be 40 boys and 11 adult leaders participating. They will leave on July 18, and return on July 26.

We would like to recognize the help and cooperation of the Canadian Customs, the Canadian Lands and Forests Service, Maxton Motors of Butler, International Harvester Company, and the Lions Club of Spencerville and Saint Joe.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

I wrote this poem and would like to share it with others.

PEACE

Peace is not in your America,
Or any place on this earth.
But people talk about it a lot,
And try to get it,
But they can't,
And never will,
As long as there is anything or anyone on the earth.

A Reader

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

Thank you most kindly for the papers you sent me, but I certainly would like to pay for them. I'd be more than happy to do so. Please bill me.

You would be suprised how far and wide those papers went, and they went to those who used to march in the Parade for so many, many years. All were so pleased to get them. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,
Mildred E. Hathaway

There's More To Washington Than Marble

—from "Ford Times"

A family visit to Washington can be more than a marathon of marble steps and massive monuments—even with school-age children in town.

Significant landmarks such as the White House, the Lincoln Memorial, and the Washington Monument are certainly "musts." But leave time, too, for the many places—unpublicized and picturesque—that can make a stay in the nation's capital tangy and unforgettable.

Of course, you'll want to visit the country's legislative heart, the U. S. Capitol. But don't miss the fascinating mini-subway that runs beneath the Capitol to the two Senate office buildings. Designed to save congressmen from plodding their way back and forth to voting sessions, this little train offers the world's shortest underground ride: just 30 seconds to the old Senate building, 60 seconds to the new one. Its 18 battery-powered cars scoot along at 20 miles an hour, carrying 2,000,000 passengers a year. VIPs, foreign visitors, and just plain tourists are addicted to it.

Rarely can you time your visit to the Capitol with a flaming debate in Congress. But you'll want to see the two famous legislative chambers anyway. To obtain passes from your congressman, simply dial the Capitol Building switchboard operator (CA 4-3121). She can connect you to his office, and also answer your questions about legislative tours and session times.

Want to sit in on key Congressional hearings where experts testify on controversial issues? Check the Washington newspapers. The "Washington Post," for example, runs a column listing committee hearings under the heading, "Activities in the Congress."

A sample listing under Senate might read: "Foreign Relations. 10 a.m. Open. United States policy toward NATO. Norman Cousins, 'Saturday Review.' Room 4221, New Building." Open sessions are the ones you can attend.

For youngsters, there's a small but fine aquarium hiding in the basement of the U. S. Department of Commerce, at Constitution Avenue and E Street. Upstairs in the Census Bureau you can observe the "Census Clock," a computerized people-counter. Its numbers change before your eyes, ticking off the babies being added to the population. According to the clock's arithmetic, there will be 300 million Americans by the year 2000.

Want to see real live Russians, Norwegians, Swedes, Ghanians? Visit "Embassy Row." There are more than 100 embassies in Washington, each with its own national flavor. The Russian Embassy, L and 16th Street, N.W., welcomes visitors. (Free vodka? Nyet.) Modern paintings, craft works, and products of Israel can be seen at the Israeli Embassy, 1621 22nd Street.

Also worth noting is the 20-room Colonial-style home, at 1411 W Street, S.E., in which Frederick Douglas lived for the last 13 years of his life. A self-educated slave, Douglas rose to become a brilliant speaker, an abolitionist editor and a District of Columbia Commissioner of Deeds. His residence contains some priceless antiques, including a desk given to him by Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Often by-passed in Washington are such places as the National Housing Center of the National Association of Home Builders, at 1625 L St., N.W., a colorful four-floor display of new designs for split-levels or skyscrapers. Radio most Americans never hear (newscasts in everything from Russian to Swahili) can be heard at the Voice of America studios in the Health, Education and Welfare Building. Another place few tourists visit is the Walter Reed Medical Center, yet its guided tours are renowned and fascinating to future MDs and nurses.

For those interested in urban renewal, there's a happy casebook: Georgetown. Thirty years ago, this was a decaying neighborhood. Now it's one of Washington's architectural joys, noted for its restored old Colonial houses, red brick cobblestoned streets, attractive arches and picturesque specialty shops. There's a swinging collegiate atmosphere, too, with discotheques and coffee houses dispensing Bob Dylan records and old movies.

In a buying mood? The Department of the Interior runs an unusual gift shop at C Street between 18th and 19th, N.W. For sale are Indiana totem pole sculptures, exquisite animal carvings, handmade jewelry and decorated pottery.

Everyone visits Mount Vernon, George Washington's beautiful home on the Potomac. But few take the speedy hydrofoil, "Victory I," which skims along the river completely out of the water at speeds up to 40 knots. Kids love this half-hour, glass-enclosed boat trip which leaves every 30 minutes from Wilson Pier (Maine and N, S.W., EX 3-8300).

Few people think of the U. S. Naval Observatory as a major tourist attraction, but it's drawing big crowds in the space age. Through telescope and high-altitude photometry, it studies the orbits of the celestial bodies and the sun. Scientific tours are held daily at 2 p.m., accompanied by color films and a look through a giant 26-inch telescope. The evening programs are particularly impressive; for these, however, you'll need passes in advance.

There are many other evening diversions in Washington, embracing good food, sports, music and theatre.

After a busy day of sightseeing, summer visitors might enjoy a Washington Senators' night game, or a Hollywood Bowl type of presentation under the stars at the Watergate concert near the Potomac. At the Carter Baron Amphitheatre, musicals, operettas, ballets, and pop artists' concerts are frequent offerings.

For serious drama, check Arena Stage, which has made its reputation by producing Beckett, Williams, Miller and Shaw as well as provocative new works. Its '70 season runs through June.

Once only marshy swamps and tobacco fields, in its early days Washington was known as the "capital of miserable huts." Today it is a beautiful capital, attracting 9,000,000 visitors a year—more than come to see Paris, London or any other city in the world. When you come, see the famous landmarks you've read about, but leave some time, too, for the city's more hidden pleasures. They'll help you feel like a native—which, after all, is one of the most rewarding pleasures of visiting a great city.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Lions entertained their ladies and 11 guests Monday evening, June 22, at Plattner's. The Billows are still visiting and vacationing with their daughter and her family in North Carolina, and there were a few unaccounted for, but 61 were present. It seems that, the bigger the crowd, the better time we have.

President Harold Curie very modestly thanked his officers and then all the rest of us for having made his term in office a success. He especially thanked Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Storer for their help in editing and printing our paper, "The Lions Roar."

Forrest Bevington reports that they have a lot of kids in the recreation program, but they could still make room for a few more.

The fair stand committee reported that our stand will be at the northwest corner of the square.

Newly-elected Howard Timmerman announced that the club's 30th year anniversary will be this fall, and October 27 was set for the party. Lynn Fisher, Harold Murphy, and Lavon Hart are to make all arrangements.

Tail-Twister Murphy's farewell speech was followed by a thank-you speech by Lehr Wilder, who versed all of Murphy's good qualities and a few of his bad ones. Then Karl Hart stood up and began advertising the 30-Plus Club and their party on June 25. Murphy then fined Karl Hart 10 cents for using time for advertising purposes; then when Karl started objecting, Murphy fined him again for arguing with the tail-twister. This same tail twister quietly went around and showed the latest issue of our state paper, "The Hoosier Lion," to each of us, and if our picture wasn't in it, we had to pay. Only those who were helping prepare those Bibles for the Eastside seniors got in that picture. How can the rest of us help it if we are all such poor writers? Personally, if I were to describe Murphy's term as tail twister, I would use just one word: FINE.

Our new president expressed the hope that our membership and activities might increase, and that this year's motto might be, "Let us be an action club." He hopes to have the club take a trip to Indianapolis this year to see the home of the Eye Bank and Cancer Control, and if possible, to Michigan to see the home of the Leader Dogs.

Past District Governor Paul Brumbaugh made a short talk in which he said, "Your Saint Joe club is a terrific club." Naturally, that made a big hit with us, but then he went on and spoiled it by telling a lot of things whereby we can make it better.

Ralph Keeler then introduced Mr. and Mrs. Willard Maxwell, who told us about their trip to Eber Oberatine, near Frankfurt, Germany, where their son-in-law and daughter are stationed. With this town as a headquarters, they made side trips all over Europe. Judging from their slide pictures, it must have been a wonderful trip. At a sidewalk cafe in Venice, Cokes are 80 cents, but Will says they are worth it because you can sit there and rest your weary feet as long as you can make that Coke last, and in the meantime you can watch the kids, the pigeons, the natives, and the tourists. I especially liked their pictures along the Rhine River, showing the high bluffs, the boat, the many castles, the vineyards, etc. I was surprised that after flying across the Atlantic and crossing the Alps by way of the Brenner Pass, they took just one look at the cable car to the top of a mountain and decided that it didn't look safe.

President Howard Timmerman handed out sheets listing the committees for the ice cream social to be held at the Conservation Club July 25.

EHS Record 4-1 In League Play

by Steve Grill, Eastside coach

The Eastside Blazers baseball team currently sports a 4-1 record in the Allen Area Summer Baseball League. They overcame a four-run deficit in the final two innings to defeat Norwell 7-5 last Thursday. The Blazers had previously defeated Adams Central, Churubusco, and Woodlan in the league, and sport an overall record of 8 wins and 8 losses for the 1970 season.

To overcome the 5-1 Norwell lead, Eastside produced three runs in the sixth inning on singles by Charlie Ross and Dave Miller, an error, and a pinch-hit triple by Kevin Campbell. The Blazers tied the score in the last inning with a triple by Kent Rosenbury and a sacrifice bunt by Dale Curry, and tallied two more runs on hits by Ross and Vic Dermott and an error.

Charlies Ross pitched the complete game for the Blazers, allowing five hits and striking out eight to advance his record to 5-1, tops on the team.

Through the first four games, Bob Holtzberg led the hitting attack with a .372 average, followed by Ross at .333 and Curry at .306.

The Blazers suffered their first loss of 1970 Monday at the Riverdale diamond, losing to league-leading Carroll 7-2.

Remaining schedule:
July 2: at Leo 7:30 p.m.
July 6: at Southern Wells 6 p.m.
July 9: Heritage at St. Joe 6 p.m.
July 11: four-team invitational tournament at Heritage
July 16: league playoffs

Capp-Rosenberry

Miss Jean Rosenberry, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor.

Miss Janet Capp, Butler, the groom's sister, and Miss Nila Shockley of Saint Joe, served as bridesmaids.

Richard Grogg, the groom's cousin, served as best man.

Tom Rosenberry, the bride's brother, and David Myers of Fort Wayne were groomsmen. Ushers were Jay Jacobs, Fort Wayne; Dick Lane, Hamilton; Dick Waymire, Pleasant Lake; Rick Himes, Rick Fuller, and Dennis Robbins, all of Butler.

Miss Joan Bonanno, Detroit, Michigan, was flower girl.

Mrs. Richard Metcalf provided ceremonial music.

Miss Christine Fuller, Miss Dalene Armstrong, and Miss Teresa Bellamy, all of Butler, served at the reception. Miss Shelli Ackerman of Hamilton registered guests. Miss Cindy West and Miss Tami Ackerman received gifts. Following a wedding trip to Sandusky, Ohio, the couple will reside in Indianapolis. They are both graduates of Eastside High School.

The Spirit of '70

People sometimes make cynical remarks about flag-waving. But it sure beats flag-burning.

Our belief in this nation is something far deeper than mere patriotism. It is the expression of honor and respect for the institutions and blessings we possess as Americans.

One of these institutions is a church independent of state control. One of these blessings is the right to worship according to the dictates of conscience.

Of course, there are some earnest, well-meaning people who don't give a nickel for the Church — or to it either. Even their right not to worship is equally guaranteed by our Constitution!

That kind of freedom is hard to come by. It was hard to come by in 1776. And, in our opinion, it is best understood and most firmly preserved by those who thank God for it.

Ayers asked that church bells toll at exactly 11:00 a.m. on the holiday, commemorating the birth of the nation. "We hope that, with the tolling of the bells, Hoosiers will recall the ringing of the Liberty Bell which proclaimed America's independence," the Legion Commander stated.

50-Plus Club Has Big Turnout

"And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days."

Ah, but this was an evening of that exceptional variety, enjoyed by the 50-Plus Club which met at the Kado-Lato Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart, who were host and hostess for the June get-together.

The tables were set in the assembly room of the barn, each table being decorated with a floating bouquet of garden flowers, and planned to seat from four to six guests.

The food table was filled with dishes of delicious concoctions from hot noodles to cool salads and all varieties of victuals in between. There was also a plentiful supply of hot coffee and tea.

After the food had somehow become depleted, the president, Mrs. Frank Amstuts, conducted a short business meeting, accepting the secretary's report as read. She then turned the meeting over to the entertainment committee. The guests were assembled in the Gourd Showroom, where they were instructed and entertained by a talk on kinds and uses of gourds. The talk was ably given by Mrs. Lohr Wilder, who told the members that she tells the same facts to the groups of school children who come to Kado-Lato Farm for a field day early in the season.

After the gourd show, the group took seats on the wagons for the trip to Turtle Hill. Mr. Karl Hart, who drove the tractor, made several stops on the way and explained facts about the sassafras grove, the old stockade, the pine trees, the tulip trees, and several others. He even sang a couple of rollicking Irish songs for the fun of it.

On returning to the barn, several took a walk to the shoe by way of the narrow covered bridge, and returned by way of the rustic bridge to the barn, where more hot coffee and snacks were waiting for anyone who cared to indulge.

All sat around visiting for quite some time on this beautiful evening, but finally it was time to start for home. Everyone present enjoyed the delicious pot luck supper, the entertainment, and the fine fellowship, as this was the biggest crowd to attend so far. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amstuts, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baumgartner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Laux, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bottom, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sink, Mr. and Mrs. Auber Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Lohr Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart; Mrs. Helen Lohse, Mrs. Sylvia Gunther, Mrs. Riva Hoover, Mrs. Ida Hilker, Mrs. Marvel Kesler, Mrs. Audrey Wade, Mrs. Frances Chapman, Mrs. Ruby Kraft, Mrs. Bina McKay, Mrs. Gaylon Markle, Mrs. Ida Reed, and Mrs. Garnet Furnish.

Letters to the Editor

June 30, 1970

Dear Ted,

I am now at Da Nang air field, Republic of Vietnam. I will start to work tomorrow, and will be glad of that. It's not too bad over here, very little action going on. The last time Da Nang was hit was over 2 weeks ago, and it was light damage to the runway.

As in Okinawa, I will be working in the Crash Rescue Station on the air field. Layman talk is the same as a fireman. We like to add a little color into the same. We will work 24 hours on duty, then 24 hours off duty. And from what the rest of the guys say, it is "no sleep" on duty.

Da Nang is considered the busiest air field in the world. All four branches of the service are here, and all types of aircraft. In all, about 70,000 troops are on and around the base.

So far in the short time I've been here, it has been hot, real hot. It will be worse next month. (I can hardly wait.) The barracks isn't too bad, better than I expected. The food is oh.

I finally made the promotion to E-4, Sgt. in the Air Force. I will be going over 2 years active duty on the 25th of July. That is about all for now.

My new address is:

Sgt. Dan R. Crow
366 Cos. F. D. Dr. 47
APO San Francisco, Cal. 96237

Sincerely yours,
Dan R. Crow

P.S. Please say hello to the Crow's Nest for me. I send my love to all.

Dog Control Program Boosted

The local town board is taking further steps to strengthen the dog control program in the town of Saint Joe. With more time required to effectively carry out the program than is generally understood and appreciated, the board has increased expense allowance to cover care and disposal of dogs by Roger Schlegel, who has been serving as dog warden for the community.

Criticism has been levelled in the past because someone has seen a dog or dogs wandering loose and perhaps their own pet has been picked up. It has been apparent that some local citizens take advantage of the local dog warden's absence while he is at work to let their pets run loose. Others pick late night hours to let their dogs out. The fact that trash cans are upset Thursday night or early Friday morning just before the local trash pickup indicates the presence of loose dogs. Two such instances of upset trash cans were evident just last Friday on the main street.

There has been misunderstanding about the regulations governing the pickup of dogs. The dog warden is required to post a notice on the door of the town hall when he has picked up a dog. The owner has three days to claim the dog. If the dog is not claimed, it is taken to the Fort Wayne Humane Shelter for disposal.

The owner is required to pay a $3.00 fine to the clerk-treasurer, for the first offense, before the dog warden can release the pet to the owner. Any time the same pet is picked up thereafter, the fine is raised to $5.00 for each pickup.

The entire ordinance covering the control of stray dogs in Saint Joe is presented herewith. It is suggested that the ordinance be clipped from the paper and saved for reference.

"ORDINANCE NO. 34

"An ordinance defining the rights and duties of the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, with regard to stray and unattended dogs, and prescribing methods and means of handling said stray and unattended dogs within said town.

"Be it ordained by the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, as follows:

"Section 1. From and after the date of the passage of this ordinance, whenever the properly appointed officer shall find a dog of any kind roaming over the streets, alleys, or sidewalks of said town, or roaming over the property of any person not the owner of said dog, the said officer or his duly qualified agents or deputies shall have the right to and it shall be their duty to pick up and hold said dog and securely keep him or her as the case may be in a suitable box, kennel or place for the period of three days.

"After such roaming dog has been placed in said kennel, or box or other place for the keeping of such dogs, and within twelve (12) hours, a notice of the taking up of such dog shall be posted at the door of the Town Hall in the town of Saint Joe, Indiana, which notice shall reasonably describe such dog, when picked up, and when said dog will be disposed of if not taken up by its owner as hereinafter provided.

"If, during the said three day period as hereinabove set out, the rightful owner of such dog shall make request of said duly appointed officer charged with the enforcement of the ordinance, for the return of such dog so picked up, and shall pay to the Clerk-Treasurer of said Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, the sum of $3.00 for the first such taking up, then such officer shall deliver said dog to its rightful owner.

"If the same dog is picked up on a second occasion or more occasions, then the rightful owner or claimant shall pay the sum of $5.00 for each taking up of said dog after the first such taking up by the duly appointed officer.

"Section 2. In the event any dog found roaming the streets, alleys or sidewalks or any other place owned by any person other than the rightful owner of such dog, in the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall not be called for and claimed by its rightful owner as hereinabove set forth in Section 1 hereof, then the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall have the right to and it shall be his duty to dispose of such dog in any humane manner, proper and expedient, and the owner or claimant of such dog or dogs shall have no further rights in or to said dog or dogs, and the manner or method of disposition of such dogs shall be entirely at the discretion of the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and the expense incurred thereby shall be paid to said officer or his deputy and-or agent by the Clerk-Treasurer out of the General Fund of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana.

"Section 3. It is hereby expressly ordained that the purpose of this ordinance is to eliminate the running at large of dogs within the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and more particularly to protect the lives of the citizens of said town and the private property within the town. This ordinance shall be carried out to that end and with as little expense to all parties concerned as possible.

"Section 4. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

"This ordinance passed and adopted by the Town Board of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, at their regular meeting the 7th day of November, 1960.

Blazers Now 5-2

The Eastside High School Baseball team won an extra-inning contest at Southern Wells Monday night, their ninth victory in 18 games so far this summer. Doug Petters scored the winning run in the 9th inning for a 4-3 decision in a non league game. Dave Miller started on the mound for the Blazers, going 6 1/3 innings and allowing three unearned runs on two hits. Bob Holtzberg and Dale Curry relieved in the seventh, with Curry finishing up and receiving the victory for a 2-1 record.

The Blazers' record in the Allen Area Summer League stands at 5-2, having lost to both Carroll and Leo in league contests last week. The Blazers are in third place behind Carroll and Leo. The final league game for Eastside is slated for Thursday, July 9, at Saint Joe. Their opponents will be 4th-place Heritage in a game starting at 6:00 p.m. A tournament involving the top four teams in the league's final standings will be conducted next week.

FBI Director Expresses Concern For Public Safety

by J. Edgar Hoover, Director Federal Bureau of Investigation

There is something distressing about free people having to restrict and alter their daily pursuits and activities because of brazen criminals.

Is it right that bus passengers in many metropolitan areas must always have the exact fare because busdrivers cannot carry money to make change without being robbed? Is it right that motorists in some cities must buy gasoline in amounts for which they have exact money, or use credit cards, to keep station attendants from being held up by thugs? Is it right that downtown merchants in some areas should lose their customers, and perhaps their businesses, because citizens are afraid to venture into crime-infested streets?

Let us face it. Are we, as a free society under the rule of law, shaping our own destiny, or are we being pushed and boxed in by those who defy the law and have no respect for the rights of others?

The truth of the matter is that more and more of our Nation's total energy and effort is needed to protect people against crime. For instance, more theft-prevention devices are being installed in new automobiles. More homes are being equipped with bigger and more complex door locks. Banks are taking action to reduce the amount of cash exposed to bank robbers. In some cities, police patrol school corridors and grounds to keep troublemakers from disrupting classes and assaulting students. The list goes on and on. We are attempting, in effect, to erect a protective barrier between society and the criminal. However, history dating back to Biblical times teaches us that high walls as such do not necessarily provide sanctuary. If we are to find relief from crime, we have to shore up our legal walls to prevent lawbreakers from slipping back and forth through loopholes to prey on the public and then hide behind legal sanctions to avoid just and adequate punishment. If we are to contain the spiraling crime rate and bring a higher degree of security back to the law-abiding citizens, then we must make justice swift and certain. In spite of what some courts and legal theorists may proclaim, justice is all-inclusive; it means justice for the victims and the public as well as for the accused.

Soon, we will have to stop granting concessions to marauding criminals and stop reshaping our lives to conditions thrust upon us by excessive crime. I am fully convinced that one of the most effective moves we could make to combat crime in the 1970s would be to speed up and improve our judicial processes so that the time element between a criminal violation and its disposition in court is sharply reduced. The old truism notwithstanding, it would appear that not all criminals and their attorneys today believe that "justice delayed" is "justice denied."

Let us stop reacting aimlessly to the pressing demands of the lawless. Rather, let us start applying the legal remedies and safeguards of the law which is meant to penalize those who break it, not those who abide by it.

Extensive Reforms Sought For Mental Health Program

Broad changes will take place in dealing with mental health in the state, if the recommendations of a Blue ribbon committee are translated into law.

The Legislation and State Relations Committee of the Mental Health Association, in hearings co-chaired by Matthew E. Welsh and Richard O. Ristine, has drawn up a long list of remedial and innovative goals to be presented to legislators of the 1961 session of the Indiana General Assembly.

Of paramount importance will be legislation to establish the principle that the State of Indiana should provide the deficit financing for all Community Comprehensive Mental Health Centers and provide a method by which counties may qualify for state funds.

It was also emphasized that the continuity of financing of the Centers' program must be established as soon as possible.

Mr. Welsh, a former Indiana governor, stated, "There is much that is good about Indiana's regard for its mental patients. We are one of the more enlightened states. However, we need to do some updating of ancient statutes that are badly in need of revision in the light of medical progress. Many of our earlier laws designed to help now only hinder." Mr. Welsh cited some of the corrective measures which the Association desires. These include:

repeal of an 1887 law that requires Port Wayne State Hospital and Training Center to carry fire insurance, since other and similar institutions are insured by the state itself at considerable savings; repeal of an 1875 law requiring separate Men's and Women's Departments. A department is defined as a "building," so the two sexes cannot occupy the same residence, regardless of how large or properly built it is;

permit removal of AWOLs from hospital rolls instead of carrying them indefinitely; exempt clinics from having to pay income tax on fees;

permit transfer of prisoners from the Department of Correction to any state hospital, rather than just the Norman M. Beatty Memorial Hospital.

In all, there are 13 changes being urged, all of which revise or supercede existing but anachronistic legislation.

Richard O. Ristine, a former Indiana lieutenant governor, supported Welsh's praise for the overall state program.

"It is a good one," said Mr. Ristine, "and well intentioned. We just think it has some deficiencies that demand new legislation." Ristine listed some proposals which are entirely new and based on the best present day thinking. Among them are removing public intoxication from the criminal code. "Drunk conduct" per se should not be regarded as a criminal act.

financing care of persons determined to be in need of immediate hospitalization, but for whom beds are not available;

providing a single non-reverting operating and construction fund for all mental health and mental retardation community service instead of drawing to draw from a variety of them;

providing for reorganization of the administrative structure of the Department of Mental Health and a reclassification of salary schedules of hospital employees.

Mr. Welsh added, "We are a private body supported by the people of Indiana and what we recommend is, of course, only a recommendation to the legislature. But we know the men and women of the General Assembly are acutely aware that things are not as they should be. We anticipate their help."

Mr. Ristine said that a big problem would be the matter of communication. "We have done a lot of huddling with the experts in drawing up these items, but the real labor will be in getting them to every senator and every representative. We will have to depend on a great many good citizens to get the word out."

New Port Facts

Joseph N. Thomas, chairman of the Indiana Port Commission, has announced that the Port of Indiana will have the first complete sanitary waste disposal system on the Great Lakes. This new facility will be able to handle all types of waste from ships, including bilge water and water from ballast tanks.

It is anticipated that the fed-

GEARS and GADGETS

One thing remains individual. There's no "dial-a-matic" gadget for God, no pushbutton gimmick. Man's search for meaning in his life is still his own responsibility.

When man only dreamed of flying and the fastest way to travel was by horseback, God's Church was the source of all goodness and joy. It's no different today: In a world where man races for the stars, the Church remains the well-spring of truth.

Attend your church and find faith and the good life.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday night in a lengthy session lasting until 12:20 a.m. Present were board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake, and Ted Haberkorn, and clerk-treasurer Emma Frank, who has replaced Donald Kinsey following the latter's recent resignation. Richard Musser attended a portion of the session.

It was reported that a water hook-up problem on Hart Street had been resolved in recent weeks. Lynn Lake volunteered to inspect a sickle bar mower for possible purchase for use in keeping weeds and grass mowed in areas which cannot be reached by the rotary mower now in use on the town tractor. Coverage for liability was noted for the old fire truck now used in the mosquito control program.

Discussion was held on possible street work, the board noting that any curbing and paving of Widney Avenue should be preceded by installation of adequate surface drainage facilities. Estimates of such work are to be obtained for future consideration by the board.

The contract for trash removal will expire at the end of February of 1971, and the board discussed the need for advertising for bids in order to make proper appropriation on the 1971 budget for the town.

The board gave consideration to a request from Roger Schlegel, local dog warden, for an adjustment in fees paid to him for dog care and disposal. It was noted that the current budget limits to some extent any immediate increase the board might wish to make in response to the request, but it did provide for some increase in dog warden remunerations during later discussion of the proposed 1971 budget.

A request for an increase from $120 to $180 per year for rental of equipment storage facilities was granted by the board.

In discussing the needs for the town and the budget, the board is considering the purchase of a street sweeper and a dump truck. The possibility of tree trimming was also given serious consideration as figures were recorded for budget consideration.

The board will meet in special session next Tuesday evening to give further consideration to the 1971 budget. The public is invited to attend.

Bills allowed were as follows: Town — Phil Butler, attorney fee six months $100.00; Roger Schlegel, dog warden transportation, salary and supplies three months 93.06; Donald Kinsey, clerk salary two months 50.00; Donald Kinsey, clerk cemetery two months 25.00; Mrs. Mario G. 80-Year-Old Former Peace Corps Volunteer Seeks New Service

Clarence Pickard, 80, is retired at his Indianola, Iowa home. But the former aviator, farmer, county agent and college professor who returned just 18 months ago from Peace Corps service in Bulandshahr, India, says he is looking for new ways to serve mankind. Pickard and his wife, Mildred, 78, now spend much of their time giving talks and showing slides depicting their life as Peace Corps Volunteers. In India, the Pickards lived in one room which at one time was shared by 36 baby chicks. The Indians have great respect for age, which Pickard found helped him with his Peace Corps work. Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford says the Corps is now seeking many skilled farmers and craftsmen.

WITH THE EDITOR

Concord Township trustee Dick Crow made an offhand remark last week, when we were talking about dog problems, that some folks "forgot to pay their dog tag fees at assessment time. It's up to the dog owner to declare the ownership of a dog and pay the appropriate fee. It costs $1 for a male dog, $3 for a female and $5 for each additional dog when purchasing a dog tag.

A note from Superintendent Kenneth Cole points out that Eastside's new varsity football coach and full-time industrial arts teacher is John Conley, a native of Indianapolis. He graduated from Shortridge High School in 1961 and from Ball State in 1965, participating extensively in sports. He served as assistant freshman football coach at Ball State.

He has been drafting instructor at Rushville Consolidated High School since 1965, also serving as assistant football coach four years, varsity baseball two years and varsity wrestling four years. He organized the wrestling program while at Rushville.

Married to the former Cheryl Warner of Howe, the new coach and his wife have two daughters, Lynn Ann 5 and Beth Ellen 3.

Somebody in the last two weeks made a remark about the hazards of youngsters and their bicycle riding, and I agree. Too many young bike riders have either forgotten or haven't been told basic rules of riding safety and I include our Number Four son in the forgetters. He and his buddies are guilty of center-street and wrong-side riding in their escapades. It means trouble, one of these days.

One of the most flagrant violations by older bike riders is riding two or more abreast even when they see autos coming from the front or rear. Bicycles may have some rights on the highways and streets, but bicycles still have the primary responsibility to look out for and make room for automobile traffic, not the other way around.

The defiant and smart-aleck bike riders don't seem to realize that in trying to declare their "rights" they are playing around with their own lives.

Ray and Huldah Reasoner celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary June 28. They got their picture in the county daily for the occasion, when Mrs. Reasoner was in Glen Oaks Rest Home at Auburn. She has been in ill health in recent months.

When most of us are ready to give up, if we make it to our 80's as Ray and Huldah have, these two have kept on living and enjoying it. Until the Mrs. was struck by her recent illness and forced to become a bed patient, the two were steady and faithful Sunday School and church attenders. They have amazed me for years. There definitely is a shining example of love and devotion in their marriage.

Leon Kees brought in an old clipping from back in 1914, noting the market quotations and how low they were. Detroit had best steers and heifers, $8 to $8.25; 1,000 to 1,200 lbs., $7.50 to $7.75; and hogs all grades at $8.60.

Leon also mentioned that Tuesday of this week, July 14, was an anniversary for him — as well as being my birthday.

On July 14, 1918, the Rainbow Division, allied with French forces in World War II, was attacked by 27 divisions of the German army, with 37,000 men in each division. Leon says his outfit was outnumbered better than 3 to 1, but after three days of fierce combat, the American forces "broke the back" of the German attack.

—No, I wasn't born in 1918.

The McKowns of Hamburg were cleaning house recently and came across issues of this paper dated March 14, April 18 and July 4, 1940, as well as sections of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette from April 14 and July 28, 1940.

What struck me in the Saint Joe News was the information that the per capita debt of the United States was then $327.62; now it's about $2,000. Prosperity!!!?

I also noted reassuringly that I'm not the only "dirty old man" smalltown editor who particularly picks out filler material with pictures of pretty girls to liven those pages. Old Fred Leighty did the same thing in his editing days. Two of those 1940 issues had the good-lookers represented in print, one showing how to use a bath towel, the other a picture of 1940 summer women's sportswear, a two-piece halter and miniskirt outfit—only in those days we didn't call them miniskirts.

—As Dad wisely informed me years ago, there's really nothing new!

From the Fort Wayne papers, there came familiar sports names. Detroit was leading the American League; who wouldn't with these names in the lineup: Gehringer, Greenberg, York, Higgins, Kress, Tebbetts.

And in the National League, the Reds were leading the league, 9 games ahead of Brooklyn. The Cubs were fourth, 15 games out, and their big slugger in those days was Bill "Swish" Nicholson. They also had another slugger, Hank Leiber, who stood about 6.5 and must have weighed 240 or so. When he stood next to the Cubs' utility outfielder, Dominic Dallesandro, who was only about 5.2, it was like Mutt and Jeff. But little Dominic could put one out of the park on occasion, too.

So, the McKowns brought the editor some pleasant reminiscing.

As many people have noted, it's all off my beard, I mean.

There were varied reactions to my beard, including the little woman's "ugh." Since the ladies are the most important part of my life, I paid particular attention to their comments, which seemed to be divided about 50-50.

The don't-like-it group included also Laura Burley and Victoria Means who expressed mutual feelings that I looked better without whiskers, Eva Clauser who backed up Esther's "ugh", Marie Meese who said I shouldn't cover up my good looks, my mother who just shook her head, and others.

On the plus side was Ann Bollier, my daughter-in-law's mother who said I looked five years younger with a beard (Mark said he thought I loked younger, too), Carol Brown who said she likes men with beards—or was it she likes beards on men? —and another gorgeous and intelligent woman who will remain unidentified to avoid embarrassment. She said my beard was sexy!

Dozens have asked why I shaved it off, and my answer has been the same every time: I got lonesome.

Large Group Attends Swim Class

Some 70-plus boys and girls from the Riverdale area took advantage of the swimming lessons at the Auburn Community Pool for two weeks, under the summer recreation program for this community sponsored by the Saint Joe Lions Club. Forrest Bevington is director.

The group was transported by bus for two weeks of swimming instruction each weekday morning. Those leading the classes included Mrs. Mildred Fleck, swimming coach of the Auburn Swimming Club; Debbie Fleck, daughter of Mrs. Fleck and an accomplished swimmer; Larry Rittenhouse, manager of the Auburn pool; John Hood, assistant manager of the pool; Pam Andres; Ed Walsh; and Lori Raub.

The Riverdale group was divided according to swimming accomplishments and capabilities, starting with those who had never had their faces wet on up to those who became intermediate swimmers with both surface and underwater achievements.

The Auburn pool is a spacious installation, serving hundreds of residents of this area as they find an opportunity for a refreshing interlude on the hot days of summer.

Mrs. Mildred Fleck leads the beginners in their first encounter with water, learning to overcome any fear of water or a wet face.

Two sections of advanced beginners, one in the foreground and the other in the background, go through their paces. John Hood's group is seen in the foreground. Debbie Fleck is in the center background but, unfortunately, too distant for readers to appreciate her class.

Pam Andres in center background leads another group whose abilities were tested in across-pool swimming attempts.

Larry Rittenhouse, pool manager, and his group of intermediate swimmers were in the process of individual efforts to retrieve objects at the bottom of the pool in deep water.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

This is not sent for the purpose of publication in your newspaper, but to express my appreciation for the editorial "Have We Lost Something" featured on the front page of your issue of July 2 of The News.

To date we have never met, although your father and myson associated as fellow "barbershop" members and met year after year in meetings at Fort Wayne and Defiance. I hope some day we, too, shall clasp hands as fellows in the newspaper business. Such expressions that came from the "Editor's Desk" cannot help to stir an old man's memory, but answers a critical question as to whether we as a nation are failing to foster the manner of celebrations known for the Fourth of July at St. Joe and this Ohio town in which I now reside.

"No Fourth of July Celebration" would have been the fitting headline across both the St. Joe News you publish and the Crescent-News which I published for forty years. Have all peoples forgotten the holiday celebrations that stirred old and young in memory as well as joy, recalling that our forefathers with courage and devotion heralded the proclamation of this country should by right be Independent?

Stifling the old time celebrations we knew on account of the parades, firecrackers, fireworks, and other events of the 19th and 20th centuries has perhaps left open with modern conveyance travel convenience that piles up multiple deaths in our nation far exceeding any caused by old-time celebration on Independence Day.

I do not know when St. Joe had its last full-blown celebration with parade, contests, fire cracker noise, waving of Stars and Stripes, marching band, and glow of fireworks as darkness fell; but to my knowledge last July Fourth was the first that Defiance was completely void of any governmental acknowledgement of Independence Day. Despite the fact that on its river bank was a fort built to assist in freeing land for homes that she and others that spread around this old town. It was once a patriotic place in which to assemble a crowd bent on remembering that a Declaration was made on July Fourth, 1776. "Have We Really Lost Something?"

Dear Friend Ted, you may think sometimes that few people read the paper produced each week by our labors, but be assured that no issue ever goes over my desk until I have read the "old homenewspaper." I am proud that one of my craft can produce such a paper with the limited income that may accrue. Congratulations!

President Nixon - Scapegoat

It has long been the fate of the Republican Party to be accused of ill-fated administrative efforts at the national level which have really been the result of their Democratic oppenents. There seems to be a reluctance on the part of the public to examine the record closely to determine who is or is not telling the truth, or as close to the truth as is possible. Democrats have long cashed in on their accusations against Republicans, unfounded as such accusations may be or untrue as they may be. They are past masters at the art of decption.

President Rchard M. Nixon is suffering from this condition at the present time, in connection with the Congress's efforts to limit presidential powers in the use of military force. I am not a war hawk; I moaned, too, when the Cambodian venture was announced. I am sick of the military involvement which this nation has undertaken for many years now, but I also recognize the need for absolute authority under certain circumstances, starting at a certain point, or we cannot do anything but lose.

The current effort to stifle presidential authority in foreign matters has been a long time coming; it should have been done years ago. Mr. Nixon is now bearing the brunt of hostile public opinion, in the matter of presidential military power, because the public has finally become fed up with foreign involvements which they do not understand. And it is not always certain that the "experts" know exactly what is going on, either. But as matters stand now, Mr. Nixon is the scapegoat for the usurping of power exercised by former presidents Franklin D Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon B. Johnson. He is in a position much like that of Herbert Hoover, who was the scapegoat for the depression of the 1930s for quite some time, before time and the recording of history showed that he inherited conditions which could not be changed. Democrats at the time unfairly made Mr. Hoover responsible for a bad economic development, and Republicans suffered.

In military involvements and commitments, many people seem to have forgotten the famous "Big Three' conference of Roosevelt days. Secrecy prevailed as to just what the American people were obligated to through the efforts of just one man, the President. It was years before those commitments ever were known; there may still be commitments which are comparatively unknown, all because one man exercised more authority than he was entitled to—but no one said anything (except certain Republicans and a few Democrats). After all, Mr. Roosevelt was the champion of "the common man;" he could do no wrong.

President Truman obligated this country militarily while he was in office. President Kennedy was responsible for the "Bay of Pigs" invasion of Cuba, but that effort was aborted at the last moment, leaving some participants high and dry, without defense or support. President Johnson contiaued enlarging on our commitments before Americans finally got fed up.

It would be foolish to say that Republicans never make mistakes; it just isn't so. However, it is true that the mistakes made in our national affairs, leading finally to public clamor for reform or change, have come when a Democrat has exercised more power than has been given to the office; when a Democrat has assumed superior judgment to the point of ignoring the elected representatives of the people of the United States.

I think it is a good thing that the relative powers of the Congress and the President are being examined and even questioned. This is the opportunity to redefine areas of responsibility and privilege in order to void the possibility of one man's decision binding the nation just upon his stepping in and taking over.

In the meantime, it should be remembered that President Nixon has not exercised more authority than has been exercised in the past by Democrat presidents. And if there is any criticism to be made, it should be directed toward the proper parties in the past, the Democrat presidents who set a bad example by taking upon themselves more power than was theirs to take.

Water Control Proposal Too Stiff

-by C. Stahl in 'Hoosier Farmer'

Several proposed changes in Indiana water pollution control regulations pending before the Indiana Stream Pollution Board could, if adopted, have damaging effect on Hoosier agriculture—our biggest business.

The changes in regulations and standards of water quality are proposed in response to pressure from the U. S. Secretary of the Interior, probably as a result of the upsurge of emotion over pollution.

While some of the changes are commonsense improvements in the regulations, others are vague and unreasonable, and could place a farmer in an impossible position, as far as compliance is concerned in the years ahead.

In a hearing on the proposed regulations in Indianapolis May 6, Farm Bureau officials told the Stream Pollution Control Board it supports several of the changes, but opposed inclusion of agriculture in proposed new regulation SPC 11.

This regulation provides for monthly reports to the Stream Pollution Control Board on flow measurements and effluent characteristics of "Every person, firm or corporation that operates and industrial waste treatment plant or discharges wastewaters into the waters of the State of Indiana." For the purpose of this regulation "wastewater" is defined as the liquid and water-carried wastes from an industry, commercial establishment or agricultural source.

"Sampling, measurement of flow and characteristics of the effluent shall be performed at a frequency prescribed by the Technical Secretary of the Stream Pollution Control Board . . . etc.," the proposed regulation continues.

Farm Bureau believes that the proposed regulation is much too broad, and that it will be impractical for the board to enforce. It would require sampling, measurements of flow and characteristics of the effluent that most "agricultural" sources could not possibly achieve.

The proposal fails to recognize that very little wastewater from agricultural sources is discharged directly through a sewer or a channel into a stream or lake. The "effluent" thus cannot be sampled, measured or characterized.

The majority of Indiana livestock is not fed under confined conditions, and the proposed regulation does not exempt field crops, vegetables or fruit production. An "agricultural" source could, and does, include all outdoors.

"Wastes" are not defined or limited. Even well-conserved tree farms, for example, will contribute sediment and leaves to a stream each time it rains.

Prime objective of this regulation should be to bring operators of industrial and commercial waste treatment plants under the same requirements in regard to reporting as have been in effect for operators of municipal waste treatment plants for many years. "Industrial" and "commercial" sources should be accurately defined. Wastewaters to be measured should be channeled or sewered, and the word "wastes" needs to be given a biological and chemical definition.

The words "or agricultural sources" should be taken out of the regulation, or the Stream Pollution Control Board could be forcing every Indiana Farmer to become a certified wastewater treatment plant operator, licensed under the provisions of State Law. This seems impractical and unenforceable.

Indiana farmers are as interested as anyone in holding stream pollution to a minimum, but holding them responsible for all pollution except that which runs through sewers is going too far.

Sometime in the future, farmers may be subject to legal limitation of concentration of livestock on land, mandatory conservation practices to prevent heavy water runoff, zoning against fertilizer and pesticide use, etc., but arbitrary and ambiguous regulations like those being proposed right now, passed hastily in an atmosphere of unreasonable public emotion, can do irreparable damage to Indiana's biggest industry—agriculture.

Person To Person

(by Norman Ritenour, editor, "Universal News," a publication of Universal Tool & Stamping Co., Inc., Butler, Indiana.)

With all of the turmoil in the labor market these days, maybe it's time we took a look at our own record here at Universal.

Universal Tool and Stamping has had a remarkable history of good relations with its employees. In fact, the relationship has been a shining example of what people "working together" can actually achieve.

At Universal, there has been only one major layoff since 1958 and this was for just a short period of time. There has been a minimum of work stoppage. Employees, through their Athletic Association, in the beginning and then through their Universal Employees Union, have been able to sit down with management and work out problems and objectives to the satisfaction of both parties.

THIS IS GREAT. This is the way that democracy should work. Only through the common sense application of goals and fairness to all can a company or a country become great. We have been fortunate enough to have both ingredients.

Wars develop mainly from an outside force of nation trying to impose their will on someone that doesn't want them. Universal has come a long way down the pike with our own people doing "their own thing." Let's keep it that way.

'Old Pro' Still Takes Hefty Cut

While there are many youngerchurch members participating in the Saint Joe Church League this summer, as in many past summers, there are still some of the "old pros" showing how it's done. Last week Bill Butler took one of his usual hefty and powerful swings for the Saint Joe-Newville Church of Christ team, as shown above. He got good wood on the ball, driving it to the fence in left field, but it was caught just before going over.

Picking To Start

Frank Sechler has announced that the pickle firm will hire boys and girls this summer for picking pickles. Workers must be at least 10 and not over 15 years of age.

Work is tentatively set to begin next Monday, July 20, subject to weather conditions. Location will be the Annis Butler farm, located approximately one mile southwest of Spencerville on State Road 1.

Workers should be in the field ready to go to work at 8:00 a.m. Generally, work will stop at noon with a slight extra time allowed to finish a row or hamper if desired.

Additional information can be obtained at the pickle office or from Rev. Russell Snyder or Mrs. Robert Chew.

Charles Strebig

Charles Strebig, 62, an industrial engineer of Rt. 1, Spencerville, died Tuesday, July 7, at 10:15 p.m. in Parkview Hospital, Fort Wayne, where he had been a patient for two days.

Mr. Strebig was a member of Local 103, International Construction Engineers.

Surviving are his wife, Doris; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Betz, Harlan; and a son, Lee, at home.

Services were conducted Friday at 10:30 a.m. in the Baidinger and Walter Funeral Home, Spencerville. Burial followed in White City Cemetery, Spencerville.

Blazers Now 5-3

The Eastside Blazers, coached by Steve Grill, dropped a 12-9 game to Heritage High School Monday evening at the Riverdale diamond. The loss made the Blazers' record 5-3 in the Allen County Area Summer League, and they are now in fourth place.

In Monday's game, Bob Holtsberg started on the mound and was relieved by Charlie Ross in the third inning. Doug Fetters completed the battery as catcher.

Ross had three hits, including a 2-run homer, for Eastside. Dale Curry, Kevin Campbell, and Dave Miller each had two hits.

The Blazers face Leo at Leo Thursday of this week at 7:30 p.m. in a play-off game. Heritage and Carroll play at Carroll, also on Thursday, before the winners of both games meet Saturday in the championship game.

Bake Sale

Members of Cadet Girl Scout Troop 192 are currently raising money to finance a trip to Cedar Point, Ohio, for the entire troop.

To add to their funds, the troop will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, July 25, starting at 9:00 a.m.

The sale will be held at the News Office in Saint Joe.

Mike Sebert of Butler stopped in at the News Office recently to say that he is on leave before going on Air Force overseas duty. He expressed appreciation for The Saint Joe News, sent to him as well as any other servicemen who want to receive the paper free of charge while they are in military service other than career duty.

Inducted into service this week were Steven Watson and Larry Warstler.

Cadets Tim Grogg and Terry Hornbacker of Auburn are receiving six weeks' practical application in military leadership at the Army ROTC advanced summer camp at Fort Riley, Kansas, June 13 to July 24. Both will train as small unit leaders and instructors in realistic exercises, and will receive command experience and the opportunity to apply classroom knowledge in the field.

Grogg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Grogg of Rt. 1, Auburn, and is a 1970 graduate of Indiana University at Bloomington. Hornbacker is majoring in political science at Indiana University and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. V. Hornbacker.

Report On Summer School

by Robert Pleunik, Principal
Butler Elementary School

The Title I summer school remedial reading and arithmetic program is just a little more than half way complete, and the boys and girls from the Riverdale area are just as enthusiastic over the fun and enjoyment of the learning situations as they were when the program began June 9.

Pupils from grades one through eight take advantage of the opportunities provided through new programs and equipment to improve their skills. Not only do the students learn new methods and skills, so do the teachers.

The newest aspect of the summer session is the implementation of a highly individualized reading and arithmetic program whereby the learner proceeds at his own rate with only minimal help from the teacher or aide. The new reading and arithmetic program is on magnetic tape. Students listen to the tape on a recorder through earphones to "tailor-made" lessons, which were determined by the teacher through a diagnostic test administered at the beginning of the session in early June. The teacher evaluated the test and prescribed remediation, beginning with the areas in which the student was found to be weakest.

Pupils and teachers, along with the aides, enjoy working with the program. Although some of the instruction during the session is given on a small group basis by the teacher or aide, most of the learning takes place through the individualization of the program.

Hopefully, the student will raise his grade level of achievement in both reading and arithmetic by one month or more over the 40-day program.

An Electromode* add-on air conditioner will turn almost any forced-air furnace into a central air conditioning system. Without tearing up the present duct system.

It's a lot more pleasant than cooling your house with window units that mess up the view and make noise.

And usually, it costs less to buy than several room air conditioners. (One Compressor is a lot less machinery, so it also costs less to run.)

Besides, central air conditioning adds to the market value of your house, so it's an investment.

TREE HOUSE

There is joy in the tree house nestled high in the boughs . . . for the boys climbing up to play in it . . . for the adults remembering the golden afternoons of their own childhood.

Sometimes grownups say wistfully, "I wish I were that age again." But do they really wish it? Being a child is wonderful, but maturing can be a painful process.

Help your children enjoy the precious childhood hours—never forgetting that they must grow up. Remember you have a never-ending source of guidance. The church will help your children preserve the spirit of youth and give them the wisdom, courage and faith that will sustain them through the rest of their lives.

The ordinances covering stray dogs is repeated this week for the benefit of readers, with the ordinance covering "junk cars" added for readers' information. It is suggested that both ordinances be clipped from this paper and saved for reference.

"ORDINANCE NO. 34

"An ordinance defining the rights and duties of the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, with regard to stray and unattended dogs, and prescribing methods and means of handling said stray and unattended dogs within said town.

"Be it ordained by the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, as follows:

"Section 1. From and after the date of the passage of this ordinance, whenever the properly appointed officer shall find a dog of any kind roaming over the streets, alleys, or sidewalks of said town, or roaming over the property of any person not the owner of said dog, the said officer or his duly qualified agents or deputies shall have the right to and it shall be their duty to pick up and hold said dog and securely keep him or her as the case may be in a suitable box, kennel or place for the period of three days.

"After such roaming dog has been placed in said kennel, or box or other place for the keeping of such dogs, and within twelve (12) hours, a notice of the taking up of such dog shall be posted at the door of the Town Hall in the town of Saint Joe, Indiana, which notice shall reasonably describe such dog, when picked up, and when said dog will be disposed of if not taken up by its owner as hereinafter provided.

"If, during the said three day period as hereinabove set out, the rightful owner of such dog shall make request of said duly appointed officer charged with the enforcement of the ordinance, for the return of such dog so picked up, and shall pay to the Clerk-Treasurer of said Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, the sum of $3.00 for the first such taking up, then such officer shall deliver said dog to its rightful owner.

"If the same dog is picked up on a second occasion or more occasions, then the rightful owner or claimant shall pay the sum of $5.00 for each taking up of said dog after the first such taking up by the duly appointed officer.

"Section 2. In the event any dog found roaming the streets, alleys or sidewalks or any other place owned by any person other than the rightful owner of such dog, in the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall not be called for and claimed by its rightful owner as hereinabove set forth in Section 1 hereof, then the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall have the right to and it shall be his duty to dispose of such dog in any humane manner, proper and expedient, and the owner or claimant of such dog or dogs shall have no further rights in or to said dog or dogs, and the manner or method of disposition of such dogs shall be entirely at the discretion of the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and the expense incurred thereby shall be paid to said officer or his deputy and-or agent by the Clerk-Treasurer out of the General Fund of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana.

"Section 3. It is hereby expressly ordained that the purpose of this ordinance is to eliminate the running at large of dogs within the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and more particularly to protect the lives of the citizens of said town and the private property within the town. This ordinance shall be carried out to that end and with as little expense to all parties concerned as possible.

"Section 4. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

"ORDINANCE NO. 40
AN ORDINANCE DEFINING JUNK CARS, REQUIRING THEIR REMOVAL AND FIXING PENALTY

"Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the town of St. Joe, Indiana:

"Section I.

"For the purpose of this ordinance 'junk car' shall mean any motor vehicle which:

"(a) Does not bear a currently valid license plate

"(b) Is not in a garage or other building

"(c) Shows any amount of damage, such as broken glass, wheels off, fenders or body extensively damaged, or

"(d) Will not pass the State Standard Vehicle Safety Check, or

"(e) One that is being overhauled in the street or yard of any residence.

"Section II.

"Section III.

"Any member of the Board of Trustees may order any junk car removed within ten (10) days.

"Section IV.

"Notice of such order shall be placed upon said junk car. Copies of said notice shall be served upon any adult occupying the real estate on which the junk car is located and upon the owner of the junk car if known. If no occupant of the real estate or owner of the junk car can be found, a notice affixed to any building on the real estate shall constitute notice to the owner and occupant of the real estate and to the owner of the junk car.

"If there is no building on the real estate, said notice shall be affixed elsewhere on the real estate.

"Section V.

"If said junk car is not removed within the time so fixed, any member of the Board of Trustees may cause said motor vehicle to be removed at the expense of the owner of the real estate, which expense shall constitute a lien on the real estate.

"Section VI.

"If such order is not obeyed within the time fixed, the owner of the junk car and the occupant of the real estate upon which it is located shall each, upon conviction, be subject to a penalty of $50.00. Each day on which the junk car is permitted to remain upon the real estate after the time fixed in said order shall constitute a separate offense.

"Section VII.

"The ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication as required by law.

"Passed and adopted this first day of August, 1966.

President Nixon Commends Pharmacists For Education Program Against Drug Abuse

Chris Haleston, president, and Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary, of The National Association of Retail Druggists, presented President Richard M. Nixon with a plaque commending him for his determination to rid the nation of the blight of drug abuse. Present at the meeting in the White House were (left to right) F. J. Koelzer, Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been active in educational work against drug abuse; John A. Johnson, Bellevue, Neb., Co-chairman of the NARD drug abuse educational committee; Richard Wilson, Birmingham, Mich., chairman of the drug abuse education committee; President Nixon; Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R. Mich.), House minority leader; Mr. Simmons; and Mr. Haleston. Mr. Nixon praised the NARD and its members for their intensive campaign against drug abuse which has been reaching high school students everywhere.

Retail pharmacists in cities and towns across America can take personal pride in President Nixon's high praise of the educational program against drug abuse of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

During a recent meeting in the White House Presidential office, Mr. Nixon urged the association to tell the thousands of pharmacists who have been conducting such educational programs before youth assemblies, schools, and civic groups that he heartily endorsed their program.

Representatives of the NARD present at the meeting with President Nixon and House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich.) were Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary, and Chris Haleston, president. They presented a bronze plaque to President Nixon commending him for his determination to rid America of the blight of drug abuse.

The NARD program of education against drug abuse has been underway for more than three years. Thousands of pharmacists, representing every State, have participated in the program through talks and other types of presentations before all types of groups on the proper use of drugs and the dangers of misuse. They have been using materials prepared by their association for these presentations.

President Nixon also told the NARD representatives during the meeting that he believes it is most appropriate that the corner drugstore be the place where young people can go for information and dependable advice concerning proper use as well as prevention of misuse of drugs.

CUB SCOUT PACK 3172

This has been an active summer for the Cub Scouts of Pack 3172. It started at the end of May with 25 boys spending a day with the Boy Scouts of Troop 172 at Koch's farm. There was a variety of activities, including skinny dipping in the creek which the boys seemed to enjoy most. At the day's end, all gathered around the campfire and sang songs, told stories, etc. The flag was then lowered and all went home for a bath and a good night's sleep. Five Webelos were lucky enough to stay overnight with the Boy Scouts.

June 13 found 23 cubs and families at Pokagon State Park for an early pot luck dinner, awards, and a 3½ mile trail. After the trail, the boys could hardly wait to get into their suits and into the lake for a swim. About 4 p.m. most of the families started for home.

Awards given that day were: Roland Harding, 1 gold and 2 silver arrows; Mike Harding, Wolf; Leon Renfrow, Bobcat; Jim Witte, Bobcat; Larry Gettys, Wolf; Jeff Lepper, Bobcat; Jim Krieg, Bear; Kenny Kinsey, Webelos.

On July 11, eight boys and dads went to "Cub and Dad Day" at Little Turtle Reservation. The boys had a planned program, which included shooting guns and arrows, swimming and a chariot race through an obstacle course. There was a lot of walking from one activity to another, so it isn't hard to imagine how tired they all were. "Webelos and Dad Day" will be on August 1. All Webelos inquire about spending a day at camp with your dad.

July 18 will be a Fishing Derby. All fishing must be done along the St. Joe River. Ribbons, awards, and Pokagon Trail Patches will be given at the pot luck dinner at the Covered Bridge at 4 p.m. Ribbons will be for largest fish, most fish, smallest fish (no minnows), and most unusual or greatest variety. All cubs and families are urged to participate in this pack meeting. We need at least 50% of the cubs present to be eligible for the Summertime Pack Award.

The pack meeting for August will be held at the Angola Speedway on August 9. One of our committee men, Tom Mack, will be driving that night. A demolition derby is on the agenda.

We remind parents that any boy who is eight years old, or seven and promoted to third grade, is welcome in the pack. Ask a cub, den mother, committeeman, or call 238-4546.

CADETTE TROOP 192
—LuAnne Hook, reporter

Cadette troop 192 has been having regular meetings every Wednesday afternoon. At our last meeting, we made future plans for the summer. We also set July 23 as the date for our bake sale. The location has not yet been decided.

On the last day, we took an all-day 7-mile canoe trip down a river. Barbara Drake was in the hiking unit. Over the 6 days she was at camp, she hiked 45 miles on the Meta trail, the Johnny Appleseed trail, and other smaller trails around the camp.

Dennis Melchi Wins Derby Crown At Fort Wayne

Dennis Melchi, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melchi of Spencerville, won the Fort Wayne district Soapbox Derby championship Monday afternoon in competition held at Franke Park in Fort Wayne. There were 107 entries.

The next step will be the national race held at Akron, Ohio, August 15.

In addition to receiving the championship trophy this year, Dennis was awarded a portable television set, a $500 savings bond, and a heat winner trophy. His mother received a bouquet of roses.

When Dennis goes to Akron next month, the whole Melchi family will be guests of race sponsors. Dennis will attend a week-long session of school for soapbox derby competitors.

Mr. Melchi has indicated that he will convert a garage building at the Melchi residence into a soapbox derby workshop, and thus provide in the future a place for interested boys to work on racers and learn the mechanics of building a racer while enjoying the pleasure of competition with other boys doing the same thing.

Sponsor of Dennis's car at the Fort Wayne contest was Gar Creek Products, owned and operated by Pete Akey. The champion's car will now be sponsored by the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel at the national race, and is being repainted in preperation for that event.

Survey Made For Japanese Beetle

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, Plant Protection Division, is running a Japanese Beetle trapping survey in DeKalb County. This survey is being conducted in seven quarantined counties: DeKalb Fulton, Jasper, LaGrange, Whitley, Pulaski, and Steuben. Most of the northern half of Indiana is in the Japanese Beetle quarantined area, as is most of the eastern United States. The quarantine is designed to prevent the artificial spread of the beetle from an infested area to a non-infested area.

Three hundred traps have been placed in each county. If no beetles are found, the county will be lifted from the regulated area. These traps will be up until at least September 1. The small funnel-shaped traps are either green or yellow in color. They are only a survey tool. These traps contain a chemical bait which, when full, contain only three ounces of a mildly corrosive liquid. Children should be instructed not to disturb the traps. If any liquid should be ingested, a physician should be notified. A label on the trap gives the contents of the bait.

These small traps are not dangerous. For an effective survey of the county, residents should not disturb the traps. Any questions should be directed to the county agent.

Ice Cream Social

The Saint Joe Lions Club will sponsor its annual homemade hand-cranked ice cream social to be held this year Saturday, July 25, at the conservation club grounds at Saint Joe. Starting time is 5:00 p.m.

The menu includes ham sandwiches, hot dogs, baked beans, potato salad, pie, cake, beverages, and, of course, the main attraction—homemade, hand-cranked ice cream.

All profits will be used for the youth recreation program of the area.

Finances Irrelevant

There has been an inclination by some people in recent years to place confidence in financial statements in determining the merits of candidates for political office. At least, the idea has been suggested from time to time at state and national levels of government.

This week, one of Indiana's candidates for political office suggested that the Hoosier state enact a law requiring all candidates for state executive, legislative, and judicial office to disclose their personal finances. Larry Conrad, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, said that "all political candidates have an obligation to expose their personal holdings to public scrutiny," supposedly to restore public confidence in elected officials.

At first glance the idea may sound acceptable, but whenever such suggestions are made, a one-word question keeps popping up in my mind—"Why?" Then I ask: how far down the road to socialism (or communism, or whatever "-ism" you want to call that which takes individual privacy away from any and every citizen) are we when the privilege of running for public office requires disclosure of private finances? What relationship is there between telling how much a person is worth and his or her ability to serve in the office to which they seek election? Is the dollar bill the standard by which to determine honesty, integrity?

In my mind the answers are: pretty far; some, not much; no. I believe that many citizens basically feel the same way. However, there is the danger that, somewhere along the line, the suggestion is going to be put into legislation and we will have a law contrary to American principles of privacy.

It would appear that Mr. Conrad's motivation is purely political, inasmuch as Democrats have built their image as representatives of the "poor" and Republicans have been associated with big money. Oddly enough, three of the last four Democrat presidents have been millionaires! But the image persists of Democrats as representatives of the "poor," the underdog. There thus is a sentimental appeal in a candidate who shows his finances to be comparatively limited. But limited finances do not answer the question of honesty, integrity, and ability.

If Mr. Conrad, or any other candidate for public office, wishes to disclose his private financial affairs, he has the privilege of doing so; and he did this week. But there should not be a mandatory disclosure of finances for any candidates, in my opinion, because it is against the fundamental principles upon which this country and its unique governing system were founded. It should not matter how much money a candidate has; the important thing is: how does he do things, how does he get them done. If we are to make our choice on the basis of dollars reported in a financial statement, then we are admitting that the only successful and/or deserving candidate is a "poor" one. —or is it a rich one? What is YOUR standard of success, of honesty? Can you think of any approach more contrary to American principles?

The appeal to the voter in suggesting financial statements from candidates is an emotional appeal, not one based on sound reasoning; it is an appeal to the "sympathy" vote. It is somewhat similar to the situation recently reported nationally in which President Nixon vetoed a bill concerning hospital construction for veterans with the explanation that it was inflationary and financially unsound. The Democrats in Congress immediately rallied their forces and got the support of some Republicans to override the Presidential veto to get the appropriations bill passed. This was not a maneuver based on reason; it was based on sentiment, on public sympathy. It sounded terrible to have our President vote "against" the veteran, and deny him adequate medical facilities. But what about the information that has been made public in recent months concerning the hospitals built for veterans' use, but which are left unused? The demand, it appears, is not what was anticipated.

Sometimes we are railroaded into something that sounds nice; the public and our legislators vote without looking at both sides of the question. That could be the case in the matter of disclosing private finances as a qualification for running for public office. It's as contrary to American principles as you can get. And in addition, a little thought exposes how impractical any such requirement would be in this respect: if a candidate is dishonest in the first place, he'll probably lie about his finances!!!

Ludicrous Dynamics Tried By Churches

(by The Rev. Lester Kinsolving; reprinted from the Fort Wayne, Ind., News-Sentinel.)

SAN FRANCISCO.

Many denominations whose churches used to be a primary center of town or village social life appear to be resorting to desperate measures to recover this sense of community.

In London, for instance, the Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral recently leaped off the pinnacle of his temple and descended by parachute, in an attempt to relate to the young people.

In San Francisco's Grace Cathedral four months later, a capacity crowd of 3,000 attended what had been advertised as a "sensorium." The occasion featured a mixture of the Cathedral organ and ear-splitting electric guitars, punctuated with recorded wolf howls and bird shrieks.

Steriopticon slides illuminated the walls and ceiling of the Cathedral with an endless variety of sights, running from dancing flames to a herd of buffalo in the north transept—all of this in the murky gloom of a darkened Cathedral filled with the aroma of incense and marijuana. When the lights were turned on at the conclusion of this spectacular event, Cathedral Dean Julian Bartlett spied one of the projectionists standing on the high altar smoking a cigar. The Dean leaped up and engaged the offender in a brief but strenuous wrestling match before both plummeted into the crowd at altarside. Despite this unscheduled tussle, the dean expreased his enthusiasm both for the size as well as the apparent enjoyment of the crowd.

The producers of this startling two-hour phantasmagoria designated it as a form of Christian worship. There were a few on hand, however, who found it more like a witches' sabbath or a Druid nature festival.

This Grace Cathedral "happening" took place almost concurrently with another vivid rite—held in Manhattan's St. Clement's Church near Broadway. Worshippers were blindfolded, told to remove their shoes and led to the basement, where they walked about in their bare feet reciting the general confession. One by one, they were subsequently led to an adjoining lavatory where, in the glare of a brilliant light, their blindfolds were removed. A smiling attendant, whose neck was wrapped in toilet paper, then ceremoniously flushed the toilet—in order to symbolize the absolution of sins.

This bizarre ceremony did not surprise some churchmen, who have seen some of the wildest extremes of group dynamics utilized in attempts to re-establish a sense of community in churches.

And while there is validity in the study and improvement of group interaction, group dynamics have not been introduced into the churches without problems.

Some church people, after experiencing "parish life conferences" or "group life laboratories," have come to regard fellow parishioners who have not undergone such dynamic experiences as unenlightened or even irreligious. And any criticism of such programs almost inevitably produces a wrathful "if-you-haven't-tried-it-don't-knock-it" reaction—an argument often utilized by those who counsel worship-stimulus via LSD.

One aspect of the group dynamics methodology which appears to be in vogue in the churches was described in a Christian Century Magazine article as "a psychological striptease" or "the being-real neurosis." The writer, a Chicago psychologist named Richard Cox, focused upon one principal aspect of the method —which appers similar to the early Christian church's practice of public confession of sins.

Dr. Cox contends that "a person stripped of defenses is not 'real'; he is sick. No one can function without defenses . . . (which means) to be totally at the mercy of one's environment."

"In many places" he notes, "it is 'in' for a group of people to get together for the purpose of being 'honest' with each other. These sessions often turn out to be studies in comparative emotional pathology; after the 'sharers' have bathed in each other's psychological filth, the minutes of the meeting aptly record that 'a good time was had by all.' "

Dr. Cox does acknowledge a value in the sharing of mutual concerns, in group action about that which affects the group. And the early Christian church also recognized this principle of community—even though it soon abandoned the custom of public confession of individual sins. Not only was there the occasional possibility of retaliation from one sinned against, but there was often a confession as to whether the confessor was confessing or bragging.

Farm Bureau Picnic

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau staged its annual picnic at the Saint Joe Conservation Club House Sunday.

Robert Neuhard, minister of the Cedar Lake Church Christ, led the group in hymn singing, and then gave devotions under the topic, "The Unknown Speaks."

Neuhard said our freedom is not free—it must be defended, as our 37,000 unknown war toll attests. He urged parents and young people to cultivate love of God and country, and closed his devotions with prayer.

A choral group from DeKalb Central High School, accompanied by their director, Mrs. Mildred Hansen, provided entertainment. The group included Harriett Mertz, Betty Ellert, Gail Gerig, Sheila Hall, Rick Hall, Jack Hance, Mary Ann Beuret, Edwin Sponhauer, and Ted Richmond.

Jean Holman drew the winning door prize ticket. Winners included Clayton Hartman, Beverly Bleeh, Harold Beihl, Ralph Coulson, Harry Hansell, Norman Gerig, Waldo Rosenbury, Bernice Friend, Marie Myers, and Mrs. Perry Stebing.

Mrs. Carl Perkins announced the poster contest winners as selected by the contest judge, Mrs. Bernicce Wilder.

They were Mark Allen Diehl, first; Jean Ann Holman, second; Elaine Diehl, third; and Bobby Ohlwine, fourth.

The craft contest winners, selected by Mrs. Floyd Pfierman, were Mrs. Florence Bloom, Roberta Holman, Mrs. Clayton Hartman, Bernciee Wilder, and Helen Bowers.

Under new business, our August picnic was brought on the floor. A motion was made and seconded that we meet at Wild Cherry Park, August 21. The motion carried. The following committee was then appointed: Madonna Wade to make coffee and cold drinks; Doris Yeiser to provide entertainment; Myrtle Pugsley to make reservations for the use of the park. Each member is to bring a guest.

asked all members to remember in prayer our two faithful members who are ill, Gertrude Borthwick and Huldah Reasoner. Let us not forget those who so faithfully serve our Club.

The meeting was then closed with the club closing song, and everyone went to the Heritage House for a delicious luncheon, after which the afternoon was spent shopping and sightseeing in Fort Wayne.

All came home hot, tired, and wilted, but happy for the pleasant hours we spent with good friends.

When each new experience springs forth like a jack-in-the-box . . . and your fondest possessions are toys . . . and your chief concern is to squeeze out of every hour the last ounce of amusement — then it's fun to be surprised.

But when you've grown too old for toys . . . when life is laced with serious challenge . . . when happiness depends on a thousand social, economic and moral decisions — then surprises can be devastating!

It is elementary that our early education must prepare us for the later surprises. The knowledge, habits and skills we acquire must be adequate for meeting the unexpected as readily as the expected.

And because religious faith and moral fortitude are men's chief resources in the unheralded crises of adult life, we must nurture their development in every child.

Support, encourage, serve your church in its vital efforts to mold the character of today's youth — tomorrow's adults.

Here's The Soapbox Derby Winner

Before: Dennis Melchi is shown with his Soapbox Derby racer prior to the running of the Fort Wayne district competition. Dennis was sponsored by Gar Creek Products of Spencerville, under owner Wilbur (Pete) Akey.

After: Dennis is shown with his prizes, including trophies, a portable television set, and a $500 savings bond. The flowers were presented to his mother. Spencerville friends quickly decorated the Melchi residence at Spencerville with banners last week when they got word that Dennis had won seven heats and the championship.

Private Drain Trouble Prompts- A Report From The Town Board

by the Town Board President

Drainage and sewage problems arise in St. Joe from time to time, some of them leading to ill feeling, antagonism, and threats. Pollution may be a recent major concern nationwide and worldwide today, but it has existed as a major problem in this community for quite some time. EVERYTHING runs through drain tile in St. Joe!

A particular instance of drain trouble in the past week has emphasized the predicament which has faced every town board serving St. Joe since the town was incorporated. The predicament involves the responsibility for disposing of waste water from private homes. The question always arises, "Who is going to pay the bill?" when homes face drainage problems. The answer usually is simple because the trouble is located most often within the drainage tile on private property.

However, there are instances where tile is located along a street right-of-way, or lines cross street right-of-ways. There is the feling, then, that the town is responsible for problems occurring on such right of ways because the right-of-ways are not private property. In the latest drainage problem, a tile runs along a right-of-way, but it was installed years ago by private individuals, not by the town. When more than one home is involved in such private lines, the responsibility for maintenance properly falls on each home whenever problems arise. If one homeowner has water in the basement because of a plug in a private line serving more than one home, each should pay an equal share in any major maintenance costs.

Town boards know that such cooperation usually is not forthcoming. The public expects the town to provide some place to run drainage lines, and this is a reasonable expectation in today's living. The problem, locally, however is that St. Joe has a "unique" drainage system dating to "way back when"; it is hit-or-miss at best because there is an overlapping combination of private and public drainage lines within the town.

At first glance, it seems simple to "take over" certain drainage facilities, to have the town assume responsibility for maintenance because such facilities are expected in an organized community. The danger lies in that taking over one private line leads to an obligation to take over EVERY private line involving waste water. Because this is not a basic responsibility of a town board, such action has not been taken. But this leads to problems for the homeowner and there is ill feeling because of the town's alleged inadequacy in providing proper facilities.

Until such time that a total system of drainage is installed in St. Joe (and this is in addition to sewage facilities which are also needed), it will be necessary to struggle along as best the community can with the facilities that are at hand. It is one thing to say that the town ought to provide something; it is quite another matter to pay for it.

Obscenity Not Acceptable

I find it difficult at times to express my indignation over the abuses of rights and privileges exercised by the "revolutionaries" in our society at the present time without sounding like a totally biased, totally unsympathetic, totally prudish character incapable of living in and accepting a lifetime of change. Perhaps indignation is not the proper word for what I feel. I think maybe the word "disappointed" is more correct.

Last week I experienced the most disappointing feeling as far as the exercising of privileges by student newspapers is concerned. What I had feared would happen (because the defiant element in the student body appears willing to do and say anything to shock the people) finally did happen, and yet I was disappointed when it happened; expecting this shock or disappointment did not soften the blow.

For some time now, the News Office has received copies of the Ball State University "Daily News." It is a "typical" college newspaper of the day, typical in that its editorial direction follows a general policy of finding anything and everything wrong that it can and making a big issue out of it. College administration, national administration, whatever administration it might be, is subject to pinpoint scrutiny. "Mistakes" are widely proclaimed when found. At least, that has been my impression as I inspect issues of the paper as they are received.

Generally speaking, however, the newspaper has been a good one. In appearance, in makeup, in overall service as a means of communication, I have been very much impressed. The Ball State "Daily News" has been serving the students well.

The one great failing, the one big disappointment, though, is in the lack of journalistic responsibility shown in the July 22, 1970 issue, when a news story reported the comments of an assistant professor of history at Antioch College, who was speaking during a forum on free speech at Ball State. The Ball State "Daily News" showed poor taste and a lack of respect for the feelings of its readers by quoting an obscene word spoken by the professor as he attempted to make a point. It seems to be an obsession with today's defiant youth, and some of their liberal sympathizers, to shock the listener or the viewer by whatever means possible, and the opportunity was not overlooked by the campus newspaper as well as the professor.

As is the case with youth in general (today's generation of youth is no different from my generation of youth 30 years ago, despite what the liberals say), giving the adult generation a jolt appears to be the means to declare adulthood, to exercise rights and privileges, to manifest one's maturity. What youth does not appreciate—youth in any generation—is that time, the mere fact that one person has lived longer than another, is in itself the primary source of wisdom, of maturity. Therefore, what I feel, what I say, as an editorial and/or news writer reflects not only the right and privilege of free speech, but also a greater understanding of how much can be said without offending the moral standards of others. An older person doesn't know it all, but he or she does know more!

In this case, the use of an obscene word will be justified by the college paper's staff writer, perhaps even by the university administration itself, on the basis that what was said was reported; it was a factual presentation. This is true. The question of moral rights enters into the situation, however, because the language of the person making the statement was offensive to many who heard or read what he said. What that speaker and that reporter did not appreciate is that in seeking to establish THEIR rights, to be recognized for THEIR position in society, they failed to respect the rights of OTHERS, the position of others. In other words, this is another case where youth and its sympathizers want to be respected but refuse to respect those whom they wish to be respected by!

It is true that the professor who used the crude terminology to make his point (and it is debatable whether he made it, or just showed how bold he is) is not a teen-ager nor a college student. But he was speaking to students about a subject very much of their concern: free speech. Unfortunately, he showed that he is not an expert in the subject by his own presentation.

Perhaps the staff of the Ball State newspaper should not be reprimanded for poor taste in the manner of reporting the forum. But since it is a tax-supported institution, there should be something said in behalf of those who support it financially and who still attempt to maintain certain standards of decency in conduct and language. Students may have certain rights, to be sure, but theirs are secondary to those who make it possible for the institution to exist.

It was entirely possible to give the opinions of the speaker without quoting the crude language which he used. Four-letter words are an obsession with the revolutionaries, and just because the words are used more publicly than before does not mean they are becoming more acceptable.

It is significant that those who wish to impress society with their intelligence, with their ideals, with their challenges to improve, resort so often to crude language and obscenities to make themselves heard. It is disappointing that a college newspaper, on a state-supported university campus, forgets its responsibilities to all, including those with whom they may disagree, and lowers its standards of reporting so as to offend by the use (even in direct quotation) of an obscene word.

Others say. . . .

AMERICAN UNREST NO SURPRISE
—Paul Harvey, in Fort Wayne News-Sentinel

On the facade of the stately Archives Building in Washington, D.C., are inscribed the words: "What's past is prologue."

A District cab driver is said to have said, "What that means is, you ain't seen nothin' yet!"

If coming events do cast shadows —

If we can anticipate our own fate by analytical hindsight —

Let's preview by review.

Older parts of the world are beginning to feel sorry for the people of the United States. Like a mother or father or elder brother, they can see what we are going through and what we are headed into; they have passed this way before.

Recently in London's New Statesman, J. B. Priestley wrote "I have been feeling genuinely and deeply sorry for the American people — the ordinary decent Americans as distinct from the bloodthirsty half-balmy riffraff. I am sorry for them because, bewildered, saddened or maddened, they are trying to grope their way out of a long dangerous dream."

He went on to describe how our "great country, based on a noble idea, is now tearing itself apart."

The United States until 15 years ago was an example for the world of how a "melting pot" of assorted ethnic strains and diverse views could converge without colliding. Today's wreckage of that "long dangerous dream" is disillusioning to us but really no surprise to older nations where overpopulation has amplified and ultimately inflamed "differences."

It's tiresome to most Americans for anyone to re-recite the lessons of history, but several historians — Spengler, DeReincourt, Ferraro, Gibbon — concur so precisely in their interpretation of Rome's demise that one more instant replay might be useful.

Rome had a pioneering beginning not unlike our own, enjoyed two centuries of greatness, then went into decline and collapse.

In Rome the second-century symptoms of decay were vast increases in the number of idle rich and idle poor. The latter were put on a permanent dole, a welfare system similar to our own.

As the welfare system became permanent, the recipients organized themselves, became a political bloc with considerable power.

Rome's government bowed to pressure from this welfare army; would-be emperors catered to them.

The great, solid middle class was taxed more and more. Then there was an income surtax. Then the denarius, a silver coin similar to our half-dollar, had its silver content reduced, became copper colored. Then silver coins disappeared altogether.

Military service had been an honored tradition in Rome, but young men began avoiding service, took to using cosmetics, wearing feminine hairdos and garments.

Among teachers and scholars many let their hair and beards grow, wore slovenly clothes, professed indifference to worldly goods.

Morals declined. It became unsafe to walk countryside or city streets. Rioting became commonplace; sometimes whole sections of towns and cities were burned.

And finally, when confiscatory taxation and creeping inflation overcame energy and ambition, the result was stagnation and decline and Rome passed into what history had recorded as the Dark Ages, lasting a thousand years.

Norris Chapel Leads League

With the Church League race now entering the final month, it appears that the contest for first place has been narrowed to two teams. Norris Chapel, as of Tuesday, July 28, was riding in first with an 8-1 record, while the Lutherans have risen from fourth place a month ago to strong contention with a 7-2 slate. These two teams were scheduled for head-to-head competition Wednesday night, July 29 (after press time). Both teams have a rough road ahead, as each must still play tough teams in the next three weeks. Norris Chapel plays Mt. Pleasant-Newville and St. Joe-Newville, both of which were strong in the early going but have encountered problems lately; and the Lutherans must face Mt. Pleasant-Newville, as well as a rained-out game with Hicksville, one of the two teams to better the Lutherans this year.

Happy day!
Money in the mailbox!
But does it have to be money? How about a letter from someone who loves you? Or four tickets to the next World Series? Or an invitation from good friends to dinner?
And surely, good things don't have to come by mail. They could come in kind words from a friend. Or in your boss saying, "I'm giving you a raise." Or as an "A" grade on a carefully-researched term paper.
But what is the "best" happiness? Where can we find it?
The best happiness is a letter from God, saying that His Son is your invitation to His Kingdom.
Where can you find this letter? In the Bible and in church this Sunday and every Sunday.

Blazers End 8-4

The Eastside Blazer baseball team has completed its summer baseball season with an 8-4 record following a 6-5 loss to Leo in the summer league playoffs. Leo went on to defeat Carroll High School and win the championship.

Charlie Ross pitched the complete game for Eastside, allowing four hits, striking out four, and giving up just two earned runs, but the Blazers' five errors provided the margin of victory. Bob Holtzberg and Kent Rosenbury had singles, and Holtzberg, Ross, and Kevin Campbell doubled to lead the Blazers' offensive attack.

Charlie Ross was the leading hitter for the Blazers in 1970, leading the team in hits (22), runs scored (21), runs batted in (21), and batting average (.333). Bob Holtzberg and Dale Curry were next in line with 20 hits apiece. Holtzberg batted .328 and knocked in 12 runs, while Curry hit at a .294 clip with 13 rbi.

The pitchers' won-lost records were Charlie Ross 5-4; Dale Curry 2-2; Bob Holtzberg 2-2; and Dave Miller 1-1.

Local Junior Leaguers Win Edon All-Star Tourney

The Saint Joe Junior League All-Stars won the championship of a five-team tourney at Edon, Ohio, Monday evening of this week. Horn tooting carloads of parents and players announced the victory as the group returned to this community following the game.

The local team defeated Blakeslee, Ohio, 12-10 in the championship game this week in an uphill battle. Blakeslee held an 8-4 lead after three innings, but the Riverdale area boys scored four runs in each of the next two innings and held their opponents to a pair of single run innings to win the game.

In the locals' first game of the tourney last Friday, after drawing a first-round "bye," young Mark Diemer hurled a brilliant two-hit shutout, defeating Pioneer, Ohio, by a score of 2-0. Mark struck out 13 of the 22 batters he faced and had enemy hitters under control throughout the entire contest.

Ted Hansen was responsible for both runs for the local All-Stars, tripling Mike Mansfield home in the first inning after the latter got on by an error, then scoring himself later in the inning. The scoreboard registered goosegegs thereafter.

Monday night Mansfield led hitting with four singles and four runs scored. P. D. Roberts had a tripic, double and single and scored three runs and Hansen had two singles and scored two runs.

Other teams participating in the tourney were from Edon and Cooney, Ohio.

A picture of the champs will appear in next week's issue of this paper.

1971 Budget Publication Prompts- A Report From The Town Board

—By the Town Board President

The budget for 1971 will appear for two weeks. It will be well for all townspeople to examine it item by item and see where local tax money goes. Take note that the "ordinary" expenses of the town—those obligations which are basic and cannot be eliminated or lowered in cost—take up the major portion of the town's budget.

In 1960, the proposed general fund budget for 1961 totalled a little over $8,800.00 for St. Joe. The budget to be published this year, ten years later, is over $16,000. If items were placed in the budget that "ought" to be there to keep pace with public demands and expectations, the tax rate would go beyond reason, assuming that local townspeople would not raise strong objections. Since town government is the closest to home for St. Joe residents, it is the first to be cut off by public demands, it is the first to be affected by "frugal" public spending.

The town's budget for 1971 is basically the same as for this year. The increase in 10 years in total general fund needs, as indicated above, is due primarily to inflation. It should be noted, however, that part of the total increase came in the past two years when improved street lighting was installed. This raised the monthly street light bill from around $80.00 per month to the present $334.00 per month. Public response to this improvement made by the board indicates general approval of the project.

Whenever budget time comes around, it reminds us of a "myth" we have heard many times in the past several years regarding what happens to tax monies not spent by the town. There are those who have expressed indignation because unexpended appropriations "go back to the state"—or so they think.

This is not true. Every penny collected from Saint Joe residents to pay for Saint Joe civil government stays in Saint Joe. The misunderstanding probably arises due to the fact that unexpended appropriations in the various categories of the general fund "revert to the general fund," as is the common terminology. This does not mean any money is "lost" or taken away; it only means that the money unexpended in a particular appropriation cannot be carried over into the next year's budget for that particular appropriation.

For example, let us say that the mosquito control fund had $200 for its 1970 appropriation. This means the town cannot spend more than $200 for mosquito control during the year, unless there is an emergency requiring more funds and unless there are "leftover" funds in other categories from which to draw.

But if only $150 is spent in 1970 for mosquito control, this means there are $50 of tax money not spent, but it cannot be carried over into the next year's appropriation for mosquito control and added to the next year's appropriation. In other words, leftover monies cannot accumulate in the various categories of the general fund, they must be spent. If they are not spent, they become a "credit" on the next year's total budget as carryover funds.

So, if you hear someone say the town is losing certain funds because they were not spent, that the money is "going back to the state," you will understand that the individual has a misunderstanding about the mechanics of administering the budget of a civil tax unit and that you, as a taxpayer in the incorporated town of Saint Joe, are not coming out on the losing end.

Again, it would be well for townspeople to study the budget and ask questions of any local board member. It is our job to listen to the public, because we have been entrusted with the town's welfare. Unfortunately, this does not mean that the answers will make everybody happy!

Next week: a detailed review of the budget for 1971.

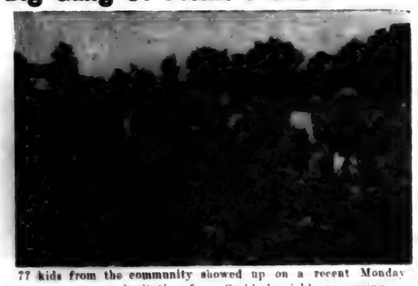
Did you know....

—that Mr. and Mrs. Donald Noragon of St. Joe are the parents of a nine-pound, four-ounce son born on Saturday at 6:24 a.m.

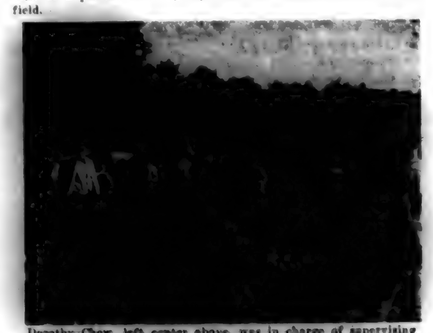
—that the Maas Reunion was held Sunday at Eckhart Park in Auburn with 113 persons attending.

—that the 1970 Indiana State Fair will echo again this year with frustrated wives calling illusive husbands, and confident farmers calling gargantuous hogs. A "Husband Calling" contest and a "Hog Calling" contest will take place on Sunday, September 6, starting at 1 p.m.

Big Gang Of Pickle Pickers



77 kids from the community showed up on a recent Monday in response to an invitation from Seehler's pickle processing plant to help harvest a field of pickles planted by the local firm for the younger set. The field is located on the Annis Butler farm a mile south of Spencerville on State Road 1. Boys and girls ages 10 to 15 were eligible for the picking project. The response was so great that Frank Seehler said he wishes he had planted more acreage for the young people. Above is a view of a portion of the group which was scattered across the field.



Dorothy Chew, left center above, was in charge of supervising the young people in their picking efforts. Rev. Russell Snyder was overseer for the loading of the truck in the background.

Historical Meeting

The DeKalb County Historical Society has scheduled a tour of the Allen County Historical Museum, 1424 West Jefferson St., Fort Wayne, at 2:00 p.m. August 9, with staff available as guides or moderators.

Following the tour, the group is invited to reassemble at the home of Mrs. Harriet Oberlin, at 3430 Kirkland Ave., Fort Wayne, for the business session and a social hour.

Persons needing transportation should contact other society members regarding their need and arrange to be picked up at the Auburn Library (or elsewhere as agreed) not later than 1:00 p.m.

The public is invited to attend this and all meetings of the County Historical Society.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Andrew Ward for a luncheon of delicious summer salads and sandwiches with refreshing limeade to quench their thirst.

The president, Inez Smith, called the meeting to order. All repeated the club collect. Devotions were given by Marvel Keeler. The project lesson on allergies was ably reported by Harriet Hood.

For roll call, each reported on a secret ambition she once had or still has. These reports brought forth some serious, some lengthy, and some quite surprising aims and efforts to achieve said ambitions.

Those present were: Marie Ward, Dessie Hart, Marvel Keeler, Sarah Amstutz, Beraiece Wilder, Inez Smith, Harriet Hood, Ida Reed, Ellen Hart, and four guests.

GOP Picnic To Be Held Aug. 19

Presidents of the five DeKalb County Republican Women's Clubs, along with their leader, Mrs. Ada Farrington of Corunna, and Mrs. Grace Phelps, County Republican Vice-Chairman, of Butler, met recently at Republican Headquarters in the Kruse Real Estate Building in Auburn to lay final plans for the annual Republican Picnic, which will be held August 19 at 6:30 p.m. at the Waterloo City Park, with Congressman E. Ross Adair as the speaker.

The chicken supper will be furnished by the candidates; rolls and coffee will also be provided. The public is invited to bring potluck, table service, and family and friends to enjoy an evening of good eating, fellowship, and information.

JR. GIRL SCOUT TROOP 229

Spencerville Jr. Girl Scout Troop 229 has been meeting two times a month during the summer. On July 6, troop members and leaders hiked from Spencerville to St. Joe Park, where they ate lunch and worked on badges, then hiked back to Spencerville. The swimming party was postponed from July 20 to July 27 because of rain. It will be imperative for any troop member who wishes to go troop camping to attend these summer meetings, two meetings out of four. Our next meeting will be August 10 at Hooks' farm from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m.

Parental Delinquency

Nighttime activity by the younger generation, from 9 or 10 years of age on up to the early 20s, is evident in this community as it is in every community throughout the state and nation. One of the contributing factors in the Hoosier state, making the situation even worse than it might be, is the double daylight saving time we now are enslaved to.

When one looks literally, at the young people involved in late hour activities, it becomes apparent that juvenile delinquency is a product of three major factors: broken homes, two working parents, and indifferent parents. I sometimes wonder why some parents have children, when they turn the kids loose at such early ages to roam as they please, to find something to do to occupy their time. And I think the older "delinquents" do not appreciate how tolerant the community is in NOT calling police authorities when nighttime disturbances are going on.

There are those who seem to think that making the kids stay home after 10 p.m. is almost silly nowadays. But the fact of the matter is that staying out after a reasonable hour, just hanging around doing nothing, paves the way for trouble. Smoking and drinking by minors on the streets of Saint Joe are evident every night of the week; it appears that some parents think they are allowing their children to "grow" by such freedom; in some instances they are actually forcing their offspring to exist like animals.

Such lack of love and concern for these young people on the part of their parents brings nothing but a feeling of contempt for the elders. These parents just don't want to be bothered with or by their kids. They therefore deserve a one-word description: selfish.

Good Quality Lost

One of the lost words in our modern world is "quality." Or maybe it should be a two-word phrase, "good quality." Everything has quality, but it may vary from good to bad. The amount of grumbling heard nowadays about new products and how they don't function properly when purchased, or function properly for a short time before repairs or replacements are needed, is an indication of the lack of conscience in the American worker when it comes to production of worldly goods.

The obsession with money as the prime goal in life has taken away one of the good aspects of the good but not so old days. Even I can remember that the purchase of items from hardware, furniture, dry goods, auto, and whatever other stores seldom brought difficulties that are encountered today. The word "guarantee" has become a joke in today's living, and the buyer is duped into thinking he is getting something extra when there is a guarantee or warranty on the items he or she purchases.

There may be some benefits from some certain guarantees and warrantys, there may be some replacement of parts and so on when trouble occurs. But one thing overlooked in the process is the loss of time, at the expense of the consumer, when repairs are needed on comparatively new items. When a person buys a product, he wants it to work, the money paid for an item is for the service the item will perform. Guarantees do not provide for temporary replacements while the original item is being repaired; therefore, the purchaser has paid a certain amount, sometimes a substantial amount, for something he does not have. If you buy a washer or a heater, or a TV, or a car, and something goes wrong requiring repairs "in the shop" or repairs delayed until parts are obtained or some such situation, you have paid for something you do not have when the item is out of commission.

It all goes back to the fact that the people producing the products don't give a hoot about much of anything except the paycheck at the end of the week. There may be conscientious workers in all fields of endeavor, but their number is dropping percentagewise. The right to more money and less work governs our economy right now.

And we wonder why inflation continues!

People Have Enough Trouble

Anyone who has read this paper for any length of time may have noticed changes in attitudes as far as the selection of items that appear in the news columns. In this particular instance, the matter came up when a reader thanked me for not publicizing the reader's recent minor accident with a car. There have been other "embarrassing" items not published on these pages in recent months, and not necessarily related to the automobile.

The explanation is that, for the moment, the editor is particularly aware that people have enough to worry them when they do have troubles or problems without making it more of a public issue. Don't get me wrong; I'm not condemning the newspapers that do publish divorces, auto accidents, arrests, and so on. It's just that, in these days when so much adversity is evident and publicized, the personal worries of people deserve some relief. And in a small way, this paper, for the moment at least, is purposely NOT picking up on every little item about local people when they have problems.

It may not be journalistically proper to follow such a policy, but I'm doing it for the time being at least. Who knows, maybe next week something will happen to change my mind and you'll get every bit of "dirt" there is!

Others say. . . .

"Grapestakes"

—C. W. Stall, Editor, "The Hoosier Farmer," July 1970.

Indiana Farm Bureau is joining with the American Farm Bureau and the California Table Grape Commission in sponsorship of a "Grapestakes" Contest for Farm Bureau members. Purpose of the event, which will run from now through September 30, is to encourage consumption of California table grapes which are now in season and to encourage grocery stores to stock this fruit, against which the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (AFL-CIO) has attempted a nation-wide boycott.

There are state and national awards offered, and no purchase of grapes is required for a Farm Bureau member to enter.

The union's attempted boycott is actually a big, professionally managed, nation-wide campaign to force merchants (food stores) to force farmers (California grape growers) to force farm workers (grape pickers) to join a union which they refuse to join of their own volition. A by-product of the boycott in areas where certain stores have given in (the Jewel chain in the Midwest, for one) has been that consumers find it difficult to buy grapes they want. Their right to make the decision on whether or not they buy grapes is usurped by the union.

While the boycott has actually met with little success, it does present some real problems to the grape producers, to farmers here in the Midwest, and to consumers. Should the boycott become more widespread, grape farmers could be ruined financially. If this kind of secondary boycott is allowed to succeed, all other farm producers could immediately expect the same tactics. In any siege like this, the public loses its right to decide what it shall buy and eat, and the consumer's rights are thereby taken away.

Even though several clergymen have been sucked into the fray of this labor unionization attempt, there are many who wonder if Chavez' "holy crusade" for worker justice has not turned into a drive for potential control of this country's food supply.

Already, boycott noises have been made in other directions—toward almonds, peaches, and beef.

This looks like a good time to "turn on" for grapes. The next product which the union might try to "turn off" to the public may be the one you produce.

Almost everybody in this country should be happy. Until you are 21 your parents are responsible for you. At 65, the government's going to take over. You have only 44 years to look after yourself. One-third of that time you sleep, one-third you play, Sundays, mealtimes, and holidays you have off. The average person works only seven years in a lifetime, one shift has figured.

Hold It! Here's A Warning

—from the Gary "Post Tribune," written by Clarence Hogan, and reprinted as a public service by Carl J. Suedhoff of Fort Wayne.

During the year 1919, right after W. W. I, Allied military intelligence uncovered a revolutionary organization located in Dusseldorf, Germany, which fomented indiscipline, desertion and even murder among the troops stationed there. When the subversive's headquarters were raided, the Allied officers found many interesting documents. One of these documents contained a specific outline of "Rules for Bringing About a Revolution." They are listed below:

A. Corrupt the young. Get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial, destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity and thereby:

1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities. Create a complacent, "it can't happen here," attitude toward their government.

2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding them up to ridicule, blame and contempt.

4. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and ruthlessly as possible.

5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices, salaries, and general discontent.

6. Foment unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of the government toward such disorders.

7. By apparently fair but deceptive arguments, break down the old moral virtues: honesty, sobriety, continence, faith in God's word, ruggedness.

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on any pretext, even murder, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

If anyone doubts the authenticity of this article, check New World News, February, 1946. If you are one who thinks it can't happen here, may the good Lord have mercy on you.

When Vice Presidents Speak Out - A Look At The Flip-Flop By HHH

(reprinted from the Republican Congressional Newsletter, Washington, D.C., April 13, 1970.)

What happens to the views of a public official when he leaves office? A classic example is the manner in which Hubert Humphrey's views have undergone transformation since he was LBJ's Vice President. For instance, just the other day (Mar. 16, 1970) in his syndicated column carried in the Washington (D.C.) Daily News, HHH declared:

"The Nixon Administration, especially through Vice President Agnew, seems more intent on polarizing the American people. The Vice President is quick to pin labels on others, to use harsh language, ridicule those who do not agree with him."

What about HHH's label-pinning when he was Vice President? What about his harsh language, his ridicule of those who disagreed with him? Listen to the earlier HHH:

"The Vice President (Humphrey) chose this ultra-conservative state (Utah) yesterday to excoriate the hecklers who have plagued his campaign. He labeled them extremists, followers of Nazi philosophy and enemies of America . . .

Humphrey charged that the anti-war hecklers are part of a disciplined group intent on destroying 'our democratic society as we know it.' . . . Speaking at a Boston rally . . . he called them 'mean anarchists . . . filled with hate, bitterness . . . and bigotry.' "—Article in Long Island's "Newsday," Oct. 12, 1968.

"Humphrey told the 3,500 persons who remained at the rally that the protesters, most of them young, were 'Hitler-types, storm troopers.' "—Philadelphia "Bulletin," Sept. 25, 1968.

"Later, as war protesters chanted at the rear of the crowd, Humphrey drew cheers when he criticized 'extremists and those who chant as if they learned it by rote,' but think not.' "—Philadelphia "Bulletin," Sept. 9, 1968.

"Vice President Humphrey told a group of college students today that a lot of anti-war activity is 'escapism' by those 'who don't want to go out and go to work about problems in this country.' "—AP (Associated Press) story in the New York "Times," Aug. 14, 1968.

Town Board

The major item of discussion at Monday's meeting of the town board was a proposed project which would bring a total new surface water drainage system on Widney Avenue. Preliminary and rough estimates of the project totalled some $5,500. The need for the project was presented to the board due to the lack of catch basins and tile on a major portion of the street. Plugged tile and catch basins leave the street with only its natural fall to take care of surface drainage. The board voted to seek specifications for bids.

Much of the meeting centered around general town welfare, with certain property owners noted as having neglected to cut weeds, some such growth being a traffic hazard at intersections.

It was noted that a few "junk cars" are present in town, and that much of the responsibility for removing such unsightly and potentially dangerous automobiles is a matter of individual cooperation in helping to make the community attractive and individual cooperation with the town board in seeing that local ordinances are observed.

Two minor adjustments were made in the proposed budget for 1971, one being the addition of $200 for election expense next year, the other an increase from $200 to $400 for park maintenance. The board had already raised the latter appropriation from $200 to $300, but a last-minute recommendation brought a further increase.

Problems involved in equipment upkeep have delayed mowing of the local cemetery for a week or so, and its present unsightly appearance has been unavoidable. It is being mowed at the present time and should be properly maintained for the remainder of the summer. Kent Rosenbury will be in charge of the mowing.

It was noted that there will be an interruption in water service in town next Wednesday morning when the water tank is emptied for cleaning and inspection. Users will be without water for a short time until the tank is drained and shut off and the pump connected directly to the water system for constant operation until the inspection is completed.

Bills allowed were:

Two Teams Tied In Slow-Pitch Church League

The Lutherans, only team to defeat Norris Chapel this year, did it again last week to vault into a first-place tie in the 1970 St. Joe Church League. As an encore to their earlier success, brought about by Herb Holden's two-run home run in the last inning, the Lutherans rode the strong hitting of Kyle Strombeck, Mike Haberkorn, and Bob Stiver to a 13-6 victory in the tenth game of the year for both teams. They are now even at the top of the standings with 9-2 records. Haberkorn scored three times on three hits and Strombeck drove in three runs with two hits in giving the winners an early lead, and Stiver put the finishing touches on the Lutherans' 20-hit attack with his second home run of the year.

The Lutherans kept pace with Norris Chapel this week, following Norris Chapel's Monday night victory over Concord with a 13-8 win against Mt. Pleasant-Newville Wednesday evening.

CHURCH LEAGUE SCHEDULE

Friday, August 7: Norris Chapel vs. Coburntown II (umps Coburntown I).

Staff Sergeant Stanley Robinson is now serving in Vietnam for the third time. He recently enjoyed dinner with Dan Crow while both were stationed at Okinawa, according to Mrs. Joe Robinson.

The Don Bakers, enroute from Washington, D. C. to Hawaii where he is to be stationed with the Navy for the next three years were recent guests of honor at family gatherings in this community. A week ago on Sunday afternoon a big gathering was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton H. "Fuzzy" Baker, just south of St. Joe.

Specialist Four Dennis Meschberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Meschberger of Rt. 1, Auburn, recently received the Army Commendation Medal while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam. Spec. 4 Meschberger earned the award for meritorious service as a rifleman in Company B, 1st Battalion of the Division's 502d Infantry.

U. S. Air Force Sergeant Michael G. Sebert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Sebert of Butler, is on duty at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam. Sergeant Sebert is a personnel equipment specialist with the 421st Tactical Fighter Squadron, a unit of the Pacific Air Forces, headquarters for air operations in Southeast Asia, the Far East, and the Pacific Area. He previously served at Minot AFB, North Dakota. He is a 1967 graduate of Eastside High School.

Brown-Armstrong

Miss Reva Jean Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong of Rt. 1, Butler, became the bride of Lane Douglas Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Brown of Rt. 1, Butler, in a candlelight ceremony June 20 at 8:00 p.m. in Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church north of St. Joe.

The Rev. Larry Board, minister of the Butler Church of Christ, officiated.

Miss Dalene Armstrong, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Lynda Baughman served as matron of honor. Miss Cheryl Hose served as bridesmaid, and the bride's sister, Miss Brenda Armstrong, was junior bridesmaid.

Miss Diane Jennings, the bride's cousin, served as flower girl, and the bride's brother, Ronald Armstrong, was ringbearer.

Roc Brown, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Ushers were Mark Brown, the bridegroom's brother, Keith Imhoff, and Kent Imhoff.

Mrs. Keith Ulm was organist, and Miss Nancy Ulm sang "Somewhere" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Nancy Freidenberger, the bride's cousin, served refreshments and registered guests. Also serving were Mrs. Avis Baird and Mrs. Wilma Armstrong, the bride's aunts.

After a reception in the church basement, the couple left on a brief honeymoon. They plan to attend Ball State University at Muncie this fall.

ASC Nominations

DeKalb County farmers now have the opportunity to nominate by petition candidates for ASC community committee posts. The nominating period began July 28 and will close August 17.

"This year we hope farmers in DeKalb County will nominate by petition full slates for all 15 communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," said Max Heffley, chairman of the DeKalb County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committeemen will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates. County committee members serve three-year terms, with one member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually.

Mr. Heffley explained that the County ASC Committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price support loans and purchases, conservation cost-sharing, and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the County Committee administer these programs.

"There's no red tape tied up in nominating a community committee candidate by petition," Mr. Heffley said. "All that's really needed is a sheet of paper naming a candidate, and six or more signatures by eligible voters on that paper. Petitions are limited to one nominee each, but voters may sign as many petitions as they want. A farmer who is an owner, tenant, or sharecropper is an eligible voter in the community where his farm interest is. He can only nominate and vote in one community, however, even if he has farm interests in more than one."

The ASC Committee Chairman said that if at least six eligible candidates are nominated by petitions submitted by farmers in their community, no other nominations need be made. However, if less than six are nominated by petition, the incumbent community committee will complete the slate, selecting candidates actively engaged in farming.

OCEAN'S EDGE

Yesterday I saw the ocean for the first time. Jim and I had been invited to a house party at a cottage on the shore. Having recently moved East from the Midwest, I had anticipated nothing more on the drive down than a weekend of fun and games, swimming and dancing.

But I wasn't prepared for the ocean. Its grandeur and beauty stirred me. Today I walked along the beach for long hours watching the waves or searching the shore for shells, listening to the wonderful roar of the sea as whitecaps splashed around me.

Tonight as I stood at ocean's edge, the stars seemed near. Breakers crashing rhythmically sprinkled phosphorescence on the sand. For an instant I was caught within infinity. Sky, beach and tides contained me—in that moment I saw God.

I may never again achieve the clarity of that second on the beach, but someday I may. For this experience has awakened in me a longing to know more about God and the Truths the beauty of His world reveal.

Rec'n Report

by Forrest Bevington, Director

The summer recreation program is now history. The majority of participants would say the summer program was a success.

The tennis courts were busy with 22 girls and boys learning the skills necessary to play the game. The Junior Girls' champion is Laura Bevington. The Girls' champion is Theresa Kern. The Junior Boys' Champion is Paul Roberts, and Loren Fisher is the Boys' champion. Each of the winners was awarded a trophy.

The girls' kickball teams played on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. In the playoff, Cheryl Hudson's team was the winner.

The regular Junior League Baseball season was successful for 56 boys. Four teams played three days each week. During the season, Mr. Strombeck's team was the winner. In the playoff, the Rinaldi-Akey combination was the winner. The all-star team from the Riverdale Junior League participated in and won an all-star tournament held at Edon, Ohio.

The swimming lessons were held at the Auburn Community Pool. Each day for two weeks, a busload of children had a great time learning how to swim. Seventy-three children took part in the lessons.

The summer attendance for the program added up to a grand total of 2,085 participants, an average of about 46 per day. This was three less than we had last year.

Since this is my last year as head of the Riverdale Recreation Program, I would like to thank Mr. Franklin Sechler, Mr. Jim Rinard, Mr. Pete Akey, Mr. Richard Drake and his helpers, Mr. Richard Strombeck and his helpers, the St. Joe Lions Club, the St. Peter Church, Mrs. Robert Musser, Brown Hardware, the St. Joe News, and all others who helped make these three years of summer activities a success.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

This is one of my annual letters that I send each duty station I'm at. I've been in this country now for two weeks and know it's going to be one long year. The people here in Saigon are in real life poverty, and to most people this is a lush city. Here where I'm at there's no kind of action, except of sabotage you hear about. I count this as luck and hope I keep it. The traffic over here is pretty bad. I can say that although the Germans were bad drivers these Vietnamese are a lot worse. This includes your Driver's Education Students. I have completed 14 months of duty and with 349 days left over here. After all this time overseas I'm finally getting reassured that I'll be able to finish the rest of my time in the States. I've spent the most five months in the U.S. and if I ever make another mistake like this, what I mean is the service, I think that I should be fed to the local aid society for mental help.

Well, I hope no others make it like I did.

Don't get me wrong, I'm proud being a fighting man. But I think our country needs an awful lot of help too.

Gab session is now over. I'll be seeing you all in 340 days, until then, bless you all.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors met Monday evening, July 27, at the Farm Bureau Insurance building. Floyd Pflerman, president, called the meeting to order, after which Irene Nelson gave devotions. She read Psalms 100, and also read a "23rd Psalm for busy people." After prayer, the pledge to the flag was repeated.

Each Unit was reminded that Policy Development completion was due soon, and each unit received tax reform pamphlets to help them on this. Also, they should be thinking of their election of officers if need be.

The president read a letter from Estel Callahan, Education Department Executive, telling about the Indiana State Fair starting August 26 at Indianapolis. DeKalb Farm Bureau again voted to order 50 tickets, which will be available for $1 each at the Farm Bureau Insurance office. These tickets cost $1.50 at the gate.

Mrs. Carl Perkins gave a report on the Farm Bureau Auburn Fair committee meeting. Plans were discussed and were voted to go ahead with them.

A letter was received from Hollys E. Moon, Legislative Department, saying that six of DeKalb County's resolutions sent in last year were accepted. There were three on state affairs and three on national affairs.

Edna Perkins, Woman Leader, listed several dates coming up. September 14 is a District II Women's meeting at the Holiday Inn in Steuben County. October 15 is our Annual Meeting. October 22 is a District II dinner meeting at Columbia City.

The coaching staff was introduced by Principal Robert E. Williams. Athletic director Leon Strange explained the insurance program for athletes and the schedules for the year. Coach Conley discussed the practice schedule, equipment use, rule changes, and expressed his plans for the 1970 season. The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, August 13, 1970 — NUMBER 33

Indiana State Library

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Registration Date For School

The office of the Riverdale Elementary School in Saint Joe will be open for registration of new students in grades Kindergarten through Eight starting Monday, August 17 between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. New students and children who are eligible for Kindergarten (Kindergarten children must be five years old on or before September 1, 1970) and who have not registered are urged to do so as soon as possible. No child enrolling for the first time at Riverdale School can be admitted to classes unless written evidence of tuberculin testing has been presented.

The Riverdale cafeteria daily lunch prices will remain at 30 cents for students in all grades and 35 cents for adults. Milk prices will remain at 2 cents for white milk and 3 cents for chocolate flavored drink per bottle. One minor change will be that of extra sandwiches above and beyond the type "A" lunch served to the students. The new cost will be 12 cents, rather than the 10 cents in previous years. In no case will an a la carte lunch be served, as per regulations and agreements with the School Lunch Division in Indianapolis. Parents are urged to purchase lunch and milk tickets by the week if possible to reduce the daily record-keeping.

Parents of children who feel they cannot pay the cost of the lunch shall come to the Principal's office and discuss the matter. If it is agreed that these children are to have a free or reduced-price lunch, they will in no way be identified as children of financially deprived parents.

Anyone needing further information may call 337-2911 during the above stated hours.

HS Grads To Hold Reunion

Alumni of St. Joe High School will hold their annual reunion September 13, 1907, at the St. Joe Conservation Club grounds. A carry-in dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m.

1971 Budget Publication Prompts- A Report From The Town Board

—By the Town Board President

The budget for 1970 is $15,901. The proposed budget for 1971 is $16,536. There have been reductions in some appropriations and increases in others to make the proposed budget a little higher than last year's. An explanation follows.

In personal services, the salaries of town officials remain the same, with town board members getting $150 each and the clerk-treasurer receiving $300. The clerk also receives compensation from services as clerk of the cemetery and clerk of the water works, $150 per year from the former and $200 from the latter. The fire department gets $150, and the town attorney $200. The transportation fund was increased from $100 to $200 to allow for travel expenses of the dog warden for disposal of stray dogs which are taken to the Fort Wayne humane shelter. The park fund was increased from $200 to $400 as a boost to Willard Hurni, who has made Wild Cherry Park a very pleasant place for outings. The dog warden's base pay remains at $150 per year.

It should be noted that people serving in local office do not receive near the pay as is represented by the time required to fulfill duties. A small community cannot afford to pay more, and those who serve make sizeable contributions in time and effort to their community while serving the public.

An increase from $75 to $100 was made for legal notices and repair to equipment was raised from $100 to $200. Trash collection appropriation was raised from $3,100 to $3,300 to allow for any possible increase when a new contract is let next year. Cemetery fund was raised from $1,200 to $1,400, but part of this total appropriation is paid for by revenue received from opening of graves. However, proper mowing maintenance requires more cuttings, and the fund was increased for this reason. Mosquito control funds remain at $200. Allowance for gasoline was raised from $50 to $100. Rent for equipment storage is up to $180 from $120.

Bond premiums, dues, materials, office supplies, stationery, postage, repair allowances, telephone, and other such basic items were left the same.

The biggest reduction was in motor equipment, from $2,300 down to $1,700. This year's appropriation was high because the board planned to buy a riding mower for the cemetery this year. However, unexpended funds were available last year and the mower was therefore paid for in 1969. Thus, the appropriation could be reduced to cover only the expense of payments on the new town fire truck amounting to just under $1,700 a year.

One of the major items in the budget is that of insurance, this appropriation totalling $1,000. Hydrant rental, paid to the local waterworks system, is $2,200 and represents a way of paying off bonds by taxation and keeping the water rate down, something of a financial "trick."

The proposed budget for 1971 includes no frills. The board had considered the need for additional motor equipment for street work, but high costs discouraged any additional expenses in that category. The board also wished to undertake town-wide tree trimming on street right-of-ways, but again was discouraged by the total budgetary needs in other departments.

All in all, the board "took it easy" in preparing the new budget in order to be as considerate of the taxpayer as possible. As was mentioned in a previous article, inflation is making the total bill go up each year without much more being accomplished. And the board is faced with the situation wherein the public demands more services, then yells when the tax burden must also go up. Some things which are pointed out could be taken care of privately, such as replacement of broken and bumpy sidewalks. Although the town board is empowered by law with the privilege of installing sidewalks where needed at the property owners' expense, a much better program is that wherein the property owners themselves take care of the matter without forcing the hand of the board. It's a matter of responsible citizenship and personal pride. Incidentally, new sidewalks are supposed to be installed with the approval of the board and according to regulations established in the past by previous town boards.

You may have noticed a "temporary loan" mentioned in the official budget publication in the revue of receipts and requirements. The town has not actually borrowed money to cover financial indebtedness. The "loan" was only within the town's own financial structure, with $2,000 transferred from the Capital Cumulative Investment Fund to the general fund because the state is slow in getting funds distributed—but the bills keep coming in! When the town's tax money is received, the $2,000 will be put back in the C.C.I.F.

Legislative Report

As a member of the Health Subcommittee of the Health and Welfare Committee of the Indiana Legislative Council, we've met about one time per month for the past year to hear and discuss proposals for bills to be presented to the next General Assembly.

Among the 15 bills to be proposed for legislation is a 15-page bill for an act concerning the provisions and regulation of emergency medical services, describing the powers and duties of the State Board of Health related thereto, and making an appropriation of approximately 1.5 million the first year.

It is the purpose of this act to try to promote the establishment and maintenance of an effective system of emergency medical service, including the necessary equipment, manpower, and facilities, to insure that all victims of injuries and medical emergencies receive prompt and adequate emergency medical care under the range of emergency conditions encountered.

In my opinion we should be grateful for the ambulance service now available and not spend millions in taxes annually for socialized ambulance services, the Federal Highway Safety Act requirement notwithstanding. Contact your legislator for further details.

TURNABOUT

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, September 3, 1970 — NUMBER 34

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

WITH THE EDITOR

Roy Reidenbach didn't let a little ol' broken leg slow him down too much for too long. As soon as he got home from the hospital, he propped his leg up on the riding mower and did some of the grass at the Reidenbach residence.

It's always the big ones that get away. And three of them did last week during vacation. I hooked onto a dogfish one evening from the pier and after a minute or so of trying to over power him, I saw the line snap. Dogfish aren't exactly table grade, I know, but they're fun to struggle with.

Then a few nights later, and within ten minutes, two more fines were snapped by big ones, hooked again from the pier on first basin at Lake James.

A big vine popped into view on our back lot this summer. It grew out of a pile of leaves I intended to use for a fish worm supply. At first we thought we were getting watermelons, but then they turned into pumpkins. The vine was an accident; apparently pumpkin seeds got thrown out with paper in the last year and survived burning.

We were looking forward to Halloween this year with pumpkins from our own accidental vine. But evidently someone thought they were more entitled to pumpkins than we; they were off the vine when I came back one day last week to pick up the mail.

I hope whoever did it enjoyed the pumpkins — — — like fun I do!

It should be mentioned that the church league depends upon Lavon Hart in many ways, not the least of which is his umpiring ability for such crucial and significant games as the playoff and All-Star games. And he also took care of the presentation of trophies, after also seeing to it that there were trophies to present!

Dewey White came into a compliment this week during a conversation I had Tuesday with Violette Kline. We were talking about employment, employees, jobs, and so on, inasmuch as the dairy is no longer functioning in Saint Joe. Violette pointed out that she and Maury had been served by many good people in working at the dairy, singling out Dewey in particular. He appears to be one of those rare gems who puts doing a good job for his employer ahead of getting all he can out of his employer.

—Hooray for Dewey.

Lutherans Win Church League Championship

Mike Haberkorn last week unleashed back to back homers, one in each of two games, to inspire his church league teammates to a championship playoff win and a victory over the league All-Stars. The first came in the 8th inning of the playoff; the second, a grand slammer, in the first inning of the All-Star tilt.

In one of the most dramatic contests in Church League history, the Saint Joe-Spencerville Lutherans staged an extra inning homerun show to cap a come from behind rally and claim a 6-3 conquest over Norris Chapel to win their third league championship in six years. The action took place Monday, August 24, in a playoff game which was needed after both teams completed regular season play in a first place tie with 12-2 records.

The victory climaxed a season long comeback in which the new champs won their last 12 games after losing two of their first three.

Norris Chapel had held the lead all season until the final two weeks when the Lutherans won their 13th game to forge a half-game lead. The playoff loss was Norris Chapel's third of the year, all of which were inflicted by the Lutherans.

The champs reversed their late-season trend toward shabby fielding and turned in one of their finest defensive performances, committing only one serious fielding lapse which came in the last inning.

Norris Chapel took advantage of early breaks and built a 2-0 lead for four innings. The Lutherans tied it up with 2 in the fifth on three hits and an error, then took the lead with a single tally in the 6th.

Entering the bottom of the 7th (regulation limit in softball), Don Meschberger smacked a leadoff double. After a fly-out, he scored the tying run when the Lutherans fumbled Steve Cutter's fly ball and the ensuing relays in trying to throw the runners out. Culler, representing the winning run, reached third on the play.

Ted Haberkorn's clutch pitching got the next two hitters to make easy infield outs, and the pressure mounted as the game went into extra innings and set the stage for Mike Haberkorn's heroics and Herb Holden's "frosting on the cake."

After Pete Timmerman drew a leadoff walk to open the 8th, Haberkorn fouled off two pitches in an attempt to hit to right field. On the next pitch, he hammered a hard high line drive over the left field fence for his third home run of the year, putting the Lutherans on top 5-3. Holden followed with his 10th circuit shot of the campaign, a towering smash which narrowly missed hitting the top of the light tower in right field.

Roger Troesh opened Norris Chapel's half of the 8th with a single, but was doubled up at second in an effort to advance after a fly-out to Holden in left field. Another single proved harmless when a short fly ball to Holden brought the championship trophy back to the Lutherans following a one-year stay with Mt. Pleasant-Newville United Methodist, the 1969 champs. The Lutherans also won in 1965.

In the season-ending All-Star game, the champs stayed true to form and posted an 8-6 win on the strength of Haberkorn's first inning grand slam home run. Ed Hinsenag, All-Star first baseman from Hicksville, drilled a line drive home run and outfielder Roger Coburn of Coburntown I had three hits to lead the All-Stars' attack.

At the All-Star game, played last Thursday night, league secretary Lavon Hart presented the Sportsmanship Trophy to Jim Hudson who represented the Concord United Methodist team which won the honor by the vote of all the teams.

The final standings follow:

1970 Junior League All-Star Tourney Champions

It has taken a while to get here, but it's worth it. Above is shown the Junior League All Star team that won a tourney championship last month at Edon, Ohio. In front are Dean Akey, Tim Heyman and Mark Mansfield. In back are Jim Rinard, Jeff Hudson, P. D. Roberts, Phil Staley, Rick Rinard, Mike Mansfield, Chris Knisely, Leo Carper, Larry McKown, Brent Resor, Ted Hansen, Paul Collins, Mark Diemer and Red Strombeck. Lane Hart was also a member of the team but due to illness could not participate in the tourney.

School Starts Next Wednesday

With school set to begin next Wednesday, September 9, Superintendent Kenneth Cole of the DeKalb Eastern school district has issued the following pertinent facts.

Tuesday, September 8, will be teacher orientation day with no students attending classes. The Wednesday session will find all buses on regular morning time schedules. Early dismissal will be at 10:30 a.m. at Riverdale Elementary, 10:50 a.m. at Butler Elementary and 11:00 a.m. at the high school.

Thursday, September 10, will be the first full day of school.

All school bus schedules will remain the same as last year. All cafeteria prices will remain the same, also.

All hard bound textbooks are furnished "free" to all students in grades 1-8. But parents must provide all consumable practice books, paper, pens, pencils, etc. Parents of students in grades 9-12 must furnish all books and other materials.

All new students must show a doctor's written certificate showing freedom from tuberculosis before being admitted to school.

The Special Milk Program has not been extended by the federal government beyond August 31, 1970. Therefore, until further notice, all milk other than the one-half pint that goes with a hot lucnh will cost the pupil 7 cents per half pint for both white and chocolate milk. This means that extra milk with hot lunch, mid-morning or mid-afternoon milk, and milk to go with a sack lunch will cost 7 cents per half-pint.

If the Special Milk Program is again funded in the future, prices will then be adjusted.

What's The Matter?

—by Harvey Hull

What's the matter with those who belong to the American Legion in Saint Joe? I notified forty members in this area by card or phone of the meeting held Tuesday, August 11, for the purpose of installing the new officers. How many came? Just five—one from Fort Wayne, the new commander, and three of the older members who don't get around as well as in the past.

The American Legion is the greatest service organization in the United States outside the church and in some cases it surpasses the church. If the members, especially of World War II and later wars, cannot meet their responsibilities to this great organization, they better sit down and reflect on the great chance they are missing to be of service not only to those who have been engaged in war, in peacetime, and to all of our citizens.

The post at Saint Joe has many things that are loaned out to the sick and to those who are disabled. We have had many calls for these articles. Now, if one of these stay-at-home members became disabled, the first thing he would do would come to the Legion.

Think it over, Legionnaires, and let's all help the Legion work, through attendance only two night a month.

Antique Show Augments A-C-D Celebration

The Tri Kappa Antique Show, to be held Labor Day weekend in conjunction with the Auburn-Cord Duesenberg Days celebration, is being publicized in part by the little pony-drawn buggy shown above. The eye-catching rig has been drawing attention to the event since last week as it moved along the streets of Auburn.

Ruth Harvey, wife of the driver, Dr. John Harvey, both shown above, along with their son, Adam, is vice chairman of publicity for the event being added to the automobile show. In addition to glimpses into the past with the 80-100 old classic cars on display in town this coming week end, visitors will be given a chance to browse through and buy symbols of America's past at the Antique Show.

The show, sponsored by Tri Kappa Sorority, will be held at the 4-H Exhibit Hall at the DeKalb County fairgrounds. Dealers from all over the tri-state area will bring glassware, primitives, china, furniture, jewelry, guns, coins and some antique auto parts.

Show hours are Saturday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sandwiches, chips and cold drinks will be served continuously inside. Tickets will be available at the door for $1.00 and all proceeds will be used to support the philanthropic, educational and charitable projects of the sorority.

From The FBI---

by J. Edgar Hoover, Director Federal Bureau of Investigation

People do not always say what they mean, sometimes intentionally. For instance, there appears to be a deliberate attempt to place a disparaging label on a proven principle of our society. I have in mind the current practice of some who purposely complain of "repression" when they are talking about the supremacy of the law. Apparently to them, any law enforcement function is repressive.

I want to state emphatically and unequivocally that vigorous, effective law enforcement is not repression; rather, it is an integral part of a free society, and it is necessary to our survival. This becomes clearer with every violent demonstration. There can be no freedom and there can be no liberty without supremacy of the law. And we cannot have supremacy of the law unless the law is enforced.

Much of the talk about repression comes from those involved in or in sympathy with revolutionary violence on our campuses and in our streets. With blind enthusiasm for their diverse causes, they defy all authority, burn, loot, and destroy property, and assault police with bricks, bottles, stones, and sometimes firearms—all in the name of dissent.

The first amendment is explicit as to "the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." This is a popular and cherished freedom, and rightly so. Peaceably is a key word of the above quote; however, it is conveniently ignored by many persons who equate dissent with destruction.

A defiant militant, with a brick in one hand and a firebomb in the other, standing shoulder to shoulder with hundreds of similarly armed protesters, blocking a main thoroughfare and silhouetted against a flaming public building, shouting that his right to dissent is being repressed is a picture of paradox. He may be making news, but he is perverting freedom.

There is nothing in the first amendment which guarantees people the right to riot and plunder as means of dissent. Invariably, when incidents and altercations occur during public dissent, the trouble is started by unpeaceful participants who knowingly and willingly break the law. Then, when the constitutional functions of enforcing the law and restoring order are brought into play, the participants and their sympathizers scream "repression," a typical anarchic response. No one claims that members of law enforcement have never overreacted to physical and verbal assaults by rioters—one excess against another as it were. But, let us get one thing straight. Prompt, effective law enforcement to stop rioting mobs and wanton destruction is not repression. It is a vital cog in our democratic process.

Some people imply that our choice today may be between anarchy and repression. Indeed, it is not. Our choice today is the same as that of our Founding Fathers some 200 years ago—liberty and freedom under the rule of law. If we enforce the law when is it violated, we will perpetuate this choice, and we will have nothing to fear from either anarchy or repression. Thus, let us make certain that the distinction is clear—the law and its enforcement are pillars of freedom, not repression.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club held its August picnic in the pavilion in Wild Cherry Park at Saint Joe on August 11, 1970, at noon.

The dinner furnished most of the traditional dishes for picnics from fried chicken to lemon pie, with salads, sandwiches, garden vegetables and relishes besides.

The meeting followed the dinner, and the decision to visit Ann Cosgne's show was tabled once again. Roll call proved interesting and informational as each was to tell when and where she was born, also her full name. As women dislike questions on age, everyone was busy taking notes as each lady reported when her name was called. Now everyone knows how old everyone else is. Very interesting, what?!

When the meeting closed, the group decided to visit the "Souvenir Shop" at Sechler's Pickle Factory where on display are many and useful items for sale.

The September 8 meeting is scheduled to be in the home of Helen Lohse, west of Spencerville on road 68.

Blazers Open Season Friday

The Eastside Blazers open their 1970 football season Friday night playing Woodlan at the Woodlan field. The game is listed as a home game for the Blazers, but due to construction of their new field which is not yet completed, the game will be played away.

The September 11 game is also a home game, but will be played at the Carroll High School field.

New football coach John Conley opened practice August 12 with 31 players reporting. 13 lettermen form a solid nucleus for the team, with veteran backfield lettermen Charlie Ross, Kevin Campbell, Steve Baird, Dale Curry and Dave Miller expected to carry the backfield load. Lettermen linemen include Dan Winn, Doug Fetters, Handy Hartleroad, Mark Houser, Rick Rickard, Vic Dermott, Dave Yates and Jim Lortie.

With numerically the largest Blazer squad in recent years, the prospects are bright for a good season, according to Coach Conley. In early practice sessions, spirit and enthusiasm runs high and the team is eager for their first scheduled game.

SAINT JOE VALLEY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB
Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Home makers Extension Club met at Wild Cherry Park August 27, 1970, for a picnic and Guest Day. Each member brought a guest and we hope they will be members of our club.

At the noon hour we set down to a table loaded with good (fattening) food which was enjoyed by all.

After the dinner dishes were cleared away, our president, Doris Yeiser, called the meeting to order with everyone reciting the club collect.

Devotions were given by Pat Roberts. She read from Psalm 33, then read a poem, "His Outstretched Hand." She stressed how lonely our road of life would be without His hand to lead us.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Cline ser, then all joined in singing "Bliest Be the Tie That Binds."

Roll call was answered by nine members and their guests with a nursery rhyme, and many old rhymes were brought to life.

The president then read state and county newsletters, and asked how many could go to Lake Oliver September 14 for a meeting. Much interest was shown and we hope many can go.

Pat Roberts then proposed for membership Barbara Lotermer and she was unanimously accepted. We all hope to welcome her to our club in September.

The president then reported the death of Nancy Coburn's daughter, Betty. Our sympathy and prayers go out to Nancy in her time of sorrow.

The meeting was then closed with the club prayer song and the afternoon was spent making Christmas ornaments. Much visiting and joking went around the table and I'm sure it was enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting will be election of officers. See you all then.

UF Goal Set At $93,000

At a recent meeting of the United Fund board of directors, a budget goal of $93,000.00 was set for the 1970-71 campaign. Leroy Close of Auburn heads the organization this year.

Seven area chairmen for DeKalb County were announced. They include Ted Haberkorn for the Riverdale area; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lane, Butler; Howard Lemper, Auburn; Ron Dicke, Garrett; Mrs. Barbara Miller, Waterloo; Bruce Ross, Ashley; and Mrs. Duane King, Corunna.

The countywide campaign for funds will be held October 12-24.

Mr. Haberkorn, Riverdale area chairman, has announced that a meeting will be held Thursday, September 17, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe for the purpose of organizing the local solicitation of funds. All those who have assisted in the campaign in the past are asked to attend, as well as any other civic-minded citizens who wish to participate in and help with the fund-raising effort.

The county board has regretfully accepted the resignation of Carl Ebert who has served as executive director for the past two years. The steering committee, of which Mr. Haberkorn is a member, is currently seeking to find a replacement for Mr. Ebert who plans to move to Florida late this fall.

What can all this conglomeration have in common?

Nothing, you may say — no two people in the world are exactly alike!

But they do have something in common, you know — something very important—they are all human beings. No matter how different, the point is they have the same hopes and ambitions and frustrations as you and I.

You and I like to think we are a little different, of course. But you and I share something with all other human beings — something very precious. We are all loved by God, and we should all return a little of that love to Him every Sunday — in the church of our choice.

'Rewards Of A Gracious Heart'

by Elizabeth Byrd
(condensed from "Together"; reprinted from "Reader's Digest.")

On the way to Inverness, Scotland, several years ago, a big rawboned farm woman sitting beside me on the bus asked why an American should travel north in the dead of winter. "It's rooky weather in the Highlands."

I explained that I liked wild weather and that I was gathering material for a historical novel, talking to country people, soaking up sheep-lore and folkways that have changed little in four centuries.

She invited me to visit her overnight. "We've a wee croft, but warm, and I'd welcome your company, for my husband's off to market."

It was raining hard when we reached her home, a dumpy stone cottage on a bleak slope. Collies welcomed us, and Mrs. McIntosh led me into a spotless, shabby parlor.

Suddenly the lights flickered and died. She sighed, "The power's oot," and lit candles. While she was making a fire there was a knock on the door.

She opened it and a boy came in. She took his dripping coat and cap, and as he moved into the firelight I saw that he was about 12 years old—and pitifully crippled.

After he caught his breath, he said, "My father tried to ring you, but your phone is dead. I came to see that you're all right."

"Thank you, John," she said, and introduced us. The wind rose, raving and screaming, battering the shutters. I told them how much I loved the drama of the storm.

"You're not scared?" John asked.

I started to say no, but Mrs. McIntosh, though obviously afraid of nothing, quickly said what any boy longs to hear, "Of course she was scared, and so was I. But now we've got a man aboot."

There was a moment's silence. Then he rose. "I'll see that everything's snug," he said. And he hobbled out with a little swagger.

Weeks later the incident still haunted me. Why hadn't I answered his question as Mrs. McIntosh had—tenderly, imaginatively? And how often before in my life, insensitive through self-absorption, had I failed to recognize another's need?

Perhaps my heart had been asleep for years, but now it was awakening, anxious to compensate for lost opportunities, and avidly curious. By what magic had Mrs. McIntosh transformed a crippled boy into a confident man? Had it been instinctive kindness, or deliberate? Was it compassion, tact or a combination? Then I recalled an expression used by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale. He had called such generosity of spirit the "gracious heart."

Looking back, I realized how often I had been helped by such hearts, how often I, too, had been exalted by a single gracious phrase or act. My mother did this for me many times when I was young and vulnerable, conferring the precious gift of self-esteem by a thoughtful gesture.

Once when I was seven, she was planning a formal tea and I wanted to help. I picked a bunch of dandelions and brought them to her. Many a mother would have thanked me and plumped the ragged weeds into a milk bottle in the kitchen. But my mother arranged them in her loveliest vase on the piano between tall candelabra. And she made no simpering explanation to her guests about "little Betty's flowers." Now, whenever I see flowers at a party, I remember the pride I felt that my dandelions, treasured above roses, had the place of honor.

The gracious heart is, above all, strongly understanding of the feelings of others. My teenage brother taught me this the night he helped to create a popular girl. He had seen her at a dance—a shy, unattractive little freshman. Nobody paid any attention to her, and she faded against the wall. He asked her to dance, and a minor miracle occurred. She was so happy that she sparkled and was almost pretty. Another boy cut in; afterward she danced nearly every dance.

Gallantry like that deepens every relationship. It can polish a marriage to a new luster. My friend Marge told me that on her 40th birthday she was, like many women, deeply depressed. She knew that happy, productive years lay ahead, but in the excessive value placed on youth in our society, she had lost her perspective. She said nothing of this to her husband at breakfast, but after he left she gave way to tears. She foresaw deepening wrinkles, a struggle to remain slender. By the time her husband came home she had regained a degree of calm, but the ache persisted. After dinner he said, "Come and see your presents."

They had always exchanged practical gifts and she suspected he had sneaked in the vacuum cleaner they needed. But to her amazement she unwrapped a pair of jeweled boudoir slippers and a lace negligee. "He didn't explain why," she said. "But I knew what he was implying: 'You're beautiful, you're glamorous.' And the odd thing was, I began to feel that way."

The gracious heart is never too busy. I recall hearing of a little boy who was devoted to a battered, one-eyed teddy bear. Hospitalized for a tonsillectomy, he was holding Teddy close when the surgeon came to his bedside just before the operation. A nurse moved to take the bear, "but the doctor said gravely, "Leave Teddy there. He needs attention, too."

When the child regained consciousness Teddy was snuggled against the pillow—and across his missing eye was the neatest bandage a skillful surgeon could devise.

Opportunities to put this rewarding talent to good use are all around us. I was shopping with a friend in New York's Italian section when she noticed a boy of about eight helping his father sell vegetables from a pushcart. He proudly sold a cauliflower to a woman and waited for payment, but she reached past him and gave the money to his father. The little fellow's smile faded; his shoulders slumped. My friend realized that somehow she would have to retrieve the child's pride. She called him over and selected tomatoes and scallions which he put in a bag. She could have given him even change; instead she gave him a dollar. For a few seconds he frowned, calculating; then he brightened and handed her the correct change.

"Thank you," she said. "I coulda't have figured that fast."

"Aw, it was nothin'," he said, looking at his father. But it was something to him, and suddenly all four of us were beaming, warmed by the glow that her imaginative act had created.

"The gracious heart protects and enlarges the self-respect of the other person, builds his ego," says Dr. Peale. "When you come home from work and your child races to greet you, asking excitedly, 'Did you hear what happened on Main Street today?' your gracious heart, somehow, has not heard the news—it gives the child the pleasure of telling you. But if you say, "Oh, yes. I heard about it an hour ago,' your heart is only building up your own ego."

There is enormous love in this world—unconscious, instinctive, eager for expression. Each of us can learn to unlock it with the thoughtful courtesies of a gracious heart.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

When I stuck that little item in the "Did you know thats" about the robbery at Butler, it was supposed to be a joke about my vacation immediately thereafter—until I read the description of one of the robbers: "A white male, approximately 40 years old, 6' 3" tall, 175-180 pounds, brown hair."

Well— — I FEEL young — and SOME of my hair is still brown — —.

Just before we left for vacation Roger and Maggie Cook found an old gravestone at their farm, buried about two feet so that only the very top was above ground. The inscription was not totally readable since there was a chunk missing. But there was the following inscription:

"ME——IN, son of J. P. and M. H. Widney, died may 12, 18-62, aged 3 d'ys."

Carl Carpenter says it's the grave marker of one of his cousins, that area being Carl's family's old stamping grounds.

The following post card came this week:

"Hi Ted!—

"Please send me The News at the following address until May 29, 1971.

Mr. Jerry Mansfield
Box 69 Crowe Hall
Hanover College,
Hanover, Indiana 47243

"I told mom and dad I would send you my address, so they will be expecting the bill.

"Thank you.

Jerry"

Kenny Furnish stopped in this week to say thanks for sending the paper while he was in the Army. He got out August 10.

Larry Kinsey has a new address while he's in service. Here 'tis:

SP4 Larry W. Kinsey
311 54 7750
78th Trans Co
APO NY 09057

A note from the Fleet Home Town News Center informs us that Navy Seaman Apprentice Steve J. Evans graduated from basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Illinois, recently.

—And Army recruiter Sgt. George Siler stopped in this week to say that he is available for personal interviews every Monday from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. at the Selective Service Office in Auburn. He has full information on enlisted opportunities, Officer Candidate School, Warrant Officer Flight Training, Women's Army Corps and Army Nurse Corps.

Usually it's the smaller fry whose words of appreciation for this or that are particularly heartwarming. But twice this week, Number Three Son made me feel good, once without saying a word.

In the process of getting all our vacation paraphenalia back home this week, Esther was at the lake packing while Mike, Phil and I were back home working or going to school. At lunch time Mike and I had a couple of hamburgers at 11:30 and we had finished when Phil came back from I.U. at Fort Wayne at noon. As he walked in the back door I heard him say, "M-m-m-m-, something smells good."

It was only hamburgers, but I was in seventh heaven—and I fixed him a couple of the best burgers he ever ate.

Then Wednesday evening, I started a charcoal fire near the back door and had some rib steaks on when Phil returned home around 6:30. As I started toward the back door on my way to check the progress of the steaks, I could see Phil come up the back steps, glance over at the smoking fire with supper cooking thereon—and his eyes get big as he at the same time licked his chops in anticipation.

It definitely is the little things that count.

The unfortunate thing about vacations for smalltown newspapers is that things happen during the vacation that may be overlooked or forgotten—and they shouldn't be.

As, for instance, Dennis Melchi's participation in the National Soapbox Derby at Akron. He didn't win, but he gave a good account of himself. And the local Junior League All-Stars won a double-elimination baseball tourney at Butler (they love to beat Butler for some reason!).

Not on the happy side is the closing of the restaurant in Saint Joe after a year of business—and there was a fire in the restaurant kitchen just before it closed.

How many weeks have I been running that announcement of the Saint Joe School Reunion as "1907"—and nobody told me about it?

Everett Paschen, former principal and coach of Spencerville High School in the good old days of the '40's, recently announced his retirement after 44 years of service in public education. In recent years, 17 to be exact, he has been teaching math in New Haven Junior High of the East Allen County Schools.

In 1931, 1932 and 1933 he led Howe to sectional basketball championships, and in 1947 he led Spencerville to a sectional crown.

It's been a while since I have seen the Paschens. I hope they have a good time in their retirement years.

Request Denied For Higher Sewage Priority Point Allotment

An application was made this past spring for state and federal grants for the proposed sewage treatment plant for Saint Joe. Application was made by the local town board through Clyde E. Williams & Associates of South Bend who had prepared a preliminary survey some three years ago. Estimated cost at the time of original application was around $350,000.

Last year the town applied for grants but did not qualify for funds under the priority system established by the Indiana Stream Pollution Control Board.

This year's application contained an estimated cost which had increased to $400,000 due to inflation and certain modifications in the engineers' recommendations.

This year's application has also been turned down. A letter from the state agency in August indicated that Saint Joe had a total of 15.27 points under the priority system. Mr. Robert Klink, representative of the engineering firm, informed the board last month that 16 points was the minimum for qualifying for grants. He asked for permission to request additional point credit for proximity to the Fort Wayne water supply system and the permission was given.

The effort was unsuccessful. On September 8, a letter was sent to the local town board notifying it that the request for additional points could not be granted under the requirements for point assignment.

Therefore, as matters now stand, a sewage treatment plant for Saint Joe yet remains some time in the future.

UF Volunteers Urged To Attend Sept. 17 Meeting

A meeting to organize the Riverdale area for this year's United Fund campaign will be held next week on Thursday, September 17, according to Ted Haberkorn, area chairman. The meeting will be held at St. Mark Lutheran Church starting at 7:30 p.m.

Last year this area raised over $1,220, an amount very nearly the same as in 1968. It is hoped that at least that amount can be raised again this year and perhaps a little more toward the county goal of $83,000.

All those who have assisted in the past, and any new workers, are urged to attend next Thursday's meeting. The more workers there are, the less work involved for each.

Clerk's Bookkeeping Problems Bring--- A Report From The Town Board

—by the Board President

Special favors for special situations in the administration of town affairs would be fine if it were possible to grant such favors without creating any problems. But it has been shown by experience that making allowances for one situation only creates the desire for special consideration by other persons.

It is impossible to administer town affairs, even in a town as small as Saint Joe, on a person-by-person basis without making such administration unduly time-consuming and complicated.

This fact is pointed out because the clerk has received some "static" over the payment of water bills with the customer refusing to pay for trash pickup. A favor granted to one resident brings a request from another, and still another, to be relieved of trash collection fees because a house is not occupied but has the water turned on or because there is no trash picked up at the residence for some other reason.

It is necessary to understand that water service and trash collection are utilities provided by the town administration, not by private citizens. The monthly bill of $240.00 presented to the town by the trash collection agency is an obligation shared by every property owner in the town where any utilities are needed and provided. The property owner is not paying $1.50 a month to have his particular trash picked up; he is paying the $1.50 as his share of the expense of providing the service for the entire town.

Unfortunately, the monthly bills show water and trash collection as separate items; this probably leads to the misunderstanding about the manner of paying for town utilities. It would be more proper, and perhaps in the future the bills can be re-arranged (if there isn't any law against it!) to indicate "utilities" with the single total amount due from the householder as his share in providing the services rendered to the entire town.

It is contrary to administrative policy to collect only water fees from any property or home owner without collecting the trash pickup fee also. If the water is shut off by request of the property owner, then there are no utility fees. But as soon as water is needed, the amount due includes both water and trash collection obligations, combined as "utilities" provided by and through the town.

Some such partial payments have been made in the past, but they are not justifiable and will no longer be allowed. Every effort is made by the board and the clerk to treat all citizens equally and fairly. But it will require the cooperation of the public to help make fair administration of utilities obligations less a burden and a problem by remembering that utilities are a total and general public obligation, not subject generally to special and individual consideration.

When sewage disposal comes to Saint Joe, that service, too, will become a "utility," and the need for any one of the utilities will bring the obligation for all three utilities.

HS Grads To Hold Reunion

Alumni of St. Joe High School will hold their annual reunion September 13, 1970, at the Saint Joe Conservation Club grounds. A carry-in dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Anyone who attended the local high school in years past is invited and urged to attend. There is usually a big turnout and everyone enjoys the reminiscing and the renewing of old friendships.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met for a regular session Tuesday evening with board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn and clerk-treasurer Emma Frank present. There were no visitors.

The board also met August 31 for a brief special session to approve the proposed budget for 1971.

At Tuesday's meeting, several suggestions and complaints proferred by local citizens were reviewed, including the perpetual dog nuisance problem. On the plus side of the town's affairs was the recent removal of two junk cars and the cutting of high weeds, indicating public cooperation with the board.

A review of the water utility by the clerk indicated that some half dozen or so families moved to or from this community. These movings occasionally involve leaving behind an unpaid utility bill, which becomes the responsibility of the property owner.

The board voted to remove the concrete block on the main street of Saint Joe, located next to the local grocery building, at the suggestion of local citizens. The block was the site in times past of the old town pump, later becoming a drinking fountain, then taken out of operation due to destructive activities by the youth of the community.

An unofficial report was given that the recent inspection of the water tower revealed no damage or need of repairs. It was noted that Chuck and Kent Rosenbury have kept the local cemetery in good appearance since takign over the mowing job recently.

Bills allowed were as follows: Town—Standard Oil Company, oil drum 66.00; Cemetery Sinking Fund 75.00; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 240.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 4.05; Saint Joe News, publication of budget 60.19; Hixson Sand & Gravel, balance due 9.00; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, street lights 235.26; Kenneth Roberts, labor 72.50; Kenton Rosenbury, mow cemetery 80.00.

Waterworks—William Mansfield, labor 10.00; William Mansfield, salary and postage 40.08; Economics Laboratories, chemicals 172.80; I&M 3.00; Treaty Company, parts 95.78; Saint Joe Post Office, stamped envelopes 73.70; Emma Frank, postage 9.00; Emma Frank, supplies 14.75.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted:

This summer Doris Stuck asked me to write a poem about her retirement. Here it is:

School Teacher Retires

Thirty-four years Doris has taught school,
Teaching children "The Golden Rule";
Teaching them how to read and write,
And also teaching them wrong
from right.

She also taught Love for one another,
Just like a sister and a brother;
Obeying the orders of their father,
And also of their loving mother.

And now Doris is ready to retire,
And spend the winter by the fire.
I am sure, Doris, before the winter is through,
Your hubby will find a job for you.

Now we wish you happiness
along life's way,
And for many years, together
you will stay;
Until the Reaper comes your way,
And one is left alone to stay.

Debbie Wins Again

Debbie Warstler, 18, of Butler, captured the girls' twirling championship, senior division during the United States Twirling Association's 13th annual convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in August.

Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Warstler. She has two younger sisters and one younger brother.

A graduate of Eastside High School, Debbie was a feature twirler and cheerleader there for four years. She will be twirling with the Indiana University Band this fall, and plans to major there in physical education.

Debbie has been twirling for eight years under the tutelage of Mr. Jack Crum of Syracuse.

At the convention, Debbie was among 300 other contestants competing for the championship in her division, with over 1,100 other twirlers taking part in the contest. This was Debbie's seventh competition in the national event. Each time, she has placed third or above in her category. In 1967, she came within one-tenth point of winning the national title.

HEALTH SUB-COMMITTEE REPORT

Among the 15 health-related bills to be proposed for legislation to the next Indiana General Assembly is an act concerning the use of pesticides.

As used in this act, the term "pesticide" means any persistent chlorinated hydrocarbon including but not limited to the following:

Aldrin, Chlordane, DDT, Dieldrin, Endrin, Heptachlor, Lindane, DDD, DDE, TDE, Toxaphene, BHC and Methoxychlor.

If enacted, it would be unlawful to use or dispose of any persistent pesticide in any manner or in any location in the state except as approved by the stream pollution control board. The board could declare an emergency in the event of an imminent danger to public health or massive crop failure and could issue permits to use pesticides for the duration of such emergency.

Violators of this act would be fined from $100.00 to $1,000.00 per incident. The court would then issue an order enjoining the use or disposition of any pesticides involved in any incident.

Should all these pesticides be included in this bill? Any suggestions for amendments or improvements of this bill would be appreciated. Contact your State Representative.

Our President Nixon and his administration are having to deal with continuing critical problems, but have met strong opposition from the opposition liberal majority in Congress on many important issues.

Rupert V. Hartke must be replaced. He has opposed President Nixon on Cambodia and Vietnam, on his program to restore law and order, and on his economic program. He has demonstrated again and again how important it is to elect Congressman Richard Roudebush this November.

If ever our President needed help, it is now. I believe he was clearly right on Cambodia and on his program to save American lives with a step-by-step withdrawal from Vietnam. That policy has been strongly opposed by Rupert V. I believe Mr. Nixon is right on his fiscal program to stop inflation and restore a sound economy. It was the liberal Democrat administrations that produced an eight-year federal spending deficit of over 50 billion dollars and brought us to the brink of economic disaster, who now oppose President Nixon's every effort to restore a sound economy.

The liberal controlled Congress has prevented enactment of President Nixon's 13 pieces of legislation dealing with organized crime, dangerous drugs, pornography, explosives and other problems in the crime field.

We should work and pray that right prevail, without concern for credit. It's time to replace Rupert V. with the better man, and Richard L. Roudebush is the man!

what's in a NAME?

People ask for brand-name products because they have become known for dependability and service through the years. These names assure us of quality.

We, too, are known by our names. Mention of John Smith immediately inspires a positive or negative reaction, depending upon the man's reputation. A good name is indeed our most priceless, yet most perishable, possession.

Day in and day out, our thoughts, words and actions must be on the side of goodness, for it is today which determines tomorrow's past — for good or for bad.

If we could only perform each act and utter each word as if they were our last, those by which we would be remembered, then how great would be the significance of our names!

In this confused era where better can we turn for guidance and help than to the Church? Here we will discover the teachings of Christ — the most hallowed name of all.

Curiosity Shop Re-Opens

The Curiosity Shop entered its sixth year of operation last month as it re-opened for business following a summer vacation.

A full line of next-to-new merchandise is available for back-to-school needs. With the expected school rush, however, contributions will be welcome.

Especially in demand are children's items such as clothing, toys, books, and boots. Also needed are kitchen utensils, dishes, small home furnishings, sports equipment, and paperback books.

The shop is the undertaking of the DeKalb Memorial Hospital fund-raising group. Serving as officers for the group are: Mrs. James Carper, chairman; Mrs. Charles Edwards, vice-chairman; Mrs. Robert Shook, secretary; and Mrs. Thelma Henderson, treasurer.

Profits from the shop are used to purchase special equipment needed at the hospital. Shop volunteers work monthly, sorting, pricing, and displaying merchandise, and greeting customers.

Volunteers are invited to contact any fund-raising officer.

Mrs. Robert O. King and Mrs. Addison Dyer have volunteered to manage the shop again this year. They will receive donated articles Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Shopping hours are: Wednesdays, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.; Fridays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The Curiosity Shop is located near the corner of Ninth and Union Streets in Auburn.

Early Christmas shoppers should note that the Curiosity Shop will be presenting a one-day boutique sale of hand-made items November 20.

RURAL HOUSEWIVES CLUB

The August meeting of the Rural Housewives Club was held at the beatiful country home of Mrs. Harriett Hood. Marie Ward, presiding, opened the meeting with "Here Lies."

Sarah Amstutz gave "Thoughts from Our Father" from the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was of a miscellaneous nature, with many interesting ideas being presented.

After the business portion of the meeting, 10 ladies present read "A Thought for Today," taken from the club books.

Marie Ward entertained with bingo. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

On September 1, 10 members of the RHC met at the home of Elizabeth Hart, with one guest in attendance.

President Marie Ward opened the meeting with "Slow Down." Lela Northrup read an interesting "History of Atlantic City's Boardwalk." At this fabulous place in America, twenty million pounds of salt water taffy are eaten annually. Here the ice cream cone was introduced, and the staggering sum of 500 billion dollars is spent annually. She also read of the first post office, organized by Benjamin Franklin, "The Village Parson" and "Bread of Life."

Roll call, "School Day Memories," brought out some interesting histories of our earlier days, some naughty, some nice.

After the business meeting, Doris Stuck entertained with a recording, "Let's Join the Human Race," by Dr. John Furbay, a much thought provoking subject —we found out we all belong to the brown race!

After reading from our books, the "Thoughts For Today," the hostess served a plate lunch of tasty goodies.

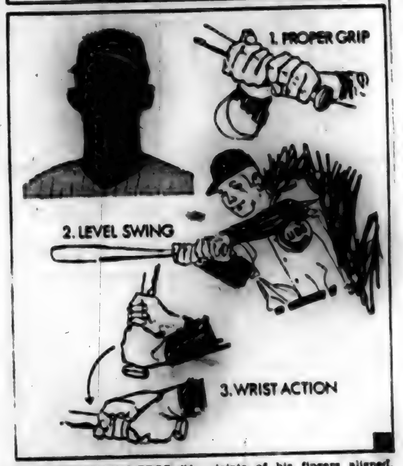
Peter Pan-Orama Of Sports



TIPS FROM THE PROS: "A comfortable stance in the batters box is the first important thing to remember," says Chicago Cubs star hitter Jim Hickman—another in a series of professional athletes to participate in a program of sports instruction sponsored by Peter Pan Peanut Butter. Jim says that standing with feet spread apart or closed is not important as long as you feel relaxed. Next Jim stresses the importance of a proper grip on the bat (Illustration 1).

The batter should pick up the bat as though it were an axe handle. He should then remember to keep the first joints of his fingers aligned. Watching the ball and not the pitcher is also important. The swing (Illustration 2) should be level, not downward or upward. Jim cautions against pulling the bat around with the arms and shoulders. It's better to swing the bat with a quick snap of the hands and wrists as though throwing the bat at the ball (Illustration 3). Finally Jim cautions against overstriding or the batter shifting his weight forward too soon before the ball reaches the plate. It is better for the batter to wait for the ball to reach him and then swing to meet the ball at the plate.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, September 17, 1970 — NUMBER 35

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Comments From Coleman--

Among the many bills to be proposed by the Health and Welfare Study Committee is a bill authorizing the Indiana State Board of Health to establish and conduct a medical testing program designed to improve the health and life of the people of this state and making an appropriation of $450,000.00 for the first two years.

This bill deems it to be a matter of public policy, of the State of Indiana that in order to detect diseases and adverse health conditions at the earliest possible moment, medical testing programs be made available in all parts of the state as the state's resources permit.

Under the bill, the Indiana State Board of Health may institute and carry on a multiphasic screening program which shall include, but not be limited to, tests for the detection of cancer, diabetes, heart disease, tuberculosis and hearing and vision impairment.

The bill also provides that the Indiana State Board of Health, in cooperation with local boards of health, local medical association and other professional and voluntary groups concerned, shall develop procedures for the conduct of this program at the community level which will assure maximum benefits to the people.

Comments, suggestions and advice is sought from interested parties regarding the pros and cons of this suggested legislation. Should the taxpayers of Indiana be taxed another half-million dollars for this proposed legislation or should private enterprise be encouraged to meet the challenge of better health care for less.

Reaction To Board Action Brings--- A Report From The Town Board

—by the Board President

From remarks made at the recent meeting of the town board, and from comments offered firsthand by a few residents, it appears that there is a misconception about the administration of board affairs.

Perhaps it will clear the matter quickly to make the following statement:

The president of the board seldom if ever gets to vote!

This is pointed out because a board president traditionally get the blame for everything the board does, when actually he only votes in case of a tie. This is in conformity with Roberts Rules of Order which establish the proper manner of conducting official business.

It is true, however, that the president of the board makes decisions oftentimes without the benefit of consultation with the other members due to varying circumstances. These decisions are usually not concerning the policy of the board but rather decisions involving the mechanics of administration. And the decision must be made on the spur of the moment; there is no time to call a meeting.

The matter is significant because a recent decision of the board (by members other than the president) was blamed on the president by one somewhat irate citizen who predicted the downfall of Saint Joe due to the board's decision. The president, who had the task of carrying out the decision, had actually not been in favor of it!

In another instance, a decision was made about the cement block where the old pump and drinking fountain formerly were located. It is probably thought that the president wants the site leveled, but he actually is in favor of retaining it as an historic memento. But it is his duty to see that the action is carried through—unless public reaction to the contrary is expressed in the meantime.

This is not intended to embarrass the other board members, and it should not, because there have been comments pro and con about the matter.

Since the decision to remove the pump site, there have been some comments from local residents who don't want to lose the pump site. There are others who see no reason to keep it, since it serves no useful purpose—except for noisy gatherings of youth at any and all times of night in the past.

There was one youth who said a couple of evenings ago that the kids wanted a town pump and they would help protect it from harm. Since the same kids had painted the cement block—a nice job—but didn't stop there—they slapped paint on the stop sign, too—it is not difficult to wonder what kind of protection would come from the group. And that very same night, two youths were apprehended for allegedly shooting a rifle at a dog on private property in the rural area, so it is even more questionable about the cooperation of the young people whose parents let them wander at will—particularly when one of the rifle-toters was the young man who offered to help protect the fountain!

The board certainly welcomes comments and suggestions from citizens of all ages, but it must be practical in arriving at some decisions which revolve primarily around the cooperation of the public.

While the town pump is no earth-shaking matter, it still involves Saint Joe's historic development. Opinions expressed to any of the three board members would certainly be in order.

Meanwhile, when a town board action is announced, remember that the president probably has an opinion on the matter and probably expressed his views. But when it comes to the final decision, he didn't even get to vote!

Pickle Factory Gets Area Recognition For Retirees' Gift Shop Endeavor

Kenneth B. Keller, Sunday Magazine Editor of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, is the author of a detailed article about the Saint Joe Valley Gift Shop located at Seehler's pickle factory. The article appeared in the September 13 edition of the Fort Wayne paper.

The article states:

"Senior citizens of the St. Joe Valley, encouraged to productive adventures by Mrs. Louise Church, have dressed the shelves of a tiny retail outlet with an astonishing array of skills.

"This tidy and colorful place is known as the St. Joe Valley Shop and it occupies a corner of the widely respected DeKalb County pickle factory—Ralph Seehler & Son, Inc., at St. Joe.

"There, the briney and the manual arts have been neighbors since last Easter; so far the pickle products are by far the most widely known but word of the unique shop is getting around.

"St. Joe Valley Shop is stocked with handicrafts and art fabricated with the warm, personal touch of men and women beyond 60—for many the work is an expression of talents they never had time to exercise until retirement. Inspired by Mrs. Church, who was a Seehler before her marriage, the shop is being developed by the Seehler firm as a service to people of mature years with time on their hands.

"The work is accepted on a consignment basis (60-20) and articles that do not sell are returned to the producers."

The article continues with identification of handiwork contributors and then relates:

"Her idea for the shop came during a party for her mother, Mrs. Ralph Seehler, wife of the founder of the food processing industry, who lost her speech during a serious illness.

" 'I explained to her friends that mother couldn't talk to them, so I suggested they come prepared to "show and tell" .' All of them brought family pictures to bring one another up to date and handwork which resulted in the shop idea.

"This struck a cord, too, in the mind of Frank Seehler, her brother, who followed their late father into the industry. Seehler always had been active in promoting youth activities of the community. Now, after 40 years of operation, there were people in the plant who had reached normal retirement age but who wished to remain active. 'It has led us to believe that if there was an outlet for the talents, skills and energy of this age group, it might be something of interest to them as well as to other people.'

"Last March, Frank Seehler doiled up a room of the plant, installed appropriate furniture and shelving and attached a shingle over the door. The shop adjoins the retail store of the Seehler plant. Mrs. Church assumed responsibility as organizer and manager."

The article continues in detail, describing some of articles available to the public and concludes with the suggestion that the Seehler pickle label may attain another mark of distinction through the gift shop effort.

Lutherans To Honor Rev. Miller On 50th Year In Ministry

Members of the local Lutheran parish are making plans for an observance of the 50th anniversary in the ministry of Rev. Ivan O. Miller, who served the local parish from 1958 to 1963. The observance will be held this coming Sunday, September 20 at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

Rev. Ivan H. Miller, son of the honored clergyman, will deliver the sermon, and Holy Communion will be served at the regular 10:45 a.m. service.

A reception will be held at 2 p.m. in the church basemen.

Rev. Miller was ordained by the Pacific Synod at Portland Oregon by the Rev. Fredriek W. Bussard, president of that synod. His first parish was at Bellingham, Iowa. Thereafter he served churches at Oregan, Illinois, Pleasant Valley, Iowa, Peoria, Illinois, Aurora, Illinois and Detroit, Michigan, before coming to the local parish.

At the conclusion of his ministry at St. Mark and St. Peter churches at Saint Joe and Spencerville, he retired from active service but served as supply pastor for churches at Coldwater and Hillsdale, Michigan, Avon Park and Key West, Florida and Puerto Rico.

The son, Rev. Ivan H. Miller, is pastor at Manette, Wisconsin. Rev. Charles Springer, a son-in-law, is serving at Lorraine, Ohio, with the retired pastor's daughter, Ruth. Another daughter, Barbara, resides in Minnesota.

Mrs. Miller died in the spring of this year.

The community is invited to attend the worship and reception next Sunday.

Adair Denounces Firebombings

Congressman E. Ross Adair has expressed outrage over the recent outbreak of violence in Fort Wayne, which culminated in the bombing of the WLYV transmitter.

"Such action," he said, "has no place in our republic, and cannot be tolerated. There is no greater need in this free society than the restoration of the individual American's freedom from violence in his home and business and on the streets of his city or town. What concerns me the most is that many of the participants in the violent demonstrations and guerilla-type warfare, which has been occurring on our college campuses and in our cities, have been claiming that such disregard for law and order is 'morally justified.'

Cong. Adair continued, "There is no moral justification for firebombings, snipings and wanton destruction of property. In exchange for the freedoms and opportunities which we are privileged to share in the United States, we agree to live by a system of laws in an ordered society. When a few radicals decide not to abide by such laws, we all must sacrifice some of our freedoms and liberties. This was the case on a recent weekend as curfews had to be imposed, as well as other stringent measures —all of which restricted everyone's freedoms, and no doubt resulted in some innocent arrests. If it had not been for the prompt and forceful action undertaken by Mayor Zeis, I am sure that the situation would have become worse.

"The firebombings in Fort Wayne, the University of Wisconsin and elsewhere point up the need for legislation now pending before the Congress to provide additional funding for the Law Enforcement and Assistance Administration which provides bloc grants for the states to be used primarily for the prevention and control of civil disorders. I voted for this program which was made a part of the Omnibus Crime Contol Act of 1968, as I feel we must give our cities the tools they need to protect our law-abiding citizens."

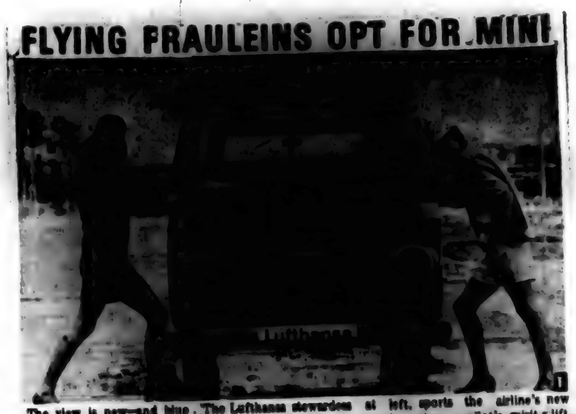
FLYING FRAULEINS OPT FOR MINI



The view is new—and blue. The Lufthansa stewardess at left, sports the airline's new uniform. At right, the same uniform in yellow. They're enough to give any pilot's spirit a lift.

Altitude-trained stewardesses at Lufthansas German Airlines have been sporting a completely redesigned miniwardrobe since April in celebration of the airline's first Boeing 747 jet flights.

The girls have taken a courageous stand against the midi—in spite of loud cries from the world of haute couture.

On any given day, a Lufthansa stewardess can choose to wear either her deep blue or her bright yellow basic and jacket ensemble (or any combination) together with a colorful assortment of accessories. These include perky caps with small brims, blue slippershoes, blue-and-yellow gloves and adjustable-strap shoulder bag, which can also be held in the hand.

Stewardesses wearing the yellow basic costume can also add a yellow cape lined in blue. In colder climates, a blue coat completes the uniform. The inter-changeability of the two basic outfits and accessories gives the girls surprising freedom to express mood or personal taste.

Flying 747's between Chicago, New York and Germany, these port stewardesses are continually putting their best foot forward and making air travel a mini-splendored thing.

Lovely Trudi Walter ushers in new "wave" of flight fashion.

Talking it over

Some of the key moments in our education are those times we discussed with someone older the interesting things we ...ght.

But, to speak frankly about religious education today, one of the serious handicaps facing boys and girls who are not taught) to church is that they have little opportunity to "talk ...over" at home.

Moral and spiritual growth is nurtured by family discussion of the truths taught in classroom, pulpit. But this presumes that parents and children together are sharing the experiences of worship, ...el and studying the Christian Faith. Candidly, too, it presumes that the parents will be the pace-... advanced enough in their own religious growth to answer simple, urgent questions.

It was always fun to tell "Sis" what we had learned at school. But, remember, ... we could! ... we counted on when we couldn't find the answers!

For your children's sake — and your own — attend church regularly.

Steaks Served For Ball Team

On August 15 Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shockley were hosts for the Sandy Koufax and Mickey Mantle baseball league players in recognition of the achievements of the 13 and 14 year old Sandy Koufax team from the Eastside school district.

The team won a division title but was defeated in a season-ending tourney.

There was one consolation in that tourney defeat, however, according to Mr. Shockley who helped manage and coach the team along with Pugs Beard, Jack Hoffer and Duart Bellamy. He said, "We were the only team that didn't 'load up' for the tourney. We used our regular players."

The regional tourney was held at Hamilton with Indianapolis having the winning team.

The league had two divisions, made up of two teams from Garrett, two from Angola, two from Waterloo and one each from Eastside and Prairie Heights.

The regional tourney included als attempting to create hate among citizens against police. Guests included Dr. Floyd B. Coleman, candidate for re-election to the State Legislature, Grace Phelps, candidate for county councilman at large, Ralph Myers, candidate for county assessor, and William Snider, candidate for Keyser Township assessor.

Eastside, a division winner, Garrett, a divison winner, Hamilton as the host team, and Indianapolis, also a division winner.

The Koufax League is for boys up to 14 4years while the Mantle League is for boys to 16. The two teams were managed this year by the same adult leaders.

Batting averages for the Koufax League team are:

VOLUME LXXXV | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, September 24, 1970 | NUMBER 36

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

$2,500 For Cancer Grants

The Executive Board of the DeKalb Cancer Association, Inc., is announcing the allocation of $2,500 to be used for cancer research projects, the projects to be determined by Drs. Don Derrow and C. B. Hathaway, Jr., of Auburn. This allocation was approved at the annual meeting of the Cancer Association held Monday, September 21, at the DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

Officers elected to serve for the following year are:

Dr. Don Derrow, president.

Mrs. James D. Brinkerhoff of Garrett, vice president.

Mrs. Forrest Bevington of Saint Joe, secretary.

Michael Haggarty of Auburn, treasurer.

Dr. Derrow and Mrs. Brinkerhoff are replacing Donald Mefford and Mrs. F. J. Longden of Auburn who served the association since its inception in August of 1965. They will remain on the executive board.

The allocation of $2,500 for research projects is in keeping with the aims and goals of the association, as the ultimate cure or control of cancer can be attained only through research.

In addition to the research grants, the association also provides, without cost to needy home cancer patients, various dressings, therapeutic aids, transportation and miscellaneous medications and supplies, as well as paying 70% of the cost of the prescription drugs needed.

The next meeting of the association will be in early spring, the time and place to be announced later.

TROOP 229

Spencerville Junior Girl Scout Troop 229 met at St. Peter Lutheran Church July 31, 1970, with the Spencerville Brownie Troop as guests, along with their leaders, Mrs. Melchi and Mrs. Doll.

The purpose of the meeting was a "Fly-up Ceremony" in which the Junior Troop received four new members from the Brownie Troop. The girls who "flew up" were Cheryl Melchi, Karen Harding, Terry Evans and Beth Carper.

After the ceremony, games were played and refreshments served by the 5th and 6th grade girls in the troop.

Regular weekly meetings are now being held at the church on Mondays after school until 5:00 p.m.

Next Week Brings County Fair

One of the features of the DeKalb County Free Fall Fair to be held in Auburn September 29 through October 3 will be the livestock, handicraft and grain exhibits which are shown in a 10 acre area in the southeast corner of the fair complex.

Permanent modern buildings house these fine exhibits. Bleachers, food and restroom accommodate the spectators and also the exhibitors.

The exhibit hall offers handicraft, grains and vegetables for the interested viewers. The livestock area offers facilities for over 300 horses and ponies. This area features a Draft Horse Department presenting some of the finest in the midwest. DeKalb County's free fair is one of the very few in the middle west that offers facilities and a complete prize list for all breeds.

This area also includes departments featuring sheep, swine, beef and dairy cattle. A department also features rabbits and poultry. On display this year will be a breed of hens that lays colored eggs.

A beautiful outdoor show arena and also an enclosed livestock show arena complete the facilities found in this 10-acre area. Thousands of square feet of permanent buildings represent a great investment by the DeKalb County Fair Association.

Approximately $6,000 in cash premiums are paid each year. Classes are offered to both 4-H and open class exhibitors.

Judging is held throughout the week and free entertainment in the form of auctions, horse, mule and pony pulls, horse shows and added attractions are featured.

On South Cedar Street, midway between the 10-acre fair complex and the downtown midway, will be found industrial displays in a wide tent two blocks long.

The DeKalb County Historical Society will have charge of the antique show at the Free Fall Fair at Auburn next week. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Means of Rt Saint Joe are superintendents of the displays.

It is planned to have the stage of the court house assembly room furnished as a parlor typical of 100 years ago. All articles used in the parlor will be tagged and entered in the judging, eligible for premiums.

Items for the parlor should be at least 100 years old. Anyone who has such items may contact Mr. and Mrs. Means, Mrs. Thais Heinzerling of Rt Garrett or Mrs. George Howard of Waterloo.

In the total antique judging competitions, premiums will be awarded in 22 different categories.

Town Board Renews Efforts For Removal Of Safety Hazard

The town board of Saint Joe has taken further steps to remove a public safety hazard in the corporate limits of the town.

Town attorney Philip Butler was instructed recently to proceed with legal steps to have the old mill torn down. The mill is located at the east B&O railroad crossing in Saint Joe and has stood empty and unused for many years.

The board actually undertook the project a year ago, giving owner Roscoe Walter of Spencerville until August 15 of last year to remove the building and level the ground. Due to Mr. Walter's ill health, the board tabled the matter for several months. But now, according to board president Ted Haberkorn, the board feels adequate consideration has been given for the owner's circumstances and it will proceed with legal steps to bring about removal of the old building.

The old building has also come under the scrutiny of the county health department and has been unofficially designated a public health hazard.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Extension Club met at the home of Doris Yeiser, September 18, 1970.

The meeting was opened by the president, Doris Yeiser, with the reciting of the Homemakers Creed in unison. Devotions were given by Edith Sailor who read from Psalm 33, reminding us we have much to rejoice for, as long as we have our Lord to lead us and show us the way.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. The song, "Day Is Dying In the West," is an old one but not so well known in our group.

Secretary's report was given by Eva Clauser and the report stood as read.

Under new business, the bills for the month were presented. A motion by Pat Roberts, supported by Edith Sailor, that the bills be allowed was passed.

The president then read the new rules made by the council in regard to membership. She also announced that the Needlework Guild meeting will be held October 8. Motion by Edith Sailor, supported by Myrtle Pugsley, that we give them $5 to help them with their charity work was passed.

We were very happy to welcome two new members to our club, Barbara Lothamer and Victoria Means. We hope they will be with us for many years to come.

Roll call was answered by 11 members with "My Pet Peeve," and it seemed the telephone party line was the peeve of many.

Election of officers was then held with the following results:

Pat Roberts, president.
Eva Clauser, first vice president.
Doris Yeiser, second vice president.
Emma Strombeck, secretary.
Myrtle Pugsley, treasurer.

The newly-elected president then appointed the following officers:

Edith Sailor, song leader.
Eva Clauser and Doris Yeiser, pianist.
Doris Yeiser, parliamentarian.
Alice Reindenbach, news reporter.

The meeting then closed with the club prayer song, after which the hostess served a delicious lunch.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid
OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 209 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

From the editor's desk. . . .

In not too many weeks, the people will speak as they exercise the privilege of voting for the candidates of their choice in the fall general election. The race for United States Senator from Indiana will be of particular importance not only for the people of Indiana but also for the entire country. Two Democrat Senators from Indiana have not helped the Nixon administration in the latter's efforts to carry out any sort of national program. Democrat opposition has prevented the passage of legislation recommended by the President in his overall program for the nation. Thus, this year's Senatorial race presents an opportunity to give support to the President.

Senator Vance Hartke has been, from the start, a "do-gooder," one to rely upon the dollar bill rather than common sense to solve our problems. In his first two years in office, favors for everybody gained him a place in the hearts of Hoosiers, or so it seems. He undertook constant efforts to get for anyone what anyone wanted; he was a champion of all.

Thereafter, when he had gained some stature with a couple of years under his belt, he became surprisingly independent on occasion and was even on public record as suggesting that Lyndon Johnson should not run for President in 1968. This was a surprising thing for a liberal Democrat to say; it would have been political suicide a year earlier.

But Senator Hartke is a shrewd liberal Democrat and he sensed the change of heart in the voters of this country and this state. He wisely sensed and observed that people had become disenchanted with the efforts toward a "Great Society" of President Johnson's ambitions. As a shrewd politician, Senator Hartke echoed the public's change in attitude.

This is perhaps a good illustration of the reason to support the candidacy of Richard L. Roudebush who opposes Senator Hartke. As a "traditional" Republican, Mr. Roudebush is not known to be a will-o-the-wisp in his philosophy; principles serve as his guide rather than popular public reaction. Who ever heard of Mr. Roudebush trying to console a public concerned about the national debt by pointing out that with more people now populating this nation every day, the per capita debt is actually decreasing; we're getting better off all the time! Mr. Hartke did just a couple of years ago. From his reasoning it can be concluded that the way to reduce our obligations as citizens is to have more babies! With the population explosion of major concern to this nation and the world, Senator Hartke's philosophy is thus impractical, illogical and just plain foolish.

There are other reasons for supporting Mr. Roudebush. But the primary reason is the lack of long-range consideration from Senator Hartke, an opportunist who will seemingly support anything if it has popular appeal, even if it is disastrous in the long run.

We have had enough disaster in our Senate to last for a while. Mr. Roudebush represents the stable, sound, common-sense approach needed to support the President.

TROOP 192
—LuAnne Hook, Troop Scribe

Troop 192 had its regular meeting Monday, September 14. Our leader was not present and we would like to thank Pat Kern and Allee Snyder for helping us out. We finally have an assistant leader. Her name is Martha DeLong.

At our meeting we made final plans for our campout. The dates are September 25, 26 and 27.

This summer we did many things. Sold pop corn and pop at ball games. Took hikes during rainshowers. Went on a field trip to Ohio Art Company and learned how the world famous etch-a-sketch is made. And then in August we took an all day trip to Cedar Point where we had loads of fun.

More recently we had a flyup at Wild Cherry Park. The girls from St. Joe Troop 29 that flew up were Susan Snyder, Carlene Hewitt and Tammy Heyman. The ones from Spencerville Troop 220 were Debbie Keener, Carolyn DePriest, Rhonda Lothamer and Susan Ramey.

spring residing in mobile homes. But we ARE for the community, and if there is a lesson to be learned by those high schoolers it is that laws must be passed [illegible] on the basis of individual predicaments.

On the way back to Saint Joe last Friday afternoon after getting pictures of Bill Hurni at the fair I passed the campgrounds and noticed some men standing around on the same engine on the parking lot. Since a wisp of smoke was trailing from the smokestack, I pulled in and got a few pictures one of them shown below. I asked the men a few questions before I found out it was Mac Keller of Avilla whom I didn't recognize but should have.

He bought the outfit in 1936; it was built in 1923. And Mac says he has owned 27 of those steam engines in his lifetime.

The thought went through my mind last week, but I passed it off as hopeless, but then a friend—a teacher, in fact—asked if I was going to express my annual plea for a fair festival week, giving the school kids off from Tuesday on of fair week so they can really take advantage of all that's going on.

So, there it is. Why can't the school schedule in the Eastside district be arranged so that next year, school is closed Tuesday through Friday of fair week? Why can't it be done? Must we wait until DeKalb Central does it before it's considered o.k.???

Willard Hurni's historic exhibit about the St. Joe River was hampered by cramped quarters in the assembly room, a condition which could not be avoided due to the many exhibits on view there. Above, he stands next to four of the panels which he has hand-etched with a burning tool. These will be nine such panels when the project is completed. Mr. Hurni plans to install the panels as a permanent historic exhibit in the small shelter he has constructed at Wild Cherry Park in Saint Joe. The shelter contains lumber from the old covered bridge which was torn down south of Saint Joe over a year ago.

Above, Mr. Hurni exhibited a map of eastern DeKalb County and several photographs which had been enlarged, showing bridges, mills and other locations in the county from out of the past.

Slab Poured, Well Drilled For Spencerville Community Building

Workers from Butler & Butler Construction Company, Irving Ready Mix and Watson Well Drilling were busy last week at the site of the new Spencerville Community Building. A concrete slab was poured in one day, to make way for the erection of the steel building obtained by the Spencerville Community Club through its drive for funds in recent months. The old building was destroyed by fire January 31 of this year.

Lamar Cummins did the well work for the Watson firm which is donating all the labor needed for installing the well. Other firms also are donating labor or materials or both.

Workmen smooth the concrete as it sets in the forms outlining the site of the new community club building. At far left, Glen Moore and Pete Timmerman of S pencerville inspect the work.

Riverdale PTO

The September meeting of the Riverdale P.T.O. was held held September, 22, at the Riverdale Cafetorium at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Connie Hollabaugh, followed by presentation of the colors by the Junior Girl Scout Troop 229 of Spencerville. All joined them in the pledge to the flag.

Scripture and a devotional talk was given by Rev. Dunkleberger of the Saint Joe Church of Christ.

The secretary's report was read and approved. The treasurer reported balances on hand of $74.54 in the checking account, $121.46 in savings. It was pointed out that from this money one more riser for the stage is still to be purchased.

The president welcomed the teachers. She remarked on the need for a Ways & Means Committee chairman, announced that membership dues could be paid immediately following the meeting. She also announced the appointment of co-chairmen of Room Mothers for the ensuing school year. They are Ruth White and Nina Hollabaugh.

Mr. Rader, principal, then introduced all the teachers and identified their teaching positions. He then introduced Mr. Kenneth Cole, superintendent of Eastside schools, who spoke concerning the progress of the new buildings being erected at Butler He gave July 1, 1971, as the projected completion date of the prime contractor, and outlined the facilities and their projected use to start the 1971 school year.

Mrs. Hollabaugh announced that the competition for parents' attendance was won by grade 8A, and invited all to stay for refreshments after the meeting.

MEETING SEPTEMBER 28

The Saint Joe Lions Club held their first meeting of the fiscal year at the Spencerville United Methodist Church with 26 members and one visitor present.

Secretary Cliff Billow announced that the ice cream social showed a profit of $189.20. The summer recreation group spent it for equipment and other needed things. Cliff also stated that Harold Murphy had expressed thanks for all of the get-well cards the Lions had sent, that there would be a zone meeting at Richard's Restaurant in Auburn Wednesday evening, that the Lions International would appreciate a donation toward building our new headquarters building at (Oak Park) Chicago, Illinois, and that we should begin thinking about sending a delegate to the International Convention that will be held in Las Vegas next spring.

President Howard Timmerman introduced our two new song leaders, Bud Shockley and Lavon Hart, and stated that they would lead us in singing our new song, "Don't You Hear Those Lions Roar."

Lavon spoke up and said, "First I want to tell you something about this song."

Bud interrupted and said, "You can talk if you want to but I am going to sing."

Bud did hold back about a minute then we all sang it, not just once but two times.

President Timmerman called on our new member, Ford Hudson, his sponsor, Bob Wilder, and our installation officer, Lavon Hart, to come forward.

Bob Wilder then told Ford many, many fine qualities of the Lions Clubs. (He must have been talking about some other club or clubs for I didn't know that we of the local club rated that high.)

Lavon then recited the Lions Code of Ethics and elaborated somewhat on each of them. Then he said, "We can boil that all down to our motto, 'We serve'."

Then he asked, "Now, Ford, do you still want to be a Lion?"

Ford replied, "Yes."

Lavon then declared him to be a member of the Saint Joe Lions Club and told him he would find his name printed in certain pamphlets he had received and since he had accepted membership he had also accepted assignment to work two days at the fair and also to work on those other committees.

President Timmerman said thanks to all of those who helped the Harts (father and son) who have been working on the tent. He also reported that they would need all hands at Harts Sunday, September 27, at 4:00 p.m. to load the trucks.

Virgil Gerig offered some advice about securing some kitchen utensils, etc., and was promptly appointed a committee of one to go and get them.

Howard Timmerman and Willard Hurni were at a cancer control meeting at University Center in Indianapolis September 14. They had pictures to prove that they had helped break ground for the new building that will house the new $750,000 cobalt machine. According to the picture, Willard was actually digging but I can't say as much for Heward. This cobalt machine will be 25 times more powerful than any such machine now in existence and it will take six feet of solid concrete to insulate against the rays. The Lions Clubs of Indiana have contracted for the machine and will pay for it during the next three years.

Janelle Moore, daughter of our own Tall Twister, Paul Moore, showed slide pictures and told of her trip to Torreone, Mexico. She had won this trip because of her record in her Spanish class at Eastside High School. Between the pictures and her talk, we learned much about Mexico, its mountains, its deserts, its agriculture and industry, its scenery, its towns, its people and their customs.

Torreone is 16 long hot hours' ride by bus from El Paso, Texas. Her host, who was a banker, and his wife could not speak English, but the children, all teen agers, could speak English.

She attended a school that was a one hour ride from her home. School hours were from 8:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The subjects she studied were Spanish, English and History. Also there was a beautiful swimming pool there but the water contained some chemical that would turn blond hair into a sort of green color. The green is all gone from her hair now and she is blond again.

She went to a bull fighting show. In one round, instead of the man getting his bull, the bull got his man and knocked him out. She thought he was not hurt seriously though, because the bulls' horns are cut back and blunted. She said she really enjoyed the part of the show where the men would grab the bull's tail and then attempt to hang on.

She also showed pictures and told about the ancient pyramids, the fine public buildings and the fine art work and colorful murals painted on the outside of so many of the large buildings. She was surprised that often people would build fine private homes or mansions right in the midst of slum districts.

When her host was in Torreone, he would almost always take a siesta in the afternoo. A siesta for him was an all-afternoon affair when he would put on his pajamas and slippers and watch soapbox operas all afternoon.

All in all, it appears that Janelle's trip was a success. We were happy to see Mexico as Janelle and her camera saw it and this is just another little extra dividend on our share in the Eastside Spanish Club.

It won't be long 'til you know what!

Plea For Safety

Superintendent Kenneth Cole of the Eastside school district of DeKalb County has passed along the following information concerning the safety of school children, as offered by Harry A. Fruits from the school traffic safety division of the state superintendent's office:

School has begun, and the emphasis is on child safety. Yet we continue to run over and kill more than 3,300 children each year. Many people think of and accept this as a bit of life's tragedy.

Imagine yourself as a parent witnessing the suffering and experiencing the loss of a child, and the driver's persecuted feeling of responsibility regardless of whose fault it was. Can you describe the sound of the impact, or visualize the broken body of a child as a result of an accident? These are all part of an American tragedy acted out many times a year.

There are things we can do as drivers and parents to reduce road exposures to our children as they flood the highways this time of year.

Begin by slowing down.

Watch behind and between parked cars.

Expect the unexpected.

Give school buses complete right-of-way.

Know and observe school zones.

Watch for children in areas without sidewalks.

Use extra caution during school opening and dismissal.

Use extra caution around bicycles.

Use your common sense.

Let's reduce this American Tragedy and protect the best of us—our little people.

Because school has opened—and we love them.

Roudebush On Drugs:

Congressman Richard L. Roudebush, Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, last week made the following statement from his campaign headquarters in Indianapolis:

"Drug abuse is one of the truly serious issues of the 1970's. We must attack this problem headon and we must attack it now.

"It was my privilege to grow up in a period during which parents, teachers and neighbors, regardless of their busy schedules, believed in America and her young people. And they took the time and trouble to mold them into useful citizens, with healthy minds and bodies.

"I still believe in the youth of America. They are undoubtedly the best educated generation in our history. However, an air of permissiveness has reared it's ugly head, and many young people feel they cannot make a decision about narcotics or dangerous drugs until they try it personally.

"We still have Federal and State laws prohibiting the sale, transportation, possession and use of such drugs. I say to those who would experiment, consider the logic behind these laws. Consider the well thought-out purpose behind the creation of these laws.

"These laws are based upon experiences of others. You can interview addict after addict, and most all of them will tell you that they started on marijuana. One step in the wrong direction, and the next step becomes easier.

"The pain and suffering experienced by a young person 'hooked' on drugs is not worth the experimentation or the escape of a 'trip.' And certainly nothing is worth the suffering caused to the parents of these unfortunate people.

"We must educate the youth of America about the dangers of experimenting with drugs or narcotics. We must convince them that we care about them, and about the minds that will affect the future of this country. We must convince them that the lessons of the past are not wrong or outdated, just because they are old lessons.

"We must also attack the source of supply and the criminal element who push the sale of such destructive drugs and narcotics."

Town Board Takes No Action To Change Mobile Home Ordinance

19 visitors were present at Monday's meeting of the Saint Joe town board, including some half dozen students from East-side High School's government class. The group attended due to several matters, with the main topics being the local mobile home ordinance and the status of proposed sewage disposal facilities.

With two recent requests for permission to place mobile homes on private property in Saint Joe, the board opened the meeting to the group attending and allowed time for expressions of opinions on the matter. A local ordinance prohibits the placing of mobile homes on private property, except in licensed mobile home courts.

After the opinions were expressed, board members Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn stated that comments given to them prior to the meeting were against any change in the present ordinance, by a large majority. Therefore, no action was proposed to change the ordinance and the president stated that it is, therefore, still in effect.

Other town matters brought up included the neglect of promised grading of an alley; an insect-infested barn which the resident was told to refer to the county health officer; a pack of wild dogs at the north edge of town; junk appliances left in the open at a vacant property; the need for concrete bases wider than the headstones to facilitate cemetery care; and other matters.

Fire Chief Andy Monroe's recommendation that the town fire truck be available for a county-wide fire drill this week was accepted, with the chief's assurance that adequate manpower was also available for any fire call that might come to the local department during the county drill.

In reply to some criticism of the dog warden, the president of the board pointed out that the dog warden receives only $3.00 per stray dog which he picks up, holds for three days and then takes to the humane shelter at Fort Wayne. Due to limited appropriations this year, the dog warden gets virtually no transportation reimbursement. "He is doing the town a service," the president said, "and sometimes is subject to personal danger when possible diseased dogs are confined." It was noted that townspeople take advantage of the dog warden's absence during his regular daytime working hours to let their dogs loose. It was pointed out that some people, rather than cooperate in protecting the welfare of the community, thus dare the board to carry out enforcement of the dog ordinance. Cooperation rather than defiance, he said, would be much better for all concerned.

It was noted that a previous and unofficial report on the condition of the water tower was contradicted by a letter from the inspecting firm. The water commissioner had reported to the board that workmen gave a good report on the condition of the storage tank. However, a letter received last month from the company indicated a "bad" condition requiring immediate steps to prevent serious corrosion in the future. The board has yet to make a decision on the manner of re-instituting cathodic protection for the water supply tank.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Town—Joe Tuscan, refund $1.50; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 0.62; Roger Schlegel, dispose of four dogs 12.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 32.50; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash removal 240.00; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, street lights 233.52; Charles Rosenbury, mow cemetery 40.00; Auburn Fire Department, recharge extinguisher 4.50.

Waterworks—Joe Tuscan, refund 2.55; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.06; William Mansfield, labor 20.00; Roy Eck, labor 20.00; Butler Company, clamp 37.66; I&M 39.23; State Board of Accounts, examination of records 71.66; Wallace & Tiernan, water tank inspection 350.00.

The ordinance covering the placement of mobile homes in Saint Joe is as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 44

An ordinance to prohibit the parking and use of house trailers or mobile homes within the limits of the Town of Saint Joe; with exception.

Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana:

Section I: Definitions:

The term "house trailer or mobile home" means any vehicle or structure so designed and constructed in such manner as will permit occupancy thereof for sleeping quarters for one or more persons or the conduct of any business or profession, occupation or trade, or as a selling or advertising device, and so designed that it is or may be mounted on wheels and used as a conveyance on highways or town streets, propelled or drawn by its own or other motive power.

Section II: Parking:

It shall be unlawful within the limits of the Town of Saint Joe for any person to park any house trailer or mobile home on any street, alley, highway or other public place, or on any tract of land owned by any person, occupied, or unoccupied, except as hereinafter provided. Emergency or temporary stopping or parking is permitted on any street, alley or highway for not longer than two hours, subject to any other and further prohibitions, regulations or limitations, imposed by the traffic and parking regulations for that street, alley, or highway.

Section III: Occupancy and use of house trailer or mobile home:

It shall be unlawful for any person to occupy as a place of abode or as a dwelling or to use in the conduct of any business or profession, occupation or trade or as a selling or advertising device any house trailer or mobile home within the corporate limits of the Town of Saint Joe.

Section IV: Exceptions:

This ordinance shall not apply to house trailers or mobile homes placed in any mobile home court which lies within the corporate limits of the Town of Saint Joe and which has been licensed by the State of Indiana. This ordinance shall not apply to house trailers and mobile homes located upon privately owned real estate in the Town of Saint Joe and in use as a residence or in the conduct of any business or profession or as a selling or advertising device prior to the effective date of this ordinance if:

(a) Said house trailer or mobile home is either on a permanent foundation or is attached to and a part of a permanent structure;

(b) complies with the laws of the State of Indiana and DeKalb County concerning sewage disposal; and

(c) is connected to a water main of the Town of Saint Joe.

Section V: Repealing Clause:

If any portion of this ordinance shall be held unconstitutional or void by any court of competant jurisdiction, such action shall in nowise affect the validity of any other portion hereof.

Section VII: Penalty:

Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be fined any sum not exceeding $25.00 and each and every day of such violation shall be a separate offense.

Section VIII:

Be it further ordained that this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage by the Town Board of Saint Joe and advertisement as provided by law.

Adopted this 8th day of July, 1969.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, October 15, 1970 — NUMBER 39

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A couple of weeks ago, there was a five-column headline in the News-Sentinel declaring:

"Suburb Bans Midi; Thoughtful Gesture Unlawful."

The story was that the village board of Hanover Park, a suburb of Chicago, passed a resolution by a vote of 5-0 to ban the midi in that community.

Village attorney William Davis, a self-labeled "leg man" who introduced the ban-the-midi resolution to the board, said:

"The whole thing is caught up in the spirit of the unalienable right of the male population to admire the female form to its best advantage."

His wife agreed with, "I think women's legs have been covered up long enough over the years and I think its time we have more than one or two years of the mini."

Said Mayor Richard Baker:

"I think we have so many good-looking legs in this town we won't have to enforce it."

However, there is no fine attached to the resolution, so it has no real legal force.

But— — the spirit is there!

Mrs. Robert Williams called to say that her son left this week for Vietnam. He had been in Alabama getting helicopter training from Captain Michael Loy. She said Bob appreciated getting the paper, but thought at first he wouldn't know anyone mentioned in it and it would not be of particular interest. But he wants it again, as soon as his address is known—because it's "something from home."

—An episode which always makes an editor feel good.

Monday, as I left the post office and started to cross the street, a voice came from a car parked there - "— — hello—". I leaned into the car and there was Mrs. Mildred Wilson, an old-time Saint Joe'er who now resides in a rest home at Butler. We had a pleasant few moments' conversation during her little visit to Saint Joe.

Lavon Hart evidently had the Lions Club reading the Saint Joe News, whether they liked it or not, Monday evening.

He is gathering news reports about the club in its 50th year in sort of a club history. And he took every volume of this paper I have since the club started, getting members of the Lions to leaf through the annual volumes to find Lions activities as recorded in the local paper.

Once in a while it's interesting to go through back issues for memories and reminiscences.

The rain has hampered progress on the building, but the Spencerville Community Club IS making headway. Last week end, the framework of the new building began taking shape.

GOP Plans Busy Weekend In Pre-election Appeal To Voters

DeKalb County Republicans are sponsoring two events this coming weekend, to appeal to male and female, young and old.

On Friday evening, October 16, Marian Adair and Jill Ruckelshaus will join with the DeKalb County Republican Womens Clubs to present an International Style Show at Brooks Smorgasbord in Garrett. The show will start at 6:30 p.m. with 15 models from Fort Wayne who will wear costumes of many countries.

Mrs. Adair is the wife of Congressman E. Ross Adair while Mrs. Ruckelshaus is the wife of William Ruckelshaus, assistant attorney general of the United States.

Tickets are available at $2.75 each from Joan Knepper of Auburn, Eileen Howller of Garrett, all Republican Womens Clubs members and at party headquarters at 113 West 7th in Auburn.

The second GOP function this weekend will be a Card Party and Auction sponsored by the Young Republican Club of DeKalb County. It will be held in the DeKalb Central High School Commons Saturday evening, October 17, starting at 7:00 p.m.

Individual tables for card games of any choice will be offered and refreshments served.

Door prizes will be given and an auction held which will feature various personal items donated by GOP office holders across the nation. These include an engraved silver bowl from Governor Nelson Rockefeller, a set of gold-rimmed glasses depicting all of the Republican Presidents, the official House of Representatives ash tray with the imprint of that body, House cuff links, a brick from the original State House, limited edition books personally autographed by famous Senators, and other valuable items from Republican statesmen.

In addition, the auction will have Republican-oriented antiques such as a color engraving of President James Garfield and his family in an antique frame, antique bronze elephants, antique picture of President Teddy Roosevelt, ivory elephant and several others.

Ticket price is $1.25 per person for the card party and auction combined.

GOP friends are invited to get up a table and attend the pre-election gathering.

The card party starts at 7:00 p.m. with the auction slated for 9:00 p.m.

don't knock it

Maybe you don't like rock and roll, but there's vibrancy to its beat that lets kids express themselves. Even if it isn't your kind of music [illegible] their kind of music. Perhaps the "generation gap" may be narrowed slightly if you'll listen.

Life, remember, is a process of give and take. Adults and teens have to give a little if they are going to reach mutual understanding. In the beginning, you've given the basic things — like faith, love and respect, then you've nothing to worry about.

But it's never too late. For instance — have you gone with your teenager to church lately?

Universal Aids Pollution Control

Universal Tool & Stamping Co. of Butler has announced plans for construction of a lagoon system to control the plant's waste products which might add to the growing problem of pollution.

An article in the October issue of "Universal News" gives the following account of the firm's progressive undertaking:

"Universal's beautification program and battle against pollution received a big boost recently when the State Board of Health approved the company's plan to build a lagoon system for water purification.

"In making the announcement, D. C. Mayer also revealed that Universal is acquiring five acres of ground from I&M as a construction site. The area to be developed lies immediately west of Universal and behind the I&M offices.

"According to Mr. Mayer three settling ponds are to be constructed and cover three acres. Much oil and many contaminants are already caught in the plant, Mr. Mayer said, but in addition to this, water used in our manufacturing process will now be pumped through all three ponds before final discharge from our property.

"The water will be emptied from the bottom of one pond to the next, letting the oils float to the top where they can be skimmed off and suspended particles settle to the bottom. By the time the water reaches the third pond, Mr. Mayer continued, the PH will be stabilized, the BOD at an acceptable level and the water should be crystal clear before discharge.

"A by-product of the lagoon program will be the fencing of all Universal property including the main plant, tube mill, storage yard, parking lot and lagoons."

CC Report

—by Mabel Binard, Finance Sec.

As many of you know, our new all-steel building is being erected and progress towards our new Community Building has really come to light this past week or so.

We are indeed pleased to see this new structure taking an upward form, so we may once again continue on with all the many, many activities which were housed in the club building before we had the misfortune of being burned out last January. We are sure our new building will provide for more and bigger activities to be enjoyed by young and old in the entire area.

If anyone is desirous of helping in the construction, please feel free to come and lend a helping hand. All help is greatly needed, wanted and appreciated.

We wish to express our greatest "thank you" to all those who have made donations towards our building fund. As our building goes up, our fund is rapidly going down and we are hoping those who made pledges when our fund drive was first being made will see it possible to meet their pledges in the near future. (We are counting greatly on you.) At the time of our door to door canvassing, many remarked they would like to give more later. We sincerely hope everyone is as anxious to help us with our rebuilding and will continue to provide financial support towards this most worthy community project.

We cannot begin to thank each and every person individually for their help but we sincerely say, "Without your help, this project would not have been possible."

Anyone desiring to make donations may do so by sending to: The Spencerville Community Club Building Fund, Box 25000, Spencerville, Indiana 46788.

Your continued support appreciated

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, October 22, 1970 — NUMBER 40

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Estil Taylor of Saint Joe is shown below with the 20-lb. chinook he caught Sunday, October 11, while fishing at Manistee Lake in Michigan. He and Harold Martin of Hamilton went north that week for some deer hunting as well as fishing.

It took Estil 20 minutes to land the big one. His fishing partner caught a 12-lb. coho during the trip.

Say, the Storer family is really hogging the headlines this week, what with Debbie named as Eastside's Homecoming Queen and brother Mike named as one of the top Future Farmers.

It is particularly gratifying to see Debbie win, since she suffered serious injuries this summer in a fall from a pickup truck. Her hearing is impaired as a result, and she wobbles a bit in heels. But she's a fighter and bounced back with a smile —oh man, what a smile!

The Storer family is justifiably proud of all its members.

Dogs Saved In Fire

A barking dog aroused Wayne Newcomer of Jackson Township early Monday morning to give warning of a fire at the neighboring residence of Mrs. Betty M. Seward, owner and manager of Ky-Lin Kennels of R1 Spencerville.

Volunteer fire units from Spencerville and Saint Joe answered the call for help at about 3:00 a.m. and helped save 35 dogs housed in nearby kennels. Two dogs died in the fire.

Mrs. Seward suffered severe burns on the hands and in the face as she attempted to rescue the dogs. Her four sons were not injured.

Robert Dunn, another neighbor, accompanied Newcomer in reaching the scene of the fire first to give assistance. Both suffered minors cuts and burns.

First indications were that the fire started near a fireplace, but later investigation showed that it may have begun in the kitchen.

Firemen were at the scene for five hours to control the flames which caused extensive damage.

Debbie Storer Named 'Queen'

"Debbie" is a magic name.

Debbie Storer was crowned Eastside's Homecoming Queen the past weekend by the 1969 queen, Debbie McDowell.

The crowning came during half-time ceremonies of the Blazer-Norwell football game Friday night played at DeKalb Central's field.

This year's queen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Storer of R1 Saint Joe.

First runnerup was Kay Hollinger while second runnerup honors went to Sherri Whitman.

The weekend festivities were dampened somewhat by Eastside's loss to Norwell.

Policy Explained On EHS Gym Wear

The following information has come from Eastside's physical education department:

"Some parents and interested persons have inquired about the dress code at Eastside. It is the belief of the Physical Education Department at Eastside Jr.-Sr. High School that uniformity and neat dress do much for the atmosphere of the class. The students seem to have more pride about themselves, their class and their school if they have a standard dress.

"The girls are required to have gym shoes, preferably white, white short socks, white short-sleeved blouse or T-shirt, and navy blue bermuda shorts. The one-piece blue uniform previously worn is also acceptable for this year. All wearing apparel should be marked with a permanent marker, including gym bag and towels.

"The boys must wear gym shoes, white athletic socks and white gym shorts. The shirts to be worn in class are optional. The students may have a plain white T-shirt or they may have a green T-shirt with white lettering stating, 'Eastside Physical Education' and a number.

"If any student has difficulty obtaining the required dress, he or she should contact the instructor."

Sen. Gutman To Explain Proposed Constitutional Amendments At Important Meeting October 29

State Senator Philip E. Gutman of Fort Wayne, the "Outstanding Republican Senator of 1960," has issued a special invitation to high school students and members of government classes, as well as to the general public, to hear his presentation on "Constitutional Amendments of Today and of Tomorrow," to be presented next week. The senator's talk will be directed toward informing the public about the three referendums to be placed on the ballot November 3 concerning proposed Indiana constitutional amendments.

"An informed public is essential to the success of representative government," Senator Gutman stated in urging the public to obtain information about the proposals.

The informative meeting is jointly sponsored by the Quest Club of DeKalb County and the Grant-Smithfield-Fairfield Women's Republican Club.

The meeting will be held next Thursday, October 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Waterloo Library, according to Doris Moreland, president of the Quest Club. "We urge husbands and wives, as well as the teenagers, to attend this important meeting," Mrs. Moreland said.

There will be musical entertainment and refreshments provided at the meeting.

Two Halloween Parties October 31

The local Halloween observance will be held Saturday night, October 31, at both Saint Joe and Spencerville starting at 7:00 p.m.

At Saint Joe the volunteer firemen sponsor the annual party which will be held as usual this year in the Riverdale cafetorium after a parade.

The entertainment committee includes Mel Hershberger, Pat Crow, John Seehler and Fred Rayle.

H. L. McMaken is parade chairman while Joe Robinson will be master of ceremonies.

Prizes will be awarded to winning costumes for all age groups.

At Spencerville, the Community Club is the sponsor. Due to the fact that the new community building is not available for use, the Spencerville United Methodist Church will serve as indoor headquarters for this year's party for smaller children and the adults. Cake walks and refreshments will be at the church.

Outdoor activities for the junior and senior high school age groups include a scavenger hunt. Those participating must have a permission slip signed by their parents and a flashlight. The meeting place for the scavengers will be the lot between the restaurant and the vacant service station.

Permission slips for the scavenger hunt may be obtained from Sharon Baker, Mabel Rinard and Pat Melchi.

There will be refreshments for all and judging of costumes.

Roll call, "Halloween trick," was answered by 19 members. Two children and one guest, Reta Lou Lucas, were present.

Mike Storer Wins FFA Award

Michael Storer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Storer of R1 Saint Joe, was one of eleven Indiana Future Farmers of America who received the American Farmer Degree, the organization's highest honor, at the 43rd National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, on October 15.

The American Farmer Degree is awarded annually at the national convention to about one FFA member out of every 1000.

The award is given on the basis of a member's record in agriculture, leadership and scholarship. Award recipients must also have been out of high school for one year and have demonstrated that they are becoming established in an agriculture career.

Mike is a third year student in the School of Veterinary Science at Purdue University in Lafayette.

Lions Club

—by Andy Crow, Cub Reporter (subbing for Frank Amstutz)

The calendar of meetings listed the October 12 meeting as a work night and our friendly post card reminder also noted "work night" and that we were to meet at the covered bridge east of Spencerville.

Many of us showed up in full working regalia, complete to raincoats and boots. Some of the club members were to work in the grove around the bridge while others would be sent to help around the new community building.

But, alas, all of our preparation was to no avail—the weather couldn't have been worse. So to soothe all jangled nerves, we had a short meeting in the United Methodist Church in Spencerville.

The first question was, of course, how did we do at the fair? (Before anybody answered, a general suggestion was to open a window a little because the room was beginning to smell like a cross between a locker room and a farmers barnyard because of our work clothes.)

Then general comments about another very good year for our club at the fair. Our new tent performed well and only a few people complained because of our new location, although some of the wives were indeed grateful not to be in the old location.

A question was raised as to how many hamburgers were sold and the answer given was between 400 and 450 dozen hamburgers, plus hot dogs, based on the bun count. A momentary silence—a few sighs of relief—and then back to work.

A general discussion followed on the swiftness and ease with which our trucks were let in to bring down the tent (ha-ha), but we concluded that the police were trying (very trying). A letter is to be sent with some, we hope, helpful suggestions.

Then down to the business at hand, the meeting was to be a work night, so we did. This coming Saturday, October 24, the club is to celebrate its 30th anniversary. In preparation, Lion Lavon Hart has been going through the morgue of the St. Joe News, trying to find any and all juicy tidbits about the Lion membership. The only trouble Lavon had was that he spent too much time totally reading the old papers and not getting through enough papers.

Our work night turned out to be very entertaining. One of the highlights of the evening was one sports page where Spencerville's Red Raiders actually beat the St. Joe Tigers, but that was before my time and I still don't believe it.

Did you know—

—that Cong. E. Ross Adair, to "set the record straight," has pointed out: "Thirteen bills to curtail crime have been introduced since President Nixon first came to office. Nearly all of these bills have been held up in the Democrat-controlled Congress." The declaration came to counteract charges that the Administration and the Seniority System in Congress were responsible for non-productive crime legislation. "Let's all understand that the very Seniority System the Democrats refer to is a system currently favoring the Democrats," Cong. Adair concluded.

—that Kaiser's Super Market in Butler was burglarized sometime Saturday morning. Entry was gained by cutting an opening in a section of steel roof. Two safes were opened and an undisclosed amount of cash taken.

—that Eastside High School received a full share of $150 for being a member in good standing of the Indiana High School Athletic Association. Annual distribution of monies is made according to provisions of the organization's constitution. Since 1932, distribution per high school is $3,692.00.

—that Leon Kees of Saint Joe attended a reunion of the Last Man's Club of the Rainbow Division of World War I veterans. The reunion was held at the New Haven American Legion Post. Mr. Kees is the last of six such veterans from DeKalb County.

—that Mrs. Ralph Seehler was transferred from DeKalb Memorial Hospital to the Glen Oaks Nursing Home October 6.

—that Beta Sigma Phi will hold a sale and display of handcraft at the Glenbrook Mall Thursday through Sunday of this week. Mrs. Carlos Church, proprietor of the Saint Joe Valley Gift Shop at the pickle factory, announced that the shop will have a display of handcrafts at the show.

—that a course in "Personal Federal Income Tax" will be offered at I.U. in Fort Wayne on five Wednesdays starting October 28, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Further information is available by calling 483-8121, extension 274.

—that Fort Wayne observes its 176th birthday Thursday, October 22, with a public gathering in the auditorium of the public library at 7:30 p.m. There will be five other commerative programs observing the anniversary.

—that the critical teacher shortage of 1966 when 1,890 vacancies were reported in Indiana schools has dwindled to only 272 vacancies in 1970.

—that Kaie Stromberck of Saint Joe is among ten county 4-H'ers who will participate in a two day excursion this week end in Chicago. They were selected for the trip on the basis of their total 4-H achievement.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 22, 1970

Dear Friends:

America is at a key point in her history and we must have the best available men and women in the Congress if we are to continue making progress as a free nation. Voters in Indiana's Fourth District are indeed fortunate to be represented in the House of Representatives by a dynamic and highly capable leader, E. Ross Adair.

I am grateful to Ross Adair for the continuing support he has given my Administration on the vital issues facing our nation, particularly the cause of peace in Vietnam. As senior Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Ross Adair has provided me with valuable advice and counsel; his sponsorship of the Resolution for Peace with Justice in Vietnam demonstrated once again the kind of statesmanship for which I am grateful and which is so needed in government today.

You can be proud of your representative in Congress and I have every hope the people of Indiana's Fourth District will once again give Ross Adair the support he needs to remain in Washington to work for you and for our nation.

Sincerely,

Richard Nixon

VOLUME LXXXV | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, October 29, 1970 | NUMBER 41

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

WITH THE EDITOR

Dwight Sebert of Butler stopped in this week to leave son Mike's new address. Here 'tis if any friends wish to write:
Sgt. Mike Sebert 304 54 1776
421st TFS, Box 115, DRW32
APO San Francisco, Ca 96332

And Bob Ridge of Butler stopped in to run an ad this week, since he's running for re-election. He also added two names to the list of 4-H auction supporters recently given to us by Paul Ritchen. The additional donors are Bob White's Westwood of Auburn, and Don Mayer and Universal Tool at Butler.

Mildred Jarrett called Tuesday to say that the clearing of weeds and brush by the B&O along its right-of-way in this area certainly is appreciated.

Don't forget—next Monday is the last day for paying your fall installment of property taxes.

I had to leave the Lions Club aniversary banquet early Saturday night, missing Lavon Hart's presentation of the club's history, and its members in pictures.

I regretted missing it, but as I drove to Fort Wayne, it occurred to me that here was another example of how blind the liberal critics are, in government and in the church, those who say everything's been all wrong and nothing has been done or done right. They give little recognition to the service that IS being given to mankind by such efforts as the Lions Club.

It has occurred to me before that the criticisms being hurled at this country and at the church for not being "involved" in the world is not reasonable. The Lions Club certainly is not perfect, but the local club DOES get involved in helping with community projects, it DOES give its support to, for instance, Leader Dog training and cancer research, and it DOES give a Bible to every graduating senior in our high school. The Bible project has been carried on for many, many years, and what greater symbol to young people about service to mankind than to give a Bible? Whether or not the students use it is another story, but at least the Lions Club is providing a vital tool in the story of service.

So, when I hear anyone spout off nowadays about how bad we've been, how much to blame we (the United States and the church) are to blame for the evils in the world, I just must exercise the thought, "Sorry, but you're blind; you haven't looked around."

On that one referendum we vote on next Tuesday, the one of the three that deals with setting up our state legislature on an annual session basis. Didn't Thomas Jefferson say something like, "That government is best which governs least"? On the basis of that old Democrat's wise counsel, I think I'm agin it —the amendment I mean. It seems to me that an annual session will ultimately demand almost full-time participation by our legislators, and that will mean more money for salaries and, therefore, more taxes—for more government!

As for the other two amendments, they seem to be o.k.

Next Tuesday's election involves more than Democrat vs. Republican in the Indiana Senatorial race; it more significantly involves the approach to life taken by the two candidates.

To me, one of the strongest points made by Dick Roudebush in the so-called debate a couple of weeks ago was the fact that Mr. Roudebush does on occasion say "no" when it comes to spending more money. Mr. Hartke is attempting to make his opponent appear to be "against" anybody and everything in the current campaign, on the basis that Mr. Roudebush hasn't gone along with giving somebody what they want every time they want it.

Mr. Hartke blames Republicans for inflation and the high cost of living. But it actually is Mr. Hartke and his liberal fellow travelers who cause these conditions; their philosophy is—when there is a problem, let the government spend more money.

So, next Tuesday when I put my "X" (or rather flip the levers) next to the names Roudebush and Adair, it will be because they ARE "watchdogs," because they DO think as I do, and thank goodness they do more than see how many bills they can sponsor!

87 Observe Lions' Anniversary

The Saint Joe Lions Club members, their wives, and the Auburn Lions Club members and their wives celebrated the 30th anniversary of the founding of the local club with a catered dinner in the Riverdale cafetorium Saturday evening, October 24, 1970, with 87 persons present. Honored guests included District Governor and Mrs. Manchu, Fred Quance and Keith Showalter, both past District Governors, Ted Haberkorn, former president of the Saint Joe club, Jesse and Midge Hann, leader dog chairman for this district, Mrs. Bina McKay and Elizabeth Stemen, widows of former members, and perhaps others whose names I did not get —also Ronnie (soon to become a member) and Mrs. Wellman.

The Auburn club originally sponsored our club and has always taken pride in the accomplishments of our club just as a proud parent takes pride in the accomplishments of his offspring. Not boastful nor trying to take credit but just having that warm feeling of affection and being happy to see us progress. How we wish that all parents and children could follow this example.

President Howard Timmerman turned the meeting over to Frank Laub as toastmaster. He called on the District Governor to pin the appropriate pins on Willard Hurni and Cliff Billow, charter members; Lynn Fisher, Bill Staman and Ralph Keeler (Ralph was absent because of sickness), 25 year members; Virgil Gerig and Franklin Sechler, 20 year members; Walter Morr, Lehr Wilder, Hershel Shockley, Forrest Bevington and Howard Timmerman.

The District Governor was asked to say a few words and they were few because he said, "If you want to hear a speech, I will be glad to come back another time; tonight I want to hear about the history of the St. Joe Lions Club."

Toastmaster Laub then introduced Lavon Hart who with other members of the club had researched through the St. Joe News files for interesting reports on and pictures of some of the Lions activities over the last 30 years.

Lavon used three slide projectors, three screens and a tape recorder and called it a Three Screen Production. On this he kept three pictures of the clippings or photographs on the screens at the same time, then changing one then another as time went on and at the same time kept the tape running, thus giving us a narrated account.

For example, one of the photographs showed a picture of the Timmerman family and at the same time the tape recorder was telling us that the cute five year old boy in the knee pants was our beloved president.

Other photographs shown were the wedding pictures of the Murphys, the Curies, the Kageys, the Lavon Harts, the Timmermans and many other varieties of pictures.

Altogether it was like a three ring circus plus a narrated account all going at once, yet having harmony throughout.

I am glad that we did not have to pay commercial prices for this production.

Portions of the taped account give the following information:

The first president was Frank Bowman, 1st V.P. was Ralph Sechler, 2nd V.P. Fred Leighty, sec.-treasurer was E. DuWayne Kinsey, Lion Tamer was Leslie Wilburn, Tailtwister was E. H. Stanley Garman.

Happenings of 1940-41 were: Franklin Sechler was in the Junior Class play, Bill Staman and Vernie Monroe spent a month in Colorado, Karl Hart was teaching in Newville, Mrs. M. Kline was teaching 3d third and fourth graders, Harold Curie was president of the Student Council, Harold Kagey left for Tri State College, a 9¼ lb. boy arrived at the Lehr Wilder home.

The president for 1941-42 was Ralph Sechler. Paul Moore graduated from high school, Beraice Wilder got a black eye in a car accident, Frank Laub was vice president of the 7th grade class, united in marriage for better or for worse were Lynn Fisher and Lois Rutherford and also Harold Kagey and Alice Hart.

The president for 1949-50 was Herman Euler, Richard Crow was chairman of the ticket group of the International Dairy Show, Lewis Ross was elected May Queen and one month later became Mrs. Lavon Hart.

Virgil Gerig was president in 1953-54, Walter Morr was treasurer of Concord Township, the Holsom Dairy was burglarized, Emily Shull and Harold Curie were married, following the death of sec-treasurer Schendel Lion C. R. Billow took that office and has held it ever since. That was the year we started the ice cream social. New members were Forrest Bevington, Wayne Storer, Warren Clauser and Walter Morr.

Bill Staman was president in 1956-57, Joe Smith returned to Riverdale as principal, Frank Laub and Joe Smith became Lions, Jiggs' Motor Service and Clauser's Grocery were burglarized.

We wish to thank the St. Joe News for letting us rummage through their files for clippings and pictures. We also wish to thank Lavon Hart for condensing, editing and showing all of these pictures and clippings.

Also we thank the banquet committee and their assistants and a special thanks to the members of the Eastside Music Department for the music.

Two Halloween Parties October 31

The local Halloween observance will be held Saturday night, October 31, at both Saint Joe and Spencerville starting at 7:00 p.m.

At Saint Joe the volunteer firemen sponsor the annual party which will be held as usual this year in the Riverdale cafetorium after a parade.

The entertainment committee includes Mel Hershberger, Pat Crow, John Sechler and Fred Rayle.

H. L. McMaken is parade chairman while Joe Robinson will be master of ceremonies.

Prizes will be awarded to winning costumes for all age groups.

At Spencerville, the Community Club is the sponsor. Due to the fact that the new community building is not available for use, the Spencerville United Methodist Church will serve as indoor headquarters for this year's party for smaller children and the adults. Cake walks and refreshments will be at the church.

Outdoor activities for the junior and senior high school age groups include a scavenger hunt. Those participating must have a permission slip signed by their parents and a flashlight. The meeting place for the scavengers will be the lot between the restaurant and the vacant service station.

Permission slips for the scavenger hunt may be obtained from Sharon Baker, Mabel Rinard and Pat Melchi.

There will be refreshments for all and judging of costumes.

An additional feature at the Spencerville party will be a record hop for high school and junior high students at the United Methodist church, following the other festivities.

Trick or treat activities by the youngsters will be limited to Friday night, according to Community Club officers.

GOP Parade, Rally This Friday

DeKalb County Republicans are planning a gigantic rally to be held in the court house at 6:30 p.m. Friday of this week, October 30, 1970, following the traditional Torchlight Parade.

Dean Kruse, county GOP chairman, has stated that an all out effort is being made to have 2,000 people attend. Kruse stated that a country and western show with special music and a singalong program featuring the Country DJ's will add to the program's attraction.

The public is being invited, whether they are Republican, Independent or Democrat. The committee is encouraging them to bring their families.

There will be free food, enough for everyone to eat all they want.

Featured guests on the program will be U.S. Congressman E. Ross Adair and Indiana Lt. Governor Richard E. Folz. Both will deliver short talks.

Richard Wells, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will also be present at the rally.

Larry Hixson has been appointed Torchlight Parade chairman. He is now 4th District Young Republican chairman.

All participants are requested to meet at the Presbyterian Church in Auburn at 6:15 p.m. Friday night.

The parade will originate at the church and terminate at the court house.

Anyone having questions or wishing to participate in the parade should call 925-2387.

Hi Ted,

I thought I had better drop you a line and let you know our new address now that we are settled here in Hawaii. So if you will please start sending the News to my home address, instead of at work, I will appreciate it.

We lived in a hotel here for the first two months that we were here. It took us that long to get a house, and a couple of more weeks to get settled after our furniture was delivered. It only took two weeks for our car to arrive from California.

The children have gone to two different schools already, one while we were in the hotel and another one after we moved into our house.

We have seen about everything on the Island already, and we have only been here two and a half months, with almost three years to go yet. Tell everybody if they ever make it over this way, to be sure to look us up.

I guess this is it for now.

Only One Vote....

(from the Indiana Democratic State Central Committee)

Last spring, in the Indiana primary election, only 22 per cent of the eligible voting public exercised their privilege of choice. The voter turnout for the 1968 presidential election was measurably less than the 1960 presidential election. If the trend continues, one might wonder if citizens, through apathy, will forfeit opportunities that can come only in a democratic society. The rationale, "What difference will my vote make? It's only one vote," is a very poor excuse. There are stories in our history which clearly point out that only one vote DOES, in fact, make a difference.

1. In 1960 a state legislative candidate in Connecticut won the primary by one vote and the general assembly by one vote.

2. An alderman candidate in Cleveland in 1966 had an attack of appendicitis on election day and didn't vote. He was defeated by one vote.

3. In 1962 in six states (Massachusetts, South Carolina, Maine, Minnesota, Vermont and Rhode Island) a shift of ½ of one per cent of the popular vote would have changed the election.

4. Less than one vote per precinct would have changed the outcome of the 1960 election. If Republicans would have polled registered, and gotten a little over 100,000 more votes, John F. Kennedy would not have been President.

5. In 1948 a shift of less than 8,000 votes in two states (California and Ohio) would have thrown the presidential election into the House of Representatives. Harry Truman may not have had the opportunity to initiate the Marshall Plan, save Greece and Turkey from communism and begin the rebuilding of Japan and Germany.

6. Birch Bayh won his election to the United States Senate by 10,997 votes, a margin of less than two votes per precinct (50.3 per cent of the vote).

Others in history have commented on apathy and lack of involvement:

"When you have to make a choice and don't make it, that is in itself a choice." (William James)

"Doing nothing is doing evil." (source unknown)

"Those not present are always in the wrong." (Philippe Mericault)

"One person with a belief is equal to a force of ninety-nine who only have interests. (John Stuart Mill).

SAINT JOE VALLEY HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Club met at the home of Mallonna Wade October 23, 1970.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Doris Yeiser, with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Alice Reidenbach, who read from I Corinthians 13, 1 to 13, stressing we can overcome all obstacles if our faith is strong enough and we trust in Him.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser, a very interesting report on the old time song, "Dixie."

Pat Roberts reported on the Council Meeting she had attended. Our county agent is urging us to get new members and build up our club during her Membership Drive.

Roll call was answered by 10 members with a leaf analysis. With the leaves in beautiful color now, many leaves were analyzed, and the box elder tree with its many bugs was the most unliked tree.

The secretary's report was given by Eva Clauser and was accepted as read.

The Ways and Means Committee then took orders for stationery as a money-making project for the year. Everyone ordered some for themselves and some to sell for it was such nice stationery.

Eva Clauser and Doris Yeiser reported on and showed things they made at the Workshop. The projects they took were very nice and gave us ideas to make things for our home.

The president reminded us of the Officers Training School, Achievement Day and the Christmas Party that will be held in the near future.

The meeting was then closed with the reciting of the Homemakers Creed after which the hostess served a delicious lunch.

The social hour was spent making Christmas decorations and a lot of chatter.

Fire Destroys Old Mill

The old grist mill at Saint Joe is no more.

The old landmark, which had in recent years become a safety hazard as well as an eyesore, was destroyed by fire Friday night, October 23, 1970. The blaze apparently was caused by embers from a smoldering fire nearby.

Roscoe Walter, present owner of the property, had been clearing brush and debris from the site on the afternoon of the fire. It appeared probable that embers from the brush fire burning near the building drifted into the old structure, smoldered until nightfall, then broke forth. The Saint Joe fire department was called shortly after 9:00 p. m. Friday to fight the blaze. The Spencerville unit arrived later.

The old building had been condemned by the Saint Joe town board over a year ago. The board had just recently begun to continue legal proceedings to have the building torn down.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 22, 1970

Dear Friends:

America is at a key point in her history and we must have the best available men and women in the Congress if we are to continue making progress as a free nation. Voters in Indiana's Fourth District are indeed fortunate to be represented in the House of Representatives by a dynamic and highly capable leader, E. Ross Adair.

I am grateful to Ross Adair for the continuing support he has given my Administration on the vital issues facing our nation, particularly the cause of peace in Vietnam. As senior Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Ross Adair has provided me with valuable advice and counsel; his sponsorship of the Resolution for Peace with Justice in Vietnam demonstrated once again the kind of statesmanship for which I am grateful and which is so needed in government today.

You can be proud of your representative in Congress and I have every hope the people of Indiana's Fourth District will once again give Ross Adair the support he needs to remain in Washington to work for you and for our nation.

Sincerely,

Richard Nixon

Vote for Qualifications---

Each county is governed by a board of three county commissioners elected from separate districts on the basis of the vote of the county as a whole. In other words, the General Assembly imposes a residence qualification upon a prospective commissioner that he reside in a certain district but requires that he be elected by majority vote of the entire county. The Board of County Commissioners is responsible for the administration of all county business.

General functions of the Board of County Commissioners are numerous, and include the controlling, maintaining and supervising of all county property, auditing and authorizing claims against the county, receiving bids and authorization of contracts, supervision of construction and maintenance of roads and bridges, preparing a part of the annual budget over which County Commissioners exercise direct control, serving with the County Surveyor as members of the County Drainage Board, and very important, levying a county-wide property tax for schools, and many, many more.

Melvin F. Diederich, your candidate, has the qualifications to serve this county that all people receive dollar for dollar value for their tax money.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY COUNCIL MUST OWN REAL ESTATE

The law requires that candidates for the office of County Council must be resident freeholders. Why?

Probably because the County Council holds the purse strings of the county. It appropriates all funds for use by the county and its officers. It fixes the rate of taxation for county purposes. It adopts the annual budget. It fixes the pay for deputies appointed by various county officers. It has exclusive power to authorize the amount of indebtedness to be incurred by the county within legal limits.

In determining the qualifications of candidates for office, the Indiana Legislature has required high standards for county councilmen. Have you given as much thought to the particular candidates who will be making these decisions for you in the future?

ARE YOU CONCERNED ABOUT THE TAX RATE IN DEKALB COUNTY?

Few issues have evoked more discussion, concern and criticism than the high property tax rates which have prevailed in DeKalb County and other counties.

Perhaps the system is wrong. Hopefully, the 1971 Indiana General Assembly will initiate some measures for property tax relief. Meanwhile, property taxation continues and the tax will likely remain as the principal source of revenue for local government and education.

One cause of high tax rates is partisan government administration. If two heads are better than one, then aren't two parties better than one?

We seriously suggest you consider restoring bi-partisan government to DeKalb County. We submit these candidates as being well qualified and successful business people able to meet the high qualifications demanded of this office of county council. Your vote for these candidates will assure a watchful eye on county spending and thorough investigation of county tax rates.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, November 5, 1970 — NUMBER 42

Indiana State Library

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Larry Shuff hobbled into the shop Wednesday afternoon, leaning on a cane. He entered the Marines last month, and while in training, injured his knee. He also contracted pneumonia, and when x-rays were taken, it was discovered that he has an enlarged heart.

As a result, Larry was given a medical discharge and returned to Saint Joe Tuesday.

I had him on the mailing list as soon as he left in October. He said the other guys in the outfit got a kick out of the hometown paper, some of them amazed that such a thing still exists.

If there is anything that hurts, it is the knowledge that some one dislikes or even hates me—especially when it is young people. I can see and feel the hate in the hearts and minds of some of them in recent months, and it came to the surface at Halloween when the windows of the News Office were used by certain young people to retaliate against me, placing the blame on my shoulders for something that is not my fault.

They resorted to vulgar and obscene terms to express themselves, commenting on one pane: "Creep! What business did ya have to tear down the pump??"

These words are in reference to the recent removal, by order of the town board, of the concrete block which formerly housed the town pump.

These young people are wrong. I did not tear down the pump; young people did. The block which held the pump and the drinking fountain in past years also had steel pipe guard rails—which were loosened and damaged by young people pulling and pushing at the rails which eventually gave way and were removed. It was young people who rammed stones into the drinking fountain and plugged it up. It was young people who removed the manhole cover occassionally and tampered with the shutoff valve. And the same young people abuse the stop sign at the same corner, pulling and pushing it and loosening the steel foundation—not to mention the nighttime gatherings of young people of all ages at all hours at the pump, often accompanied by loud, foul language and the morning-after of beer and pop cans and other litter.

The town board removed the concrete slab, not me. But the pump was torn down by the young people, some of whom today mistakenly blame me for their frustrations. Nothing hurts like the hate I see in their eyes, hate that is not justified, if they would just do a little thinking.

They do not know, or have forgotten, that it was dirty old me, that "p—," that "b—," as my shop windows now declare, who was responsible in a large part for getting a lighted ball diamond at Saint Joe, used for many years now by young people as well as old. And it was dirty old me who, as an earlier town board member, officially proposed and supported the construction of the park pavilion now used by many young people as well as old along with the other park facilities.

And it is these same young people who have had the use of our driveway and back yard for the past couple of years for their group recreational purposes, who have littered the yard with their gum and candy and ice cream wrappers, with their pop bottles and cans—and sometimes their beer bottles—and once swiping a basketball—these same young people who show their appreciation by placing dirty words on the News Office windows.

I'm not mad—but I am disappointed—very disappointed—that young people, whose friend I am, look upon me as their enemy. But I can't blame them entirely. Some of their elders are just as short in their memory.

Dec. 1 Deadline For Mental Health Gifts

The holiday season has opened in DeKalb County as the Mental Health Association begins its program for the 1970 Christmas Gift Project.

Annually the association collects Christmas gifts for the patients at Fort Wayne State Hospital and Training Center.

Mrs. Oakley Gronendyke, president of the association, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Roger Kain as chairman of the project. Mrs. Kain assumes the responsibility of organizing the complete county campaign which will enable the patients in state hospitals to share some of the joys of the holiday season.

Several business firms have donated space to serve as centers for the gift collection. Included is the News Office at Saint Joe. Other collection depots are Kandel Insurance in Butler, Boston stores in Auburn and Garrett and the Waterloo Hardware.

Many organizations in the county have agreed to assist in the project, including Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority in Auburn, Tri Kappa Sorority in Garrett, JayCee Etts in Butler, B.P.W. in Waterloo and The Saint Joe News.

All gifts must be delivered to the hospital by December 5. Donations, therefore, must be in by December 1 to allow for wrapping and delivery.

The greatest need is for gifts for men. Suggested gifts include permanent press shirts, trousers, scarves, sweaters or sweat shirts, group games, jackets, bathrobes, slippers or washable scuffs, pocket watches, caps with earflaps, belts, tobacco products, hair cream, shaving cream and lotions in plastic containers, billfolds, dress gloves or mittens, musical instruments, crib mobiles and toys, LP records, wrist watches, etc.

Gifts must be new and should not be wrapped. Gift wrap, however, can accompany the gift for use by those who prepare the gifts for presentation.

Scrap Paper Drive

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 192 will conduct a scrap paper drive Saturday, November 21, starting at 8:30 a.m.

Those living in the rural area should call Mrs. Allen Osmun at 337-3401 and give notice of papers to be picked up.

Funds from the scrap paper drive will be used for troop activities.

Local Vote Totals Listed

Voting in DeKalb County at the November 3 general election gave Republicans a majority in every race except one at the county level. In that one, Ronald Feller, a Democrat candidate for county councilman at large, won one of the three at-large posts.

Grace Phelps of Butler and Clyde Husselman of Auburn won the other two posts.

At the local level, varying tallies in Concord Township ballotting present an opportunity for wondering what went on in the minds of voters in Congressional races.

Seemingly a stronger Republican area than Democrat, Concord Township gave Edward Roush and Vance Hartke slight majorities over Republicans E. Ross Adair and Richard Roudebush in Congressional races. But in adjacent Newville and Spencer townships, the Republican majority voted more along straight party lines for the most part and gave the GOP candidates strong support.

In the trustee race in Concord Township, Merlin Simanton, the Democrat candidate, defeated Kathryn Crow 218-134. Democrats also won the advisory positions, with Clayton A. Baker, John Mason and Walter Morr elected over Russell Arnett, Dale Collins and Wayne Fetters.

It appears that Concord Township voters felt it was "time for a change," the GOP candidate's husband, Richard Crow, having served as trustee for the past two terms.

Wayne Benninghoff was unopposed in Newville Township for trustee. A Republican advisory board was elected, however, to assist the Democrat trustee. They are Lewis Guiff, Ira Hook and Howard Jolly. The losers were Roy Baker, Wilbur Beree and Kenneth Richmond.

Republicans were unopposed in Spencer Township, with Gale Bowser re-elected trustee. Advisory board members are Connie Hollabaugh, Carl Perkins and Dallas Zimmerman.

Vote tallies are as follows:

CONCORD TOWNSHIP
Trustee—Kathryn Crow R 134, Merlin Simanton D 218.
Advisory Board—Russell Arnett R 164, Dale Collins R 139, Wayne Fetters R 152, Clayton A. Baker D 186, John Mason D 208, Walter Morr D 197.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP
Trustee—Wayne Benninghoff D 67.
Advisory Board—Lewis Guiff R 75, Ira Hook R 76, Howard Jolly R 77, Roy Baker D 41, Wilbur Beree D 43, Kenneth Richmond D 46.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP
Trustee—Gale Bowser R 258.
Advisory Board—Connie Hollabaugh R 260, Carl Perkins R 250, Dallas Zimmerman R 256.

On the three proposed amendments to the Indiana Constitution, voting countywide was in favor of all three. However, the voting in the three local townships indicated mixed opinions.

On the legislative amendment to give the Indiana General Assembly the opportunity to meet on an annual basis, 4586 county voters said "yes" and 2905 said "no." However, in Concord Township, the vote was tied at 120. Newville voters said "yes" 56 times and "no" 38 while Spencer Township went against the amendment 140-125.

The judicial amendment which is supposed to take politics out of the appellate courts was approved countywise 4366-3238. In Concord Township it was 128-120 in favor, Newville Township 49-46 against and in Spencer Township it was 132-123 against.

On the amendment to lengthen the terms of certain state offices, the county was 5385-2356 in favor. In Concord Township, it was 136-94 in favor, 56-38 in favor in Newville Township and 205-60 in favor in Spencer Township.

Other vote tallies are as follows ("C" for Concord Township, "N" for Newville and "S" for Spencer, the county total given in the last column):

Prayer Appeal In--- Letters to the Editor

The American Legion
Indianapolis, Indiana
October 30, 1970

To: All Indiana News Media

Release of the more than 1,000 prisoners of war, and-or more humane treatment for these men is the goal of The American Legion during the coming year.

This program is to be carried out, primarily, by bringing pressure to bear on the conscience of the North Vietnamese using every means available both here in America and abroad.

We hope to arouse a seemingly apathetic public concerning the plight of these men. Thus, from time to time, throughout the coming year, we are asking the news media to assist us in this undertaking.

I am enclosing herewith a prayer which we hope your media will use on Veterans' Day, November 11th.

This program is endorsed by President Nixon and by the military. It can only succeed if we, as concerned citizens, lend every effort to the cause.

Thanking you for any assistance you can give us in this matter, I am

Sincerely yours,
Dale E. Kuhn
Department Commander

An American Legion Prayer For Our Prisoners of War

Lord, shelter the prisoners of war in Southeast Asia. Open the hearts and minds of their captors that they may be restored to their homes and loved ones.

Each has carried the burden of battle.

Each has discharged an obligation of his country.

Each has been subjected to hazard, pain, and imprisonment beyond the lot of the soldier.

O Lord, these gallant men who bear so great a burden must not be forsaken.

God of Justice to whom we pray, Thy compassion we beseech: Lift their burden, give them strength and strike the shackles that deny them freedom.

Roberts-Vachon Vows Read

MRS. RICHARD ROBERTS

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, October 31, 1970, by Miss Darla Vachon and Mr. Richard F. Roberts in the Newville Church of Christ. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Vachon of Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Roberts of Saint Joe.

Miss Loxie Roberts, sister of the groom served as maid of honor. Best man was Gary Edgar. Ushers were Donald Edgar and Paul D. Roberts, brother of the groom.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the church. Serving the guests were Mrs. Janaice Ulm, Mrs. Karen Diehl and Mrs. Penny Wiedenhooft. Mrs. Linda Hahn assisted at the gift table. Guests were registered by Mrs. Julia Ann Grate.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple will reside at Lawton, Oklahoma, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Peace Corps Seeks Minority Members

Former Peace Corps Volunteer Franklin Walker, right, met recently with Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts as part of a spearhead drive to attract members of racial minorities to Peace Corps service. Walker was a Peace Corps Volunteer at the Kingston, Jamaica Boy's Town during 1965-68. He is now counselor for special projects at Northern Illinois University. In a series of radio and television appearances in the Washington, D. C. area, Walker said that the Peace Corps teaches skills and organizational ability that can help minorities develop leadership at home. Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford says too few minority group members have taken advantage of Peace Corps opportunities in the past.

New Members Sought

The DeKalb County Extension Homemaker clubs are starting the new year with a membership drive. The extension program offers an opportunity to women of all ages to continue their education in home economics, to learn and share ideas and to have fun with neighbors and friends.

Throughout the year extension specialists come to DeKalb County to teach lessons in subject areas requested by the club members. Mrs. Gertrude Glasgow, Extension Human Behavior Specialist, will be teaching a lesson in November on "Helping Children Grow."

The Homemakers' clubs also participate in a variety of activities throughout the year, such as a county fashion show, rummage sales, craft workshops and county fair. Coming soon is the annual Achievement Night, to be held November 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the DeKalb Central High School auditorium.

The Summer Conference at Purdue University is the high light of the year. For three days homemakers from all over the state live, learn and have fun together. This is a trip open to any and all homemakers.

Mrs. Barbara Lake, Extension Home Economist, welcomes any interested homemakers to contact her at 925-2562 or drop in at the County Extension Office located on the first floor of the court house in Auburn. 20 Years Of International Partnership

Korean laborers unload rock from hand carts at the site of a dike they are building to reclaim land from the sea. Much food used as wages in starting these projects was furnished by CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service.

For the past 24 years Korea Church World Service has administered programs of compassion which people quickly recognize as the work of relief agencies — feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, and healing the sick.

However, KCWS workers early realized that long range hope lay in helping the Korean people help themselves, so that one day external assistance would no longer be needed.

Trained personnel went to live in the villages to help implement community development projects, including fine wells, schools, and farm-to-market roads. Improved livestock and seed were provided to farmers, and food-for-work projects at the coast reclaimed thousands of acres of tillable tideland.

Support for KCWS came from the people of the United States through Church World Service, Lutheran World Relief, and CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service.

By the end of 1970 all KCWS programs will have been transferred to Korean administration, a successful climax to two decades of international partnership.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
Mazie Myers, Reporter

At the Farm Bureau Board of Directors meeting October 8 a new program was announced by Mr. Paul Geringer, fieldman. This goes under the heading of "Operation Citrus," under which anyone wishing to order quality ripe grapefruit and oranges may do so at the Farm Bureau insurance office. This is put on by the Florida Farm Bureaus and they guarantee satisfaction and if anything doesn't come up to par, they will make it right. The fruit comes in four fifth bushel cartons and costs $5.10. Get your order blanks and pay at the office now.

President Floyd Pfisterman selected the membership committee. They are Cal Perkins, chairman, Bruce Freeman, Vess King, Mary Noel, Beverley Bloch and Harold Doty. November 9 is the date membership meeting.

Dates to remember are the Indiana State Convention, November 17 and 18 at Indianapolis, December 6 begins the National Convention at Houston, Texas. December 17 is the Family Night at the Auburn courthouse. Committees selected for this are: Song leader and devotions, Wilmington-Stafford; entertainment, Jackson; decorations, 4 Ts, and refreshments, Richland.

The next board meeting has been changed to November 30 due to the conflict with the state convention.

RAINBOW GIRLS

On October 30, 1970, the Rainbow Girls had a hayride and weiner party.

There were 14 members present with four guests for the hayride. Adults present were Mr. and Mrs. James Dwyer and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meeks.

The driver of the tractor was Ed Shilling.

The group returned to Connie Cooper's house after the hayride for eats and the slumber party.

THANK YOU

The support given me at Tuesday's election is greatly appreciated. My thanks to the voters of DeKalb County.

Clyde A. Husselman

In this way

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the voters of DeKalb County for their support at the November 3 election. I shall continue to strive to merit that support.

TWO OF A KIND

Now there are two "snaggletooths" in the family. What fun Jerry had trying to duplicate his own toothless grin!

I smiled, remembering his first "jack-o'-lantern" and how he had howled with fright at the eerie smile of the funny-faced vegetable. Jim and I had to work hard to convince him that "jack-o'-lanterns" were fun. Now, just a few years later, the "jack-o'-pumpkin" is one of his special delights.

How easy it is to shape the attitudes of a little child. It seems to Jim and me that Jerry is like a sponge, soaking up thoughts and ideas from the things we do and say. His points of view reflect our own.

That's why we know how important it is for all of us to go to church every Sunday. It was there we learned the love for God that enriches our every day. We want this dominion and joy to become a part of Jerry's life, too.

VOLUME LXXXV | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, November 12, 1970 | NUMBER 43

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Dec. 1 Deadline For Mental Health Gifts

The holiday season has opened in DeKalb County as the Mental Health Association begins its program for the 1970 Christmas Gift Project.

Annually the association collects Christmas gifts for the patients at Fort Wayne State Hospital and Training Center.

Mrs. Oakley Gronendyke, president of the association, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Roger Kain as chairman of the project. Mrs. Kain assumes the responsibility of organizing the complete county campaign which will enable the patients in state hospitals to share some of the joys of the holiday season.

Several business firms have donated space to serve as centers for the gift collection. Included is the News Office at Saint Joe. Other collection depots are Kandel Insurance in Butler, Boston stores in Auburn and Garrett and the Waterloo Hardware.

Many organizations in the county have agreed to assist in the project, including Sigma Phi Gamma Sorority in Auburn, Tri Kappa Sorority in Garrett, JayCee Etts in Butler, B.P.W. in Waterloo and The Saint Joe News.

All gifts must be delivered to the hospital by December 5. Donations, therefore, must be in by December 1 to allow for wrapping and delivery.

The greatest need is for gifts for men. Suggested gifts include permanent press shirts, trousers, scarves, sweaters or sweat shirts, group games, jackets, bathrobes, slippers or washable scuffs, pocket watches, caps with earflaps, belts, tobacco products, hair cream, shaving cream and lotions in plastic containers, billfolds, dress gloves or mittens, musical instruments, crib mobiles and toys, LP records, wrist watches, etc.

Gifts must be now and should not be wrapped. Gift wrap, however, can accompany the gift for use by those who prepare the gifts for presentation.

Scrap Paper Drive

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 192 will conduct a scrap paper drive Saturday, November 21, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Those living in the rural area should call Mrs. Allen Osmun at 337-3401 and give notice of papers to be picked up.

Funds from the scrap paper drive will be used for troop activities.

Engaged To Wed

KATHY COLEEN HOUSER

The engagement of Miss Kathy Coleen Houser to Jerry Lee Simanton has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Houser of Butler. Parents of the groom-to-be are Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Simanton of Rt Saint Joe.

Miss Houser is a 1970 graduate of Eastside High School and is currently employed as receptionist at the Laubach Clinic in Edgerton, Ohio.

Mr. Simanton is a 1969 graduate of Eastside and is employed at General Electric, serving an apprenticeship as tool and die maker.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Coming Dinners

Norris Chapel United Methodist Church ladies will serve a smorgasbord supper Saturday, November 14, 1970, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The church is located on County Road 40A, two miles west of Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church.

The menu will include a variety of meats, vegetables, salads and desserts.

The public is invited to attend.

The Building Committee of the Spencerville Community Club has announced that a turkey dinner will be served by the organization Sunday, November 22, 1970, from noon until 3:00 p.m.

Prices for the dinner will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age. Pie will be extra.

The dinner, to be served in the Riverdale Cafetorium, is being set up on a Sunday to give familes an opportunity to "eat out" for the Thanksgiving season while helping the Community Club to raise additional funds for its new building now under construction.

Meeting Changed

The Fifty-Plus Club has reset its meeting night for this month due to the Thanksgiving holiday observance. Regular meeting night is the fourth Thursday of each month. This month, however, the meeting will be held Thursday, November 19, to avoid the conflict with Thanksgiving.

The November 19 meeting will start with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. at St. Peter Lutheran Church in Spencerville.

An invitation is extended to the over-50 age group in the community to "bring your friend —come hear and see what they found in Grandma's attic."

Riverdale PTO

The Riverdale P.T.O. will hold open house for parents next Tuesday evening, November 17. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

Those attending will gather in the Cafetorium where the schedule of classes will be announced. Parents will then have the opportunity to visit the various classrooms and meet the teachers. All will then return to the Cafetorium for the closing portion of the meeting.

A bake sale will be held also at Tuesday's meeting for the benefit of the P.T.O. treasury.

Junior League

—by Forrest Bevington, Director

The opening games of the 1970-71 Hoosier basketball season for the 5th and 6th grade boys of the Riverdale School proves that the game can keep 37 eager boys busy.

From the opening tip until the final minute of play, the boys gave their best in what turned out to be two well-played games.

Team 2 with the super performance by Philip Staley was able to outlast team 1. The final score was 39-28. Denis Drake, a tired and unhappy boy, scored 16 points in a losing cause.

Team 4 squeezed out a close game over team 3. The final score was 26-23. Jeffrey Hudson made the difference in the two teams, scoring 15 points. Brent Resor was high scorer for team 3 with 8 points.

Town Board Seeks Public Opinion Concerning Petition For Exception To Mobile Home Ordinance

The town board of Saint Joe met in a brief session last week to consider a petition presented to the board earlier in the week concerning the local mobile home ordinance. The ordinance prohibits the installation of mobile homes within the corporate limits of the town except in licensed mobile home courts.

The petition was presented by Donald Noragon through an attorney, Stephen D. Trotter of Grimm & Grimm, attorneys, of Auburn. The petition was presented to the board by town attorney Philip Butler of Auburn to whom correspondence had been directed concerning the petition.

Mr. Noragon seeks in the petition to be granted an exception to the restrictions contained in the mobile home ordinance. He asks to be permitted to occupy a mobile home on his property for a period of two years, and offers to have a house built on the property by December of 1972.

In order to give fair consideration to the offer, and to allow the public to express its views on the subject, the board has called a special public meeting for Wednesday, November 18, 1970, at the town hall. All interested persons are asked to attend and express their views. Opinions can also be given prior to the meeting to any of the three board members, Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn. However, public participation at the meeting itself is preferred.

The town board met in regular session November 2, 1970, with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noragon as visitors.

A review of old business included a report from the president that rain had delayed the survey of the cemetery, a project undertaken to clarify lot boundaries in the local burial grounds.

It was noted that a recent charge of board invasion of private property was in error. A request to the county recorder's office brought the information that the town purchased 2.31 acres of land at the east edge of the corporation from Elgin, Paul and Elnora Curie in 1937.

It was reported that Roger Schlegel, who has been serving as dog warden, submitted his resignation in October due to personal matters. No replacement has been named for the post.

Bills allowed were as follows: Mel Hershberger, labor 17.50; Charles Rosenbury, mow cemetery 40.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 112.50; Farm Bureau, fuel oil 5.58; Yeiser's Standard Service, supplies 5.06; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas 5.91; Yeiser's Standard Service, supplies and labor 44.73; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas 13.21; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas 6.72; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash pickup ~~240.00~~; Saint Joe Waterworks, hydrant rental 2,200.00; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, street lights 231.72; City National Bank, fire truck payment 804.17; Lynn Lake, annual salary 150.00; Jack Bowser, annual salary 150.00; Emma Frank, salary six months 150.00.

Waterworks—William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.36; I&M 36.22; Watson Well Drilling, balance due 19.41.

Mrs. Forrest Bevington gave critic's report.

The 75th anniversary of the club will be celebrated next time at the home of Mrs. Robert Musser with a special meeting.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met Monday evening, November 10, at the United Methodist Church in Spencerville.

The menu was fruit cocktail and crackers, fried chicken, mashed potatoes, cole slaw, peas, pie and coffee, tea or milk. Actually, I have never eaten a poor meal there yet and I didn't get to see who was working in the kitchen. But judging from the results this time, they must have had their number one crew on that evening.

President Timmerman requested that any Lions who had guests there should introduce them. Harold Kagey introduced Senior Patrol Leader Eric Jacobson who was all decked out in his Scout uniform, resplendent with patches.

Eric said a few nice things about our club, then invited all of us Lions and our wives to a pancake and sausage supper that they personally would prepare for us Monday evening, November 30, at 6:30 p.m., no charge. Every Lion should look on this like they would look on a wedding invitation, that is, if he is not sick in bed, he must be there.

Lynn Fisher introduced Gale Bowser, Harold Murphy introduced Jerry Storer and Harold Curie introduced Ronnie Wellman. Ronnie is well on his way to becoming a Lion but we haven't got him initiated (sworn in) yet.

Tailtwister Paul Moore sold me an old second-hand Lions Roar (our local club paper) for ten cents. This just happened to be for October 12 and we just happened to be on vacation on that date. You never can tell what a Tailtwister will come up with next.

Secretary Billow read portions of some letters he had received. One was an invitation to a charter presentation to the Georgetown club at Fort Wayne Friday, November 16. The Garrett club will have its 45th anniversary dinner November 16. Also the Garrett club has invited our entire club to meet with them at their regular meting January 18. Also a notice of a ham and bean public supper by the Butler club Friday, November 13.

A motion was made and passed that the secretary was to write a letter of thanks to Virgil Koch for the use of his barn while we were constructing our new fair concession tent. Then someone remembered that we have it stored there now and we should mention that in the letter. Lion Fisher insisted, "We will send him another letter next year."

Did we ever tell you that we made $2,100 profit on our fair project this year? And did we tell you thanks for your patronage?

No doubt you would also like to know that the total cost of the tent and its contents was a little over $500.00.

The proposed budget this year looks quite similar to last year's budget except that we expect to pay $200.00 as a part of our three-year pledge toward that new $250,000.00 machine for the treatment of cancer. Also it was noted that we budgeted $500.00 for the Spencerville Community Building and nothing this year. President Timmerman, who is also on that Spencerville building committee, stated, "Let's just let it go through that way. I have some ideas and I think that we can remedy that somewhat before the year is over."

If I were a betting man, I would give better odds on this than on that next year's letter to Virgil Koch.

Maybe the club will change portions of that proposed budget but it passed the executive committee without any alterations.

Our recreation director, Forrest Bevington, had an overabundance of criticism and an inadequate supply of volunteer help when he needed it last year. He had decided to resign altogether but may be persuaded to stay on the day work but we have doubts about the night work. It would be too bad to cancel this project so we will just hope for the best.

Our program committee, Willard Maxwell and Frank Laub, then introduced Dr. Floyd Coleman who was recently re-elected to his second term to the Indiana Assembly. Dr. Coleman started his speech by saying, "I am glad to be here and get to speak to you folks because it is hard to get a word in at home. You see, I have a wife and eight children." Then he talked so fast and furious that I didn't get enough of it to make any report on it.

Did you know-

—that Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Munsey are parents of a son born last month at Fort Wayne.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kees of Saint Joe visited their son and family, Jack Kees, at Fort Wayne over the week end. Saturday evening they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Houser at Pleasant Lake.

—that Ray Reasoner will be 90 years young December 28 while Mrs. Reasoner will be 87 on Christmas Day.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Roger Schlegel of Saint Joe are parents of a son born last week at Lutheran Hospital in Fort Wayne.

—that Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" in western frontier garb, will be presented December 10-19 by the Fort Wayne Civic Theater, 725 Maiden Lane. Included will be special student performances for $1.50. The regular admission prices will be $3.00 and $4.00. Last year's special student performances of "Macbeth" were sellouts.

—that DeKalb Central High School's presentation of "My Fair Lady" will be given November 12-15.

—that Indianapolis has been designated as the site of a Standard of Perfection Polled Hereford Show to be held in September of 1971 in conjunction with the Indiana State Fair.

—that the second State Taxpayer's Organization meeting will be held in the court house at Kokomo at 1:30 p.m. November 17. 20 counties have now organized to have representation in the organization which will discuss flagrant tax practices and recommended solutions. Resolutions to be voted on include: repeal of the re-assessment law; establishment of a maximum ceiling on real property; increase of a state sales tax; establishment of a state income tax; local option tax. All interested taxpayers are invited to attend.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Armstrong of Saratoga Springs, New York, are parents of a son, Brian Keith, born in September. Proud Poppa Dennis is now a Petty Officer Second Class in the U.S. Navy and is receiving training in the nuclear field.

—that someone evidently dumped a female dog and her six pups near the conservation grounds this week. The Forrest Bevington family took pity on the outcasts and are now providing temporary housing. Anyone wanting a cute pup may stop at the Bevington kennels and relieve the family of mounting obligations!

FFA Convention

—Nolan Johnson, Reporter

The National F.F.A. Convention was held from October 14 through 17. The Eastside F.F.A. Chapter was lucky enough to have seven F.F.A. members at the convention. Along with Mr. Guinther and the F.F.A. members was Mr. Gengnagel who took time to help out with the driving. The members were Kevin Kroiecher, Terry McClellan, Allen Troyer, Ricky Carper, Ricky Timmerman, Donald Gengnagel and Kelly Carnahan.

On the way to the convention, the group stopped at Grant's Farm where they saw different types of animals, such as buffalo, deer, camels, goats and birds. They also stopped at Quincy, Illinois, where they toured the Moorman Feed Company. Their guide showed them the different types of machinery. After that, they showed them their research farm.

They arrived at Kansas City on Wednesday, October 14. The next day they visited the Agriculture Hall of Fame where they were shown different machinery from the past.

That night the American Farmer Degree was given. Mike Storer, a past student at Eastside and now a student at Purdue University, received the American Farmer Degree.

On Friday night, many talented people took part in the Firestone Show. The next day they went to the American Royal, after which they started for home.

R.H.C.

—Ella Crothers, Reporter

The Rural Housewives Club met at the lovely home of Ines Smith on November 4. Marie Ward presided and read a poem entitled, "Just A Smile."

Bernieee Wilder gave a patriotic article, "The American Flag Has Grown With Our Country." General George Washington is reputed to have described the symbolism of the flag when it was flown by the Continental Army as follows:

"We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country (England), separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing Liberty."

The roll call, "Thanks for—," was answered by 11 members. Many expressions of thankful hearts ensued. During the business meeting election of officers for 1971 was held with the following results:

Marie Ward, president.
Bernieee Wilder, vice president.
Ella Crothers, secretary and correspondent.
Ines Smith, assistant.
Sarah Amstutz, treasurer.
Sarah Doris, book committee.
Bernieee, Sarah and Elizabeth, sick committee.

Lela Northrup entertained with "Where Beauty Lies." She said beauty lies in him who sees it. She also gave the "Ten Most Expressive Words," and favored us with a delicious apple dumpling recipe. Each member read the "Thoughts For Today," and after plans were made for the Christmas meeting at Bernieee Wilder's home, we adjourned for the social hour with the hostess serving a delicious lunch, golden in color in keping with the fall season.

Tax Board Cuts County Rates

County tax rates were reviewed by the Indiana State Board of Tax Commissioners last week. With the assessed valuation of automobiles and motorcycles now available, tax rates were cut in almost all taxing units in the county. These values were not known when the tax computations were originally made.

As a result, Saint Joe's rate was set at $9.49. It had previously been advertised at $10.48.

The city of Garrett will have the highest tax rate of any unit in DeKalb County at $10.27. Two other units are over the $10.00 mark, Waterloo Smithfield with $10.11 and Waterloo with $10.06.

The rates for all units are as follows:

TOWNSHIPS

Butler $7.77, Concord 7.95, Fairfield 7.31, Franklin 5.98, Grant 7.61, Jackson 7.38 Keyser 7.80, Newville 8.20, Richland 7.48, Smithfield 7.35, Spencer 7.99, Stafford 8.17, Troy 8.11, Union 7.41, Wilmington 7.94.

CITIES & TOWNS

Altona 8.84, Ashley 8.07, Auburn 9.20, Auburn-Jackson 9.27, Auburn Keyser 9.14, Butler 9.60, Corunna 9.46, Garrett 10.27, Hamilton 7.41, Saint Joe 9.49, Waterloo 10.06, Waterloo-Smithfield 10.11.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co., Indiana) Thursday, November 19, 1970 — NUMBER 44

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Reason as I'm fascinated by the height of women's skirts, anything along that line catches my eye.

For instance, this item in the Reader's Digest.

"British physician Dr. Sydney Davies, writing in the 'British Medical Journal,' says that the recessatory properties of the mini-skirt encourage young women to squat rather than bend when they have to pick something up, and that this is good for their backs. That will do as the second best reason the mini skirt should not be allowed to go out of style."

Then last week I went to the Knisely Bank at Butler to make a car payment, late as usual (only four more to go and it's all ours!). The gals at the bank are all classy dressers and Mary Heaty was wearing a particularly fetching brown outfit that caught my eye. So I commented, "I'm glad to see you're not wearing the long skirts—yet."

Mary looked up and exclaimed, "NEVER—I feel old enough as it is!"

No, it wasn't a mini. She wears 'em more like what you'd call an interesting length—like when you drive past and she's walking down the street, you squirm and shift in the seat to get another look in the rear view mirror.

Then Tuesday night at P.T.O., I gained confidence that maybe our local belles are going to fight the long look—especially when President Connie Hollabaugh walked to the front in a simple but smashing blue outfit. I was so shook that when we repeated the pledge, I said, "I pledge allegiance— —"

Naw, I'm just kidding, I didn't say that—but it was one meeting when I was glad I was on the center aisle!

There was really a good turnout for the P.T.O. meeting; must have been 250 to 300 there for the open house.

A news release from the Indiana-Purdue Fort Wayne campus this week tells of the appearance December 2 of Dr. Charles G. Hurst, Jr., president of Malcolm X College in Chicago. Dr. Hurst is described as a product of the ghetto who was a high school dropout at 15, married and a father two years later, and serving a jail sentence by the time he was 20.

He overcame his difficulties, and "clawed an education from what he viewed as the establishment," the news release continues.

What struck me is a further description of his efforts:

"At Malcolm X he said the faculty is interested in training Black people so they won't be 'brainwashed or whitewashed' so they're even Blacker inside than when they were on the street."

It struck me—if I were to say the same thing about a white college and efforts to make students "whiter" than when they went in, wouldn't I be a racist, an undesirable character in today's supposed efforts to erase color lines?

I am somewhat confused. Who is trying to do what nowadays?

Dr. Hurst's 20 year old son enlisted for Vietnam and was killed there.

After the town board meeting was over officially Wednesday evening, Lynn Lake and I were shooting the breeze informally with Harry Loucks, owner of the local mobile home court. It is significant that, although he does not want the town "wide open" for mobile homes to be put anywhere, a natural opinion since he is in the mobile court business, Harry did not oppose the proposition made by the Noragons and was sympathetic toward their situation and their intent.

Lynn and I expressed the board's appreciation for the donation of a full day's labor by both Harry and son Dick on a recent Saturday on some town work. Harry said the equipment was donated for the day by the Maumee Construction Corporation of Fort Wayne.

The dinner, to be served in the Riverdale Cafetorium, is being set up on a Sunday to give families an opportunity to "eat out" for the Thanksgiving season while helping the Community Club to raise additional funds for its new building now under construction.

Season Tickets

Basketball season tickets are now on sale at the high school, Butler and Riverdale elementary schools, Dal's News Stand in Butler and the News Office in Saint Joe.

The public is invited to attend all meetings of the society.

1908 Horse & Buggy Mailman Inspires Local Poet

An old photograph of the first rural mail delivery rig run by Tommy Ables prompted a poem by Merwin Place last week.

The date on the photo shown above is December 25, 1908, with a "Merry Xmas" notation on the front. Mr. Ables sent the card to his rural mail patrons.

It is interesting to note that even in the good old days, the abbreviation "Xmas" was used for the word Christmas.

According to Mr. Place, winter snows were shoveled from the road along each farm owner's land by the owner. There were no highway department plows to ease the mailman's chore of delivery through the snow. And Old Dobbins long legs took the mail rig through snow that today's cars and trucks can't get through.

Mr. Place estimates that the rural delivery started around 1905. Before the service was begun, mail was picked up at the local post office by each individual or family, necessitating a trip to town to get the mail.

Mr. Place believes the photo was taken at the east end of the main street near the present curve in State Road 1. Does anyone recognize the house in the background?

The News is grateful to Mr. Place for the poem and the photograph, and to the photo sponsors who help make such specialties possible.

Mr. Place's poem is as follows:

In the early nineteen hundreds,
About seventy years ago;
Whenever we wanted our mail
To St. Joe we had to go.

We didn't have a mailman
then,
To bring our daily mail,
And put it in our mailbox
Through sunshine, rain or hail.

Tommy Ables was the first mailman,
After they established this route,
And in his one-horse wagon,
Our mail he always brought out.

On the Xmas of nineteen hundred eight,
This picture to our mailbox came,
Showing him, and his horse, and wagon,
In St. Joe, on east main.

UF Now At $550

Monies turned in thus far to the United Fund office in Auburn from the Riverdale area total just under $550.00, according to Ted Haberkorn, Riverdale area chairman. This represents about 44% of the area goal of $1,253.05.

Those who may wish to contribute to United Fund but have not been contacted may do so by sending their donation to the News Office at Saint Joe or to the United Fund Office, Auburn, Indiana 46706. The donation should be identified for the Riverdale area so that proper credit can be made toward the area goal.

Solicitors working in the Riverdale area include Betty Bevington, Forrest Bevington, Marcia Sible, Lois Strong, Gertrude Reinhart, Delores Hicov, Pauline Baumgartner, Delores Emenhiser, Marguerite Fish, Norman Rinard and Connie Hollabaugh.

Lucille Schlatter completed a solicitation of Seehlers pickles employees this week, with a total of $260.00 contributed, including $130.00 from the firm itself.

Although the official United Fund drive dates were in October, solicitation is yet being conducted in all areas of the county.

As of this week, total county donations and pledges amounted to just over $80,000. The goal for the current drive is $93,000.

Junior League

—Forrest Bevington, Reporter

The second Saturday of basketball play by the 5th and 6th grade eager and enthusiastic participants was full of the old do or die spirit. Every boy wanted to win and the games were never without some big surprise.

The opening game was won by team 1 at the charity line. The final score was 30-21. John Rinard was high scorer with 11 points. Of the 30 points scored by team 1, 12 came by way of the foul line. Brent Resor was high scorer for team 3 in a losing cause.

The second game was not decided until an overtime period was added to the game. At the close of the regular period of play, the score was 26-26. The final score was 30-28 in favor of team 4. Larry McKown and Jeffrey Hudson scored 21 of the 30 points. Lane Hart was high scorer for the losing team.

Student Commended

A letter of commendation, honoring him for his high performance on the 1970 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT), has been awarded to William C. Graham, a student at Eastside High School. The announcement was made by Principal Robert Williams.

Bill is among 35,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1971. The commended student ranks just below the 14,750 semifinal ists announced in September by the NMSC.

Commended students' high standing is given public recognition and indicates promise of continued success in college.

From An Angry 'Old Man'

Most of what I have heard and read about the generation gap, the lack of communication between young and old, directs attention to the alleged fault of the elder group for its failure to try to understand the problems of youth. These utterances come for the most part from exponents of liberal thought, whose ideal is basically to let anybody do anything they want. It goes right along with the civil rights and human rights movements of the recent past which have not always functioned in what you could call an ideal way. As a result, these free-thinkers would have youth believe it's all right for the latter to speak ill of their parents even though they, the young people, may not know exactly what they are talking about because they, the young people, haven't talked to their parents. Lack of communication is a two-way thing, you know.

The result of the emphasis on youth by these writers and speakers is that adults are presumed to be guilty of causing all our ills, be they social, economic, religious, political, or what have you. And adults have been so intimidated by the loud and strong words uttered by these proponents of unlicensed freedom that "old folks" are afraid to say anything for fear of being unfair. We've been intimidated into a state of mind which says, "Gosh, maybe we ARE that bad!" That fear has prevented us "old folks" from stating our case, of putting up some kind of defense against the accusations which have been hurled against us. We have become the victims of the favorite tactic of the liberal mind: to condemn without trial!

One of the most damaging thoughts that have been offered to the youth of our country by liberal-thought spokesmen, in politics, in government and in the church, is that today's young people face problems never before faced by any other generation of youth. At the same time, the idealism of today's youth has been so highly touted that it is quite possible today's youth may suffer partially from a superiority complex; they may have bought the ego-building idea that they, the youth of today, ARE different from any other generation, are indeed BETTER than any other generation.

Nothing could be farther from truth, and it is particularly disturbing to hear such selfrighteous-building thoughts coming occasionally from within the ranks of the organized church. Can there be anything more basically un-Biblical than to promote the idea in a person's mind, "You are better than anyone else has ever been"? But this selfrighteous thought is being promoted in today's youth by many self-appointed experts.

I have been compelled by my faith to speak out in the past in opposition to such thought. I know, as do others in my age group, that the dilemma which has been faced by the young men of our country in recent years concerning the military draft and what to do in face of the draft (go to school, quit school, get married, get a job—what to do?) is the same dilemma faced by young men of 1940 and immediately thereafter when World War II necessitated compulsory military service (from which we have yet to recover). The situation is exactly the same because the ultimate danger was and is the same —death.

As the father of four sons, I resent the idea—I am insulted by it!—that I am insensitive to their problems, unappreciative of their dilemma, unwilling to communicate, as the liberal-thought promoters accuse me. The truth of the matter is, Mom and Dad very often are the ones who try to communicate but find it's like pulling teeth to get a response! If we ask questions, we are nosey and prying; if we don't, we're disinterested and uncommunicative. You can't win!

It has been said by the liberal-critics that the atom and hydrogen bombs make the situation "different" today, that the vast destructive force represented by the bombs make the problems of today's youth more complex, more frustrating, more challenging. I submit that such thought leads to self-pity. Strength of character is not built on self-pity. I submit that the real heart of the situation today, last year, in 1940, in 1917, in 1865, in 1776, in the days of the great empires of centuries past, yes even in the days of the caveman, the real fundamental point is: "what is demanded of me, what can I do, what should I do, what WILL I do?"

The truth is, it doesn't matter whether one or 10,000 can be killed at a time. Whether it's a rock, a spear, a bow and arrow, a tomahawk, a bullet or a bomb, when I die, my usefulness ends. Big numbers don't count; there is only one important number at the basis of all human living and that number is "1"—ME. This is not meant in the selfish sense but rather in the sense that, assuming "me" is motivated to serving others, to serving mankind, to leaving the world a better place than it was when "me" came into it—when "me" dies, there is no more accomplishment from him or her, there is no more service to others. Thus, again, the significant factor is not how many can be killed; the important thing is that "me" can't function any longer, no matter what happens to others. The argument that atom and hydrogen bombs make things different for today's youth holds no water, to my way of thinking. Circumstances may change, such as the degree of destructive force involved. But the fundamental problem is eternally the same: "what am I going to do with what I have?"

So, when I hear our young people misled as they are today by those who perhaps unthinkingly promote disrespect for the past and for elders on the part of youth, I must speak out against these false prophets who are leading youth into believing that I, as a member of the adult generation of today, have never had any idealistic thoughts or motivations, that my generation has been totally self-satisfying, that we are therefore responsible for the ills that exist in our country, in the world and in the church. And I must be particularly concerned as a Christian and as a church member when such thought patterns lead to a state of mind in young people that is absolutely contradictory to the spiritual challenge and revelation given to us in the Bible, when young people are led very definitely into thinking too highly of themselves and too lowly of their parents.

Through every generation — people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.

But of all these books the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of today's complex life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.

Go then to the Book for modern man. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions — in every country — in every age. Discover anew the life for modern man.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, November 26, 1970 — NUMBER 45

Indiana State Library

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The old photo in last week's paper brought two responses as to the identity of the house or houses in the background. Harold Yeiser was first to spot his present home at the right in the picture, and the other house is the one now occupied by Irene Robinson. Louise Church also gave the identity of the houses, which are located on Widney Avenue.

And it appears that the last name is spelled "Abel" and not as we had it last week.

When I mentioned the use of the rear view mirror last week, it nudged my memory about an episode to show that skirts aren't the only male eyecatchers.

It wasn't too long ago that the weather was warm enough to sit on the porch swing, and I was so doing one Friday or Saturday afternoon, getting along toward suppertime. Looking to the west I saw a red pickup truck cruising slowly along the main street coming past the hardware. Jack Frank was sorta slouched over to the left on the door of the pickup, leaning with his left elbow on the window frame and his chin cupped in his hand, cowboy hat tilted forward at a rakish angle over his forehead. Betty Brown was just crossing the street, starting from Hep's Dairy Store with a couple of sacks in her arms. She and Jack raised their heads in mutual greeting as he passed in the truck, and she proceeded to cross the street. I kept watching Jack as he passed our house, and if you watched closely, his head tilted just a little bit farther to the left than it had been before, giving a better line of view in the big rear view mirror of the pickup as Betty crossed the street. It was gratifying to see that Jack was so concerned for her safety. — ha!

—Those tight slacks will do it every time—and Betty wears such pretty round colors.

Then Tom Hollabaugh got Esther all flustered a couple of weeks ago when she ran over to the grocery in a pair of her slacks and Tom walked in. All he did was ask a perfectly natural question: "How did you get into 'em?"

I think it's the same pair that has always impressed Norman Morr.

Dec. 1 Deadline For Mental Health Gifts

There is still time, but only a few days, in which to contribute gift items for mental health patients. Gifts from this area will go to patients in the Fort Wayne State Hospital, to bring some outside Christmas cheer to those who are confined due to mental illness.

Several business firms have donated space to serve as centers for the gift collection. Included is the News Office at Saint Joe. Other collection depots are Kandel Insurance in Butler, Boston stores in Auburn and Garrett and the Waterloo Hardware.

All gifts must be delivered to the hospital by December 5. Donations, therefore, must be in by December 1 to allow for wrapping and delivery.

The greatest need is for gifts for men. Suggested gifts include permanent press shirts, trousers, scarves, sweaters or sweat shirts, group games, jackets, bathrobes, slippers or washable scuffs, pocket watches, caps with earflaps, belts, tobacco products, hair cream, shaving cream and lotions in plastic containers, billfolds, dress gloves or mittens, musical instruments, crib mobiles and toys, LP records, wrist watches, etc.

Gifts must be new and should not be wrapped. Gift wrap, however, can accompany the gift for use by those who prepare the gifts for presentation.

LLC Celebrates 75th Year

—Violette Kline, Reporter

The 75th anniversary of the Ladies Literary Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert Musser, at 7:30 p.m. November 18, 1970.

Each one present received a red carnation, the club flower, as a welcome from the president.

Guests were welcomed by the president and the collect and pledge were given in unison.

Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser gave the history of the club song and then it was sung by the group.

Mrs. Roy Baker gave the history of the club. She told why the club was founded by a group of women for cultural and intellectual improvements. She gave many of the highlights of the club during the years.

Roll call was answered by club members.

The guests were Mrs. Marion Dreibelbis of Garrett, county president, and Mrs. John McComas of Auburn, past district president, and honorary members Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. Wayne Storer, Mrs. Allen Haller and Mrs. Frank Shull.

Letters of regrets of absence were read from Mrs. Don Burley, Mrs. Mabel Thornton, Mrs. Elwood Hart and Mrs. Kenneth Kern.

After adjournment, refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table with the club colors predominating.

The committee for the evening was Mrs. Robert Musser, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser and Mrs. Maurice Kline.

Riverdale Faculty Ups UF With $228 Donations

United Fund donations from the Riverdale area rose to approximately $815.00 during the past week.

The increase was due mainly to a total of $228.00 from the Riverdale School faculty. Forrest Bevington did the soliciting in the school division.

Those who may wish to contribute to United Fund but have not been contacted may do so by sending their donation to the News Office at Saint Joe or to the United Fund Office, Auburn, Indiana 46706. The donation should be identified for the Riverdale area so that proper credit can be made toward the area goal.

Solicitors working in the Riverdale area include Betty Bevington, Forrest Bevington, Marcia Sible, Lois Strong, Gertrude Reinhart, Delores Hicov, Pauline Baumgartner, Delores Emenhiser, Marguerite Fish, Norman Rinard and Connie Hollabaugh.

Although the official United Fund drive dates were in October, solicitation is yet being conducted in all areas of the county.

11 Attend Special Board Meeting

11 persons attended the special meeting called by the Saint Joe Town Board Wednesday of last week to hear public response to a petition to the board regarding the local mobile home ordinance.

Attending the meeting were board Members Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn, clerk Emma Frank and visitors Mrs. Ralph Keeler, Aaron Holman, Mr. and Mrs. Don Noragon, Harold Noragon, Stephen Trotter, Mr. and Mrs. Verlyn Diemer, Mrs. Viena Rude and Harry Loucks. Board member Jack Bowser was absent to due employment out of state.

Board President Ted Haberkorn briefly reviewed the circumstances leading up to the special meeting, then called on Mr. Trotter, legal counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Don Noragon, to present any additional information as desired. Mr. Trotter and Mr. Noragon presented drawings of general plans for a house the Noragons intend to build on a lot at the west end of Saint Joe. A problem arose when they moved a mobile home onto the lot recently in violation of a local mobile home ordinance. The Noragons petitioned the town board several days ago for an exception to the ordinance, making an offer to build a permanent type home on the lot and asking for permission to reside in the mobile home until the new structure is completed. They indicated at Monday's meeting that a contractor has been contacted about the work and that estimates have been obtained on the cost of materials.

Following a discussion of relative points, the president then asked for any remarks in support of the petition and any contrary opinions. All at the meeting, plus a letter from Mrs. Harvey Carr to the board, indicated no opposition to allowing the Noragons to proceed as they have petitioned.

Both board members present stated that the responses Wednesday evening were the first given to them to indicate any public desire to change the mobile home ordinance, whether by exception or by amendment. It was stated that a decision would be reached as quickly as possible after all three board members can meet for further deliberation.

Thought For Thanksgiving

The Spirit of Thanksgiving encompasses many principles and ideals which deserve daily as well as annual tribute. Certainly, Thanksgiving Day is a meaningful and cherished holiday, and it is right that we have set aside a special occasion to count our blessings and good fortune. In so doing, let us be continually grateful that we live in a land where people can still laugh, dream, hope and speak their minds and worship as they please.

Our Founding Fathers had great vision. They saw for the future of our country a promise of hope, right, justice, freedom, and equality for men and women who braved the dangers to enjoy these blessings from God. And all but the most cynical would have to admit that our Nation has made extraordinary progress in striving for these goals. No other country has ever done more to promote the spiritual and material needs of its citizens.

A noted American author and editor once stated: "There never was a land that better deserved the love of her people than America, for there never was a mother-country kinder to her children. She has given to them all that she could give . . . Millions upon millions of men have lived here with more comfort, with less fear, than any such numbers elsewhere in any age have lived. Countless multitudes, whose forefathers from the beginning of human life on earth have spent weary lives in unrewarded toil, in anxiety, in helplessness, in ignorance, have risen here, in the course of even a single generation, to the full and secure enjoyment of the fruits of their labor, to confident hope, to intelligent possession of their own faculties. Is not the land to be dearly loved in which this is possible, in which this has been achieved?" Truly, this American was imbued with the spirit of Thanksgiving.

Our Nation does possess a heritage which is unique in the history of man. But today this heritage with its religious ideals and moral principles means practically nothing to many Americans. They do not seem to recognize nor appreciate the rewards of self government. To them, duty, individual responsibility, enterprise, self respect and obedience of the law are tenets of oppression. They demand and expect "the good life" but without personal sacrifice or effort. The true meaning of Thanksgiving, as experienced in the humble and devout tribute by the early settlers, is lost on them.

Let us earnestly join in the observance of Thanksgiving. But let the spirit of Thanksgiving not be a scheduled sentiment which we turn on once a year. Rather, let it be an abiding testimony, a recognizable symbol of our daily faith—our faith in ourselves, our faith in our country and our faith in God.

—J. Edgar Hoover

The third Saturday of Indiana madness, better known as 5th and 6th grade basketball, found team 4 losing for the first time. From the opening tip until the final minute of play, both team 1 and 4 raced up and down the floor with great desire to win. John Rinard was able to find the basket in the final minutes of play. Ten of his 18 points came near the end of play. The final score, with team 1 out in front, was 34-21. Kim Krafft was high scorer for the losing team.

With one fast game played, another very exciting game was soon in the making. Team 2 and 3 were never more than three points apart. Lane Hart came on fast in the closing minutes, scoring six needed points. The final score was 25-23 in favor of team 2. Brent Resor was again high scorer for team 3 in a losing cause.

50-Plus Club

The Fifty-Plus Club held its November meeting at the Lutheran Church in Spencerville Thursday, November 19, at 6:30 p.m. 26 members were present.

During the carryin supper hour, there was visiting and catching up on local news.

New members were welcomed into the group: Mr. and Mrs. Wilmont, Mr. and Mrs. Elza Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hull and Mrs. Doris Stuck.

Sarah Amstutz conducted the business meeting. Secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, December 17, with Andrew and Marie Ward as hosts. There will be a white elephant gift exchange, gifts to be wrapped but not marked.

The nominating committee, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ward, presented the following names for election:

Ida Reed, president.

Hornicee Wilder, vice president.

Galen Markle, secretary-treasurer.

With no other nominations, the above were declared elected.

Mrs. Pauline Baumgartner introduced Mrs. Doris Stuck who showed and described various antiques. She said that a true antique should be at least one hundred years old. The articles and dishes that she brought from her own collection were very interesting. Members also brought some of their own favorite articles which added to the variety.

SAINT JOE VALLEY HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Club met at the home of Alice Reidenbach November 20.

The meeting was opened by the vice-president, Pat Roberts, with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Myrtle Pugsley who read from Ephesians, 4th chapter. She also read from the "Upper Room," urging us to use our talents and strive to make this a better and more Christian world.

History of the song of the month was given by Eva Clauser. Due to so many having colds, Eva read the beautiful words to "Now the Day Is Over."

The secretary's report was given by Eva Clauser and was approved as read. Roll call was answered by nine members and one visitor with a Thanksgiving quotation, and we all found many things to be so very thankful for.

Under old business, the Ways and Means Committee handed out the stationery we ordered to replenish our treasury.

Under new business, the presiding officer brought on the floor the need to buy and use the Christmas TB stamps. A motion was made and supported that we send three dollars to the DeKalb County Tuberculosis Association. The motion carried.

We then turned the meeting over to our visitor and county agent, Barbara Lake. She gave a very interesting talk on unflammable fabric. She especially urged everyone to use treated flannel for little girls' nighties and pajamas. She demonstrated by holding a piece of treated flannel over an open flame. It charred but did not flame.

Pat Roberts then gave all a special invitation to our Christmas dinner and party to be held at her home December 11, 1970. There will be a gift exchange and an interesting program after the business meeting.

The meeting was closed with the club prayer song and the hostess served a delicious lunch and we turned into the "Chitter Chatter Club" for our social hour.

Red Cross Told Of Heavy Demand On Blood Bank

A special demand for blood plasma for one patient next month was made known to the board of directors of the DeKalb County Red Cross at a meeting held November 17 at the home of Mrs. H. G. Oren, president, in Auburn. Some 25 directors attended the meeting, including Mrs. Erving Vendrely of Spencerville and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hicov of Newville Township.

Mrs. Paul Freeburn, chairman of the Bloodmobile, told that the special collection of blood will be for a patient in Chicago who will undergo open heart surgery. 8 units of selected blood will be rushed from Auburn to the Fort Wayne Blood Center, processed, and the frozen plasma then rushed to Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago for a hemophiliac patient, a resident of Chicago. The eight units from Auburn will be a part of the 300 units from Fort Wayne which in turn are a part of the total of 1,500 units required for this one heart patient. Plasma from the 1,500 pints of blood is needed for the heart patient and the red cells from the same donors will be used for other patients with blood deficiencies. Under today's processing techniques, one pint of blood can serve five different patients.

The board of directors heard that service to military families included many cables sent overseas for various emergencies involving families of servicemen. Social meetings for service families have been very successful, seven having been held since the beginning of 1970. The Red Cross office is sending letters to newly discharged veterans as an additional service.

Mrs. E. E. Flock told of the swimming program at the Auburn pool, where nine young swimmers swam a total of 50 miles each during the past summer. Another 14 youngsters each swam 30 miles.

Mrs. Robert Ball reported the awarding of 31 certificates at a Mother-Baby class at DeKalb Memorial Hospital. A home nursing class was completed at DeKalb Central High School under Betty Lou Stomm, Red Cross instructor. Red Cross films were provided for both classes.

Dr. Paul Trausch told of the receipt of 268 pounds of gifts sent by DeKalb County residents to the Red Cross at Cam Rahn Bay. All American Red Cross chapters have organized similar gift giving so that each serviceman and woman in Vietnam will receive gifts provided by thoughtful people in the United States. The local chapter recently sent an additional gift box of 23 pounds to the 24th Evacuation Hospital in Vietnam.

Everyone loves a bargain—whether it's Mother in the local supermarket, or Dad buying in a supply of shotgun shells for the hunting season or Junior buying his candy bars at three for a dime. And what fun it is to tell our friends of the lucky purchase—even if, in the final accounting, the results are somewhat dubious!

But think of the many bargains about which we have no doubt — really big, genuine bargains . . . like the beautiful color of leaves on an autumn day or the aroma of roast turkey that's in the kitchen stove at this very minute. And, since it's Thanksgiving, it is only appropriate that we should mention the tremendous bargain of our heritage and freedom.

When you come to think of it, we are always getting more than we are giving. We are on the receiving end. The biggest part of our life — the overwhelming part of our life — is what is given to us.

Let us then become conscious of our moment-by-moment dependence on God, the awareness of life as a gift. For what is religion but receiving, seeing, believing, praising and thanking God?

EHS Basketball

Eastside's basketball schedule opens once again on Thanksgiving Eve this year, November 25, when the Blazers face Angola at Angola. Games November 28 and December 4 against Norwell and Leo will also be played away from home before the locals open their home season December 5 against Heritage.

Coach Phil Miller issued the following statement last week concerning the Blazers' hopes for 1970-71:

"We have good speed and fair height. Charlie Ross averaged 22.6 points per game last year and I believe will improve on that this year. At present top prospects for the opening game appear to be Ross, Paul Hollabaugh, Dave Miller, Kent Rosenbury, Doug Fetters and Dave Baughman. Lettermen Dale Curry will miss at least the first game due to a knee problem. Sophomore Voyle Hartleroad is improving pretty fast and will probably see action on both the A and B teams.

"Last year we averaged 70.6 points per game but allowed our opponents 78.7. This year we hope to increase our average to 75 points while improving our defensive average.

"We do not have a lot of depth, so a lot will depend on everyone staying healthy and keeping out of foul trouble."

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, December 3, 1970 — NUMBER 46

Indiana State Library

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

WITH THE EDITOR

After reading the clipping sent in by Gertrude Borthwick (quoted elsewhere in this issue), I'm not sure who's side I'm on. But I felt better 'cause it shows I'm not the only editor who gets in trouble with readers. One thing is for sure—all you have to do is say something about what women wear and you're in trouble—a heap of trouble.

Whenever I see a little trash fire burning in a local backyard (including ours), it serves as a reminder that some communities now prohibit the burning of any refuse, even if it is just paper. And this serves as a reminder of how far off the deep end we can go in trying to correct an abuse. I think it's silly to fight pollution by putting out all the little trash fires in every community. There aren't that many and they aren't that frequent. Fort Wayne is reported to be considering such a ban, or so I read in the papers recently. The only benefit I can see is that it would make some people feel like effective crusaders against pollution, but it wouldn't really be much more than that, in effect.

It seems like the way to fight air pollution, and really get something accomplished, is to limit families to one car, and really knuckle down on trucks in getting effective exhaust controls.

And the way to fight water pollution is to ban detergents that don't break down into their natural components in time—and ban automatic washers so that not only is the quantity of water used reduced but also the amount of cleansing agents dumped into the drains, streams and rivers.

—Does that get anybody ruffled???

Lynn Duke stopped in last week and invited me to his place to inspect some 75 antique clocks he recently purchased, including several grandfather models. Lynn is getting into the antique clock business with a bang (or should it be bong?).

William O. Burns of near Butler stopped in last week and during the conversation unsuspectingly made me feel pretty good. During the course of his remarks, he interrupted one of his sentences with, "— — I guess I talked to your father about it before— — —". When I assured him that it was I who had talked to him about the matter, he said "You look different."

A couple of weeks ago, when we had a family supper and all were sitting around the TV watching a program, out of a clear blue sky, during a lull in the program (maybe a commercial prompted it), nine-year-old Mark says, "I'm not going to be a sex symbol when I grow up."

You can imagine the looks that went from father to mother, brother to brother, father to other sons, mother to daughter-in-law, etc.

—M'gosh, wot'll we do!

'Letters' Provide Rural Mail Date - Who's 'Young'

Defiance, Ohio Nov. 23, 1970

Dear Editor Haberkorn:

The picture on the front page of your issue of the News for November 19th, brings back a flood of memories of the early 1900s.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Abel were close friends of my parents and their son, Glen, was a particular friend of mine. During my high school days at St. Joe and afterward Glen and I were members of the St. Joe Browns, an independent baseball team which made quite a reputation playing games with teams in Northern Indiana and across the state line into Ohio.

Some elders may still remember that my parents, Charles and Flora, with their sons, Lee and Earl, resided on the little farm that the Abels occupied before they moved to Widney Avenue in St. Joe. Later my parents moved to the tenant house and my father continued to farm the Schules farm until mother died.

When I was in St. Joe High, those of us out of town would stop on our way home at the post office for the mail. Mr. and Mrs. Baker, parents of Mrs. Esther Bowman, took care of the post office. This office was located in the southwest corner of the Widney Opera House where Mr. Baker operated a store while his wife took care of the mails. This was in the early 1900s.

I remember when Mr. Abel laid out the first rural route out of St. Joe. It ran past our home on the side road which left what is 101 Indiana at the old No. 7 School (Cheesetown) and passed the Henry Saylor and Nelson Schnies farms on across the railroad past the Benjamin Hamilton farm, crossing the river at what is locally known as the Hadsell Bridge.

I do not remember the exact date when Mr. Abel began to deliver mail. But the picture recalled the delivery rig and the horse due past our home in late afternoon.

Before the rural delivery began, my father was a subscriber to the Weekly Toledo Blade which we recieved at the local postoffice. As soon as the rural route began, he subscribed for the Daily Cleveland Plaindealer.

During the period from 1900 to 1907 I was teaching school at Coburn Corners, Newville and St. Joe and on arrival home would enjoy the Plaindealer which Rural Deliver Fremont Abel had dropped off. Mr. Abel never missed his daily delivery through sunshine, rain or snow, as I remember.

Lee Tuetison

EDITOR'S NOTE: To add to the above information concerning rural delivery of mail at Saint Joe, the following was found this week, quite by coincidence, as the Editor's Number 3 son researched old issues of The News for a journalism assignment at I.U. in Fort Wayne. A stack of papers from 1902 included the July 25, 1902, issue with a headline:

"PROPOSED RURAL ROUTE

"A rural mail delivery route has been gone over and outlined by J. C. F. Abel and Wert Langley. They found that nearly all the farmers were anxious for the route and secured more than a sufficient number of signers required to have the route established. A large number of those who will take the service have already purchased their boxes. Following we give the outline of the route: Starting at the north and south road in the west part of town and going south one mile to Dill's corners, thence east two miles to Coburntown, thence south one mile to Markel's corners, thence east two miles to Coletown, thence north one mile to Nelson's corners, thence west two miles to Coburntown, thence north one mile to Perry's corners, thence east two miles to Newville Center, thence south one mile to Nelson's corners, thence east one mile and one hundred rods to state line, thence north one mile on state line, thence west one mile and one hundred rods to Newville Center, thence north two miles to Hicksville and Newville road, thence northwest one mile to George DeLong's corners, and from here the river road is to be followed to St. Joe, a distance of about four and one-half miles.

"This route is a good one as it covers a large scope of territory and above all the roads over nearly the entire course are in fine shape. It will be a great benefit to our rural friends to be able to get their mail brought to their doors each day."

From the above, it appears that the rural delivery route was established at Saint Joe in the summer of 1902.

Nov. 25, 1970

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

Please change the News from Gertrude Borthwick, 805 N. Valley View Dr., Columbia, Mo. 65201, to: Gertrude Borthwick, Rt2 Granville, Ohio 43023.

And if I can write that much, may I put in my pet peeve? —which is using the word "young" for OLD. I was born on the 27th day of June, on the 28th day of June I was one day OLD! No one is "80 years young," they are 80 years OLD. I don't know where people get the idea that they are being complimentary about people by saying they are so many years "young" when they are so many years old. Thanks for listening, but don't ever say it about me!

Gertrude Borthwick

Enclosed with the letter was a newspaper clipping headlined, "Alaska Editor Seeks Return Of Boardwalks, Women Don't."

It reads:

"Nome, Alaska (AP). The editor of the Nome Nugget, a far north newspaper that publishes 'Daily except Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday,' is threatening to build a new board sidewalk over the concrete one freshly laid down by the state.

"Editor Alice E. Gregory objects to the new cement sidewalks in front of his newspaper office on the grounds that they're not in keeping with Nome's frontier tradition.

"He said two other Nome businessmen say they intend to cover the cement with the old-fashioned board sidewalks again, despite strong opposition from the city's female population.

"The street on which the new sidewalks were laid is part of a state highway that runs between Nome and a few nearby villages. The only access to Nome from other areas, however, is by boat or plane.

"Dick Chitty, right-of-way director for the State Highway Department, says the laying of concrete was 'a design decision.'

"Chitty says he suspects the federal highway administration would object to the return of the boards "because they require the states to maintain those projects free and clear of these obstructions.'

"Gregory says he began fighting the decision for concrete as soon as he learned of it. He says many of this town's 2,370 residents sided with him but not all.

" 'I noticed there were a lot of women in favor of the cement sidewalks,' Gregory said, 'and I couldn't understand why. Then one day, one of them mentioned how easy it was to get a spike heel caught between the boards. That's when I realized what these women had against the board sidewalks,' he exclaimed.

" 'It was the spike heels. So I ran an editorial saying no self-respecting woman would be caught dead in them because they're no longer fashionable.

" 'Man, it was like opening a bee's nest,' Gregory continued. 'Telephone calls kept pouring in. In fact, one woman took a swing at me with a spike heel in her hand.

" 'Her husband's a pal of mine, too,' Gregory added, 'but she's not.' "

To Mrs. Borthwick—OK, your point is made loud and clear. And thanks for the letter and clipping — — old lady! —Ed.

Board Would Make Mobile Home Exception For New Construction

Following several weeks of deliberations and several meetings, the town board of Saint Joe has tentatively given its permission for the use of a mobile home within the corporate limits on a time-limit basis.

The board has informed Mr. and Mrs. Donald Noragon, petitioners, that it would make an exception to the mobile home ordinance, as requested by Mr. Noragon and his wife. However, the request will be granted on the basis of definite commitments by the Noragons, some of which were voluntarily made by the Noragons in their petition.

Before the couple can occupy a mobile home temporarily on their real estate, they must post a $500 bond, or deposit, with the board, all of which will be forfeited to the town if they fail to meet any of the agreed upon conditions. These include: start of construction of a permanent-type residence by June 1, 1971, and completion of the new residence by December 31, 1972.

Further conditions of the performance bond include refunding a portion upon completion of the foundation for the new home and the balance refunded upon completion and occupancy of the new residence within the deadline date.

The Noragons recently petitioned for permission to reside in a mobile home on their lot until their proposed new home can be completed. The completion date of December 1972 was in their petition to the board.

The posting of a performance bond was suggested by the attorney representing the Noragons at a public meeting held November 18, 1970.

Board members indicated at the November 18 meeting that public sentiment until that time had been virtually in total opposition. However, there was actually no opposition at the November 18 meeting.

The board arrived at its decision to make an exception to the mobile home ordinance in view of the circumstances related to the current situation. The board felt that public sentiment was favorable to the Noragons' request but at the same time not in favor of dropping provisions to exercise control over mobil homes on private property other than mobile home courts.

Actual granting of the petition will not be made until the accompanying agreement is accepted by the Noragons.

The original mobile home ordinance is still in effect. The board has not rescinded any of the provisions of the ordinance.

Darrell Fish Earns Army Commendation

SP4 Darrell W. Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fish of Spencerville, was recently honored by being selected as his battalion's outstanding soldier for the month of October.

Darrell received a letter of commendation from Lt. Col. Harvey M. Dick as a result of the local serviceman's efforts.

Darrell is serving with Headquarters Battery, 2nd Battalion, 73rd Artillery.

In recognition of the achievement, Darrell received a three-day pass and a $25 bond.

Lions Club Ups UF With $50 Donation

A contribution of $50.00 from the Saint Joe Lions Club has raised to $486.80 the amount donated to the United Fund by Riverdale area residents. The local service club indicated that its contribution was designated for the Wee Haven School at Garrett.

The total of contributions in DeKalb County is now approximately $84,000. The goal for the current campaign is $93,000.

Those who may wish to contribute to United Fund but have not been contacted may do so by sending their donation to the News Office at Saint Joe or to the United Fund Office, Auburn, Indiana 46706. The donation should be identified for the Riverdale area so that proper credit can be made toward the area goal.

Solicitors working in the Riverdale area include Betty Bevington, Forrest Bevington, Marcis Sible, Lois Strong, Gertrude Reinhart, Delores Hicev, Pauline Rammgartner, Delores Emenhiser, Marguerite Fish, Norman Rinard and Connie Hollabaugh.

Although the official United Fund drive dates were in October, solicitation is yet being conducted in all areas of the county.

'Letters To Hanoi' Details Next Week

News readers are asked to look for details in next week's paper concerning the efforts of an Auburn sorority to get the public to write "Letters to Hanoi" as a means of gaining humane treatment of American prisoners of war.

Similar efforts are being made over the United States to protest the violations of the Geneva Convention concerning treatment of prisoners of war.

"Yes We Can"

KEEPING AMERICA beautiful can be both fun and profitable as these San Diego, Calif., youngsters have discovered. They are taking part in Aluminum Company of America's "Yes We Can" reclamation and recycling program, which pays 10 cents a pound to collectors of aluminum cans. In the first two months of the program, nearly four million cans — about $20,000 worth — have been salvaged.

Alcoa will inaugurate "Yes We Can" efforts in Dallas and Fort Worth, Texas, November 18. Sixteen prominent Dallas and Fort Worth concerns will provide networks of conveniently located collection centers where citizens will turn in scrap aluminum cans.

Rates Listed For Vehicle Plates Under New Setup

Property tax reduction has been accomplished to a degree in Indiana in the past legislative session, but it hasn't been talked about in that manner, particularly.

The property tax relief came when passenger vehicles, motorcycles and self-propelled motor homes were removed from personal property assessments and placed on an excise basis. Thus, effective January 1, 1971, Indiana motorists will pay an excise tax on their vehicles according to its original price and its age. And if motorists will take time to investigate, they will probably find that their vehicle will cost less in taxes under the new setup than under the past practice under property assessment. It just hurts more because it comes all at one time, one lump sum, in order to obtain license plates.

Motorists will receive in the mail a pre-printed registration form for 1971 plates. It will indicate the amount of the excise tax.

An insert will be sent with the pre-printed form mailing which the owner must complete and send with the registration if he is applying by mail. The insert will ask for the color or colors of the car and the Social Security number of the applicant. In case of joint ownership, only the Social Security number of the first-named owner will be needed.

Under the staggered plan first put into effect this year, deadlines for license plate purchase with excise tax payment are as follows:

Passenger cars registered in names of corporations expire January 31.

Passenger cars registered in names of individuals expire according to the first letter of the last name, as follows:

A to C February 28, D to H March 31, I to N April 30, O to S May 31, T to Z June 30.

All other vehicle registrations including commercial expire February 28.

There will be a 50c license branch excise tax fee in addition to the 50c registration fee for each plate, plus 75c if the plates are to be mailed.

Individual branches will determine rules and procedures for payment of the charges.

If a car is sold or traded during the year, provision is made in the law for a credit to be used for the unused portion of the year and reduction of the tax on a vehicle acquired later.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The ladies of the Spencerville United Methodist Church served a regular Thanksgiving dinner for our meeting Monday, November 23. The weather was bad and our attendance was down for the first time in months.

William Dunkelberger, minister of the Saint Joe Church of Christ, was the guest of Hershel Shockley but Shockley had another meeting so Lion Willard Hurni introduced him.

President Timmerman again announced the pancake and sausage supper that the Scouts are preparing for us and our wives here at this church for November 30.

We are glad to know that Ralph Keeler is better and that he went on that annual hunting trip and that he got his deer.

President Timmerman appointed R. Wilder, L. Hart and V. Gerig as attendance committee. They have some sort of deal worked out with the Tailtwister, Paul Moore, that all Lions present at each meeting should put 10 cents into a hat. Then there is a drawing. For example, Kern Butler's name was drawn but Kern was not there so Mrs. Butler was to be notified to that effect and to the effect that the money was delivered to the treasurer.

The club has set ten goals for the coming year. They include:

Go to the training center for Leader Dogs at Rochester, Michigan.

Go to the Cancer Control Clinic at Indianapolis, also tour the Eye Bank Center there.

Go to the new International Building at Chicago.

Put new posts and add the time and day of our meetings on the signs entering Spencerville and Saint Joe.

Get at least five new members during the year.

Sing at least one Lions song at each meeting.

Continue the presentation of Ribbies to each graduating senior at Eastside.

Cliff Billow introduced Sheldon Shafer, a young man who grew up near Butler, who served as a lieutenant in the Army and is now with the News-Sentinel.

While in the Army he was stationed in Tehran, the capitol city of Iran. Tehran is a large, modern industrial and commercial city almost like any of our larger cities and has doubled in size during the last 10 or 15 years.

Many of the folks there have radios but there are not many telephones even in the large cities and television is limited to a few miles around the few stations they do have.

One of the largest bazaars in the world is in Tehran. There are 60 or 80 thousand open faced shops there and it is possible to buy anything there. The Italian market on Marshall Street in Philadelphia or Maxwell Street in Chicago if multiplied 100 times might compare to it. If you do buy at the bazaar instead of a regular store, you should not pay more than one-half of the first asking price.

If you do go to Iran, you should get some hand worked brass such as sculptured vases, etc., and by all means bring home some Persian rugs which are for sale everywhere. They are hand made and there are no poor Persian rugs. All of the people have some whether they have anything else or not. The best ones are predominantly red, a sort of burgundy red, but they do make some with brighter colors to sell to foreigners. It is common for these people to spread 10x12 and other size rugs in the streets for cars to drive over, and Mr. Shafer said that he often drove over a dozen such rugs on the way to work. Supposedly that tightens the weave or does something else that makes them better.

Mr. Shafer paid $365.00 for his 10x12 rug, but he said, "It was really a good buy. It is worth $850.00 now here in the U.S. It just about won't wear out and I can sell it for more than I paid for it anytime within the next fifty years."

He said that they might overcharge you on almost anything, especially at the bazaar. But he also said that if someone would try to steal one of those rugs that lay out in the street, he would most certainly get caught.

Mr. Shafer said that 98 per cent of the people are Moslems, mostly the She Hi variety. Moslems are peculiar and it is wise to learn their peculiarities. They are hard to get acquainted with at first, but if one becomes your friend, then you really have a friend. They like Americans better than any other nationality. They don't eat pork; mutton is their most common meat. If you ask a native his nationality, he would probably say Assyrian and if you remember your history, Assyria as a nation ceased to exist hundreds of years ago.

The Shah is the head of the government and he is also the head of the church. He had enormous wealth but has recently given much of it back to the people. He has also liberalized the government somewhat. He still appoints one-half of the lower house and the other one-half must be approved by him. The upper house is somewhat similar to that.

He permitted the women to quit wearing veils and has given them the right to vote. You might say that he made ladies instead of chattels out of these women and they love him for it. However, the Shah has had three wives. Neither of the first two could produce a son so naturally he had to divorce each in turn until he got a wife that could bear him a son.

The Shah is mostly pro-western but he buys military equipment from both west and east (Russia). It seemed strange to Mr. Shafer at first to see an American advisor riding with Iranian soldiers on a Russian-built vehicle.

Time in Iran does not agree with any other time in the world. If the time east of Iran is 3 p.m. and the time west of Iran is 4 p.m., then it is 3:30 p.m. in Iran.

Mr. Shafer said, "If you plan to visit Iran, it would be wise to learn some of the language."

Just A Reminder---

The new junior-senior high school is being constructed. The struggle over site is a thing of the past. But obligations incurred by the citizens group in the district still stand.

Since last June, when a report of contributions totalled $1,036.25 toward legal fees due Nelson Grills of Indianapolis, donations amounting to $210 have been received, making a total of $1246.25 given to the fund since the "fight" ended in October of 1969 when the remonstrating group ended its efforts.

The over $1,200 in donations is rather remarkable, inasmuch as these donations keep trickling in to pay for a "dead horse." It indicates that there are still people in the community who live up to moral obligations.

Contributions since June include the following:

Lavon Hart (monthly pledge) $5.00; Dick Roberts (monthly pledge) 5.00; Ivan Brown (monthly pledge) 25.00; Lavon Hart 5.00; Dick Roberts 5.00; Wayne Benninghoff 20.00; Paul Fish 10.00; Lavon Hart 5.00; Ivan Brown 25.00; Ivan Brown 25.00; Lavon Hart 5.00; Forrest Bevington 25.00; Lavon Hart 5.00; Harry Strong 20.00; Lavon Hart 5.00; anonymous 20.00.

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, December 10, 1970 — NUMBER 47

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

WITH THE EDITOR

There was an interesting letter to the editor in last week end's issue of the Garrett Clipper, written by high school student Rick Capin. He expressed concern over the lack of spirit in Garrett basketball fans, especially after a rousing show of support by East Noble fans at the recent Garrett-East Noble game, won by the latter.

Rog Gordon, sports writer for the Garrett paper answered the letter in his sports column. Both writers made some good points.

Rick concluded his letter by asking, "Where has all the spirit gone? Is it lost forever or can the spirit of young and old alike be revived to a point of that close to that of years past?"

Isn't the answer, "The spirit returns when the team starts winning"?

Rog pointed out that adults support the team as well as or maybe a little more consistently than the students. He also makes a point about the cheerleaders that merits repeating:

"My own opinion about today's cheerleaders is that most of them are a stereotyped group (nothing personal girls) who are really incapable of getting the most out of a group. Just one example: I can remember when a former GHS cheerleader (Mildred Swartout) used to be called from the stands to get the Garrett crowd aroused during a crucial game. She had been out of school for as long as 15 to 20 years. How many of today's cheerleaders will be able to get this kind of response. She made the rafters ring with her own special kind of charisma with the Garrett fans and the old gym pulsed and flip-flopped with every yell.

"I know most of the local cheerleaders, like them and like their families, but I still say that camps where all are taught the same moves and are still moving when the cheering has died down is not the answer to boosting your team on to victory. It has to come from the heart and no mechanical motions will get the results.

"Now I stand ready for complete annihilation from the girls and the members of the cheer block. Enough said?"

I suppose it's a sign of old age, but I really enjoyed the TV special Monday night on which all the performers were over 65 except MC Johnny Carson.

Some of the old-timers were not too familiar to me, their fame in years past coming on stage rather than in the movies. But overall, it was heartwarming to be entertained by folks who momentarily became ageless and showed that, in the case of their talents, once they had it they didn't lose it.

—I MUST be getting old. The line of chorus girls was also over 65 and even THEY looked good!

'Letters To Hanoi' Sought For Prisoners' Aid

Psi Iota Xi, an Auburn sorority, is sponsoring "Letters To Hanoi," a project intended to focus world attention on treatment, or lack of it, of American prisoners of war.

Mrs. James Grimm of Auburn, a member of the sorority, passed the following information along to The News:

"During this Advent Season we often search for something we can do to help our fellow man. Take time today to write a letter expressing your feelings about the treatment of your American Brothers held as prisoners of war in Viet Nam. These prisoners have been fighting for your freedom. Many families live day by day wondering if their son, husband or father is dead or alive. Ask that these men be treated according to the Geneva Convention.

"Address the letters to:

"His Excellency the President, Democratic Republic of Viet Nam, Hanoi, North Viet Nam.

"Please include 15 cents in coin inside your letter for postage. Address the envelope to P.O.W., General Delivery, Auburn, Indiana 46706, and attach the required 6 cent stamp. Psi Iota Xi will collect these letters, pack them and send them on to the proper authorities in Viet Nam.

"Your letter and 21 cents might bring a father, son or husband home to lonesome, worried families. That should make your 1970 Christmas a little more meaningful."

The deadline for the letters is next Tuesday, December 15. Any from the Riverdale area should, therefore, be mailed by next Monday.

Additional information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Grimm at 925-1770.

Community Building Progressing

Photos taken last Sunday show progress on the new Community Building at Spencerville. The above shows the east front of the structure with the double section type of construction visible in the divided roof line.

The spacious interior of the building can be seen in the above photo which shows only the southern portion of the building. The larger portion of the building is to the rear and to the left.

TAKING HER WORK IN STRIDE

The modern airline stewardess works—and walks a lot on an average international flight.

One enthusiastic stewardess recently counted the footwork used up in preparing and serving meals, mixing drinks, passing out magazines and generally pampering passengers in flight.

Assigned to a flight from Bangkok to Sydney and wearing a pedometer (walk-o-meter), Lufthansa's pretty Karin Graf discovered that during the journey she took 15,365 steps up and down the aisle.

The flight, it seems, was 6,533 miles as the crow flies but eight miles as the bird walks.

Karin has a ten-year flying career with Lufthansa, and at this rate, believes she has walked over 1,500 miles in the air.

"I've also flown nearly two and a half million miles and that's far enough to go to the moon and back five times," she says proudly.

Karin says being a stewardess is exciting, fun and a lot of hard work.

But it's work she takes in her stride.

And on her reckoning, nearly every kilometer is a step in the right direction.

Doing some very appealing legwork, stewardess affixes a meter to her leg and puts her best foot forward.

DAR Contest Winner

Miss Karen Hurd, DeKalb Central High School senior, won the county DAR Good Citizen Contest in competition against candidates from Eastside and Garrett high schools. A written examination was administered in the latter part of October by the respective school principals.

Each year the Daughters of the American Revolution sponsor a Good Citizen contest for senior girls all over the nation. This year the John Houlton Chapter, DAR, of DeKalb County sponsored the local contest for senior girls attending the three county high schools.

Miss Nila Willibey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Willibey of R2 Butler, was Eastside's candidate for the county contest.

Miss Linda Custer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Custer of Garrett, was the candidate from Garrett High School.

Miss Hurd is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Donat of Waterloo. Her examination paper will be forwarded to Indianapolis to be submitted in state competition. The state winner will then qualify for national competition.

The selection of the girls was based on four qualifications: dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Commissioners Seek Landfill

In recent months, DeKalb County Commissioners Frank Laub, Herman Collins and Robert Forrest have undertaken efforts to obtain acreage for use as a county landfill site. A 40-acre parcel of land has been offered to them, but acceptance is dependent upon tests conducted by the State Soil and Water Conservation Department.

State soil experts have taken 15-foot borings on the land to determine whether or not a landfill would contaminate the water supply.

State regulations prohibit the use of land within 200 yards of a residential dwelling or 100 yards of a commercial building. The site must be accessible from an all-weather road.

In addition, precautions must be taken to see that streams and floodways are not contaminated by careless handling of refuse, seepage or poor drainage.

One acre of ground for each 10,000 people per year is needed. Thus a 40-acre site would serve the 30,000 residents of DeKalb County for ten years.

Plans call for constructing a recreation area on the site at the end of the ten-year period.

Junior League

The fourth week of 5th and 6th grade basketball found one game a surprise.

Team 1 with the fine play of John Rinard turned the table and gave Team 2 their second loss of the year. The final score was 26-15.

Team 4, after losing their first game in the last Saturday of play, came back with some fine spirit. Larry McKown and Jeffrey Hudson teamed up in a scoring battle. Between the two boys, 33 of the team's 37 points were scored. The final score was 37-19.

VIRTUOSO

You wouldn't believe your ears if your baby were suddenly to play a Beethoven sonata.

But, of course, no one expects a baby to do more than "play at" a piano. It takes years of study and preparation and a "bushel" of talent to become an accomplished pianist. In fact, to become any kind of success in this life takes hard work and experience. If this boy is to make his mark in the world — whether as a pianist, engineer, doctor or lawyer — he must be trained and guided.

The challenges that confront him in later years will not only be concerned with his occupation but will also involve his spiritual growth. In a world growing ever more complex, basic precepts of religion and faith will have to be cultivated. Through the Church give your child and yourself the opportunity to acquire faith for the future.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, December 17, 1970 — NUMBER 48

The true essence of freedom is not in the extent to which human rights are exercised; rather, it is in the restraint exercised in pursuing those rights.

Dissent in a free society is like the cultivation of the crops in the field. A little agitation promotes growth; too much destroys the roots.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Mose Yeiser pointed out over the weekend that Roscoe Walter deserves a thank you from town for the quick cleanup and fillin made at the site of the old grist mill. All the debris from the fire has been removed and the big hole filled with gravel and dirt.

The town board has already sent a note of appreciation, about two weeks ago. And we add another one here—

Thank you, Mr. Walter.

Fred Bayle stopped in last week with a couple of old books found by him and the Mrs. in the process of some housecleaning recently.

One is titled, "Advanced Lessons In Human Physiology" and was published by the Indiana School Book Company of Indianapolis in 1891.

Names are written on many pages of the book, including Arthur Nelson whose name appears often enough that he was probably the owner of the book, at least for a while. The date 1895 is written on a front page with the names H. M. Servoss of Box 724, Anderson, Indiana; Laura VanDoren of Box 296, Peru, Indiana; B. R. Harrison, noted as "Prof. in Geology, Auburn University, Auburn."

A poem on the front page reads:

"Many boy's I loved
But none I loved like you.
I journeyed through the world
But I've never seen one so blue.

A Friend"

Notes are scattered throughout the book concerning school work, plus more names, such as Joseph Tarney, Karl Husselman, James Simon, Miss Marie Baxter, Miss Nellie Brickley and Pauline Rose.

On one of the blank pages at the end of a chapter, someone had traced over a dollar coin with a pencil; the date on the coin was 1837.

The other book appears to be a biography of Amos Lawrence and is titled, "Poor Boy." There is no date that I could find but it probably is also from the late 1800s.

In glancing at the book and leafing through it, chapter two caught my eye with the following opening paragraph:

"Character is generally formed at home. Very few sons and daughters change for the better after leaving the paternal roof. Some change for the worse, and have occasion to lament that they ever forget the lessons, and broke away from the restraints of home. If the young would but appreciate parental love, counsel, discipline, and fidelity, upon their future career, happy would it be. Days and years of unhappiness and misery would be spared them; and bitter, harassing regrets would bring down fewer parents with sorrow to the grave."

Some pages are missing at the front and back, so it's impossible to identify the author except by the initials "W. M. T." in the preface.

If you want to take a look at the books, they're at the News Office.

The Bayle's also found a small cardboard box with a ring puller on it, probably from a merchandise cabinet in a store. A sticker on the front says, "Blue Steel $2.00. Honed 2.00. Lilliputs $1.50."

Bill LaRowe says he has four kittens for the asking, if someone has a last minute gift problem for Christmas.

His phone number is 337-2673.

I begged off when Bill asked if we wanted a cat. I told him we have one that takes off for months at a time. He's been gone for about two months now. Last year it was a half year of absence, then he showed up again.

This brought Bill's remark about the the community (probably in Texas) where the neighbors were so far apart each one had to have their own tom cat.

I don't really like to feel mean or sarcastic, but I can't help but get a fiendish feeling of delight what with the central school district now faced with a claim for $181,000 in architect's services for the junior high building they didn't build.

—Anyone want a souvenir copy of Nelson Grills' brief of the summer of 1969? It's getting more invaluable every day!

Bill Roop stopped in Saturday to say that the trash collection date next week will be Thursday instead of Friday—that's December 24 instead of the 25th.

A note from Dee Coleman at Waterloo indicates that he was the recipient of some replies to his request for expressions of public opinion to guide his actions as State Representative.

The writers graciously referred to the Saint Joe News as the source of their motivation to write. Dee asked for opinions in a column two weeks ago.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met December 7 for its regular session. Present were board members Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn, clerk Emma Frank and visitors Donald Noragon and Harold Noragon.

A review of old business indicated that the cemetery survey has not yet been completed. Bad weather has caused past delays. It was noted that the contract for trash pickup in town expires at the end of February and bids will be sought for renewal of the service.

Complaints were aired concerning the failure to pick up bags of leaves and cans of trash in recent weeks.

Bills allowed were as follows: Town—Jiggs Motor Service, gas $24.71; Vern's Enco, service 9.98; Farm Bureau, fuel oil 19.35; Rowan Lumber Co., tile 7.02; Hixson Sand & Gravel, street materials 319.36; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co, street lights 233.14; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, 240.00; Emma Frank, postage 6.00; Brown Furniture & Hardware, labor and materials 45.72; Philip Butler, attorney fee six months 100.00; Saint Joe Waterworks, water 30.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 108.75; Melvin Hershberger, labor 26.25; Saint Joe Fire Department, annual fee 150.00; T. E. Haberkorn, Jr., salary 150.00; Emma Frank, clerk cemetery 6 months 75.00.

Waterworks—Indiana Department of Revenue, retail merchants certificate 3.50 I&M 28.61; William Mansfield, labor 7.50; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.36; Brown Furniture & Hardware, materials 12.95; Emma Frank, travel expense 25.00; Emma Frank, salary 6 months 150.00.

Editor of St. Joe News 12-4-70
Mr. Ted Haberkorn

Dear Sir:

Please send statement of what I owe. I wish to pay up to Mar-71.

Rec'd News this week (date Nov 26) but did not get the paper of last week which I'd like to have because of the notice of the death of a long time friend Mrs. Erick of Spencerville. I am more interested in the Spencerville news of which there is so little that I am considering discontinuing the St. Joe News.

If you have a copy of the above mentioned will you please send it to me. Not long ago I got a copy dated Sept. Maybe I should keep closer check. Calif. isn't so far away as I know you mail your paper overseas.

Thank you and best Christmas wishes to you and yours.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John B. House

We did not publish the obituary of Mrs. Erick before. The following is from the Auburn Evening Star of November 9, 1970:

"Mrs. Mabel Erick, 96, Spencerville, died at 5 p.m. Sunday in DeKalb Memorial Hospital, Auburn where she had been a patient 13 days.

"A native of Spencerville, Mrs. Erick was born Feb. 6, 1874, to Henry and Margaret (Langley) Murray. She married the late William O. Erick in Spencerville Aug. 6, 1891. He died in 1950.

"Survivors include a son, William B., Spencerville, three grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. A son, Murray, and a sister, Mrs. Winifred Sheek, preceded her in death.

"She graduated from high school at age 13 and taught at age 16. She resided in New Paris one year and about nine months in Hamilton.

"She was a charter member of the Spencerville Order of Eastern Star and a member of the Spencerville Lutheran Church. Her husband was a well-known general merchandise store owner and served two terms as township trustee and one term as county recorder. Her father, son, and husband were all 50-year Masonic members."

Mrs. Erick is buried in White City Cemetery at Spencerville. —Ed.

Dear Ted, 12-7-70

Please accept my check covering last year's and, I hope, next year's subscription to the good old St. Joe News.

I wish also to express my appreciation for the recent attention the paper has given to matters of historical interest in the local community and county.

The DeKalb Co. Historical Society needs your continued support!

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely,
Harriet W. Oberlin
(Fort Wayne)

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

I want to take this opportunity to wish you and yours the very best Christmas ever and all good things throughout 1971.

Also want to thank you for publishing the Club news I've sent in the last 3 years.

Alice Reidenbach will be the next reporter.

Thanks again and Merry Christmas.

The fifth week of 5th and 6th grade basketball finds three teams with a record of 3 wins and 2 losses. Team 3 is the exception, being victorious for the first time.

In the opening game of the ley Saturday morning, Team 2 with the fine team play of Philip Staley and Lane Hart handed Team 4 their second loss of the season. The final score was 36-21. Jeffrey Hudson was high scorer for the losing team.

The mild upset of the morning came when Team 3 won their first game of the year. David Seehler was the added spark that gave Team 3 the push to win. The final score was 27-8.

Central District Faces Large Claim

The DeKalb County Central United School District is faced with a claim for $181,139, according to information revealed following a school board meeting last week. The amount represents a claim filed against the school district by Everett I. Brown Associates of Indianapolis for architectural services on a proposed new junior high school and related improvements. The proposed plans were abandoned in January of this year after public opposition was expressed against the proposal. The school district had entered into a contract with the architectural firm in February of 1968. The bill was submitted in January of 1970 but not made public until last week.

No decision has yet been made regarding disposition of the matter by the board. But it is possible that the school district will wait for suit to be filed for collection and allow a court decision to settle the predicament.

THE NEWS December 17, 1970

SPENCER TWP. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met December 8 at noon for their Christmas luncheon and exchange in the home of Lois Fisher.

The delicious luncheon prepared by the hostess consisted of baked potato, corn and beans, a serving of roast beef, vegetable salad, rolls and coffee. The dessert was lime jello pie with Christmas topping.

Following the refreshments, the president, Inez Smith, conducted the business meeting. Devotions were given by Berniece Wilder. All sang the Christmas carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem." All repented the club collect and each responded to roll call by stating a Christmas job she disliked. This called forth much discussion and exchange of ideas.

Lois told of her candle-making experience and showed several candles which she had made.

Other reports, if any, followed.

The business meeting closed with the singing of the club prayer song.

After the close of the business meeting, the president conducted the Christmas exchange. Each one present drew a number and one present drew a number and beneath the very lovely Christmas tree. All were happy with the gifts and much visiting ensued. Other decorations in the home added zest to the festivities.

Those present were Inez Smith, Mary Rutherford, Sarah Amstutz, Marvel Kesler, Berniece Wilder, Marie Ward, Bessie Hart, Ida Reed and two guests, Binn McKay and Elsie Fisher, and the hostess, Lois Fisher.

The January meeting is scheduled for the home of Inez Smith.

the Snowman

...and June would [illegible] making their snowman. He got so big that they had to fetch a stool and stand on tiptoe to make his arms and to cinder-button him. The mailman helped put on his head.

When they napped that afternoon, the sun shone hot and bright, and the south wind blew. When they woke, their snowy pal had dwindled and his cinder face cried dirty streaks. Sadly they turned away.

Sometimes life is like that snowman — grand and glittering with all the things we have. Then the hot winds of disaster blow, and their importance vanishes and we are left with emptiness.

What makes life meaningful? If possessions can't make us happy, what can?

Our churches have the answer. Through worship and prayer they teach us to find the joys of spirit.

SAINT JOE VALLEY HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Homemakers Club met at the home of Pat Roberts December 11 for the Christmas dinner and gift exchange.

At the noon hour 10 members sat down to a well-loaded table and enjoyed a bountiful dinner after devotions were given by Pat Roberts.

At 1:30 p.m. Doris Yeiser called the meeting to order with the reciting of the club collect.

Doris gave devotions on the solitary life of Christ, how He worked, died and arose again by Himself, to bring Peace On Earth. We hope the glitter and tinsel of Christmas will not make us forgot the real meaning of His birth.

Myrtle Pugsley then read a poem from our dear member, Gertrude Borthwick, in which she remembered us all. It was greatly enjoyed and each of us will keep a copy of the poem among our souvenirs.

Roll call was answered with a Christmas quotation.

The secretary's report was given by Eva Clauser and was accepted as read.

A fruit basket was made up by the members of the club for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner and was delivered by Alice Reidenbach.

Doris Yeiser reminded us of dates to remember in January, then she closed the meeting by the group singing, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem." She then turned the meeting over to Pat Roberts who showed pictures of Lunds Scenic Gardens located in Northern Michigan, the entire story of Christ from the time the Angel Gabriel came to Mary and told her she would deliver the Christ Child until He ascended into Heaven to await us there.

We then had our gift exchange and social time. All departed for their homes with a Merry Christmas to all.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid
OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transisters, the user cost is extremely low.

A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. So we suggest you write for yours now. No obligation whatsoever. Write to A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, Wausau, Wis. 54401. (Adv.)

Junior League

—Forrest Bevington, Reporter

Team 2 of the Junior League defeated Team 3 30-20 Saturday morning at the Riverdale School Cafetorium. It was an action-packed contest that kept the boys busy for one hour. Team 3 missed 20 charity tosses which could have made the game another story.

Staley and Hart teamed up to give their team the victory. Snyder was high scorer for the losing team.

The second contest of the morning knocked Team 1 from a tie as laders in team play. Team 4 ran up an early lead which carried them to their fourth victory of the season. The final score was 31-20. McKown and Hudson scored 27 of their team's 31 points. Drake was high scorer for the losing team.

Possible Local Meteorite Find

Chancey Ringler, owner of Saint Joe Camper Sales of Rt Saint Joe, is shown above with two pieces of rock formation which may turn out to be from a meteorite.

Mr. Ringler brought the porous, heavy material to the News Office last week with the information that an investigation is to be made during the holidays by a Fort Wayne group to determine the nature of the material.

Mr. Ringler says the piece which lies underground appears to be "about a rod square." He first noticed the chunk five or six years ago when his plow began hitting something in working the field. The chunk seems to be working upward, since the plow broke off pieces this year. The slope of the ground around the formation gives the appearance of gouging out as the large piece hit the ground, pushing a mound up on the opposite side.

If the formation proves to be a meteorite, Mr. Ringler says it would be one of the biggest such finds yet established.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met at the Spencerville United Methodist Church at exactly 6:30 p. m. November 14. Well, if it wasn't exactly 6:30 it was the fault of some of the boys' watches that President Timmerman checked. You get that way after years of punching a time clock.

District Governor Elmer Maucher was the guest speaker for the meeting. Public Relations Director Ed White also attended the meeting.

The Boy Scouts served the supper for the evening. Wasn't it nice for the Scouts to give us that supper? Other than supporting our fair stand and our ice cream social, when was the last time that anyone did anything like that for the Lions Club? We thank each and every one of the Scouts and their leaders for the pancake and sausage supper.

Richard Crow introduced his guest, Orville Funk. Our attendance was up with 35 present. Walter Moor won our newly-started attendance pool. Rag ey's committee spent $25.96 for dresses and shirts for the mental health program. James Kline gave a short three-minute talk on "Support Your Community School Program." I don't remember exactly what he said but he is in favor of it. Lion Kagey also reported that he and Frank Amstutz of the Scout committee attended the huge Scouters meeting at the Coliseum December 7 to help honor the Scoutmasters and their assistants. Scoutmaster Richard Drake accepted an award for Troop 172.

District Governor Maucher conducted a Lions quiz which included the following questions:

When was the first Lions club organized? (1917)

Who was the founder? (Melvin Jones)

Where was it founded? (LaSalle Hotel in Chicago)

How many charter members were there? (28)

Where is International Headquarters? (Chicago)

Additional information given by the District Governor included:

Lions International Magazine is printed in 11 languages.

It goes to 146 different nations.

There are now 24,000 Lions clubs throughout the world.

There are two clubs chartered daily.

There are almost 1,000,000 members.

Indiana has 431 clubs.

Indiana has 12,000 members.

President Timmerman reminds Lions Club members that installation of new members will be held Monday, January 11, at the Spencerville United Methodist Church at 6:30 p.m. Sponsoring members should contact the new members to confirm attendance at the meeting.

The Little League Football season was brought to a successful conclusion with the awards banquet held November 18.

Guests in attendance were Bud Wellendorf and Phil Stefan of Commercial Shearing & Stamping Company of Butler, and Pat Oberlin and Dave Martin of WIFF radio of Auburn.

Dave Martin did an excellent job of presenting the awards to the players.

Team standings were as follows:

First place to the Packers coached by Tony Kaiser, Jim Rinard and Dave Baughman; second place to the Jets with John Friend and Dennis Schmidt coaching; third place to the Rams, coached by Dave Porter and Lowell Alloway; and fourth place to the Vikings with Bob Gerber coaching.

Next season we of the Little League Football Association will start recruiting just as soon as the baseball season is over, and we will start practice as soon as the teams are complete.

GAMA Grant For 4-H Aerospace Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. — An aviation curriculum will be offered to more than four million 4-H Club youngsters across the U.S. under a planning grant from the General Aviation Manufacturers Association (GAMA) to the National 4-H Club Foundation.

Initial purpose of the $3,000 grant is the development and testing of materials and procedures for the National 4-H Aerospace Program. The 4-H Foundation plans to make available a formal program of aeronautical instruction for all 4-H Clubs across the country, covering such topics as flight theory, impact of aviation upon society, aviation careers, aviation in agriculture and meteorology.

Although this will be the 4-H organization's first national program in aerospace education for its members several 4-H groups have already launched their own aerospace programs in response to youths' growing interest in aviation.

In Madison County, Ill., for example, 20 boys are earning their Federal Aviation Administration ground school licenses. Sullivan County, Ind., 4-H youngsters planned and navigated their own flight into Chicago's Meigs Field for a day-long field trip. And in Oklahoma, where 911 4-H members enrolled in aerospace projects last year, many are actually flying on student licenses today.

In all, 39 states reported 2,087 4-H Club members enrolled in aerospace activities last year.

According to the 4-H Foundation, the objective of the new National Aerospace Program will be to stimulate and encourage young people to consider the career challenges and opportunities of aviation and related industries.

A SPECIAL GRANT from the General Aviation Manufacturers Association (GAMA) to the National 4-H Aerospace Program will aid in planning programs for young people such as these three from Circle M Horse and Pony 4-H Club of Monroeville, Pa.

"Career emphasis, or career exploration, is really the basis for 4-H's interest in an aerospace project," remarked Dr. Edward L. Prickey, chairman of the National 4-H Aerospace Program Development Committee.

GAMA's support of the program, according to the association, is based on a principal aim of the organization, which is to acquaint the public more fully with the role of general aviation in the nation's transportation system, the contribution the industry makes to the national economy and the importance of general aviation to every traveler.

An independent aviation trade organization, GAMA is dedicated to fostering and advancing the general welfare, safety, interest and activities of all facets of the industry.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

From sunny Florida comes a note from Pete Walter and the following poem:

"'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the town
No noses were frozen, no snow fluttered down,
No children in flannels were tucked into bed,
They all wore shorty pajamas instead.
To find wreaths of holly was not very hard
For holly wreaths grew in every back yard.
"In front of the houses were Daddies and Moms
Adorning the crotons and coconut palms.
The slumbering kiddies were dreaming with glee
That they would find waterskis under the tree.
They all knew that Santa was well on his way
In a red Thunderbird instead of a sleigh.
"He whizzed up the highway and zoomed up the roads
In a snappy convertible, peddling his loads.
As he jumped from the car he gave a deep chuckle,
He was dressed in Bermudas with an Ivy League Buckle.
There weren't any chimneys, but that caused no gloom
For Santa came in through the Florida room.
"He stopped at each house, stayed only a minute,
As he emptied his bag of the toys that were in it.
Before he departed he treated himself
To a glass of Papaya juice left on the shelf;
Leaped into the car and put it in gear
And drove over our bridges, singing with cheer.
"But we heard him exclaim as he went on his way:
'Merry Christmas, Sunny Florida, wish I could stay!' "

Pete's closing observation on his note was:

"People from the north are satisfied down here with less luxury than they are up home."

Ila Coburn gave The News a boost last week when she came in to place season's greetings ads for the North Side Doll Hospital and Gift Shop:

"Your little paper sure gets around. I got a good response to my ads. This year was the best yet."

—Which was a nice Christmas present.

Since we seem hell-bent to permit government to grow more influential in our personal lives, it behooves citizens to participate more actively for their own protection. The meeting next Thursday with State Representative Dr. Floyd Coleman at the court house is one to mark on the calendar.

The concern for population growth has affected me. In years past, I didn't particularly react to the Garrett Clipper's column announcing births with the heading: "Increasing the Population." Now it doesn't sound so cute. And many communities have a "Baby Derby," the first-born in the new year being the winner. It formerly sounded cute; now it doesn't.

—Have I been brainwashed?

What Did Jesus Christ Look Like?

(Editor's note—Jack Anderson, syndicated Washington columnist and successor to his late employer, Drew Pearson, in the editing of the column "The Washington Merry-Go-Round," appears at times to be unsympathetic and inhuman in presenting facts to the public about politics and government. That he is a human being is also apparent from the following thought-provoking column, appropriate for the Christmas season.)

"At Christmas time, when the Savior's likeness is seen everywhere, one of the most intriguing questions of Christianity is raised again: What did Jesus Christ really look like?

Though disciples faithfully recorded His words and deeds, not a single line of description of our Lord can be found in the whole of the New Eestament. No contemporary artists painted His portrait. No sculptor chiseled His features in stone or cast them in bronze.

Yet down through the centuries, He has become the most painted and sculptored of all men. Artists of all times and climes, masters and children alike, each influenced by his own insight, nationality and traditions, have left their impressions of the Lord.

Though these may differ in detail, a remarkable similarity shines through them all. The varied representations of Christ seem to merge together. Some show majesty, some humility; some show gentleness, some strength. But almost all are instantly recognized by Christians.

For these were different facets of the face that Christ showed to the people around Him.

Does this artistic essence—the holy features we now recognize at a glance—reveal the true likeness of Jesus? Or does it merely represent a consensus, a compromise portrait that has formed over the centuries?

The most revealing scriptural clue is found in the Old Testament. The prophet Isaiah, in foretelling the coming of the Redeemer, declared: "He hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see Him, there is no beauty that we should desire Him." (Isaiah 53:2)

The earliest Christian churches also had a tradition that Christ was not a handsome or imposing man. But in later years, churchmen refused to accept this view. They couldn't believe that a soul so beautiful wouldn't have a body to match.

Yet there was so little to distinguish Jesus from the others in His entourage that Judas, the betrayer, was obliged to identify Him with a kiss. Apparently Judas couldn't point out to the soldiers any distinguishing features that would have enabled them to pick Him out.

CHRIST'S HAIR STYLE

It takes little reading between the lines of the New Testament to deduce that Jesus must have looked like an ordinary Galilean, distinguished from the Jews of Judea only by His hair style and apparel. His neighbors in Nazareth saw Him as the son of a carpenter, not the Son of God.

The scriptures suggest nothing extraordinary about His appearance. Presumably, He wore a beard, since it was the custom in His day for all Jewish men to wear beards. By the same reasoning, His hair was probably long.

On my various visits to the Holy Land, I have searched for clues to the true image of Jesus Christ. I have looked for them in the land, which is as eternal as His word. The gnarled mountains and sweeping valleys present a rugged majesty. The desert, beneath a savage sun, is harsh. The soil is tawny and acrid, its dust bitter to the tongue.

The Savior, who grew up in this country, must have been tanned and hardy from outdoor living, not soft-faced and frail-muscled as most painters have depicted Him. And He must have been powerfully built. Whipping the money changers from the temple single-handed was the act of a strong man.

Once in Bethlehem, I sought out a baby who had just been born across an alley and around the corner from the manger where Jesus Himself first drew breath. The baby, Saliba, was the first-born son of Aida Conavati. There was a special aura about the infant, and his mother had the sweet, sad, majestic face of a madonna. For a moment, it seemed, I had spanned the ages with a baby's first cry.

The Canovatis are gentle people. And Bethlehem, a huddle of flat-roofed stone houses clinging to the bleak Judean hillside, is a serene place. Its narrow streets still echo to the clattering heels of heavily laden donkeys. The memory of Jesus is fresh and breathing.

The Child, who was born in Bethlehem nearly 20 centuries ago, must have retained the peace and serenity of Bethlehem in His face, possibly in His eyes.

MANY FACES

No visitor in the Holy Land can escape linking the present with the past, feeling the mighty surge of the New Testament drama all around him, seeing its reflection in people as well as places. The men of Galilee are a sturdy, independent breed. The Savior's face must have had the same clear eyes, the same weathered skin, the same determined cast.

Of His features, this much might be said finally: Christ has been given many faces, but always there is that mysterious similarity. Look for yourself, and you will see it.

Could it be that Jesus in His wisdom decided to remain anonymous, because He knew that men see with their eyes only what they want to see and that true vision comes from within the heart? And that through the hearts of men throughout the ages, we have come to a more accurate picture of the Lord than could ever have been achieved by a single artist no matter how inspired?"

—Jack Anderson

Despite Cries Of Youth, U.S. Still Manages To Make Gains

(Editor's note—The following column by Paul Harvey, noted columnist and writer, serves to bring encouragement to America as the new year comes into being. It brings hope and encouragement to millions of Americans who have been belabored into despair, defeat, guilt and shame by unrelenting critics in society and in the church. It is refreshing to be reminded occasionaly of what is "good," to go along with the volumes that have been said of what is "bad.")

"Problems, we got problems, we got lots and lots of problems.

Listen to this quote from a man whose perception we have to respect; "These are indeed perilous times. Our young people are rebelling against established authority. They are indifferent to convention and are no longer neat in appearance. They are openly disobedient to their parents. If these are to become our future leaders there is indeed little hope for the world!"

That was Socrates, 2,400 years ago!

We still have problems; thank goodness!

When too much prosperity and too much leisure turns so many to booze, dope and depravity from the sheer boredom of it all, let's thank heaven that we still have some problems to preserve our mental muscle tone.

We have a generation feeling sorry for itself because of problems when the real problem is that they have too few. The "establishment' they find repugnant because of some conspicuous hypocrisies is not all bad, you know, when you read the record.

Headlines are preoccupied with temporary recession, yet since 1960 we have enjoyed an unprecedented boom. Our total GNP has been increased $400 billion; that's nearly 80%!

Personal incomes increased $300 billion; the number of people employed jumped a whopping 10 million.

Personal savings skyrocketed $35 billion.

Overpopulation threatens ecological imbalance, but we're not doing nothing about it. The birth rate in the United States has declined 25% these last 10 years, is lower than ever before in history.

Pollution remains unpleasant, potentially hazardous, but right now it's being researched, retarded or reversed in every contributing industry.

Blacks have not got all that they have sought but in just four years the number of them hired for professional jobs has increased 35%. Total Negro employment has jumped more than 20%.

Today the average black in our nation is more likely to go to college than is the average citizen, black or white, in England, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Italy, Spain or Russia!

There are more than 300 Negro millionaires in the United States. And more of them sitting as judges or in Congress or in state legislatures or in city hall —more blacks in positions of power in the United States than in all the Communist nations of the world combined!

We've not yet cured the drug disease but we, in one generation, have conquered or controlled diphtheria, smallpox and typroid, polio, measles, tuberculosis and pneumonia.

And my generation has built more schools, colleges, hospitals and libraries than all other generations since the beginning of time.

We have raised our standards of living and lowered our hours of work. Luxuries the wealth of Croesus could not have bought are available to the least of us: cars, telephones, television.

We have taxed ourselves unmercifully to bring hope and health to our sick, our indigent, our young and our aged. And in addition our personal gifts to private charities each year exceed $14 billion.

So let's put to rest this notion that ours is an incurably sick society. . . . and get on with its continuing improvement.

You leaf through every page of recorded history and you'll not find one with fewer debits and more credits than this one.

Of all the eons of history, this is the time to be alive!"

—Paul Harvey

The next meeting will be held January 9, 1971, at the home of Mrs. Janice Hardenbrook of Auburn.

—that the basic provisions for proven wheat yields are continued under the Agricultural Act of 1970. Wheat producers may elect to establish a yield for their farm based on actual production rather than use of a yield established by the county ASC committee on a judgment basis only. The base period for establishing 1971 farm yields is 1967, 1968 and 1969. To prove a farm yield, producers must have harvested wheat acreage in each of these three years and be able to provide reliable proof of production on the harvested acres. In order to assure consideration, a written request must be made within 15 days at the local ASCS office, Chairman Max Heffley stated this week that production data timely received will be considered before producers are notified of their official 1971 farm wheat yields.

—that all young ladies who have a high school education and are between the ages 18 and 28 and are single are invited to visit Baer Field Air Guard facilities Saturday or Sunday, January 9 or 10, between 1:00 and 3:00 p. m. Purpose of the program is to permit all young ladies an opportunity to see how they can now serve in the Air National Guard and to acquaint them with the numerous military education and training opportunities now available to them in the Air Guard program due to recent changes made by the Department of Defense. Career opportunities are available as stenographers, clerk typists, switchboard and key punch operators, radio and radar mechanics and operators, control tower operators, motor vehicle drivers and mechanics, supply, accounting and finance, personnel specialists and career opportunities in the guards local hospital unit.

Have a good year everyone and best wishes to you.

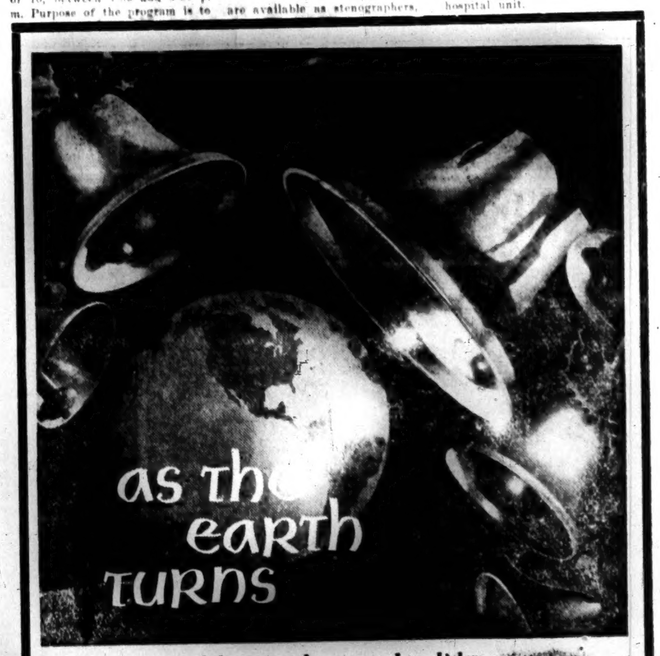
FISHER'S Corner Market



As bells ring and horns blow, a new year dawns around the world. In every land men celebrate its coming, variously, according to tradition.

One custom seems almost universal . . . an assessment, a review of the past year and the resolution to do better — in one's vocation, in one's attitude toward family and neighbor.

What is this spark that makes men seek a higher plane? It is the yearning that set the Wise Men's feet to follow a star, the longing of the multitudes that thronged the hills of Galilee to hear the words of Jesus, the thirst of every man to know God's presence in his life.

In this age of chaos and confusion there is no better resolution than to attend our churches where wisdom and compassion are taught.
